General Information

History

The Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act was first passed in 1913 and was originally named the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation Act. From then until 1917 the Act was administered by the several state district courts. In 1917, the Legislature created the Compensation Division in the Department of Labor and the commissioner of labor was designated compensation commissioner. The 1935 Legislature established the Workmen's Compensation Court and transferred Compensation Division functions to the court. In 1986, the name of the court was changed to the Workers' Compensation Court. By 1988, the workers' compensation bench had grown to seven judges who hear disputed cases throughout the state. The authority and responsibilities of the court are found in Chapter 48, Article 1, of the Revised Statutes of Nebraska.

Mission

The mission of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court is to administer and enforce all provisions of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act, except those provisions that are committed to the courts of appellate jurisdiction or as otherwise provided by law.

Organization

The Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court is composed of seven judges who are initially appointed by the governor and who then remain on the bench for successive six-year terms upon approval of the electorate. Every two years one of the judges is elected as presiding judge by the judges of the court, subject to approval of the Nebraska Supreme Court. The court maintains offices in Lincoln and Omaha, Nebraska, although all court filings must be made in the Lincoln office. A judge will travel to any county in the state where an accident occurred to hear a dispute regarding workers' compensation benefits. A case is first heard by a single judge, whose decision may be appealed. The appeal procedure is governed by LB 151 from the 2011 session of the Nebraska Legislature. Under LB 151, some cases continue to be appealed to a three-judge review panel of the compensation court, with a possible further appeal to the Nebraska Court of Appeals. Other cases are appealed directly to the Nebraska Court of Appeals. Regardless of the initial appeal procedure, a case may ultimately go to the Nebraska Supreme Court. Appeal of a single-judge decision is based on the record created at the original hearing and no new evidence may be introduced on appeal.

For administrative purposes, the judges and staff of the court are organized into two operating divisions and seven operating sections. The adjudication division, under the direction of the presiding judge, includes the judges and the Office of the Clerk of the Court. The administration division, under the direction of the court administrator, includes the remaining six sections as identified below. The presiding judge is charged with overall responsibility for the functioning of the court, and the court administrator serves as the chief administrative officer for the court.

The Office of the Clerk of the Court receives and processes court filings, docket cases, issues summons, schedules trials and hearings on motions, corresponds with the parties, issues opinions of the court, and provides administrative and secretarial support for the judges of the court.

The Business and Human Resources section is responsible for the business, financial, and personnel functions of the court, and also administers the second injury program which provides benefits to qualified employees who have suffered multiple injuries. Under a federal grant, the section conducts a survey of work-related injuries and illnesses and a data collection program for fatal injuries.

The Legal section reviews settlement applications for adequacy and compliance with the law, conducts mediation conferences to facilitate informal resolution of disputes, informs injured workers, employers, and others of their rights and obligations under the law, performs research for the judges, provides legal advice to court staff, and monitors legislation for potential impact on the workers' compensation system.

The Coverage and Claims section has responsibilities in three distinct areas. Compliance activities include enforcing insurance coverage requirements and enforcing the claims handling and reporting obligations of insurers and self-insured employers. Medical services activities include revising and maintaining schedules of medical and hospital fees, administering the independent medical examiner program, certifying and monitoring managed care plans, and responding to inquiries related to medical issues. Self-insurance activities include reviewing applications for self-insurance approval, monitoring the financial status and payroll records of self-insured employers, and collecting fees and assessments from self-insured employers.

The Vocational Rehabilitation section is responsible for certifying vocational rehabilitation counselors and job placement specialists, appointing a vocational rehabilitation counselor if the parties cannot agree on the selection, and reviewing and approving proposed vocational rehabilitation plans. The progress of injured workers in an approved plan is monitored and all payments from the Workers' Compensation Trust Fund for plan expenses must be approved by the section.

The Public Information section receives and processes all reports of injury and benefit payments, responds to requests for records and information, and manages the court's records retention schedule and business continuity program. The section also supports a toll-free information line, maintains the court's Internet web site, and prepares court publications.

The Information Technology section is responsible for the computer network, programs, and databases of the court. The section develops and maintains the court's desktop and Internet systems, develops computer programs and applications, coordinates information technology activities with vendors and other state agencies, and assists other court sections in meeting their goals through the use of technology.

Activities in Fiscal Year 2013

Court Rules

The court's Rule 2 was amended at a public meeting of the judges on August 29, 2012 to set forth definitions and requirements for electronic filings of pleadings and other litigation documents. Rule 3 was also amended at the same meeting to eliminate a requirement that all petitions be filed in duplicate, to update requirements for pleadings and filings, and to address limited scope representation by attorneys. Rule 26 was then amended at a public meeting on December 13, 2012 to identify the Medicare Diagnostic Related Groups to be included in the Diagnostic Related Group inpatient hospital fee schedule for calendar year 2013.

Adjudication

In FY 2013, the Office of the Clerk of the Court continued to work closely with the Information Technology section on the analysis and design for a system to allow for electronic filing and processing of pleadings and other litigation documents. This will permit attorneys for the parties to electronically file such documents. The Office of the Clerk of the Court has also worked with the Information Technology section on the development of automated clerk review using workflow case management, electronic document stamping, and notification back to the electronic filer.

Court Technology

In addition to the work described above under the Adjudication heading, the Information Technology (IT) section developed a case closure information entry system for the Vocational Rehabilitation section along with minor enhancements to the existing vocational rehabilitation case management system. Conversion and enhancement of the Adjudication/Business & Human Resources case receipts system was also completed, and an IT developer was assigned and trained to provide backup support to the Public Information section webmaster for the court's main web site. The IT section continued to develop enhancements for the web-based data entry system for annual submission of Diagnostic Related Group information from hospitals and insurance companies.

Considerable IT resources were devoted to projects with the Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO) in the areas of OCIO-hosted data backups and anti-virus protection for the court's information. The section also continues to provide technical support to the Supreme Court's Mandatory Continuing Legal Education (MCLE) Commission for the online MCLE system.

A project for upgrading existing desktop computers to Windows 7 was started during FY 2013 and will continue into the next fiscal year.

In addition to the specific activities listed for FY 2013, the court continues to perform other duties on a regular basis as noted above in the "Organization" section. The activities of the court in FY 2013 are described in greater detail in the following pages of this Annual Report, together with basic statistics regarding injuries reported in FY 2013. Additional injury statistics and statistics regarding benefit payments are available in a separate statistical report that can be accessed on the court's web site at <http://www.wcc.ne.gov/publications/statisticalreports.aspx>.

Compensation Court Cash Fund

Fiscal Year 2013 (July 1, 2012 to June 30, 2013)

The Compensation Court Cash Fund provides for the expense of administering the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act and for the payment of the salaries and expenses of the personnel of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court. The fund was established September 9, 1993 as part of LB 757 from the 1993 session of the Nebraska Legislature. The fund replaced the use of general funds, and is financed by assessments against workers' compensation insurers, risk management pools, and self-insured employers. Contributions to the fund abate for one year whenever the balance of the fund equals or exceeds three times the amount expended and encumbered in the fiscal year just ending. The Nebraska Legislature appropriates a specific sum each year for operations of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court, to be funded from the Compensation Court Cash Fund. The appropriation for fiscal year 2013 was $5,898,048.

Federal General Fund

Federal Fiscal Year 2013 (October 1, 2012 to September 30, 2013)

The court conducts a survey of work-related injuries and illnesses and a data collection program for fatal injuries pursuant to a grant from the U.S. Department of Labor—Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). The Survey of Occupational Injuries and Illnesses is mandated by the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (P.L. 91-596), and the court was designated as the agency in Nebraska to conduct this work in a letter of March 25, 1971 from Governor J.J. Exon to Secretary of Labor, J.D. Hudgson. In 1991, the court contracted for the additional responsibilities of conducting the Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries as designated by BLS.

Expenses for administering these two federal grants are split 50/50 between the State of Nebraska and BLS. The state share of expenditures is charged against the Compensation Court Cash Fund, and the federal share is charged against the Federal General Fund. Federal monies are requested on a monthly basis and deposited into the Federal General Fund. The Nebraska Legislature appropriates a specific sum each year for expenditures from the Federal General Fund. This appropriation is based upon an estimated budgeted amount submitted by the court each biennium. The federal grant appropriation is increased or decreased administratively when the federal grant is actually awarded at the beginning of each federal fiscal year. In June of each year, federal funds may be deobligated and the amount to be deobligated is calculated and sent to the BLS as an adjustment to the original grant award. An administrative adjustment to the Nebraska legislative appropriation may also be made at that time.

Workers' Compensation Trust Fund

Fiscal Year 2013 (July 1, 2012 to June 30, 2013)

The Workers' Compensation Trust Fund was established July 1, 2000 as part of LB 1221 from the 2000 session of the Nebraska Legislature. The purpose of the fund is to make second injury benefit payments in accordance with Section 48-128 and vocational rehabilitation benefit payments in accordance with Section 48-162.01. Prior to July 1, 2000 second injury benefits were paid from the Second Injury Fund and vocational rehabilitation benefits were paid from the Vocational Rehabilitation Fund. These two funds were eliminated with the creation of the Workers' Compensation Trust Fund on July 1, 2000. The Workers' Compensation Trust Fund is financed by assessments against workers' compensation insurers, risk management pools, and self-insured employers. Assessments are made whenever the fund is projected to go below the statutory minimum level.

Weekly Income Benefits and Maximum Rates

Under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act the basic rule regarding weekly income benefits for total disability is that the employee is entitled to two-thirds of his or her average weekly wage, subject to maximum and minimum levels. Changes in the maximum or minimum rates apply to injuries occurring on or after the effective date, but not to injuries occurring before that date.

The maximum benefit level is set at 100 percent of the state average weekly wage, as determined by the administrator of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court. The calculation excludes federal employees and is made in accordance with Sections 48-121.01 and 48-121.02 of the Nebraska Revised Statutes. The administrator has determined that the state average weekly wage for calendar year 2014 will be $747.00. This becomes the maximum weekly income benefit for injuries occurring in calendar year 2014. The minimum rate remains at $49 as provided in section 48-121.01(2).

¹ Cases may appear more than once in any year if they are appealed.

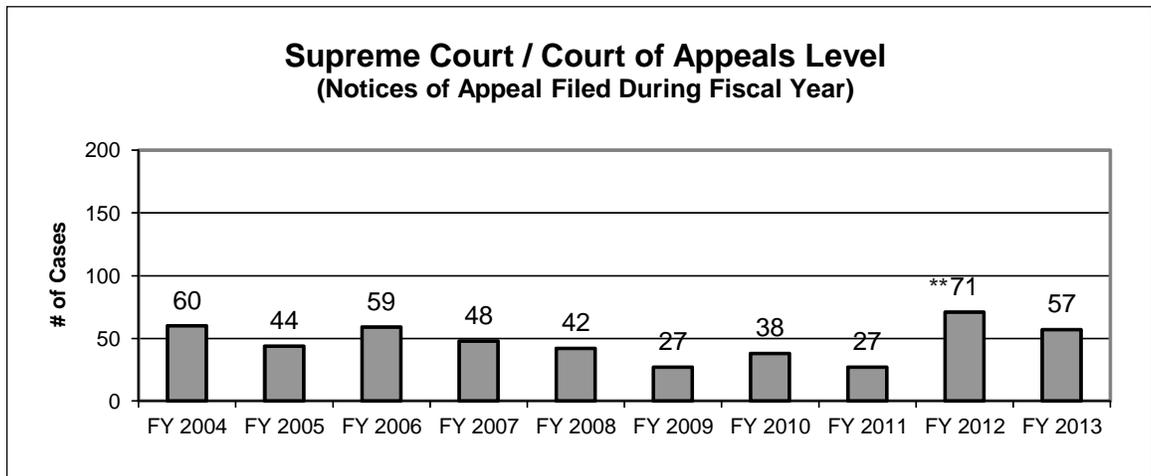

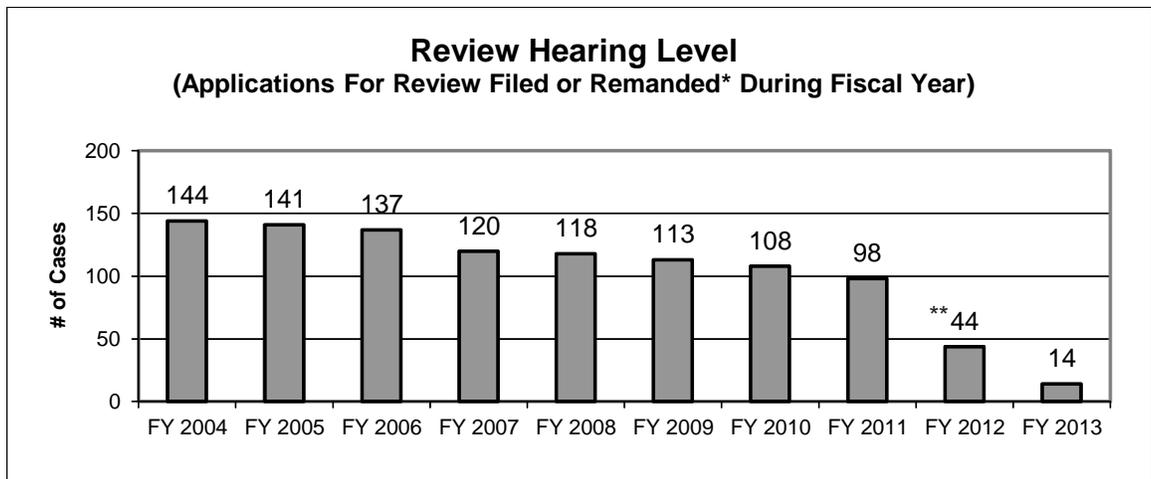

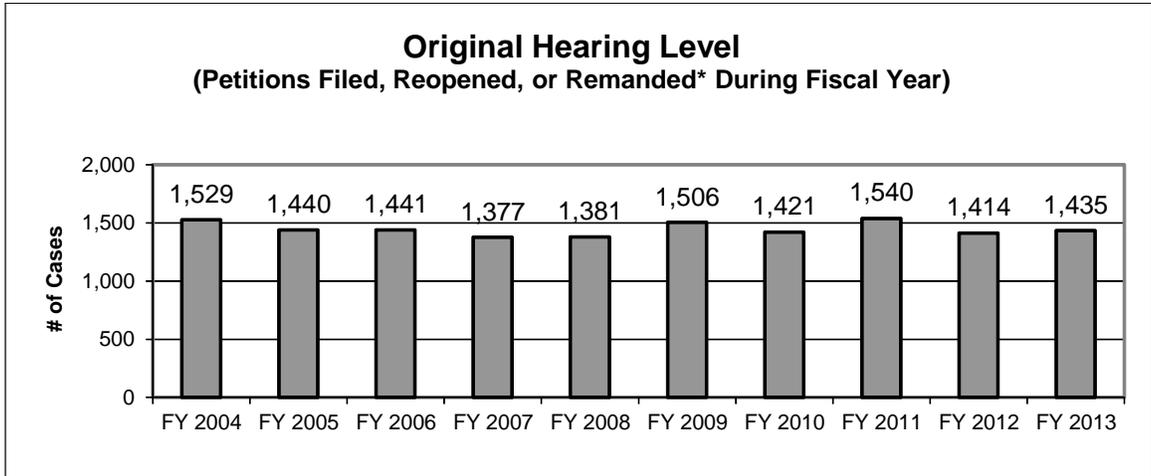

² Fiscal Years run from July 1 through June 30.

³ Includes dismissals without hearings, remands without hearings, and cases closed by release of liability.

⁴ LB 630, which became effective May 27, 2009, eliminated mandatory court approval of some settlement agreements, and required the filing of a release for those settlements no longer requiring court approval. Litigated cases require a motion be filed to close the active litigated issues when settled by a release of liability.

⁵ The review hearing procedure was eliminated by LB 151 from the 2011 session of the Nebraska Legislature for cases filed with the Compensation Court on or after August 27, 2011, and for cases pending before the Compensation Court on that date in which the hearing on the merits had not been held. Appeals from an order, award, or judgment of the Compensation Court in any such case are made in accordance with the procedures regulating appeals in actions at law from the district courts, except as otherwise provided in Sections 48-182 and 48-185. Conversely, appeals from any case pending before the Compensation Court on August 27, 2011 in which a hearing on the merits had been held continue to be in accordance with the review hearing procedure.

Legal

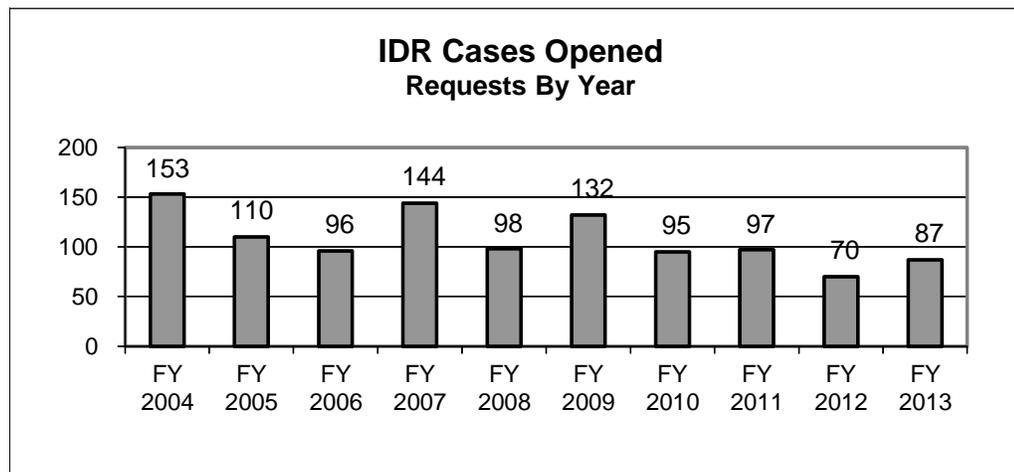

The Legal section of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court is responsible for reviewing lump sum settlements, facilitating informal dispute resolution, responding to inquiries from the public, performing research for the judges, providing legal advice to the court's administrative staff, and monitoring legislation for potential impact on the workers' compensation system. The section includes the court's general counsel, four staff attorneys, and a staff assistant.

Statistics for lump sum settlements processed in FY 2013 (July 1, 2012 through June 30, 2013) are provided on Pages 19 and 20 of this Annual Report. Summaries of the Nebraska Supreme Court and Court of Appeals decisions relating to workers' compensation may be found on the court's web site (http://www.wcc.ne.gov/adjudication/decision_summaries.aspx).

Informal Dispute Resolution

Informal Dispute Resolution (IDR) is available to anyone with an interest in a workers' compensation dispute. The process is voluntary and the guidelines for IDR are found in Rule 48. It provides a dispute resolution mechanism for health care providers, vocational rehabilitation counselors, and others who would otherwise have no standing before the court. Attorneys may participate, but parties to the dispute do not have to be represented. Informal dispute resolution is attempted in all litigated cases in which a party is unrepresented. In addition, a judge may order the parties to participate in IDR.

The court's IDR process focuses on interest-based mediation. This means that one of the court's professionally trained attorney-mediators assists the parties in reaching a resolution of the dispute that satisfies the underlying interests of the parties. The mediator does not advocate or make decisions on behalf of either party. Mediation can be an empowering process because it allows the participants to decide the outcome rather than a judge. Many IDR inquiries can be resolved without the need for a mediation conference simply through information and education provided by the mediation coordinator.

Mediation conferences are conducted by the section’s staff attorneys. All of the attorney-mediators are trained in the basic skills of mediation through a nationally recognized 30-hour training program through the Office of Dispute Resolution in Lincoln, Nebraska. Advancement of mediation skills is encouraged, and as opportunities arise the mediators receive additional training.

Mediation through the court is voluntary absent an order by a judge. In 67 cases, or 77.9 percent of all closed cases, at least one party declined to participate or did not respond to the request. Cases may be closed for a variety of other reasons as shown in the following table.

Coverage and Claims

This section includes a manager, a workers' compensation auditor, two compliance examiners, and two program assistants. Section responsibilities are divided into three categories: medical services, compliance, and self-insurance.

Medical Services Activities

Section staff respond to inquiries from a variety of sources concerning the application and use of the various medical and hospital fee schedules, the Independent Medical Examiner (IME) program, managed care, the choice of physician rule, and other questions relating to medical, surgical, and hospital services under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act.

Fee Schedules

Section staff are charged with collecting data from payors and certain hospitals in order to develop the Diagnostic Related Group Inpatient Hospital Fee Schedule and the Trauma Services Inpatient Hospital Fee Schedule established in Section 48-120.04 of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act. The data is collected through the use of a web-based data entry system that allows the reporters to directly enter the information through the court's web site.

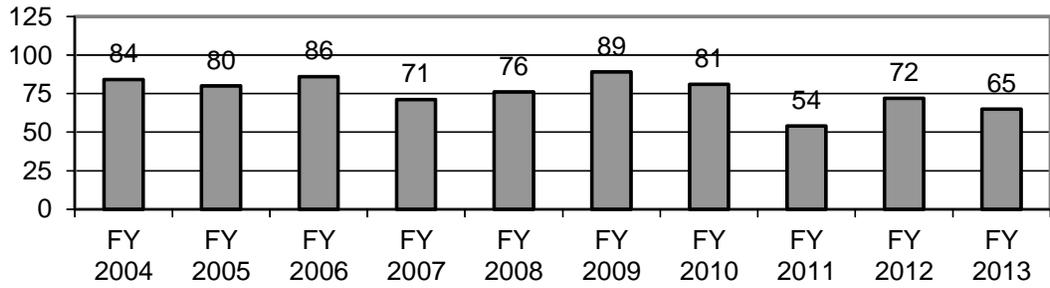

Section staff also collect data and make recommendations regarding the other fee schedules published by the court. That work includes updates to the Schedule of Fees for Medical Services, which applies to services by physicians and other licensed health care providers performing medical services within the scope of their respective practices.

Independent Medical Examiner (IME) System

Once a dispute arises regarding the medical condition of the employee or related issues, either side may request a finding by an IME. The parties may agree on a physician to submit the finding or may request assignment of a court-approved IME. The IME system was designed to give the parties an additional means of resolving disputes outside the judicial process. To serve as an IME for the court, physicians must complete an application and be approved by the judges of the court. Currently there are 137 court-approved IMEs.

During FY 2013, 65 IME cases were opened. Fifty requests for assignment of a court-approved IME were submitted by an attorney representing an injured employee, and 11 were submitted by a workers' compensation insurer or the insurer's attorney. Two requests were submitted by an employee, one request was submitted by a claims adjuster, and one request was ordered by a judge of the court. The chart on the next page shows IME cases opened during the last 10 years.

Managed Care Plans for Workers' Compensation

A table showing current information about managed care plans certified by the court for workers' compensation purposes is available on the court's web site (<http://www.wcc.ne.gov/medical/mcp.pdf>). On June 30, 2013 there were 364 employers and 34,341 employees covered by the certified managed care plans. The following charts show the trend in covered employers and employees.

Number of Employers Covered By Managed Care

Number of Employees Covered By Managed Care

Compliance Activities

One of the primary enforcement activities of the section is to identify employers who do not have insurance coverage as required under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act. The section sent 3,061 informational letters to new corporations registering with the Secretary of State during FY 2013. The letters resulted in 79 employers obtaining the required coverage.

Section staff also monitor the court's electronic proof of coverage information for employers whose coverage has been cancelled or not renewed. If coverage is still required, compliance examiners first attempt to bring the employer into compliance. If the efforts of the staff do not result in compliance, the case is then referred to the Attorney General's office for further action. During FY 2013, letters were sent to 3,949 employers whose coverage had been cancelled or not renewed, and 339 employers were brought into compliance as a result of the effort.

Workers' compensation insurers, risk management pools, and self-insured employers are also required to comply with obligations under the Act, including the obligation to report injuries and benefit payments in accordance with the Act and the court's Rules of Procedure. Coverage and Claims staff enforce those reporting requirements, requesting missing injury reports and monitoring for their receipt, clarifying discrepancies on existing reports, and obtaining missing information.

Compliance examiners also respond to a large volume of phone inquiries from a variety of sources and on a variety of topics. Topics frequently addressed include: medical issues, insurer identification and contact information, benefit calculation, payment explanation, delay in receiving benefits, and general rights and obligations. The examiners recorded 492 calls during FY 2013. Often, callers identify situations in which employers are uninsured, injury reports are not being filed, and insurers, employers, or risk management pools are not complying with other obligations under the Act. Staff investigate the specific cases, encourage voluntary compliance, and request appropriate legal action when necessary.

A total of 162 case investigations were opened last fiscal year as a result of the above activities. Forty-two cases were referred to the Attorney General's office for further action.

Self-Insurance Activities

The Coverage and Claims section is responsible for reviewing applications from individual employers to self-insure their workers' compensation liability, determining and collecting fees and assessments, and monitoring the employers' continued ability to meet their financial obligations under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act. Self-insurance privileges are subject to periodic review and renewal. The Coverage and Claims section conducts periodic on-site audits of payroll records.

At the beginning of each calendar year, the court calculates and collects from employers self-insured for the prior calendar year the necessary assessments for the state's General Fund, the Compensation Court Cash Fund, and the Workers' Compensation Trust Fund. The assessments are based on the number and classification of employees, payroll, and benefits paid during the previous calendar year. Additional assessments are made in support of the Nebraska Department of Insurance for carrying out the Insurance Fraud

Act. As of June 30, 2013, there were 41 employers approved for self-insurance. For calendar year 2013 assessment purposes, there were 42 self-insurers (employers who were self-insured for all or part of calendar year 2012). The State of Nebraska is self-insured by statute and is not included in any of the statistics that follow.

Vocational Rehabilitation

A manager, three vocational rehabilitation specialists, one senior program specialist, and two support staff are responsible for duties associated with vocational rehabilitation services to which an employee may be entitled under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act. The goal of vocational rehabilitation is to return an injured worker to suitable, gainful employment after an injury covered under the Act. A wide variety of services is available under the Act, from coordinating return to the pre-injury job with the employer to a period of formal training.

The duties of the section can be divided into three broad categories: certifying vocational rehabilitation counselors and job placement specialists, appointing counselors when parties cannot agree, and reviewing, approving, and monitoring vocational rehabilitation plans.

Certification of Counselors and Specialists

Vocational rehabilitation services under the Act can only be provided by individuals who have been certified by the court. Rules 39–41 contain the requirements for certification. At the end of FY 2013 (June 30, 2013), there were 97 private vocational rehabilitation counselors and 102 job placement specialists certified by the court. There are 43 certified private vocational rehabilitation counselors located in Nebraska.

* Effective in FY 2007, vocational rehabilitation counselors employed by a state agency were no longer automatically certified as vocational rehabilitation counselors for purposes of providing services under the Act. Such counselors continue to be automatically certified as job placement specialists.

Appointment of Counselors

When an injured employee claims entitlement to vocational rehabilitation services, the employee and the employer (or the employer's workers' compensation insurer) must try to agree on a vocational rehabilitation counselor to evaluate the employee and provide needed services. If they cannot agree, one of them can ask the court to appoint a counselor. Of the 574 vocational rehabilitation cases opened in FY 2013, the court appointed 220 counselors and the parties were able to agree upon a counselor in 334 cases. Twenty cases were opened in FY 2013 and closed before a counselor was agreed upon or appointed.

A vocational rehabilitation case is opened when notice of agreement to a counselor or a request for appointment of a counselor is filed with the court, or if vocational rehabilitation is ordered by a judge of the court. At the end of FY 2013, there were 407 open vocational rehabilitation cases. A total of 615 cases were closed for a variety of reasons during FY 2013. The table below shows the reported closure totals.

Vocational Rehabilitation Plans

An employee who claims entitlement to vocational rehabilitation services is evaluated by the agreed to or appointed counselor to determine whether it is necessary to develop a vocational rehabilitation plan. If a plan is developed, the level of services to be provided is based on a hierarchy outlined in Section 48-162.01 of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act. All vocational rehabilitation plans must also be evaluated by a specialist of the court and approved by such specialist or a judge of the court prior to implementation.

Vocational rehabilitation plans generally include job placement or formal training, and such plans may also include additional vocational rehabilitation services such as general educational development, adult basic education, English language learning, computer training, or on-the-job training. Of the 149 job placement plans closed in FY 2013, 24 of those plans included some such supportive services. Of the 173 formal training plans closed in FY 2013, 10 of those plans included some such supportive services.

A total of 208 court-approved vocational rehabilitation plans had start dates in FY 2013 and 322 plans were closed in FY 2013.

When an employee is in a court-approved vocational rehabilitation plan, the following costs are paid by the Workers' Compensation Trust Fund administered by the court: tuition, books, tools, other appropriate fees and costs, and board, lodging, and/or travel in some circumstances. Total disbursements from the trust and cash funds for vocational rehabilitation purposes are shown in Section 1, Pages 12 and 13 of this Annual Report.

Vocational rehabilitation counselor fees for the evaluation of the employee, development and implementation of a vocational rehabilitation plan, and preparation of a loss of earning power evaluation are paid by the employer or workers' compensation insurer. This also includes charges by job placement specialists or interpreters, if necessary. The employer or insurer is also responsible for temporary disability benefits while the employee is undergoing vocational rehabilitation.

Public Information

The court's Public Information section exists for three purposes.

- To educate the public regarding Nebraska workers' compensation law and procedural rules. Public Information staff respond to inquiries received on the court's toll-free information line and e-mail help desk, and also disseminate information by means of the court's web site, publications, workshops, and seminars. Injured employees are also notified upon the filing of a first report of injury of basic information regarding their rights and obligations under the workers' compensation system.
- To provide access to public records maintained by the court.
- To process and analyze injury and payment reports filed electronically and on paper by the court's trading partners, including insurers, risk management pools, and self-insured employers.

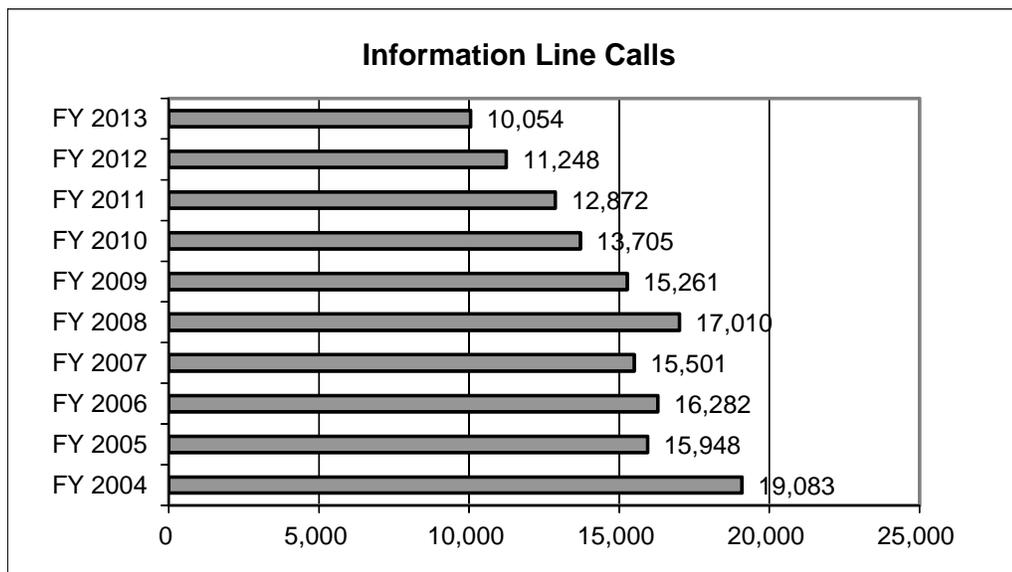

Providing these services requires five full-time staff members: a manager, a public information officer, a data quality assurance analyst, a public information technician, a receptionist/ office clerk.

Education

Information Line

The court's toll-free information line enables the court to serve the public more efficiently and saves the cost of long-distance calling. Public information staff assist callers from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m, Monday through Friday. After hours and during weekends and holidays, callers may leave a message and a staff member will return the call on the next working day. AT&T's Language Line provides language translation services as needed.

Section staff provide answers to commonly asked questions or research inquiries for a response, usually within 24 hours. Calls can also be transferred to other sections of the court for more information. Court staff do not provide opinions or legal advice.

Information line calls come from employees, employers, attorneys, insurers, medical and vocational rehabilitation providers, and others in Nebraska and throughout the nation.

The information line received a total of 10,054 calls in FY 2013, an average of 193.3 calls per week or 40.5 calls per working day. This is a 10.6 percent decrease from FY 2012.

Web site

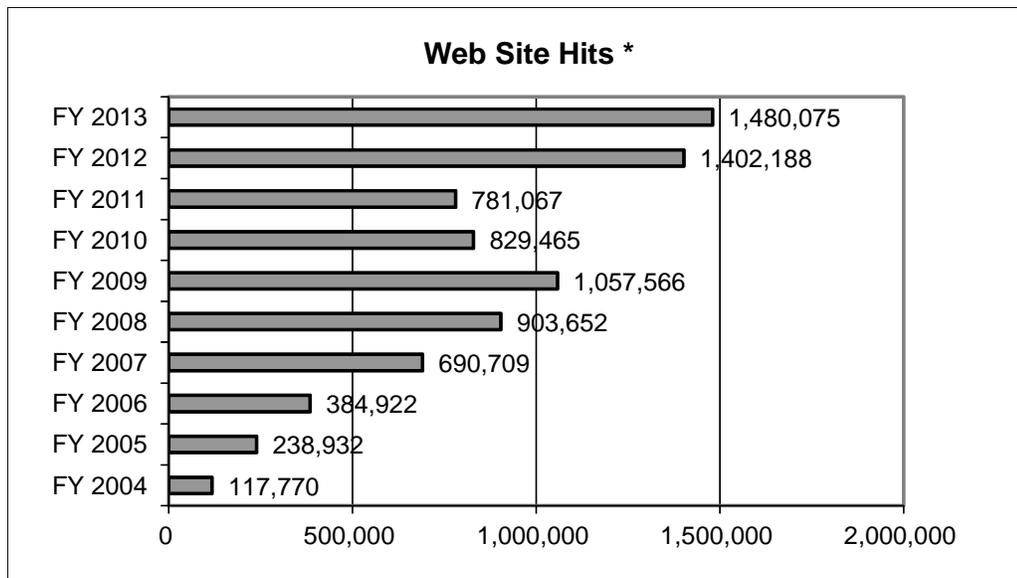

The Public Information and Information Technology sections coordinate to develop and maintain the court's web site (<http://www.wcc.ne.gov/>), which has been steadily upgraded since its inception in 1996 to better serve the public and make use of ever-improving technology:

- The web site uses Microsoft's ASP.NET framework to alleviate the overhead and redundancy usually associated with the development of dynamic web sites, applications and services. The court's entire web presence (the main web site and all related web applications) is maintained on the court's internal servers in one file format. This allows for more efficient records management, enforcement of better security practices, and web site maintenance cross-training.
- A number of useful web applications are available: a coverage look-up tool (which allows the public to search for workers' compensation insurance for a particular employer on a particular date), a records request form, a searchable database of court decisions and orders, benefit calculators, and a data entry system for reporting Diagnostic Related Group (DRG) claim counts.
- Court news is disseminated by means of an RSS (Really Simple Syndication) feed. The public may view the news feed directly on our web site, subscribe to receive news broadcasts into their RSS news readers (aggregators), or follow court news using Twitter, a web-based social networking tool (http://twitter.com/NE_WCC).
- The court's publications and forms are available in portable document format (PDF) and may be downloaded from the web site. The PDF forms can be completed electronically, printed, then submitted to the court.
- The web site has been designed to maximize readability in any web browser, at any screen resolution (including internet-enabled handheld devices).
- The web site meets or exceeds all Section 508 Accessibility Guidelines.

The web site received 1,480,075 hits in FY 2013, a 5.6 percent increase from FY 2012. The public accessed the following areas of the web site most often in FY 2013:

1. The Court News section (RSS feed) had 825,199 hits (55.8 percent of all hits).
2. The Medical section had a combined total of 196,901 hits (13.3 percent of all hits). Of these, the various fee schedules had a combined total of 191,812 hits (13 percent of all hits).
3. The Vocational Rehabilitation section, had a combined total of 80,272 hits (5.4 percent of all hits).
4. The Legal section had a combined total of 70,369 hits (4.8 percent of all hits). Of these, the Rules of Procedure had 32,942 hits (2.2 percent of all hits).
5. The About the Court section had a combined total of 24,995 hits (1.7 percent of all hits).

Other web site activity in FY 2013 included requests for information and services that were transmitted to the court's e-mail help desk from the site's secure electronic forms. Not including requests for records, which are addressed below, Public Information staff responded to 2,221 such requests.

* The lower number of hits during FY 2010 and FY 2011 may have been due to a transition to the ASP.NET framework in May 2010. Such a transition will typically reduce the number of web site hits since the major search engines must re-index the entire web site and visitors must replace broken bookmarked links.

Publications

The Public Information section produces and maintains an inventory of court publications. Public Information staff work with other sections of the court to assist with issues of content, editing, and style. After design and layout tasks are performed, Public Information staff deliver the finished documents for printing and publish them on the court web site.

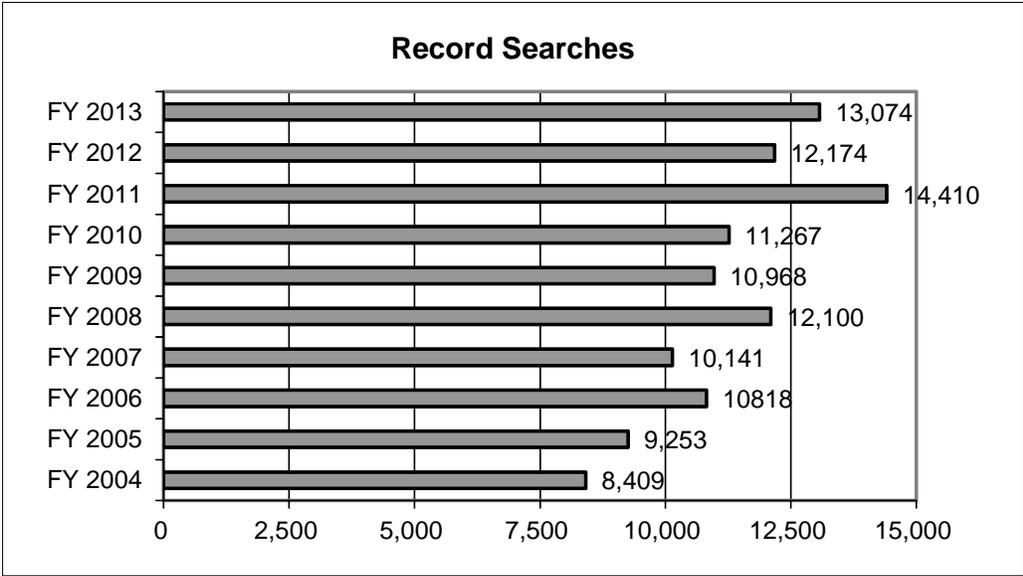

The section also produces and maintains a number of forms used for insurance coverage, medical and vocational rehabilitation purposes, reporting workers' compensation injuries and payments, and requesting records.

A complete listing of available publications and forms may be found on the court web site (<http://www.wcc.ne.gov/publications/publications.aspx>).

Record Searches

One of the most common requests from the public are for record searches regarding injuries to an individual employee. Public Information staff fulfilled 13,074 requests for such records in FY 2013, a 7.4 percent increase from FY 2012. The records request processing function has been augmented with Handysoft's Bizflow, a workflow/ business process management tool. The records request fulfillment function has been augmented with Repliweb's RMFT, a managed file transfer tool. Implementation of these tools has resulted in more efficient and secure processing and fulfillment of record requests from the public. Five-year searches of first and subsequent reports are fulfilled at no charge if sufficient information is provided to promptly identify the records. Requests for records other than first and subsequent reports may be subject to a charge, but only if the time required to search, identify, physically redact, or copy such records exceeds four cumulative hours. If fees are charged, they will be based on the actual added cost of conducting the search and providing the copies. Public Information staff fulfill most record requests within four business days.

Data Processing and Analysis

Public Information staff processed 49,553 first reports and 74,487 subsequent reports in FY 2013. At the time of publication, 99.8 percent of all first reports and 99.9 percent of all subsequent reports are filed electronically using Electronic Data Interchange (EDI). Public Information staff process the electronic reports and also code and manually enter the remaining paper reports. Once processed, the data quality assurance analyst examines and maintains the data for statistical purposes. Section staff maintain a database of court-approved EDI trading partners to assist with data quality assurance duties.

Information Technology

The Information Technology (IT) section of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court is responsible for the administration and maintenance of the court's computer systems and network. This includes the court's databases relating to adjudication, reports of injury, settlements, and vocational rehabilitation, which are maintained in Oracle. Through Electronic Data Interchange (EDI), software systems provide for processing of injury and payment reporting and proof of coverage reporting. IT continually works with the Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO) staff on hardware and software technology projects and hosting. Providing these services requires a manager/database administrator, deputy manager/infrastructure support analyst, three full-time developers, and an infrastructure support technician.

Fiscal Year Activities

The court manages its data through desktop and Internet ASP.NET systems, utilizing an Oracle database as its primary information repository. The database currently contains 17 full years' worth of information, going back to calendar year 1996 for reports of injury. Historical injury-related information is also maintained for purposes of performing cross-year statistical analysis. The IT section has developed and maintains more than 500 program units in Oracle Forms/Reports, Micro Focus Cobol, Embarcadero Delphi, HandySoft BizFlow, and Microsoft Visual Studio. The section also provides support for an Oracle ad hoc reporting tool used by court staff for producing reports and data extracts from the database with minimal or no assistance from IT staff after initial training.

Considerable IT resources were focused on the development and testing of the Electronic Filing (E-Filing) project during FY 2013 with the focus on the Release of Liability and other associated pleadings such as Addendum 3. In addition, the first version of automated Clerk Review software was developed and tested. The E-Filing/Clerk Review system integrates technologies such as workflow/business process management (BizFlow), web applications (ASP.NET), electronic document generation (OCIO-hosted BI Publisher - PDF), electronic document stamping (PDF-Tools), and relational databases (Oracle). An IT developer worked with and continues to work with the OCIO on the OCIO-hosted Oracle BI Publisher upgrade. These technologies will continue to be used on all the court's re-engineered lines of business systems. Security is a top priority and considerable effort has been spent to apply security features and functions from the highest web server level to individual fields in database tables.

After a successful implementation in FY 2012 of a web-based Diagnostic Related Group (DRG) entry system for annual submission of information from hospitals and insurance companies, the remaining computer functionality for this system was developed along with other enhancements to create a "turnkey system" that will minimize IT staff involvement each year. A Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) case closure information entry system was developed that integrated older technology of Oracle Forms screens with newer technology of Visual Studio Windows Forms (WinForms) along with minor enhancements to the existing VR Case Management system. Conversion and enhancement of the Adjudication/Business & Human Resources Cash Receipts system from Oracle Forms to Visual Studio WinForms was completed.

An IT developer was assigned and trained to provide concurrent development and backup support to the Public Information webmaster for the court's main website. Considerable time was spent to create a shared development environment for the webmaster and IT developer along with source code and ASP executables turnover and management.

The court, in conjunction with the Department of Health and Human Services, will decommission its Lotus Notes-Domino environments by July 1, 2014. Lotus Notes Mail-in Databases have been replaced with Microsoft Shared Mailboxes.

Utilizing the virtualized servers hosted on the court's blade servers and the OCIO's Storage Area Network (SAN) infrastructure, the court has been able to implement and manage more than 35 virtual servers. This environment has allowed the court to implement development, testing, and production environments without adding server hardware/software technology, therefore containing costs. Considerable IT resource time was spent on completing projects with the OCIO in the technology areas of OCIO-hosted data backups and anti-virus protection. IT resource time was spent on upgrades to web application communications to Oracle databases (connection pooling). Automated server and database monitoring services (Nagios) continued to be implemented to assuring critical systems are up and running each business day.

The managed file transfer system (RMFT) continues to be heavily used by sections for business functions such as Records Request Fulfillment to electronically and securely transfer documents and files that contain confidential information and/or file sizes larger than the email system will allow. Development continued on integration of RMFT into our custom-developed outbound message management system. The integration of RMFT will allow confidential information to be added to documents sent to insurance companies which will reduce the communication time with respect to injury report requests.

The project of upgrading existing desktop computers to Windows 7 was started during the fiscal year and will continue into the next. New servers were procured during the year so that the major effort to replace existing court host servers for our virtualized server environment can start in the next fiscal year. At the same time, major software systems such as BizFlow and software version management (PVCS) will be upgraded or replaced.

The court continues to provide technical support to the Supreme Court's Mandatory Continuing Legal Education (MCLE) Commission for the online MCLE system. The court provides Oracle system software, virtual servers, data storage, and IT staff resources (internal and contracted) for hosting, upgrades, project management, implementation, and ongoing support of an Oracle-based MCLE system procured by the commission. A considerable amount of IT resources were expended on an upgrade project of system software required by contract. The project was a joint effort of IT staff, our third-party Oracle-support company, the MCLE software-support company, and MCLE Commission staff. This project included adding additional OCIO virtual servers (VMware) with the Linux operating system. The project is targeted to be completed in the fall of 2013.

Nebraska Occupational Injury and Illness Survey — 2012

Occupational Safety and Health Act

The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSHA) became an official part of the nation’s labor laws in 1971. With its passage, Congress declared its intent “. . . to assure as far as possible every working man and woman in the Nation safe and healthful working conditions and to preserve our human resources.”

Under this Act, employers are required to keep records of all work-related deaths, any diagnosed occupational illnesses and any occupational injuries which involve loss of consciousness, restriction of work or motion, transfer to another job, or requires medical treatment beyond first aid. Employers with more than 10 workers are required to maintain a log (OSHA No. 300), a summary of occupational injuries and illnesses (OSHA No. 300A), and a supplementary record (OSHA No. 301)¹ of each occurrence within the calendar year. These records are retained at the work site for five years and must be available for inspection by representatives of the U.S. Department of Labor and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Employers with less than 11 employees and those employers who conduct business in one of the low hazard industries specified by OSHA are generally exempt from these recordkeeping requirements unless they are notified of the necessity to maintain these records for a given year for statistical purposes.

2012 Occupational Injury and Illness Survey

In order to measure and evaluate the efforts in reducing work-related injuries and illnesses, a standardized system to collect, compile and analyze the health and safety statistics was established and implemented. This standardized system enables data users to identify those industries that need improvement, furthers monitoring and education programs, and allows employers to compare their incidence rates with other employers in the same industry.

The Nebraska Workers’ Compensation Court has cooperated with the U.S. Department of Labor and the Bureau of Labor Statistics since 1971 in conducting an annual survey of Nebraska employers, which has provided these essential work injury and illness statistics. Beginning with the 2008 survey, local and state government units in addition to private sector were surveyed. The 2012 sample surveyed 3,720 employing units in the state.

Note on industry and occupation classifications: Beginning with the 2003 reference year, the Occupational Injury and Illness Survey began using the 2002 North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) for industries and the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) system for occupations. Prior to 2003, the program used the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) system and the Bureau of the Census occupational classification system. Because of the substantial differences between the current and previous systems, the results by industry and occupation in 2003 constitute a break in series, and users are advised against making comparisons between the 2003 and later industry and occupation categories and the results for previous years.

Information regarding the survey and the results of the Occupational Injury and Illness Survey for 2012 is available on the court's web site (http://www.wcc.ne.gov/publications/osh_cfoi.aspx).

¹In the State of Nebraska the Workers' Compensation Form 1 — First Report of Alleged Occupational Injury or Illness, may be used in place of the OSHA No. 301 form.

Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries (CFOI) — 2012

The Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries (CFOI) Program was developed by the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) to provide a timely and accessible census of work-related fatalities. The CFOI program is a federal/state cooperative program. In Nebraska, CFOI is conducted by the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court. This is the 21st year that CFOI has been conducted in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

2012 Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries

CFOI 2012 used multiple data sources including death certificates, workers' compensation reports, medical examiner reports, and other available federal and state administrative records, to compile a complete, verifiable count of Nebraska fatal workplace injuries. The census covers all traumatic occupational fatalities, including those resulting from injuries to the self-employed, laborers on small farms, government workers, and others too difficult to identify from a single data source.

Besides comprehensive counts of fatal work injuries, the 2012 census provides information on the demographic characteristics of the deceased workers (including age, gender, and race), the occupations and industries the decedents worked in and the circumstances of their tragedies. This wealth of information on hazards in Nebraska workplaces yields vital insights to aid in preventing future workplace fatalities. Safety and health researchers are able to study patterns of fatal work injuries, identify hazardous activities and equipment, and alert workers to these dangers.

2012 Census Results

The Nebraska Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries recorded 48 fatal workplace injuries during 2012, up from 39 the previous year. Other findings of the census include:

- The leading fatal event was transportation incidents, accounting for 25 (52 percent) of fatal occupational injuries in 2012. Contact with objects and equipment followed with 10 fatalities (21 percent). Falls, slips, and trips accounted for six fatalities (13 percent).
- Among industry groups, the largest number of fatal work injuries was in natural resources and mining with 14 (29 percent). Trade, transportation and utilities followed with 13 (27 percent). Construction had 10 (21 percent).
- Fourteen (29 percent) of those fatally injured were 45 to 54 years of age. Ten (21 percent) were 55 to 64 years of age. Another eight (17 percent) were 25 to 34 years of age.
- Forty-two (88 percent) of those fatally injured were white, non-Hispanic.
- Forty-four (92 percent) of those fatally injured were men.
- Thirty-six (75 percent) were wage and salary workers. The remainder of those fatally injured were self-employed.

Information regarding the census and the results of the Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries 2012 is available on the court's web site (http://www.wcc.ne.gov/publications/osh_cfoi.aspx).
