

determined on other basis than whether it be printed or note. Now, is there a way of doing this rather than just voting yes, print it, or no, don't print it. I think it's the context of that letter, the content of that letter which would invalidate our resolution, as I see it and can we formulate a vote or a decision on the contents rather than the letter itself in the Journal.

SPEAKER: Senator Burbach, the Chair would observe that this body, when they have 25 people voting on one issue at one time, can do anything, other than for the emergency and veto override this type of thing or, in the case, of course, of the suspension of the rules which takes 30 votes, but I would think that anybody that would care to phrase a motion--

SENATOR BURBACH: I would move that the letter be printed in the Journal and that we have an opportunity to voice, I make a motion that we voice our objection to some of the material that's in the letter rather than have the question whether it should be printed or not. I have no objection to printing the letter.

SPEAKER: Well, I suppose the Chair would interpret that, Senator Burbach, that we really have the motion now by Senator Proud which is, of course, to go ahead and include the letter in there. Through the debate now, you're having the chance to voice your objections and it would seem to me like the vote whether it's printed or not, would indicate your, whether you sustain the letter or not, or the contents of it, but the Chair is open to whatever you choose. This is your Legislature and if you can get 25 votes, that's fine.

SENATOR BURBACH: I would move to amend--

SPEAKER: All right.

SENATOR BURBACH: -- Senator Proud's motion that the letter be printed but that we vote now on whether we concur in what the contents of that letter are, what the letter is.

SPEAKER: O.K. We now have an amendment to Senator Proud's motion and that really is now what we're speaking on. The Chair would recognize Senator Proud.

SENATOR PROUD: Mr. President. Just to speak, Senator Burbach's comments. I, I think, Senator, that one of your first statements was the most correct because all this is, all my motion is, is to put it in the Journal so that the Legislators can read it and then tomorrow, after it's printed, if you or anybody else wishes to make the motion to express your sentiments concerning the letter, that could be done very easily so it seems to me that we should just decide now practically without any further debate whether or not to print the letter and then you can make your motion as to what to do about the letter, is that fair?

SPEAKER: Senator Burbach.

SENATOR BURBACH: I withdraw my motion at the time but I will discuss it tomorrow morning

SPEAKER: Very good. Now, just a minute, we have Senator Kennedy, then Senator Simpson. Senator Kennedy.

SENATOR KENNEDY: Mr. President, fellow members, I am pleased that we're going ahead and printing it in the Journal so that we can discuss it tomorrow because I think we'd like to pick it to pieces. I'd like to be part of that process but I don't
