

SPEAKER: Senator Syas.

SENATOR SYAS: I see--assume we're talking about the Senator Lewis amendment about the fellow that leases going to the Board, is that the amendment we're still discussing?

SENATOR LEWIS: Yes.

SENATOR SYAS: Personally I don't think you better put this bill on the floo--on the bill, amendment. It looks harmless enough but you know, citing in a bill a certain class of people when the school lands belong to everybody and you're saying to the person that leases that he can make a request that I can't. I think you might be in a little trouble here. This kind of reminds me of the time we tried to sell some railroad property which I didn't try to sell, but you try to the adjoining landowner without bids. I'm not saying this is near that serious but saying to the person that leases it, he has the prerogative of going in and talking to the Board and he can urge them, invite legislation on--he can do this by just keeping quiet about it but by legislation, you're saying to him, he has the right, I think, prior to mine and he doesn't own those school built--lands any more than I do. I just want you to think about this a little bit. It probably isn't a big thing but--

SENATOR R. LEWIS: Mr. President, Mr. President, could I address Senator Syas, please?

SPEAKER: Yes.

SENATOR R. LEWIS: Senator Syas, it is partly my fault for not having this published and yet I thought it was published in the Journal, but
