SENATOR WHITNEY: Yes, I am asking a question of the Clerk. About how many hours of reading, final reading, have we still got on today's reading do you estimate?

PRESIDENT: Earlier this morning we had a calculation that in order to finish up the final reading here would take about 11 hours.

SENATOR WHITNEY: The final date there, how many hours of reading is there.

PRESIDENT: We don't have an estimate on that. Motion before us is to recess until 7 o'clock this evening. All those in favor of recessing until 7 tonight, vote aye; all those opposed, vote nay. The motion is to recess until 7 tonight. That's right, Simpson amendment which is a recess until 7 o'clock tonight. Oops, do it again. Vote again, please. Motion is to recess until 7 tonight. We have the question under vote, Senator More, sit tight will you? Now, once again, have you all voted? Alright. The Clerk will record. The motion is lost. The motion now is to adjourn until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. All those in favor of that motion, vote aye; all those opposed, vote nay. Motion is to adjourn until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Once again, have you all voted? Okay, we are adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.
