

PRESIDENT: If there was a motion made that is withdrawn.

SENATOR BARNETT: Yes, unanimous consent.

PRESIDENT: Okay, there is no objection it is so ordered. We will take up then as one issue amendments one, three and seven. Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: One, seven and eight.

PRESIDENT: Excuse me, one, seven and eight.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: In the interest of time, if you have questions maybe I'll entertain questions on these. But, if you have no questions I think that they explain themselves. They do clarify and state some things that may be implied. The only really new thing is number seven where it attempts to establish some accountability for the management of the drug control cash fund. So, I ask for the adoption of these three amendments.

PRESIDENT: Senator Marvel.

SENATOR MARVEL: When you are referring to one, seven and eight are you referring to your sheet? Amendments one, seven and eight or are you referring to something else?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, the numbers on my sheet that I handed out would be the same as those in the Journal on the page that he referred you too.

SENATOR MARVEL: Now, have you explained these before?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well I have argued them before so that is why I say that anyone or all of them that you may have a question about, I'll answer any questions that you might with reference to them.

SENATOR MARVEL: Could I ask you to give just a one or two sentence explanation of each of them.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Sure. In number one we are dealing with shop lifting and a defense is given to the store against a charge of false imprisonment if certain conditions are found to be present. But, what I am doing by adding the word "and" is to say that all of these provisions must be present to be a defense against a charge of false imprisonment, and the way the statute is drafted that could be implied. That by adding the word "and" before each one of these subdivisions it establishes clearly that all of them must be present to provide a defense against false imprisonment. They deal with having reasonable grounds to think that a person may have been stealing, they were not restrained in an unreasonable manner for an unreasonable period of time. The person is being held for an officer to make an investigation, whatever else the reasons are, but I want it clearly understood that all of these elements have to be present and not just one of them.

Number seven would deal with the establishment or the attempt to establish some means of accountability of the administration and utilization of the drug control cash fund located in the
