

SENATOR HABERMAN: The answer must be yes.

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: The answer will be, yes, there will be some that will have a higher value and the answer will be that there will be some that will have a lower value. It works both ways.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Am I...am I still speaking on that part of the amendment?

SENATOR LABEDZ: Yes, you are speaking...I don't know whether you want a division of the question. Is that what you are speaking on, the first part of the question?

SENATOR HABERMAN: I am asking for...do I get to...I get to close now, don't I?

SENATOR LABEDZ: Yes, you do.

SENATOR HABERMAN: I would like to ask the body...

SENATOR LABEDZ: Just a minute, Senator Haberman. I believe your time is up and you will be able to speak again. Right now we have Senator Hefner's light on. Senator Hefner, do you want to speak on the division of the question, on the first part?

SENATOR HEFNER: Madam President and members of the Legislature, what are we on now? Did we divide the question?

SENATOR LABEDZ: I believe Senator Haberman says he has divided the question. He is working on the first part right now.

SENATOR HEFNER: Okay, and the first part is the three...

SENATOR LABEDZ: You might ask Senator Haberman the question.

SENATOR HABERMAN: I am taking out, trying to divide the
