made on our Chamber computer system and there have been a number of questions asked about that because it not only has some extra features, but it operates a little bit differently than what it did last year and it looks different than what we're familiar, those of us who have been here before. With that in mind then, you're invited, today and tomorrow, upon adjournment, to remain here on the floor and the Legislative Technology Center, our own employees, will run you through the process of what's available to you and how it works and how to get at the services that you have available, which are really quite extensive. So with that, Mr. President, I would hope that all of the members of the body, either today or tomorrow, will be able to avail themselves of that opportunity to learn the new system, sort of new system, that is on the laptops here in the Chamber. Thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: You're welcome, Senator. I'm sure every seat will be filled. Mr. Clerk.

CLERK: Mr. President, the first bill of General File this morning, LB 62, offered by Senator Landis. (Read title.) Bill was introduced on January 7 of this year, at that time referred to the Banking, Commerce, and Insurance Committee for a hearing. Bill was advanced to General File, Mr. President, and I have no amendments at this time.

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: Thank you, Mr. Clerk. Chair recognizes Senator Landis, to open.

SENATOR LANDIS: Thank you, Mr. President, members of the Legislature. Two small changes to our Uniform Custodial Trust Act. That we remind the body what a custodial trust is, this is a relatively small, simple trust held for the benefit of someone else. The custodial trust has a maximum value of $100,000 and the goal was to create a simple trust mechanism that people can handle just by using the standard form that appears in the statutes and, for the most part, even without lawyers, if necessary (laugh) and if possible. I saw Senator Connealy's eyebrows flutter when I mentioned not using lawyers in this case, but the goal is particularly for the elderly. This has come about because of two circumstances that the elderly are concerned about: one, where an elderly person holding $100,000
