that is a good service for government to provide. It's my understanding, from talking to Senator Cudaback, that we're...we're talking about even lower costs than were originally thought about on this bill, for a very modest fee, just to get the thing up and running. I think this will be well worth our money. And, with the adoption of the Beutler amendment, I think we will be in a position where we will see that this information is kept up in a timely manner. So I don't know if that answers your question for you or not, but it answers it for me when I look at the same question. Thank you.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Cudaback.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Mr. Speaker and members, I don't...I wish I had the ability to express myself like Senator Landis, but I don't have. I can't speak as eloquently and express myself in one minute like he can, but I will try to put his question, I put it into my so-called computer and I come up with this. We have commissions, we have county boards. If they do wish to adopt zoning, they have to appoint a commission, right? They have to appoint commissions. Many, many times those commissions they appoint are cattlemen. They appoint cattlemen to these commissions. These cattlemen then have to, I mean, they are not experts in the field, you might say, so they have to go to different counties and find out what's going on. Rather than to call those counties, these people that I was, you know, I'm reiterating here maybe, but they have to go to a source and they thought it would be easier to go to a source that was a central filing source, and that would be with the Secretary of State. They don't only deal with feedlots; naturally, they have an interest in feedlots. I mean they're...they appoint people from cross-sections of Nebraska on these commissions. You all know that, of course. On a commission, you try to appoint a cross-section. You have cattlemen on these commissions. They're interested in the feedlots, naturally, but they're also making rules and regs on trailer homes, everything; everything falls under their...under these rules, if they are incorporated in the comprehensive plan. So I guess if a cattleman wants to go and find out what's happening in Box Butte or in Sarpy County or Lancaster County, he won't have to call that county. They thought it would be easier to go to a central source and find out what they are doing so they can make decisions based on
