FLOOR DEBATE

February 6, 2001 LB 257

Wehrbein, it's your last time to talk on this bill.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: I...I will wait for closing, unless Senator Beutler would like to ask some more questions.

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: Senator Beutler.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: He can use my time, if he'd like.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Senator Wehrbein, thank you. I'll just look at it. I'll give some more thought to it between now and Select File. But, I guess, at this point I remain unconvinced of the value of distorting the spending record for both the fiscal year from which the refunds are...the justification is based, and also the current fiscal year. But I'll...I'll talk to some people about why DHH thinks this is particularly necessary. Thank you very much.

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: Thank you, Senator Beutler. Senator Wehrbein.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: This is my closing?

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: If you want to use this time for closing, you may.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Yes, I'm ready to close. Thank you. I think you've under...listened to the debate. The one thing I would, I think, disagree with Senator Beutler in the fact that I think this is more accurate accountability rather than less. And I can tell you who to talk to, Senator Beutler, if you'd like to; they're out in the lobby. I think this is a thing that makes sense because, as I...I'm repeating myself, but these...these three funds, the Pharmaceutical Rebate Program, Third Party Liability, and the Surveillance and Utilization Review System, all within the Health and Human Services, are cash funds that earn rebates and so forth for various reasons. As I've mentioned, rebates and refunds on pharmaceuticals, for insurance claims that insure that we get the maximum return from insurance claims that we should, and properly who pays, and the third one is from the Health...the Fraud Unit that...where overutilization
