concerns and the...well, I don't want to characterize his reason for stating those comments, so I will leave it at concern. He touched on so many of the concerns that I have about these kind of fees that it wasn't necessary for me to say it in order to have those things put into the record. But when you set a tax and it never comes off, as some taxes on the phone bill have not come off since the Second World War or the First World War, the taxes were put on to underwrite the World War. The war has been over, as far as I can determine, but the tax is still there. We have been told that this 50 cent fee which is on the phone bill now, and by the way for the new members of the Legislature, that fee would be $1 if I hadn't stopped it several years running. And they already have an excess of money in the fund which that fee was to create. But you don't see any attempt to be fair with the public and keep faith and do like George Bush is saying, this is not their money, it is the people's money; give the people back some of their money. But a lot of people here will cheer when Governor (sic) Bush says those kind of things, because that's 1,000 miles or more off. When it comes to Nebraska and the people obviously are being overtaxed, not only is there a surplus, but there is nothing to do with it, and it cannot be spent, but the tax stays on and the money continues to roll in every month and the people continue to be gouged, especially the poor people, elderly and others on fixed incomes. But who cares? Nobody really, except me and one or two others. But when it comes...and Senator Vrtiska. When it comes to spending money that is going to primarily benefit a few people in a few senators' districts, then we can have a very touching...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...presentation of why we ought to tax everybody to help those senators in their district. If I was way out there where they've talked about, and if I happen to have a cell phone, which I don't, but if I did and I called for help, who is going to come? "Ghostbusters"? Well, Senator Connealy told me the cavalry or Senator Baker. But Senator Baker, based on what we learned in the Judiciary Committee, will be on his horse chasing down people who didn't pay for the gas they filched from his station. So when this gets to Select
