Transcriber's Office
FLOOR DEBATE

April 30, 2001 LB 543

very well might, we have to deal with each issue as it comes before us and the issue that I'm looking at right now is a program that I think constitutes poor public policy. Remember, this program has been sold to us as one that will recruit other people to come to Nebraska and teach, so what are you going to tell these people...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...when you recruit them? There is no social life to speak of. No jazz, no theatre, no opera, but there's Oprah. No theatre, but there are movie houses. So come to Nebraska. Oh, and there's a big old rusty thing that goes over the highway out there by Grand Island or someplace. Go sit under there for awhile. Oh, but you'll get $2,500 if you agree to come here and teach. That enough would be enough to stop people from coming here. That's all they can offer to come to that wasteland? It's not going to work. The program is a tribute to Senator Thompson and we ought to let her have her tribute in the form of the words in the statute book, but we ought to leave this money in the treasury.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Chambers. (Visitors introduced.) The following people would like to discuss the Chambers amendment: Senator Suttle, Thompson, Chambers. Senator Suttle.

SENATOR SUTTLE: Thank you, Mr. President. Members of the Legislature, let me understand this logic, Senator Chambers. Twenty-five hundred dollars isn't going to do anything, isn't going to attract anybody, so let's put it down to two thousand.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: (Microphone malfunction) Right.

SENATOR SUTTLE: I'm sorry, I don't understand that logic. I have thought about it and it is...if...if $2,500 doesn't attract them then we ought to put it up to $3,000, not down to $2,000, to attract them. It...the logic escapes me as to why, if $2,500 is not enough, why $2,000 is enough. I rise to oppose the amendment and would urge my colleagues. This is as out of the mouth of the oracle himself says that $2,500 is at least a
