Transcriber's Office
FLOOR DEBATE

February 26, 2003 LB 111

tuning is needed, we should not leave that to the good graces of a judge or a prosecutor. As legislators, it is our responsibility to craft legislation in the best form that we can put it so that it accomplishes our purposes. If somebody would stand on the floor and say the intent of him or her is to punish children or young people the same way we'll punish adults, then they would not want to change the word "person" to "adult." But my purposes are clear in my mind and I'm trying to make them clear on the record. Adults are the ones we should address. Senator Brashear and I, both, acknowledge the validity of what Senator Beutler said about this being an imperfect piece of legislating if we're going to put it within the context of how we should graduate offenses...punishments based on the seriousness of the offense. We acknowledge we are proceeding in a piecemeal fashion, that we cannot rewrite all of the laws, the statutes, that relate to pornography. I want us to be addressing child pornography. When I am asked to deviate from my ordinary approach to legislating, I am not talking about two grown people who may be willing participants in a pornographic presentation or adults...

SPEAKER BROMM: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...who want to observe such pornographic activity. I am interested in addressing the pornography that involves the use of children. So between now and Select File I am going to talk to Senator Mossey and see if he can be persuaded to change that word "person" to "adult" who is the wrongdoer; change the term that designates the victim from "minor" to "child." Then we have that consistency across the board, and if that is not done, I would not be able to support this bill because I think it's overkill and very poor drafting to accomplish what I was led to believe is the purpose. If we're addressing child pornography, let us make that clear in the statute. Thank you, Mr. President.

SPEAKER BROMM: Thank you, Senator Chambers. (Visitors introduced.) Further discussion on LB 111? Seeing none, Senator Mossey, you're recognized to close on the advancement of LB 111.
