FLOOR DEBATE

January 20, 2006 LB 72

SENATOR CHAMBERS: In line 22, starting there...and I'm just doing this to call your attention to it; I'm not going to interrogate you at all. It says--these are duties of the Secretary of State--"Establish minimum guidelines for educating and training licensees under the act. Such minimum guidelines may include, but not be limited to." By saying those guidelines "may" include, they actually don't have to include anything that follows. And I'm not going to ques...oh, unless you wanted to respond to it?

SENATOR STUHR: That was one addition that we added, as I stated earlier. Last year, we had no specific guidelines listed at all. So we did expand the bill this year, or, in our amendment, to at least include some of those basic items that we felt were very important.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: But that's not what results. Since the word is "may,"...

SENATOR STUHR: Right.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...not one of these has to be included. On the other hand, if you go up to line 7, you'll see this language. "An approved firearms training course shall include." When you say "shall," it's mandatory; when you say "may," it's discretionary and doesn't have to be there. And these are some of the kinds of things that I'm going to work on before this bill is allowed to move. And instead of just taking time,...oh, Senator Erdman is here, but he's not listening. He and I have something we're going to do whenever...or, I am. Whenever he or I mentions the word "time," we'll add, "In a sort of Runic rhyme." And then we may go beyond that. But since he's not at his post paying attention, I'll let it go this time. But do you at least see what I'm saying?

SENATOR STUHR: Yes, Senator Chambers. When I first came into the Legislature, those were the two words that became most evident to me, in..."may" or "shall," in legislation. Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And this is a question that I will ask you to
