This bill would provide for confidentiality of certain workers' compensation court documents and information.

The Workers Compensation Court (WCC) notes that this bill appears to prohibit the release of information currently required or allowed to be released. If this bill does prohibit the release of such information, then WCC expenditures would decrease substantially due to the inability to perform duties currently required or allowed by law. This decrease would likely be offset by additional workload in processing written authorizations and in responding to requests that cannot be honored.
