LB 308 expands the duties for school districts in regard to a committee on Americanism. School boards in the state are currently required to annually designate three board members as a committee on Americanism. The bill requires the committee to hold at least three public meetings each year and at least one meeting shall allow for public testimony. Minutes of meetings are required to be taken and curriculum recommended or approved by the committee is to be made readily accessible to the public.

It is assumed the requirements of the bill for meetings and public input could be accomplished in conjunction with regularly scheduled school board meetings. It is also assumed that recommendations for curriculum could be assessable through school district web sites. If this is the case, then the bill should have minimal, if any, additional fiscal impact for school districts.
