- (iv) The child's age;
- (v) The child's psychological maturity and understanding; and
- (vi) The nature, degree, and duration of potential injury to the child from testifying.

(j) After a finding of compelling need by the court, neither party may call the child witness to testify as a live witness at the trial before the jury unless that party demonstrates that the compelling need no longer exists.

Any custodian may release or consent to the release or use of a video recording videotape or copies of a video recording videotape to law enforcement agencies or agencies authorized to prosecute such abuse or assault cases on behalf of the state.

Upon return of such copy, the defendant or the defendant's attorney shall certify to the court and the parties that such copy has been returned.

If the defendant or the defendant's attorney believes that including the name or identifying information of such expert or investigator will prejudice the defendant, the court shall permit the defendant or the defendant's attorney to include such information in the form of a written statement to be inspected by the court alone. The statement shall be sealed and preserved in the records of the court. Upon granting such motion, the court shall enter an order authorizing the distribution of a copy of the video recording to such expert or investigator and requiring the copy of the video recording be returned by the expert or investigator upon the completion of services of the expert or investigator. The order shall not include the name or identifying information of the expert or investigator. Such order may include a protective order related to the distribution of the video recording or information contained in the video recording.
