ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 57
March 21, 1977

Dear Senator Duis:

You have requested our opinion as to the constitutionality of L.B. 142. L.B. 142 is a bill which would establish limits and prescribe conditions of trial in lawsuits pertaining to liability for injury or damage sustained from defects in manufactured products. If the amendments hereinafter suggested are adopted it would be our opinion that L.B. 142 is constitutional.

In order to arrive at a decision that a legislative act is not constitutionally prohibited it is necessary to examine those areas covered by the act that might be considered objectionable. In L.B. 142 three areas suggest themselves. First, are the limitations upon legal liability of manufactured products class legislation and if so is the classification reasonable and not arbitrary. Second are the limitations upon legal liability for injury of such a nature as to constitute a denial of "equal protection of the laws." Third, are these limitations such as to offend "due process of law."

The class singled out under the provisions of L.B. 142 is all manufactured products. This is indeed a broad classification and we can find nothing that indicates that the classification is either artificial, unreasonable or or (sic) arbitrary. In re De Klotz, 98 Neb. 861, 155 N.W. 240. In Farmers and Merchants Insurance Company v. Dobney, 62 Neb. 213, 86 N.W. 1070, 97 Am.St.Rep. 621, affirmed 189 U.S. 301, 23 S.Ct. 565, 47 L.Ed. 821, our Supreme Court held: "There is nothing in the constitution of the United States or of the state which forbids classification of subjects for the purpose of legislation."

Both "equal protection of the laws" and "Due process of law" are extremely broad terms which are difficult of exact definition as they are applied in a variety of situations. Frequently an infringement of rights may be held to be a violation of either of these constitutional safeguards. One of the most frequent faults of arbitrary class legislation is that it not only violated Article III, Section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution but that it is also in violation of the "equal protection" clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States.

No opinion of this office can hope to explain all the aspects of either of these guarantees of the Fourteenth Amendment. Our Nebraska Supreme Court in discussing "equal protection" said: "A state is not required by the equal protection clause to choose between attacking every aspect of a problem or making the effort at all. It is enough if the regulation has rational basis and does not individually discriminate." As to due process our Supreme Court said in Heywood v. Brainard, 181 Neb. 294, 147 N.W.2d 772: "Fundamental requirement of due process of law is that a statute be reasonably clear and definite." In Weiner v. State Department of Roads, 179 Neb. 297, 17 N.W.2d 852, they said: " 'Due process' is right to fair hearing before some tribunal having jurisdiction to determine controversy in question." None of the limitations in L.B. 142 appear to unreasonably deprive one injured by the product to a fair trial to secure redress for his injuries according to applicable procedures.

Section 3 of the bill makes evidence inadmissible to show that after design or manufacture of the product new and advanced knowledge and techniques have been made or learned or that changes in design, testing etc. have been placed into use subsequent to the design or manufacture of the product. We are of the opinion that the words "design or" in line 20 and 25 of Section 3, page 3, of the bill makes the constitutionality questionable. The word as written could be construed to be a violation of either "equal protection" or "due process." It appears unreasonable to forbid evidence of new and improved designs of a product manufactured after the improved design was known. A product, under the bill as now worded, could be without liability to the injured if designed in 1927 but manufactured in 1977, even though others in the industry had repeatedly redesigned in the fifty year period eliminating the dangerous and injury causing elements of the original product. To deny liability and recovery by the injured under these circumstances would in our opinion be held to deny the injured "equal protection" or "due process" which ever right the tribunal decided to use to attack the denial.

If the deletions above mentioned are made in the bill, we believe it will meet constitutional requirements.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

> Almighty and all merciful God; source of all life; Father of all spirits; author of all good: we begin this important day in prayer - not because we are worthy, but because we are needy. We confess that the problems we have come to consider are ours - they are man-made; but whatever the ability we have to solve them, it is not ours; it must be God-given!

> Somehow make us equal to the large demands of the present hour. Lest we become timid in the face of criticism, remind us that our citizens don't sit in the seats of responsibility which have been assigned to us. Lest we become complacent in the face of our authority, remind us that if anything we decide here is in fact to happen, it is the taxpayer who must do it. Amen.

Every person otherwise found guilty of murder in the first degree shall suffer confinement in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex for life. Every person found guilty of murder in the second degree shall be punished by imprisonment in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex from five years to life.

Sec. 2. (1) In any case in which the death penalty is to be imposed as the penalty for an offense only upon the finding of the truth of the special circumstances enumerated in section 3 of this act, the guilt or innocence of the person charged shall first be determined without a finding as to penalty. If such a person has been found guilty of such an offense, and has been found sane on any plea of not guilty by reason of insanity, and any one or more of the special circumstances enumerated in section 3 of this act have been charged, there shall be further proceedings on the issue of the special circumstances charged. (2) If the defendant was convicted by the court sitting without a jury, the trier of fact shall be a jury unless a jury is waived by the defendant, in which case the trier of fact shall be the court. If the defendant was convicted by a plea of guilty the trier of fact shall be a jury unless a jury is waived by the defendant. If the defendant was convicted by a jury, the trier of fact shall be the same jury unless, for good cause shown, the court discharges that jury, in which case a new jury shall be drawn to determine the issue of whether or not any of the special circumstances charged are true or not true.

(3) If the trier of fact finds, as to any person convicted of any offense under section 1 of this act requiring further proceedings that any one or more of the special circumstances enumerated in section 3 of this act as charged is true, the defendant shall suffer the penalty of death, and neither the finding that any of the remaining special circumstances charged is not true, nor if the trier of fact is a jury, the inability of the jury to agree on the issue of the truth or untruth of any of the remaining special circumstances charged, shall prohibit the imposition of such penalty.

(4) In any case in which the defendant has been found guilty by a jury, and the same or another jury is unable to reach a unanimous verdict that one or more of the special circumstances charged are true, and does not reach a unanimous verdict that all of such special circumstances charged are not true, the court shall dismiss the jury and shall order a new jury impaneled to try the issues, but the issue of guilt shall not be retried by such jury, nor shall such jury retry the issue of the truth of any of the special circumstances which were found by a unanimous verdict of the previous jury to be untrue. If such new jury is unable to reach a unanimous verdict that one or more of the special circumstances it is trying are true, the court shall dismiss the jury and impose the punishment of confinement in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex for life.

Sec. 3. The penalty for a person found guilty of first degree murder shall be death in any case in which the trier of fact pursuant to the further proceedings provided for in section 2 of this act makes a special finding that:

(1) The murder was intentional and was carried out pursuant to an agreement with the defendant. An agreement, as used in this subdivision, shall mean an agreement by the person who committed the murder to accept valuable consideration for the act of murder from any person other than the victim; or

(2) The defendant personally committed the act which caused the death of the victim and any of the following additional circumstances exist:

(a) The victim is a peace officer who, while engaged in the performance of his duties, was intentionally killed, and the defendant knew or reasonably should have known that such victim was a peace officer engaged in the performance of his duties;

(b) The murder was willful, deliberate and premeditated and the victim was a witness to a crime who was intentionally killed for the purpose of preventing his testimony in any criminal proceeding;

(c) The murder was willful, deliberate and premeditated and was committed during the commission or attempted commission of any of the following crimes;

(i) Robbery;

(ii) Kidnapping. Brief movements of a victim which are merely incidental to the commission of another offense and which do not substantially increase the victim's risk of harm over that necessarily inherent in the other offense do not constitute kidnapping within the meaning of this subdivision;

(iii) Rape by force or violence, or by threat of great and immediate bodily harm;

(iv) The performance of lewd or lascivious acts upon the person of a child under the age of fourteen years; or

(v) Burglary, of an inhabited dwelling house entered by the defendant with an intent to commit grand or petit larceny or rape; or

(d) The defendant has in this or in any prior proceeding been convicted of more than one offense of murder of the first or second degree. For the purpose of this subdivision an offense committed in another jurisdiction which if committed in Nebraska would be punishable as first or second degree murder shall be deemed to be murder of the first or second degree.

Sec. 4. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the death penalty shall not be imposed upon any person who was under the age of eighteen years at the time of the commission of the crime. The burden of proof as to the age of such person shall be upon the defendant.

(2) Except when the trier of fact finds that a murder was committed pursuant to an agreement as defined in subdivision (1) of section 3 of this act, the death penalty shall not be imposed upon any person who is a principal in the commission of a capital offense unless he was personally present during the commission of the act or acts causing death, and directly committed or physically aided in the commission of such act or acts.

Sec. 5. Any person who seizes, confines, inveigles, entices, decoys, abducts, conceals, kidnaps or carries away any individual by any means whatsoever with intent to hold or detain, or who holds or detains such individual for ransom, reward, or to commit extortion or to exact from relatives or friends of such person any money or valuable thing, or any person who kidnaps or carries away any individual to commit robbery, or any person who aids or abets any such act, is guilty of a felony and shall, upon conviction thereof, suffer death in cases in which any person subjected to any such act suffers death, or shall be punished by imprisonment in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex for life in cases in which any person subjected to any such act suffers bodily harm, or shall be punished by imprisonment in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex for life in cases where no such person suffers death or bodily harm.

Sec. 6. Every person who unlawfully throws out a switch, removes a rail, or places any obstruction on any railroad with the intention of derailing any passenger, freight or other train, car, or engine and thus derails the same, or who unlawfully places any dynamite or other explosive material or any other obstruction upon or near the track of any railroad with the intention of blowing up or derailing any such train, car, or engine and thus blows up or derails the same, or who unlawfully sets fire to any railroad bridge or trestle over which any such train, car, or engine shall pass with the intention of wrecking such train, car, or engine, and thus wrecks the same, is guilty of a felony and punishable with death in cases in which any person subjected to any such act suffers death as a proximate result thereof, or imprisonment in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex for life in cases where any person suffers bodily harm as a proximate result thereof, or imprisonment in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex for life in cases where no person suffers death or bodily harm as a proximate result thereof.

Sec. 7. Unless otherwise provided by law every plea shall be put in by the defendant himself in open court. No plea of guilty of a felony for which the maximum punishment is death or life imprisonment shall be received from a defendant who does not appear with counsel, nor shall any such plea be received without the consent of the defendant's counsel. No plea of guilty to a capital offense which does not require the further proceedings provided for in section 2 of this act shall be received from a defendant. No plea of guilty of a felony for which the maximum punishment is not death or life imprisonment shall be accepted from any defendant who does not appear with counsel unless the court shall first fully inform him of his right to counsel and unless the court shall find that the defendant understands his right to counsel and freely waives it and then, only if the defendant has expressly stated in open court, to the court, that he does not wish to be represented by counsel. On application of the defendant at any time before judgment the court may, and in case of a defendant who appeared without counsel at the time of the plea the court must, for a good cause shown, permit the plea of guilty to be withdrawn and a plea of not guilty substituted. Upon indictment or information against a corporation a plea of guilty may be put in by counsel. This section shall be liberally construed to effect these objects and to promote justice.

Sec. 8. Nothing in this act shall be construed to require a defendant to appear in any proceedings under this act with counsel, if such defendant has voluntarily and intelligently elected to proceed in person without counsel.".

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

> Father in Heaven, we acknowledge this morning our dependence upon You. The very land from which our food springs is Your creation and the air that we breath and the water we drink came from You.

> We sometimes are over impressed with our own importance and consider our skills in dealing with Your gifts as a kind of creation when in fact the skill itself comes from You.

Mr. Luedtke asked unanimous consent to print the following letter in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA
Department of Intercollegiate Athletics
Memorial Stadium
Lincoln, Nebraska 68588

March 30, 1977

The Honorable Roland Luedtke
Speaker of the Unicameral
State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Senator:

I am honored by the proposal to name the playing field at Memorial Stadium the Robert S. Devaney Field, but respectfully and humbly, I ask that you withdraw my name from such consideration. Stadiums are synonymous with their playing fields. They are interdependent. Stadiums are filled with fans drawn by the feats of sportsmanship and courage on the field. The field is a stadium's heart.

Carved in granite for all posterity in the east towers of Memorial Stadium are the words of grateful Nebraskans who built it. They read:

"In commemoration of the men of Nebraska who served and fell in the nation's wars. * * * Their lives they held their country's trust. They kept its faith. They died its heroes."

The field is also their glory, their memorial. To add another name to the field would be, at the least, confusing. Senator, as much as I appreciate your intended honor, I feel we should not detract in any way from the glory of the men of Nebraska who made the supreme sacrifice for their country.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) Bob Devaney
Athletic Director

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 22. Placed on General File.

(Signed) Maurice Kremer, Chairman

LR 22, Introduced by Senators DeCamp and Kremer

Public Hearing on March 23, 1977

INTENT: LR 22 urges the Washington congressional delegation to publicly commit themselves in support of the Norden Dam project, and to agressively work to forward the project in Congress. It also requests that the Bureau of Reclamation expedite its work on supplementing the environmental impact statement and that the Carter administration complete their review of the project as promptly as possible.

PROPONENTS: Testifying in support of the resolution, in addition to Senator DeCamp, one of the introducers, were Alfred Drayton of the O'Neill Unit; John Mayne of the Bureau of Reclamation, Grand Island; V. H. Dreeszen, Conservation and Survey Division, University; Dayle Williamson of the Natural Resources Commission; Pat Patitz of the Nebraska Water Resources Association; Leonard Shafer and Nels Petersen, representing labor; Fred Krugman of O'Neill; James A. Frerichs, Atkinson; Howard Carr, Springview; Glenn H. LeDioyt, Omaha; Larry Rice; John Nels; and a written statement by Deon Axthelm of the Cooperative Extension Service, University, and Don Long of Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District. It was brought out that the project is badly needed to recharge the underground water table, to try to offset the currently declining level. It is estimated that 77,000 acres of land can be irrigated through this project, and it was estimated that 175,000 people during one year would spend time there for recreational and sports activities. It was stated that the three natural resources districts in the area support the project. It was also brought out that twenty-three items were considered on the environmental impact statement, of which only four were questioned, and it was felt those had been resolved or could be resolved shortly. As to the cost of the project, it was estimated that 95% will eventually be returned to the treasury. Mr. Dreeszen stated there was much more water running out of the area than comes into it from the west under current conditions, and it would be most advisable to impound some of this water in the area. The proponents also stated that they felt the benefits outweighed the cost of the project. When a tablet was passed around through the audience in order that people could register their support or opposition to the project, 133 registered in favor of construction of the dam and 65 were opposed.

OPPONENTS: The following individuals testified in opposition to the resolution: Wesley Sandall of Bassett and Loren Wilson of Lincoln (Save the Niobrara River Association); Loyd Fischer, William Wayne, and Glen Burda of Lincoln; Mrs. Marilyn Lund and Martin Peterson of Bassett; Robert Warrick of Meadow Grove (Sierra Club member); Keith Harmon of Firth; Linda Munk of Newport; and Kenneth Emry. The opponents were almost exclusively environmentalists and individuals whose farms would be crossed by the canals from the dam. Mrs. Munk and Mr. Sandall indicated these canals would ruin their own irrigation systems, as the pivot systems could not be used with the canals crossing their land. Mr. Fischer felt the cost per acre for the construction of the dam was excessive. Mr. Emry indicated he felt there was a safety factor involved.

COMMITTEE ACTION: The committee voted to advance LR 22 to General File on a vote of six in favor (Senators Kelly, Kremer, R. Lewis, Mills, Moylan, and Swigart) and two absent and not voting (Senators Boughn and Merz).

(Signed) Maurice Kremer, Chairman

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District; DeCamp, 40th District; Burrows, 30th District; Hefner, 19th District; Maresh, 32nd District; Rasmussen, 41st District; Venditte, 7th District; Kahle, 37th District; Lamb, 43rd District; R. Lewis, 38th District.

WHEREAS, the development of alternate fuels to power our mechanized society should be an essential part of a national program to expand our nation's energy resources; and

WHEREAS, the development of such fuels could work to lower our dependency on imports of foreign oil to manufacture fossil fuels; and

WHEREAS, the encouragement of developing fuel sources such as grains and other materials which draw their latent energy from the sun could provide an almost limitless source of fuel and fuel additives as well as stimulating the national economy; and

WHEREAS, any governmental discouragement of the development of such fuels through instruments such as taxation should be eliminated.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Congress of the United States be urged to encourage the development of alternate fuels.

2. That the Congress be requested to provide such encouragement by the waiver of any tax upon development of alternatives to fossil fuels.

3. That a copy of this resolution be directed to each member of the Nebraska Congressional delegation with the wish that it's terms be vigorously expressed to the full membership of the United States Senate and House of Representatives.

Laid over.

WHEREAS, although the State of Nebraska has produced oil and natural gas since 1939, this production has not been great enough to make her self-supporting in energy; and

WHEREAS, the production in Nebraska as well as production in surrounding states, from whom Nebraska imports her supply of oil and natural gas, is on the decline; and

WHEREAS, the only hope for reversing the trend of "sharing the shortage" is to promote development of nationwide expanded exploration, production, conservation and alternate sources of energy; and

WHEREAS, the U.S. Geological Survey estimates that the Federal Outer Continental Shelf may contain the potential for discovery and recovery, under present technology and economics, of up to 181 trillion cubic feet of natural gas and up to 49 billion barrels of crude oil; and

WHEREAS, there are at least three prime Outer Continental Shelf areas located on the eastern seaboard which if developed could supply eastern consumers with their average annual consumption of 4 trillion cubic feet of natural gas for 20 years. This natural gas now comes from Outer Continental Shelf wells in the Gulf of Mexico. Rapid development of the East Coast Outer Continental Shelf gas reserves would release important quantities of natural gas for the states of the Middle West, including Nebraska, where natural gas is currently in serious short supply; and

WHEREAS, activity on the Outer Continental Shelf has been impeded by numerous environmental restrictions imposed on the industry by governmental action and legislation (S. 9 and H.R. 1614) is being considered by Congress of the United States which would further delay the development of these much needed resources; and

WHEREAS, the capability to explore for an produce oil and natural gas in U.S. offshore areas has already been proven by the U.S. oil companies, as shown by the 20,000 wells drilled, to date, in U.S. waters and the worldwide recognition given the offshore expertise, technology, equipment and manpower of the American petroleum industry; and

WHEREAS, this capability has been further proven by the safety record of offshore operations in U.S. waters; the wells of which currently provide 16 per cent of our domestic crude production and 21 per cent of our natural gas production; and

WHEREAS, it is in the interest of all Americans, especially those in producing states, that the exploration and production in our nation's frontier areas of the Outer Continental Shelf be accelerated as rapidly as prudent management will permit.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That they express their desire that such legislation be seriously considered and defeated by the Congress of the United States and that the current regulations and restrictions be eased so that development of the Outer Continental Shelf resources of oil and gas be expedited for the benefit of the United States and its citizens.

2. That upon adoption of this Resolution, a copy hereof shall be transmitted to the presiding officer of the U.S. Senate the U.S. House of Representatives, and to each member of the Nebraska Congressional Delegation.

Laid over.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 4, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

By this message, I am reducing my 1977-78 budget recommendations by $2.4 million.

This will reduce the approximate $473 million recommended for appropriation as per my budget message to you of February 10, 1977 to approximately $470.6 million.

This is possible due to the fact that I have signed into law LB 311 and LB 311A, introduced by our administration, which has the effect of reducing general fund impact by $700,000.

That, in combination with LB 521 and LB 522, which our administration has also introduced, employs excess cash funds at the University of Nebraska with a resultant $1.7 million savings in the general fund.

I am hopeful that you will act favorably on our second recommendation, conserve and not spend the resultant savings, so as to reduce expenditures.

There may be, as I advised you specifically on February 10, 1977, further recommended reductions as more information becomes available as to anticipated revenues.

Please make corrective reductions accordingly in your daily information showing executive budget recommendation as opposed to legislative actions and additional pending spending measures.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

Introduced by Keyes, 3rd District.

WHEREAS, the personal property tax exemption allowed under Section 77-202.25, R.R.S., 1976 is scheduled to be fully implemented in 1977; and

WHEREAS, the personal property tax exemption at the time of its passage was estimated to create a cost to the State of Nebraska of $27 million dollars by 1978; and

WHEREAS, the current cost to the State of Nebraska for the year 1978 is estimated to reach a total of $55 million; and

WHEREAS, the cost to the State of Nebraska by the year 1980 is estimated to reach $80 million; and

WHEREAS, this actual and estimated cost far exceeds the original cost estimates and represents a large financial impact upon the State Treasury; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature has been asked to respond to numerous bills designed to amend the current personal property tax exemption,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

UNANIMOUS CONSENT – Print in Journal

Mr. Schmit asked unanimous consent to print the following statement on LB 303 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

LB 303

Some questions have been raised as to what kind of acquisition of stock this bill is concerned with. LB 303 applies only to tender offers, and offers to purchase or sales of stock privately or personally negotiated or a single purchase from a stockbroker will not be affected by the act. Specifically, in Section 1 (1), a "take-over bid" is defined in terms of a "tender offer" and whether it is an "acquisition" or "offer to purchase", it still must be a tender offer in order to be a take-over bid. In other words, an offeror must take steps to purchase stock in a manner customarily construed to be a tender offer in order for the act to apply.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 50.

Introduced by Schmit, 23rd District.

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Department of Public Welfare caused to be published a notice of public hearing concerning the Proposed Nebraska Comprehensive Annual Service Plan to be held May 10, 1977; and

WHEREAS, such notice comprised one half of page 16 of the April 1, 1977 morning edition of the Omaha World Herald; and

WHEREAS, the size and content of the publication of notice is far in excess of that used by any other state administrative agency; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature's Public Health and Welfare Committee examine the April 1, 1977 publication of notice in an effort to determine the propriety and necessity of the lengthy notice.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 58

Dear Senator Kahle:

You have asked whether there are any statutes which would prevent the Legislature by motion or resolution from authorizing the Game and Parks Commission to acquire title to an abandoned railroad right-of-way. This legislative action would be in lieu of enacting LB 527. We have concluded that there are no statutes which prohibit the Legislature from approving this transaction by motion or resolution. You should, however, consider the following discussion.

The Game and Parks Commission, under section 81-805, R.S. Supp., 1976, presently has the general authority to acquire real estate with the consent of the Governor and when funds are available for that purpose. However, section 74-424, R.R.S. 1943, provides:

> "No agency of this state shall purchase, lease, or acquire real estate from any railroad company or corporation owning or operating a railroad over a right-of-way outside of incorporated cities and villages which has been permitted to be abandoned by a federal agency, without prior approval by the Legislature of such purchase, lease, or acquisition." (Emphasis added.)

Although section 1 of LB 527 purports to authorize and direct the commission to acquire or attempt to acquire the right-of-way, approval is all that is required by the Legislature under section 74-424. Since section 74-424 does not specify how the approval may be given, we believe that there is nothing to preclude legislative approval by motion or resolution.

Neither legislative approval by motion or resolution nor the enactment of LB 527 would relieve the commission of the requirements of section 81-805 as noted above.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

(1) Trust company shall mean any trust company which is incorporated under the laws of this state, and any national banking association having its principal office in this state and authorized to conduct a trust company business as defined in sections 8-201 to 8-226, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, and amendments thereto; and

(2) Fiduciary capacity shall mean a capacity resulting from a bank undertaking to act alone or jointly with others primarily for the benefit of another in all matters connected with its undertaking and includes the capacities of trustee, including trustee of a common trust fund, executor, administrator, personal representative, registrar or transfer agent with respect to stocks, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness of any corporation, association, municipality, state or public authority, guardian of estates, conservator, receiver, escrow agent, agent for the investment of money, attorney-in-fact, and any other similar capacity.

Sec. 2. (1) Any trust company which has been duly authorized to commence the business for which it is organized and which has made the deposit of cash or securities required by sections 8-209 and 8-210, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, and amendments thereto, may file an application in the county court of the county in which its principal office is located requesting that it be substituted, except as may be expressly excluded in such application, in every fiduciary capacity for each of its affiliated banks specified in the application, and each such specified affiliated bank shall join in such application. Such application may be made ex parte and need not list the fiduciary capacities in which substitution is made. For purposes of this section, affiliated bank with respect to a trust company means any bank incorporated under the laws of this state and any national bank association having its principal office in this state more than fifty per cent of the voting stock of which is owned directly or indirectly by the same bank holding company as defined in the United States Bank Holding Company Act, as amended, that owns directly or indirectly more than fifty per cent of the voting stock of such trust company. The county court may require such notice as it deems necessary.

(2) When the county court finds that such trust company has been duly authorized to commence the business for which it is organized and that it has made a deposit of cash or securities in accordance with sections 8-209 and 8-210, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, the county court may enter an order substituting such trust company in every fiduciary capacity for each of its specified affiliated banks, except as may be otherwise specified in the application.

(3) Upon entry of such order, such trust company shall, without further act, be substituted in every such fiduciary capacity, and such application may be evidenced by filing a copy of the order with the clerk of any county court in this state.

Sec. 3. Each designation in a will or other instrument heretofore or hereafter executed in which a bank is designated as fiduciary shall be deemed a designation of the trust company substituted for such bank pursuant to this act, except where such will or other instrument is executed after such substitution. Any grant in any such will or other instrument of any discretionary power shall be deemed conferred upon the trust company deemed designated as the fiduciary pursuant to this section.

Sec. 4. A bank shall account jointly with the trust company which has been substituted as fiduciary for such bank pursuant to this act for the accounting period during which the trust company is initially so substituted.

Upon substitution pursuant to this act, the bank shall deliver to the trust company all assets held by the bank as fiduciary, except assets held for accounts with respect to which there has been no substitution pursuant to this act, and upon such substitution all such assets shall become the property of the trust company without the necessity of any instrument or transfer or conveyance.".

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 5, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

This communication is in regard to two of my appointments to the Special Education Appeals Board, Mr. Robert Snow and Mrs. Shirley Stark.

As you know, the Committee on Committees voted to recommend the rejection of these two appointments because of an alleged conflict of interest created by the fact that Mrs. Stark and Mr. Snow also sit on the Special Education Advisory Committee appointed by the Commissioner of Education. I simply do not believe that any sound reason exists for this allegation of a conflict of interest.

The Advisory Committee to the Department of Education and the Special Education Appeals Board are two separate groups which have distinct functions and different decision-making authority. In fact, service on both of these boards is an asset rather than a liability since a complete understanding of the total special education system is of great advantage in making the individual program decisions which is the function of the Special Education Appeals Board.

Yesterday, the Special Education Advisory Committee, appointed by the Commissioner of Education, voted unanimously in support of this view and recommended that the Legislature confirm the appointment of Mrs. Stark and Mr. Snow.

In any event, my office has been in contact with both Mrs. Stark and Mr. Snow regarding the recent developments in the Legislature. Mr. Snow, despite his belief that no conflict of interest exists and that service on the Advisory Committee would be beneficial to his service on the Appeals Board, has, in a letter to me dated April 4, 1977, resigned from the Advisory Committee so that nothing would impede his confirmation by your body to serve on the Appeals Board. I have enclosed a copy of his letter to me.

Mrs. Stark, on the other hand, feels very strongly that her service on both the Advisory Committee and the Appeals Board is highly proper and beneficial, and, therefore, feels that resignation from the Advisory Committee would be inappropriate. She strongly requests that the Legislature confirm her appointment to the Appeals Board.

I would request that your honorable body expeditiously confirm my appointment of these two highly qualified individuals to the Special Education Appeals Board so that this state's special education system can benefit from their experience and talent.

Yours truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon

Honorable J. James Exon
Governor of Nebraska
Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Governor Exon:

While I am confused over the issue of a conflict of interest between my volunteer commitment to the Special Education Advisory Committee and the Special Education Appeals Board, this letter is to inform you that I have personally resolved this issue by tendering my resignation on the Advisory Committee.

My resignation is effective as of the conclusion of the April 4, 1977 meeting of the Advisory Committee. My letter of resignation as both chairman and a member of this group was submitted to Commissioner Ann Campbell on April 4, 1977.

I still strongly believe that a conflict does not exist. In fact, I feel that my experience as a member of the Advisory Committee would be beneficial in serving in my parent capacity on the Appeals Board. I know from experience that parents of handicapped children, such as myself, are often unfamiliar with the problems and concerns in other handicapped areas. This Advisory Committee has helped me broaden my knowledge in this area.

While I am sure there are other Nebraska parents who are equally as qualified to serve on this Board, it does concern me, as a parent of a handicapped child, that as Governor you cannot select those citizens who in your opinion are the most qualified to carry out the responsibilities of this or any other Board.

Although I hope to resolve this issue by resigning from the Advisory Committee, I would certainly hope that present and future members of the State Advisory Committee would be considered for a position on the Appeals Board. I do feel the parents on this committee have been given an opportunity to see the whole spectrum of special education.

My decision to resign from the Special Education Advisory Committee was a difficult one to make. However, I believe that I can best serve our citizens and more importantly handicapped children by serving on the Special Education Appeals Board.

With my resignation, I sincerely hope that my appointment to the Appeals Board will be upheld and that we can get about the business of carrying out the intent of that Board.

Thank you for the confidence you have shown in my (sic) by appointing me to this Board. I will do my utmost to carry out the responsibilities of that Board once my appointment is confirmed.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Bob Snow

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO LB 169

2. Between lines 18-19 on page 3, add the following new sub-section:

Such guardian ad litem shall forthwith personally investigate the facts and circumstances on all matters pertinent to the best interests and welfare of the children. If it appears to the guardian ad litem that the best interests and welfare of the children may require the termination of the parental rights of one or both parents, he shall apply to the court in writing or orally on the record for such termination. The court may then terminate the parental rights of one or both parents after notice and hearing. At such hearing the guardian ad litem shall present evidence in support of the application to terminate and take all action necessary to protect the interests of the minor children. MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I return herewith LB 79 and LB 79A without my signature and with my objections.

LB 79 authorizes the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges to establish the Nebraska Safety Center at Kearney State College. The center is to fulfill the functions of instruction, research, service, and coordination. A twelve member Nebraska Safety Center Advisory Council is created. The Council may make recommendations concerning the operation and administration of the center to the director of the center who in turn is directly responsible to the President of Kearney State College.

Funding for the Nebraska Safety Center at Kearney State College is not part of the budget request of the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges. It has not been considered by the Board of Trustees.

The state college office has a fiscal note on LB 79 which indicates a total cost of $404,000 from the State General Fund for Fiscal Year 1977-78. The Fiscal Year 1978-79 cost is placed at $216,000. LB 79A originally included $404,000 of funding; as passed by your body it includes only $54,000.

It appears to me that LB 79 in its present form potentially creates a liability on the State General Fund of approximately $566,000 for Fiscal Year 1978-79. This is a bill that is well intentioned, but, in my opinion, has not been adequately studied as to its priorities within our continuing safety efforts.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

April 8, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I return herewith LB 459 and LB 459A without my signature and with my objections.

In reviewing LB 459, I discover that this bill, passed by your body 47-0 with the emergency clause, would remove for the rest of this fiscal year the statutory authority to make payments to the technical community colleges. If such authority is repealed, as you have done in LB 459, the community colleges will not receive over $3 million of state aid scheduled for payment in April, May, and June of this year.

State aid is the largest single source of support for the technical community colleges, and a $3 million reduction in aid yet this year would cause tremendous revenue financial hardships at these institutions this year, and cause them serious cash flow problems for all of the next fiscal year.

This situation is similar to what happened last year with state aid to education. You will remember that through an oversight the authority to make a $2.5 million payment to public schools was repealed. I have no choice but to veto LB 459 for the reason stated.

The problem I have just cited represents the only significant objection I have to LB 459. We need legislation for the better coordination of higher education, which was the primary purpose of LB 459.

I have offered through my own budget bills a major effort to coordinate financial reporting procedures throughout higher education which is a necessary first step toward better coordination of program offerings. I urge you to accept my recommendations for coordination of financial reporting procedures contained in my budget and to send to me again this session a higher education coordination bill. If you will revive my bill, LB 488, which was killed in committee and move that forward promptly with coordination amendments, we can still accomplish the desired end this session.

If the Legislature would prefer to start with a new bill, and advise me accordingly, I will be pleased to cooperate and expedite drafting and introducing same since the measure you presented is defective as outlined herein.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

April 5, 1977

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have asked whether or not proposed amendments to LB 64 which would provide for a mandatory death penalty would be constitutional. For the reasons discussed below we believe that they would not withstand a constitutional attack.

Your proposed amendments make death penalty a mandatory punishment for those categories of first degree murder encompassed by the special circumstances enumerated in Section 3 of the proposed amendments. On March 3, 1976, in Opinion No. 189, this office replied to your request for an opinion as to the constitutionality of amendments that are nearly identical to those about which you now ask. That opinion was issued in light of the United States Supreme Court case of Furman v. Georgia, 408 U.S. 238, 33 L.Ed.2d 346, 92 S.Ct. 2726 (1972). Based upon the Furman, supra, case we stated that we could not say that the standards set forth in Section 3 were arbitrary or leave discretion to the court or jury. The amendments that you now submit to us for examination are nearly identical to those submitted last year. Since the issuance of that opinion the Supreme Court of the United States has again spoken out on the issue of death penalty. Because of the holdings in those five cases decided by the United States Supreme Court we would find that your proposed amendments could not withstand a constitutional attack.

Your proposed amendments make death a mandatory punishment for those categories of first degree murder encompassed by the special circumstances enumerated in Section 3 of the proposed amendments. The proposed amendments have no provision for the trier of fact to consider evidence of mitigating circumstances as to the offense or as to the personal characteristics and prior criminal history of the defendant. The Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Woodson v. North Carolina, _____U.S._____, 96 S.Ct. 2978, 49 L.Ed.2d 944 (1976), and Roberts v; Louisiana, _____U.S._____, 96 S.Ct. 3001, 49 L.Ed.2d 974 (1976), has held that mandatory death penalty statutes which do not allow for the trier of fact to take into consideration mitigating circumstances are unconstitutional as they allow arbitrary imposition of the death penalty in violation of the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution. In both the cases of Woodson v. North Carolina and Roberts v. Louisiana, the Supreme Court was faced with a situation in which the state Legislatures of North Carolina and Louisiana had passed statutory schemes for the imposition of death penalty which did not provide for the consideration of the relevant facets of the character and record of the individual offender or the circumstances of that particular offense. In Woodson v. North Carolina, the Supreme Court of the United States said:

> "A third constitutional shortcoming of the North Carolina statute is its failure to allow the particularized consideration of relevant aspects of the character and record of each convicted defendant before the imposition upon him of a sentence of death. In Furman, members of the Court acknowledged what cannot fairly be denied-- that death is a punishment different from all other sanctions in kind rather than degree. [Citation omitted.] A process that accords no significance to relevant facets of the character and record of the individual offender or the circumstances of the particular offense excludes from consideration in fixing the ultimate punishment of death the possibility of compassionate or mitigating factors stemming from the diverse frailties of humankin It treats all persons convicted of a designated offense not as uniquely individual human beings, but as members of a faceless, undifferentiated mass to be subjected to the blind infliction of the penalty of death.
> "This Court has previously recognized that '[f]or the determination of sentences, justice generally requires consideration of more than the particular acts by which the crime was committed and that there be taken into account the circumstances of the offense together with the character and propensities of the offender.' [Citation omitted.] Consideration of both the offender and the offense in order to arrive at a just and appropriate sentence has been viewed as a progressive and humanizing development. [Citations omitted.] While the prevailing practice of individualizing sentencing determinations generally reflects simply enlightened policy rather than a constitutional imperative, we believe that in capital cases the fundamental respect for humanity underlying the Eighth Amendment, see Trop v. Dulles, 356 US, at 100, 2 L Ed 2d 630, 78 S Ct 590 (plurality opinion), requires consideration of the character and record of the individual offender and the circumstances of the particular offense as a constitutionally indispensable part of the process of inflicting the penalty of death.
> "This conclusion rests squarely on the predicate that the penalty of death is qualitatively different from a sentence of imprisonment, however long. Death, in its finality, differs more from life imprisonment that a 100-year prison term differs from one of only a year or two. Because of that qualitative difference, there is a corresponding difference in the need for reliability in the determination that death is the appropriate punishment in a specific case.

"For the reasons stated, we conclude that the death sentences imposed upon the petitioners under North Carolina's mandatory death sentence statute violated the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments and therefore must be set aside. The judgment of the Supreme Court of North Carolina is reversed insofar as it upheld the death sentences imposed upon the petitioners, and the case is remanded for further proceedings not inconsistent with this opinion."

In light of the Woodson v. North Carolina and Roberts v. Louisiana cases and in particular the material quoted above, it would appear that your proposed amendments could not withstand constitutional challenge because they are without a provision for the trier of facts to consider evidence of mitigating circumstances as to the offense or as to the personal characteristics and prior criminal activity of the defendants. We might further point out that your proposed amendments are very nearly identical to the California death penalty statutes which were ruled unconstitutional by the California Supreme Court in the case of Rockwell v. Superior Court of Ventura County, 134 Cal. 650, 556 P.2d 1101 (1976). Since your proposed amendments are so nearly identical to the California statutes ruled unconstitutional in the Rockwell case, you may want to review the Rockwell case in depth.

Section 7 of your proposed amendments provides in part:

"... No plea of guilty of a felony for which the maximum punishment is death or life imprisonment shall be received from a defendant who does not appear with counsel, nor shall any such plea be received without the consent of the defendant's counsel...."

Section 8 of your proposed amendments provides that:

"Nothing in this act shall be construed to require a defendant to appear in any proceedings under this act with counsel, if such defendant has voluntarily and intelligently elected to proceed in person without counsel."

It would appear that Section 7 and Section 8 are in direct conflict. One section indicates that a plea of guilty may not be entered without the appearance of defendant's counsel and without that counsel's consent and the other section indicates that nothing in this act shall be construed to require what is required in Section 7. This conflict in a criminal statute is most certainly vague. Furthermore, the Supreme Court of the United States in Faretta v. California, _____U.S._____, 45 L.Ed.2d 562, 95 S.Ct._____ (1975), held that even though the Sixth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution guarantee that due process requires that a person brought to criminal trial must be afforded the right to the assistance of counsel that nevertheless, a defendant in such a case has a constitutional right to proceed without counsel when he voluntarily and intelligently elects to do so. In addition to the Faretta, supra, case, Article I, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution provides that:

> "In all criminal prosecution the accused shall have the right to appear and defend in person or by counsel, . . ."

In light of the Faretta case and the Nebraska Constitution we do not believe that counsel may be imposed upon a defendant who voluntarily and intelligently wishes to proceed on his own and therefore Section 7 of your proposed amendments would be unconstitutional.

In light of the above discussion it is our opinion that your proposed amendments to LB 64 could not withstand a constitutional attack.

Very truly yours,

OPINION NO. 60
April 6, 1977

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested the opinion of this office concerning the constitutionality of the practice of legislators receiving expenses for attending committee hearings during the interim between sessions.

Section 50-415, R.R.S. 1943, specifically allows members of the council (legislators) to be reimbursed for actual expenses incurred in attending a council session, and any member of a council committee to be reimbursed for any expenses incurred while on business of the committee. Assuming the committee hearings you refer to are of Legislative Council committees, the statute above cited allows the practice you question. The constitutionality of that statute has been considered by this office on several earlier occasions. (See Opinion Nos. 60 and 63, Report of the Attorney General, 1959-60 and 63, Report of the Attorney General, 1959-60, attached.) Article III, Section 7, of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska has not been materially changed since those opinions were rendered. This office cannot at this time say that section 50-415 clearly violates Article III, Section 7, for the same reasons expressed in the earlier opinions rendered.

We stand on the earlier opinions rendered, which are attached hereto, and decline to overrule those opinions. We therefore conclude that the payment of actual expenses to Legislators while serving as members of the Legislative Council and as members of committees thereof during the interim, Section 7, of the Constitution of Nebraska..

Yours very truly,

OPINION NO. 61
April 7, 1977

Dear Senator Newell:

You have raised questions regarding LB 425, Eighty-fifth Legislature, First Session. You state in your letter that this bill amends sections 43-512, 43-512.01 and 43-512.03, R.R.S. 1943. You suggest that the amendment allows the county attorney to assume investigative authority. This bill provides in section 2:

> "The county board of public welfare, through its agents and employees, shall thereupon make such investigation as it deems necessary or as may be required by the county attorney. . . ."

It would appear that this language only authorizes the county attorney to request the initiation of an investigation by those persons charged with making such an investigation. This change merely transfers the right to request or direct an investigation from the Director of Public Welfare, a state officer, to the county attorney, a locally elected official. We do not interpret this change to invest any greater investigatory authority in the county attorney than heretofore existed as an agent of the County Board of Public Welfare. In all cases where prosecution or enforcement of child support obligations are sought, the county attorney plays a significant role as the chief law enforcement officer for the county. He is required to file and prosecute such actions as may be necessary. As such he is entitled to all information and all assistance that may be required to successfully complete such proceedings.

You state in your letter that your concern is that if the county attorney has investigatory authority there may be some violation of state statutes relating to confidentiality. There are no specific state statutes to which we could point that relate to confidentiality in such a context. Nor are we aware of any statute which would preclude a county attorney from securing access to any information which would be relevant to a criminal prosecution. It is the duty of the county attorney in his official capacity among other things to ". . . prosecute or defend, on behalf of the state and county, all suits, applications, or motions, civil or criminal arising under the laws of the state in which the state or the county is a party interested; . . ." Section 23-1201, R.R.S. 1943. In order to effectively carry out such duties the county attorney must be entitled to receive all information that is relevant and material to any such action. As an attorney he is also bound by the Code of Professional REsponsibility. As such, any information of a confidential nature that would come into his possession would be covered under the terms of that Code.

The only affect of the cited language in LB 425 is to shift the authority to request an investigation from the Director of Public Welfare to the local county attorney. While this may raise some issue regarding federal funding of welfare programs, it does not affect any issue regarding confidentiality. Thus, it is our opinion that the proposed amendments contained in LB 425 including requirement that a copy of an application requesting financial assistance for a dependent child be filed with the county attorney do not violate any restrictions upon confidentiality of information. It is also our opinion that the county attorney is entitled to the information contained within a copy of the application and perhaps the application itself if that information is material and relevant to any pending legal proceedings undertaken or to be undertaken in his official capacity.

Dear Senator R. Lewis:

You have asked us whether any of the provisions of LB 170 violate the provisions of Article VIII, Section 1, Article IV, Section 28, or any other provision of the Nebraska Constitution. We conclude that some of the provisions of the bill might run into some difficulties in those areas.

Section 1 of the bill provides that the Tax Commissioner, in cooperation with the county assessors, shall, on or before January 1, 1979, make a valuation of all real estate in the state, and shall establish a statewide computerized property tax valuation system. Section 2 provides that he shall develop a technique to adjust the valuations of all taxable property on an annual basis and shall annually provide each county assessor with the updated real property tax valuations for his county. We see no particular constitutional difficulties with these sections.

Section 4 requires the Tax Commissioner to notify the State Board of Equalization and Assessment of each county whose assessed valuation for real estate varies by more than three percentage points from that determined by the Tax Commissioner. We see no constitutional difficulty with that provision.

Section 6, however, amends section 77-509, R.R.S. 1943, by adding this language to that section:

> "The State Board of Equalization and Assessment shall not enter and certify its order for each county until the Tax Commissioner's valuation and the counties' valuation vary three or fewer percentage points from one another."

This provision at least arguably runs afoul of both of the constitutional provisions you inquire about. It appears to give legal sanction to a variation from uniformity of taxation, and it appears to give the Tax Commissioner authority which must constitutionally be exercised by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment.

Article VIII, Section 1, of the Constitution requires taxes to be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately. Theoretically, this means that all property must be valued at its actual value, and admits of no variations whatever. We all recognize, of course, that this goal has not been, and never can be actually reached, because the value of property is a matter of varying opinions, and is not subject to exact determination. This, however, is a question of evidence. The county assessor, the county board of equalization, and the State Board of Equalization and Assessment are supposed to consider the evidence and reach a decision as to what the actual value is. In legal theory, after the State Board of Equalization and Assessment has either approved the county valuations or adjusted them, their final figures are the actual values. The fact that someone may argue that someone along the line made a mistake, and that the final figures are incorrect is of no constitutional significance. The court would recognize that the State Board of Equalization and Assessment must make the final determination, and if its determination is supported by evidence, it will be affirmed.

Section 6, however, appears to give tacit approval to variations from uniformity. If it is construed to authorize the State Board of Equalization and Assessment to approve county valuations varying three percentage points from the board's determination of actual values, it seems to be technically in violation of the uniformity provision. The point is that the normal variations due to differences of opinion of which we have spoken will still exist, and in addition a statutory variation will be sanctioned.

While we would all be happy to achieve equalization within three percentage points, we believe section 6 may violate the theory behind Article VIII, Section 1.

Article IV, Section 28, gives the State Board of Equalization and Assessment the power to equalize assessment of property for taxation within the state. Section 6 of the bill forbids the board to approve the county's valuations until the Tax Commissioner's figures and the county's vary three percentage points or less. This appears to give the Tax Commissioner's figures controlling weight. The final determination of values must be made by the board, not the Tax Commissioner. His figures can only be evidence to be considered by the board. The board might conclude that the county's figures are correct, and the Tax Commissioner's were wrong. Yet, if he refused to change them, section 6 would forbid the board to enter and certify its order. We believe this gives more finality to the Tax Commissioner's figures than the Constitution permits.

OPINION NO. 63
April 8, 1977

Dear Senator Bereuter:

In response to your inquiry concerning the constitutionality of LB 142 as amended by committee amendments shown on page 974 of the Legislative Journal, it is the opinion of this office that the bill is constitutional.

Our opinion of March 21, 1977 to Senator Duis, and which opinion you have referred to, concerned the constitutionality of this bill as originally introduced. It pointed out that except for the use of the words "or design" in Section 3(a) of the bill that we found nothing objectionable. The bill contained no unreasonable or arbitrary classification. It did not offend "due process of law" nor did it constitute a denial of "equal protection of the laws."

The langauge above quoted which we found offensive in our former opinion has been elimimated by the committee amendments substituting a completely new Section 3. This new section has no similar objectionable matter. The amendments contain no element that we find can in any manner be objected to on a constitutional basis.

There is in the amendments on line 17 an error in failure to make clear the exact "the" being changed to an "a," but this may be cured by "E & R" and has already been called to the attention of the bill drafter for that purpose.

Opinion No. 64
April 8, 1977

Dear Senator Simon:

In letters dated March 31, April 1, and April 4, 1977, you have asked this office several questions regarding your amendments to LB 64 and your amendments to those original amendments. Your amendments as we read them would provide for a sentence of not less than 30 years nor more than 90 years with no provisions for parole or good time sentence reductions as set forth in sections 83-1,107 and 83-1,107.01, R.S.Supp., 1976. As we understand your questions, you seek advise on whether or not your amendments are first of all constitutional and secondly, whether or not your amendments would have the effect of keeping an individual convicted of first degree murder incarcerated for at least a minimum term of 30 years.

Preliminary to discussing the specific questions you have raised is the necessity to discuss two prior opinions of this office. The first opinion is Opinion of the Attorney General No. 189, Report of the Attorney General 1975-1976, dated March 3, 1976. In that opinion this office was asked to discuss the constitutionality of certain amendments relating to the death penalty. Those amendments provided for a mandatory death penalty in certain cases and provided for the imposition of life imprisonment without the possibility of parole after conviction of certain crimes, none of which involved treason or impeachment. In that opinion we came to the conclusion that the provisions providing for the imposition of life imprisonment without possibility of parole after conviction would be difficult to defend constitutionally.

The second opinion that is necessary to discuss is the Opinion of the Attorney General No. 23, dated February 22, 1977. In that opinion we discussed certain proposed amendments that would provide for a sentence of not less than 30 nor more than 90 years for each count upon which a first degree murder conviction was had and provided that there would be no provision for parole on the sentence. Our opinion concerning that amendment reasons that the amendment would not as a practical matter be any different than the current law under which a first degree murderer who received a sentence of life imprisonment is deemed to not be eligible for parole until such time as the Board of Pardons, in exercising its constitutional authority, commutes his life sentence to either a determinate number of years or an indeterminate sentence, the minimum of which may be used to calculate parole eligibility. We further concluded in that opinion that we did not believe that the establishment of a 30 to 90 year sentence without parole for persons convicted of first degree murder was unconstitutional class legislation.

In attempting to answer your most recent questions concerning your amendments the provision of the Constitution which must be focused upon is Article IV, section 13. That constitutional provision reads in part:

> ". . . Said board, or a majority thereof, shall have power to grant paroles after conviction and judgment, under such conditions as may be prescribed by law, for any offenses committed against the criminal laws of this state except treason and cases of impeachment. . . ."

In Opinion of the Attorney General No. 189, 1976, it was reasoned that since Article IV, section 13 of the Constitution of Nebraska provided that the Parole Board "shall have power to grant paroles after conviction and judgment, under such conditions as may be prescribed by law, for any offenses committed against the criminal laws of this state except treason and cases of impeachment . . . " that the exception of treason and cases of impeachment from parole eligibility implied the exclusion of all other categories of crimes not fairly incident to those enumerated. That is to say, that since the Constitution provided that persons convicted of treason and cases of impeachment were not eligible for parole, that all other cases involving criminal convictions must be eligible for parole. It is now apparent that an equally plausible analysis of Article IV, section 13 is that the framers of the Constitution did not intend the exception for treason and cases of impeachment to be a grant of parole to all other persons but intended it to be a restriction upon the Legislature's power to set such conditions for parole. Put more plainly, Article IV, section 13 could be interpreted to allow the Legislature to establish conditions for parole as it desired except in the cases of treason and impeachment. Therefore, following that interpretation, the Legislature could have the power to create conditions relating to parole no matter what the offense except for those cases enumerated in the Constitution, those being treason and cases of impeachment. We feel this latter analysis of Article IV, section 13 is legally defensible and while we cannot categorically say that it is correct, we would endeavor to defend such an interpretation before the courts of this state should the need arise.

Your first specific question as to the amendments to LB 64 is whether or not those amendments and amendments to the amendments would be constitutional. In light of the discussion above we cannot categorically say that those amendments are constitutional but we do believe that the second analysis of Article IV, section 13 discussed above is a plausible legal defense that could be used should your amendments be attacked as unconstitutional.

Your second specific question as to the amendments to LB 64 is whether or not your amendments would have the effect of keeping an individual convicted of first degree murder incarcerated for at least a minimum term of 30 years. It is our opinion that the amendments if sustained as constitutional would, subject to the power of the Pardon Board, guarantee that the person convicted of first degree murder would serve a minimum of 30 years in prison. The amendments would provide first of all that no person convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to a term of 30 to 90 years would be eligible for parole. Secondly, your amendments provide that the provisions of sections 83-1,107 and 83-1,107.01, R.S.Supp., 1976, shall not apply to an individual convicted of first degree murder. These two statutory sections are commonly called the "good time" laws. These laws affect both eligibility for release on parole and the date when an inmate's discharge from the custody of the state becomes mandatory.

Section 83-1,107 provides that the chief executive officer of a facility shall reduce for good behavior the term of a committed offender. The reductions for good behavior are deducted from the inmate's minimum term to determine the date of his eligibility for release on parole. The reductions for good behavior are deducted from the maximum term to determine the date when an inmate's discharge from the custody of the state becomes mandatory. In addition to these two deductions, section 83-1,107.01, R.S.Supp., 1976, provides that an offender shall receive for faithful performance of his assigned duties a further reduction. That reduction is deducted from the maximum term to determine the date when his discharge from the custody of the state becomes mandatory. Your amendments would eliminate these reductions from both the minimum term for the purposes of determining parole eligibility and from the maximum term for the purposes of determining the date when an offender's discharge from the custody of the state becomes mandatory.

The practical effect of your amendments would be to eliminate indeterminate sentencing in first degree murder cases. This effect is demonstrated by the hypothetical indeterminate sentence of 30 to 90 years imprisonment. Since reductions from the minimum term for parole eligibility have been eliminated, the minimum term of 30 years would serve no purpose. Since the deductions from the maximum term have been eliminated, the inmate's discharge from the custody of the state would only become mandatory at the expiration of the full 90 years. Therefore, the indeterminate sentence of 30 to 90 years is in reality a flat sentence of 90 years. It follows from the above hypothetical that any sentence given a convicted first degree murder under your amendments would result in a flat sentence wherein the person convicted would serve the total sentence, subject to the power of the Pardon Board to commute that sentence.

We assume that the intent of your amendments is to assure that a person convicted of first degree murder will be incarcerated for a minimum of 30 years. While this end may be accomplished in several ways other than those that you have proposed in your amendments, we do feel that your amendments, if sustained as constitutional, would, subject to the power of the Pardon Board, result in that end.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

OPINION NO. 65
April 8, 1977

Dear Senator Chambers:

You have asked this office to review and either confirm or explain why we disagree with the contents of a memorandum that you have distributed to the members of the Legislature. Your memorandum is a discussion of the effect of the "good time" law on Senator Simon's amendment to LB 64. Senator Simon's amendment to LB 64 provides that a person convicted of first degree murder shall receive a thirty to ninety year sentence without provisions for parole. Because of further correspondence from Senator Simon, we are now aware that he intends to amend his amendment to provide that a person convicted of first degree murder shall be sentenced to a term of thirty to ninety years with no provisions for parole and further that the person convicted shall not be accorded "good time" reductions from his maximum sentence to determine his mandatory discharge from the custody of the state.

As a preface to the discussion of the effect of the Simon amendment to LB 64, it is necessary to discuss the effect of the current "good time" laws on a convicted offender. This Legislature, in 1975, passed LB 567 which was a bill intended to increase the effectiveness of good time as a tool for influencing the behavior of those committed to any facility operated by the Department of Correctional Services. Section 2 of LB 567 (section 83-1,107, R.S.Supp., 1976) provides for good behavior deductions from an offender's minimum term to determine the date of his eligibility for parole and from his maximum term to determine the date when his discharge from the custody of the state becomes mandatory. Section 3 of LB 567 (section 83-1,107.01, R.S.Supp., 1976) provides for faithful performance deductions from an offender's maximum term to determine when his discharge from the custody of the state becomes mandatory. Those faithful performance deductions are not deducted from an offender's minimum term to determine his parole eligibility. The following is a hypothetical example of the effect of the current law (LB 567) as it now operates.

A convicted offender sentenced to an indeterminate term of thirty to ninety years would, by the application of section 83-1,107, R.S.Supp., 1976, be eligible for parole after serving twenty years and three months. The same convicted offender, if he forfeited no good time, would be entitled to discharge from the custody of the state after serving approximately sixty-four years and nine months.

Another hypothetical example to consider under the present law is that of a flat sentence. If a convicted offender were to receive a flat sentence of thirty years, he would be eligible for parole in twenty years and three months, but he would be eligible for mandatory discharge, providing that he had not forfeited any of his good time, in fifteen years and five months. It should be pointed out and emphasized here that parole eligibility is determined by deducting good time from the minimum sentence. Mandatory discharge is determined by making deductions from the maximum sentence. Therefore, on a flat sentence of thirty years, a convicted felon who loses no good time is entitled to mandatory discharge before he is eligible for parole. It is also important to note that the Board of Parole has no discretion in granting a mandatory discharge but does have discretion in granting parole.

Under Senator Simon's amendments and his amendments to the amendments, the good time provisions of section 83-1,107 and 83-1,107.01, R.S.Supp., 1976, would be eliminated in the case of convicted first degree murderers. There are, under his amendments, no provisions for parole and no provisions for good time or faithful performance deductions in a sentence. The effect of such a sentence would be as follows.

Again, we will begin with the hypothetical example of a convicted person being sentenced to a term of thirty to ninety years. Since the good time provisions of section 83-1,107 have been eliminated, there will be no reduction from the minimum term for the purposes of determining parole eligibility. That being the case, the minimum sentence of thirty years is of no effect whatsoever. Since the reductions from the maximum sentence to determine when discharge from custody of the state becomes mandatory would also be eliminated, the ninety year sentence is not reduced. These two facts have the effect of making an indeterminate sentence of thirty to ninety years in fact a flat sentence of ninety years. In other words, under Senator Simon's amendments, there would be no such thing as an indeterminate sentence but only flat sentences falling within the limits of the minimum of thirty years and a maximum of ninety years. Again, in a hypothetical situation of a convicted person who was sentenced to a flat thirty year sentence, that person would not be entitled to the good time provisions or parole provisions of 83-1,107 and 83-1,107.01 and would therefore not be eligible for parole at any time and would not be eligible for release until he had served his complete thirty year sentence.

In a subsequent handwritten letter to this office dated April 7, 1977, you ask whether or not, since the object of Simon's amendments to LB 64 is to produce a minimum sentence of thirty years in cases of first degree murder, whether or not that end could be achieved by providing that a minimum sentence of forty-five years would be imposed with no possibility of parole until at least two-thirds of that sentence (thirty years) had been served. We feel that this is a completely legitimate and defensible condition upon the granting of parole and could be defended. We should point out that we have also on this day written an opinion to Senator Simon in which we discussed the Legislature's power to set conditions for the granting of parole. In that opinion we discussed whether or not the Legislature, in light of Article IV, section 13, could eliminate the provisions of parole for a certain class of offenders. While we reached no categorical conclusion, we did say that we felt such a condition prescribed by the Legislature would be constitutionally defendable. Because you have made the statement in your memorandum circulated to the Legislature that the Legislature may restrict, grant or withhold parole, we have attached hereto a copy of our opinion to Senator Simon in which we discuss whether or not the Legislature may so act.

It must be noted that the entirety of the above discussion concerning the effect of the Simon amendments is subject to the power of the pardoning board. The Legislature cannot alter the power of the Pardon Board to reduce or commute a sentence imposed. Regardless of what this Legislature does with regard to sentencing statutes and parole statutes, the power of the Board of Pardons to commute sentence will be unfettered.

To sum up the above, it is first necessary to keep in mind the question of the constitutionality of an attempt by the Legislature to eliminate eligibility for parole in certain classes of offenses. Secondly, it is necessary to keep in mind and distinguish between eligibility for parole and mandatory discharge. Parole eligibility is determined by deducting good time provisions from the minimum sentence. Mandatory discharge is determined by making deductions from the maximum term. Under Senator Simon's first amendment providing for no parole, the good time provisions reducing the maximum sentence to determine mandatory discharge would still apply and a person serving a flat thirty year sentence would be entitled to mandatory discharge after serving fifteen years, five months. Under Senator Simon's amendment to his amendment, the good time reductions from the maximum term would also be eliminated and a convicted offender would serve the total of his maximum term.

Finally, we are of the opinion that if the desired end is to assure that a first degree murderer serves a total of thirty years before he is released from the custody of the state, that your proposal that he be sentenced to a minimum of forty-five years, with the provision that no parole shall be possible until at least two-thirds of the sentence has been served, would also accomplish this purpose and be consitutionally (sic) defensible.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 66
April 5, 1977

Dear Senator F. Lewis:

In a recent letter to this office you state that the State Department of Education has submitted proposed legislation which, if enacted, would alter statutes affecting the operation of the residential school for mentally retarded children at Cozad which is under the control and supervision of the State Department of Education. You further state that "[a]ctions taken by the State Board of Education in terminating existing personnel at the school indicate that prior to legislative authorization they are proceeding with a change in the role of this school." In connection therewith you also note that the Eighty-Third Legislature, Second Session, 1974, approved LB 1055 which appropriated a sum of money for the construction of a diagnostic center at the Cozad location and note that your "interpretation of LB 1055 excludes reference to repeal sections 43-617 or 43-618 R.R.S. [1943]." You then state in view of the facts that you have presented "would it be the opinion of [this] office that the State Board of Education has authority to alter the purposes of the Cozad School as specified in Section 43-617 and 43-618, and therefore has no need for action by the Legislature to make statutory changes."

It appears to us that we cannot answer your question on the basis "of the facts that you have presented." We can advise you that sections 43-617 and 43-618, R.R.S. 1943, were last amended in the year 1972 and as of this writing both sections are operative. However, we must also call your attention to section 2 of LB 610 of the Eighty-Fourth Legislature, First Session, 1975. That section provides, in part, as follows:

> "The department shall include with the 1976-77 budget request a five-year plan for the Diagnostic Resource Center in Cozad, Nebraska. Such plan shall include (a) goals and objectives to be accomplished by the resource center, (b) methods of accomplishing the goals and objective, (c) services to be offered and the number of students receiving the services, and (d) an > evaluation system to measure the accomplishment of the stated objectives through specific performance criteria. The implementation of the plan shall be included in the 1976-77 budget request."

Thus, in order to fully answer the question you have propounded, it would be necessary to examine the five-year plan for the Diagnostic Resource Center in Cozad that the Legislature requested the State Department of education to include with its 1976-77 budget request. A fortiori, it would also be necessary to examine the action that the Legislature took with respect to that plan. Finally, we call your attention to section 43-610.01, R.R.S. 1943, which provides, in part, that "[t]he State Department of Education, in cooperation with institutions of higher education, regional and local educational agencies, is hereby directed to develop and coordinate the implementation of a program ... for a statewide comprehensive diagnosis and evaluation system. . . ." Thus, the question you have propounded is indeed complex. If we may be further assistance, you need only to advise.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 67
April 8, 1977

Dear Senator Venditte:

You ask "may a city provide for greater penalties than those prescribed by state law?" We understand that you want this information for the purpose of reviewing LB 38. Article XI, Section 2, of the Constitution provides:

> "Any city having a population of more than five thousand (5,000) inhabitants may frame a charter for its own government, consistent with and subject to the constitution and laws of this state, . . ."

Under this provision a number of cities have enacted such charters. A number of cases may be cited which state that ordinances under a home rule charter must be consistent with and subject to the Constitution and laws of the state. See, City of Millard v. City of Omaha, 185 Neb. 617, 177

N.W.2d 576. There are also a number of cases which provide that subjects of statewide concern are controlled by state law and not city ordinances or city charger. See, Dell v. City of Lincoln, 170 Neb. 176, 102 N.W.2d 62.

The precise question that you have posed has not been specifically answered by the Supreme Court of the State of Nebraska. Courts in other states have split on this issue, some holding that cities were entitled to enact ordinances which provided either greater or lesser penalties than provided by a similar state statute. Other cases have held that city ordinances must provide that same penalty as set forth in state statutes. A number of variations of this rule may be explored at great length. We do not believe that it is necessary for the purpose of answering the question you have posed.

There are two cases of significance in Nebraska regarding this issue. The first is Bailey v. State, 30 Neb. 856, 47 N.W. 208, an 1890 case. In that case a challenge was made to a city ordinance which provided a fine of one hundred dollars and costs for selling spirituous liquors within the city. A state statute provided a fine of one hundred to five hundred dollars or imprisonment not to exceed one month in the county jail. The court pointed out that the Legislature had specifically authorized villages to pass ordinances prohibiting the selling or giving away of intoxicating liquors. The Legislature also had authorized cities to impose fines not exceeding one hundred dollars for such offenses. Similar provisions may be cited in the present statutes. As an example, section 15-263, R.R.S. 1943, a statute relating to cities of the primary class, provides that cities may pass certain types of ordinances and "[T]o enforce all ordinances by providing for imprisonment of those convicted of violations thereof at hard labor for a period not to exceed six months and to impose forfeitures, fines, and penalties not exceeding five hundred dollars for any one offense, . . ." The second case, Bodkin v. State, 132 Neb. 535, 272 N.W. 547 (1937), also related to the liquor laws. The City of Lincoln passed an ordinance making it unlawful to sell or give alcoholic liquors to minors. The state statute provided that it was unlawful knowingly to sell or give alcohol liquors to minors. The court stated that this particular statute was not inconsistent with the state statute. They held:

> ". . .The words 'consistent' and 'inconsistent,' appearing in the Constitution or statutes under consideration, are used in a sense applicable to legislation. 'Inconsistent' in that connection means contradictory in the sense of legislative provisions which cannot coexist, not mere lack of uniformity in detail. . . ."

Thus, it would appear that as a general rule city ordinances may be enacted only within the jurisdictional limits granted to the particular class of city passing the ordinance. In addition, the ordinance should be consistent in purpose with that enacted by the state statute. Where the state statute authorized a penalty in excess of the jurisdiction of the city, the city might be authorized to enact an ordinance with a lesser penalty. Where the state statute provided a minimum penalty, it is unclear whether the city might enact a statute with a greater penalty.

While it is is (sic) a questionable area, based upon the majority rule of other jurisdictions, we believe that a city might constitutionally assess a greater penalty than that provided by state statute on the same subject. Certainly, the enacting body would have to give careful consideration to the exact circumstances with which they might be confronted, acknowledging the possibility that a challenge might well succeed.

Thus, with respect to your specific question, the cities may not enact ordinances which are inconsistent with state statutes nor may they exact penalties beyond their jurisdictional limits. In sum, we are only able to provide you with a general discussion of the area. Without a specific factual context, analysis in this area is very uncertain. The split in the states which have considered these questions make it clear that it is an area requiring particular facts before a particular position may be taken. Absent such facts, no hard and fast rule may be stated.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 68
April 8, 1977

Dear Senator Rasmussen:

You have requested our opinion as to the constitutionality of certain committee amendments to Legislative Bill 485, a copy of which amendments bearing the legend "LB485 REQ2531," was attached to your letter of April 4, 1977.

At the present time section 81-502.01 provides for an advisory committee to the office of the State Fire Marshal and prescribes the composition of such committee. The declared purpose of such committee is simply that of "advising the State Fire Marshal in matters pertaining to the performance of his duties." The committee amendments, in lieu of the advisory committee, would amend that section so as to establish a Nebraska Fire Safety Appeals Board, the composition of which would be the same as now applies to the advisory committee and the present members of the committee would continue to serve as members of the Fire Safety Appeals Board. The declared purpose of the board would be that of "assisting," as distinguished from merely advising, the State Fire Marshal.

Section 81-502.02, at the present time, also pertains to the Fire Marshal advisory committee, prescribing its duties, compensation and times of meeting. The committee amendment to this section simply makes appropriate changes in internal references so as to accommodate the change from an advisory committee to the Fire Safety Appeals Board.

Section 81-502.03 pertains to procedure in the event of "Disagreement concerning the propriety of any action taken or proposed to be taken by the State Fire Marshal or the application of any statute, rule, or regulation of his office with respect to any establishment or installation." At the present time, this section simply provides for a hearing before the State Fire Marshal and his advisory committee, with the ultimate decision still being made by the Fire Marshal alone, "based upon the evidence brought forth in the hearing." Under the committee amendments this section would be amended so as to vest the Fire Safety Appeals Board with the authority to make the ultimate decision. Additionally, the committee amendment would require that before any political or governmental subdivision could be required to "make any modification in the design or construction of any public building or any modification in the location, installation, or operation of any existing equipment therein, or the replacement of such equipment," the Fire Marshal or a deputy shall personally appear before the governing body of such subdivision with a written report from a licensed architect or engineer reciting the reasons for the Fire Marshal's proposed order.

Of course, the practical effect of the committee amendments to LB 485 would be to transfer from the State Fire Marshal to the Nebraska Fire Safety Appeals Board the decision-making authority now vested in the Fire Marshal alone. Whereas the present advisory committee has no power to override any judgment of the Fire Marshal, the new board would have such power and the board would make the final decision in all cases of disagreement concerning any action or proposed action by the Fire Marshal. We are informed that the request for an opinion has been prompted by some apprehension in the committee as to whether such a result might be constitutionally prohibited. We think not.

Although the State Fire Marshal is what is normally considered an executive office, it is purely a statutory creation with no constitutional origination or protection. Inherent in the legislative power to create an office there is a corresponding authority to define, limit and alter the powers of such office. In the absence of some constitutional restriction, the Legislature may diminish or increase the powers of such office at will; or the office may be entirely abolished by the Legislature. State v. Houston, 94 Neb. 445, 143 N.W. 796; State ex rel. Beck v. Young, 154 Neb. 588, 48 N.W.2d 677. We find nothing in the Constitution which would prohibit the Legislature from enacting the proposed committee amendments to LB 485.

Although not a matter of constitutional dimensions, we invite your attention to an apparent inconsistency in section 81-502.02, wherein the last sentence provides:

"Nothing in sections 81-205.01 to 81-502.03 shall be construed as reducing the statutory powers of the State Fire Marshal."

That language presently is in the statutes and would remain notwithstanding the LB 485 amendment. Most certainly, the creation of the Nebraska Fire Safety Appeals Board would drastically reduce the previous statutory powers of the State Fire Marshal; and, presumably, that would be the legislative intent in the event the LB 485 amendment were adopted. It could be argued, of course, that the proviso should be construed as though it contained the additional words "except as therein expressly provided," or something to that effect. However, whereas the last sentence of section 81-502.02 is quite appropriate under the present advisory committee arrangement, it does seem unfitting, if not contradictory, for such language to remain in the amended version of LB 485. It is a matter which could give rise to confusion and controversy; and it occurs to us that the committee might want to give some consideration to deleting the provision in the amendment.

LEGISLATIVE BILL 182. Placed on General File as amended.
Standing Committee amendments to LB 182:

1. Strike sections 1 to 3 and insert new sections as follows:

"Section 1. The Legislature finds that the use of disposal sites and baled refuse as a method of waste disposal is important to all Nebraskans. The purpose of this act is to allow and control the use of baled refuse and disposal sites for the protection of public health and the environment.

Sec. 2. As used in this act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Baled refuse shall mean garbage, rubbish, and other discarded solid or semisolid materials which are compacted by a compacting machine for the purpose of being disposed of at a balefill sight; and

(2) Disposal site shall mean dumps, dump sites, landfills, and landfill sites.

Sec. 3. Nothing in this act shall be interpreted as prohibiting the use of dirt, stone, brick, or some inorganic material for landfill, landscaping, evacuation, or grading.

Sec. 4. City shall mean any city of the metropolitan, primary and first class.

Sec. 5. After the effective date of this act, the following criteria shall be analyzed and considered prior to the construction and establishment by a city of any disposal site.

(1) Current and projected use of water resources in the potential zone of influence of the disposal site;

(2) Groundwater elevation and proposed separation between the lowest point of the lowest cell and the predicted maximum water table elevation;

(3) Potential interrelationship of the disposal site, local aquifers, and surface waters based on historical records or other sources of information;

(4) Background and initial quality of water resources in the potential zone of influence of the disposal site;

(5) Proposed location and design of observation wells, sampling stations, and testing program planned;

(6) Description of soil and bedrock to a depth adequate to allow evaluation of the water quality protection provided by the soil and bedrock;

(7) Provisions for surface water runoff control to minimize infiltration and erosion of cover material; and

(8) Potential of leachate generation and proposed control systems, where necessary, for the protection of ground and surface water resources. Where a leachate treatment system is designed to have a discharge to the waters of this state, the plans for the leachate treatment system must be submitted to the Department of Environmental Control for review and approval. Any required discharge permits must be obtained from the Department of Environmental Control. An operation and maintenance program including the administration and financing of the leachate treatment system during and following the disposal operation shall be provided to the Department of Environmental Control.

Sec. 6. (1) Surface water courses and runoff shall be diverted from the disposal site, especially from the working face, by devises such as trenches, conduits, and proper grading. The disposal site shall be constructed and graded so as to promote rapid surface water runoff without excessive erosion. Regrading shall be done as required during construction and after completion to avoid ponding of precipitation and to maintain cover material integrity. On-site drainage structures and channels should be designed for at least twenty-year rainfall frequency.

(2) Leachate collection and treatment systems are to be used where necessary to protect ground and surface water resources. This shall apply for as long a period as necessary during the following the active operation.

(3) Ground or surface water, except precipitation falling directly on the working face, shall not be allowed to come in contact with solid wastes so as to impair the water's use.

Sec. 7. A disposal site shall be located at least one thousand feet from the nearest edge of the right-of-way of any state, interstate, or federal highway at the time of commencement of construction of the facility, unless the working area is screened by natural objects, plantings, fences, or other appropriate means, as to not be visable from such highway.

Sec. 8. The design, construction, and operation of the disposal site shall minimize environmental hazards and shall conform to applicable ambient air quality and source control regulations.

Sec. 9. The operation of a disposal site shall include an effective dust control program.

Sec. 10. The operation of a disposal site shall include effective noise control and odor control programs.

Sec. 11. The operation of a disposal site shall include programs and plans for the control of rodents. Such programs and plans shall be implemented when necessary to control rodents.

Sec. 12. Open burning of solid waste shall be prohibited unless a variance or exception is obtained from the Department of Environmental Control permitting the open burning of tree trunks, tree limbs, vegetation, and untreated waste lumber. In areas operating under exemption certificates from the Department of Environmental Control, approval shall be obtained from the local pollution control agency. The operating procedures and location for such open burning practices must be submitted to the Department of Environmental Control for review and written approval.

Sec. 13. Decomposition gases generated within the disposal site shall be controlled on-site, as necessary, to avoid posing a hazard to occupants of adjacent property.

Sec. 14. Plans for the construction of a disposal site shall assess the need for gas control and indicate the location and design of any vents, barriers, or other control measures to be provided.

Sec. 15. (1) Decomposition gases shall not be allowed to migrate laterally from the disposal site to endanger occupants of adjacent properties. They shall be vented to the atmosphere directly through the cover material, cut-off trenches, or ventilation systems, in such a way that they do not accumulate in explosive or toxic concentrations, especially within structures.

(2) Decomposition gases shall not be allowed to concentrate in a manner that will pose an explosion or toxicity hazard.

Sec. 16. The disposal site shall be designed and operated at all times so as to not constitute a nuisance.

Sec. 17. (1) Portable litter fences or other devices shall be used in the immediate vicinity of the working face and at other appropriate locations to control blowing litter. At the end of each operating day, or more often as required, litter shall be removed from the fences and the grounds and incorporated into the area being used. Alternatively, the litter may be containerized for disposal on the next operating day.

(2) Wastes that are easily moved by wind shall be covered, as necessary, to prevent their becoming airborne and scattered.

(3) On-site vegetation should be cleared only as necessary to conduct an efficient operation and to comply with this act and applicable rules and regulations. Natural windbreaks, such as green belts, should be maintained where they will improve the appearance and operation of the disposal site.

(4) Salvage operations shall be conducted in such a manner as to not detract from the appearance of the disposal site. Salvaged materials shall be removed from the disposal site daily or stored in containers or enclosures which shall be kept in good repair.

Sec. 18. Plans for the construction of a disposal site shall include specifications as to surface grades and side slopes needed to promote maximum runoff, without excessive erosion, to minimize infiltration. Final side slopes of actual fill areas shall not exceed thirty-three and one-third per cent, unless terraced and planted to prevent erosion.

Sec. 19. In the event the Director of the Department of Environmental Control determines that any provision of this act or any standard, rule, regulation, final order or approved plan promulgated pursuant thereto is being, was, or is in imminent danger of being violated, the director may institute a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction for injunctive relief to prevent any such violation or further violation and for the assessment of a penalty not to exceed one thousand dollars per day for each day, or part thereof, the violation occurred and continues to occur, or both, as the court deems proper. No injunction shall be granted where such injunction is likely to result in a greater environmental or health hazard. Suit can be brought in any county where the defendant's principal place of business is located or where the violation occurred.

Sec. 20. In addition to the procedures provided by section 19 of this act, an individual may bring an action for injunctive relief and damages against the operation of a disposal site.

Sec. 21. Any disposal site in operation as of the effective date of this act which does not comply with the provisions of this act shall have six months from the date of notice of such lack of compliance to comply with such provisions.

Sec. 22. Since an emergency exists, this act shall be in full force and effect, from and after its passage and approval, according to law.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 70
April 12, 1977

Dear Senator Goodrich:

You have raised questions relating to the duties of the county assessors in Nebraska to aid in consideration of legislation. You ask, may a county assessor reassess portions of the county in one year without assessing the entire county? In this connection, you state that some county assessors are taking the position that they may assess parts of the county each year. As an example, a particular economic area might be identified and revalued. Separate economic areas would be assessed over a period of several years. The entire county would eventually be reassessed. However, the values for the areas reassessed would be placed in effect during the year assessed while other tracts not assessed in that year would remain at the old value.

Article VIII, Section 1, of the Constitution in part provides:

> "The necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such manner as the Legislature may direct. Taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises,... ."

This provision requires that taxes on all property be levied upon a valuation which is uniform. This would, of necessity, require that property within a county assessed by the county assessor be valued uniformly and proportionately with other similar property in the county. We believe that it is appropriate to take notice of the fact that property values by and large are not static. Certainly, the last few years have seen a large increase in the value of real estate throughout the state. To establish an actual value for a portion of the real estate in one county as of the required date each year would very likely result in nonuniform values for such property in comparison with other similar property. If similar property is not valued uniformly in a partial reassessment, the partial assessment would be in violation of the provisions of Article VIII, Section 1, of the Constitution.

The duties of the county assessor are spelled out primarily in Chapter 77, article 13. Section 77-1301, R.R.S. 1943, provides:

> "(1) All real property in this state subject to taxation shall be assessed as of January 1 at 12:01 a.m. of each year, which assessment shall be used as a basis of valuation for taxation until the next regular assessment.
> "(2) Reappraisals of all lands and improvements shall be made for the entire county in the manner provided in sections 77-1301.01 to 77-1301.04."

In general, these statutes authorize the Tax Commissioner to approve contracts with reappraisal firms for the complete reappraisal of counties. Section 77-1303, R.R.S. 1943, provides in pertinent part:

> "On or before January 1 at 12:01 a.m. of each year the county assessor . . . shall make up . . . a list of the taxable lands and lots in his county. . . . Such books . . . shall contain columns in which may be shown the number of acres or lots and the value thereof, the improvements and the value thereof, the total value, the assessed value, and such other columns as may be required."

Thus, it can be seen that the statutes contemplate an annual assessment of values for real estate within the counties. We find no statute, case, or part of the Constitution which specifies that values shall be updated for portions of a county. All statutes require uniform and proportionate valuation.

In answer to your question, it is our opinion that the statutes require the county assessor to uniformly and proportionately assess property. To the extent that a partial reassessment of county real estate would violate this statutory duty, such a procedure would violate both the statutes governing the assessment function and the constitutional command.

Your next question has been substantially answered by the comments made above. However, you ask, is there a justification for partial assessment? Assuming, but not conceding, that an assessor can show that he is achieving uniform and proportionate valuations by revaluing portions less than the entire county, he would be able to justify such a procedure. We find it very difficult to concede that such a case could be made.

Unless the county was not uniformly and proportionately valued in the most recent complete reevaluation, a partial valuation must of necessity result in nonuniform and nonproportional values. The property revalued and the property not revalued would not be uniform, thus resulting in a situation where a lack of equalization has occurred. While this is not absolutely true in an increasing or decreasing market, establishing values of similar property at different times most likely will result in different value for the properties.

However, at this point, the burden is cast upon the board of equalization, as well as the individual taxpayers. The values presented to the county board are subject to attack in equalization proceedings by the individual taxpayers. Presuming that taxpayers are able to show a lack of uniformity between their property which has been revalued and other property within the county which has not been revalued, it would be the duty and responsibility of the board of equalization to adjust those values to achieve uniformity and proportionality of values. Thus, while an assessor acting in a manner as you suggest, may be creating a situation in which unequal taxation may result, there is a safety valve available by invoking the jurisdiction of the county board of equalization.

In sum, our opinion is that any system which is likely to result in unequal assessment of property is defective. A system of establishing new values annually for only a part of a county is very likely to be defective. Such a system would be likely to err in considering value in relation to parts of the county not revalued.

Yours very truly,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 71
April 12, 1977

Dear Senator Chambers:

Official Opinion of the Attorney General No. 65, dated April 8, 1977, was a letter addressed to you and concerned the effect of the "good time" laws of the State of Nebraska. In that letter we discussed whether or not the proposal made by you to create a sentence of forty-five years with no possibility of parole until at least two-thirds of that sentence had been served would guarantee that that person was not paroled before thirty years. It was our conclusion that a proposal of the nature you suggested would be constitutional and would guarantee that a person would not be paroled before the expiration of thirty years. In reviewing that opinion, we have discovered a possible need for further clarification.

The point that may need clarification relates to the effect of the "good time" statutes on an offender's mandatory discharge computations. Under your proposal wherein an offender would be sentenced to a term of at least forty-five years with no possibility for parole until at least two-thirds of that sentenced had been served it would, of course, be impossible for a person to be paroled until after he had served thirty years. However, your proposal, if it did not eliminate the "good time" deductions relating to the computation of an offender's mandatory discharge, it could nevertheless result in an offender being released on a mandatory discharge prior to the expiration of thirty years. This is so because the "good time" provisions of the statutes mentioned above have a twofold purpose; one results in a date upon which the offender is eligible for parole and the second results in a date when the offender is to be mandatorily discharged from the custody of the state. While your provision would eliminate the possibility of parole until at least two-thirds of the sentence had been served, it would not, without further amendments, eliminate the possiblity (sic) that an offender's maximum term could be reduced to less than the desired thirty year term.

As we discussed in our April 8, 1977, letter to you, an offender who receives a flat thirty year sentence with no provisions for parole would nevertheless be eligible for mandatory discharge before the expiration of his maximum term unless provisions were made which would also eliminate the deductions from an offender's term to determine his mandatory discharge from the custody of the state.

To sum up the above, it is sufficient to say that if it is the intent and desire of the Legislature to guarantee that an offender serve a minimum of thirty years upon conviction for first degree murder, they must completely eliminate the effect of the "good time" provisions of both sections 83-1,107 and 83-1,107.01, R.S.Supp., 1976, on convicted first degree murderers.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 73
April 13, 1977

Dear Senator Nichol:

You have requested the opinion of this office concerning the constitutionality of LB 45. LB 45 essentially provides that a state agency must implement a legislative act even though an opinion of the Attorney General states that the act may be unconstitutional unless, within ten working days after the issuance of the opinion, the agency commences an appropriate legal action. LB 45 additionally provides that the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction to entertain such a lawsuit.

It is the opinion of this office that LB 45 is constitutionally questionable in at least one respect, insofar as it would require, in certain situations, the implementation of a clearly unconstitutional act by a state officer sworn to uphold the Constitution pursuant to Section 1, Article XV, of the Constitution of Nebraska. While the officer certainly can be directed to commence a lawsuit to test the constitutional validity of the act, we do not believe he can be required to violate his oath if he merely fails to commence such an action within a specified time limit.

The Nebraska Supreme Court in the case of Van Horn v. State, 46 Neb. 62, 64 N.W. 365 (1895), stated this principle as follows:

> ". . . .We had thought it settled, at least since the decision of Marbury v. Madison, 1 Cranch [U.S.], 137, that the constitution is the supreme law, binding upon the legislature, as well as upon every citizen, and that no act of the legislature repugnant to the constitution can become a law for any purpose. . . . There can, however, in our mind, be no escape from these propositions, that the constitution is the fundamental law, that an act of the legislature repugnant thereto is not merely voidable by the courts, but is absolutely void and of no effect whatever. It is no law, and binds no one to observe it. The officers of this state are sworn to support the constitution. Where a supposed act of the legislature and the constitution conflict, the constitution must be obeyed and the statute disregarded. Ministerial officers are, therefore, not bound to obey an unconstitutional statute, and the courts sworn to support the constitution will not by mandamus compel them to do so. . . . A doubt as to the validity of a statute would not justify them in disregarding it. The peace of the community, the orderly conduct of government, require that only in clear cases of unconstitutionality should they refuse obedience to legislative acts. They always disregard them at their peril; but when they do disregard them, and the question is presented to the court as to whether or not obedience will be compelled, the question of the validity of the act is presented, and obedience will not be compelled if the act is unconstitutional, because in that case it is no law and imposes upon no one any duty. . . . If an act must be respected until its invalidity is declared by the judiciary in a proper proceeding, then the constitution is utterly ineffectual. Such a proceeding can never arise until some one refuses obedience to the act." (Id., pp. 82-84)

Based upon the above cited case, it is our opinion that LB45 would be constitutionally valid if it were limited in its application to those cases in which the constitutionality of the act in question is doubtful only. However, it is not so limited. Therefore, it is our opinion that the constitutionality of the act could not be defended since, by its terms, the act may be applied to require the implementation of a clearly unconstitutional act.

In addition, we feel it necessary to point out that situations may arise where in all practicality it would be impossible for the state agency to challenge an act by filing a lawsuit as contemplated by LB 45. Situations may arise wherein the agency does not have sufficient standing to challenge the constitutionality of an act. (See, for instance, State ex rel. Ridgell v. Hall, 99 Neb. 89, 156 N.W. 16 (1916). As was recognized by the Supreme Court in Van Horn, supra, in some cases a lawsuit may not be properly brought unless someone refuses compliance with the act. In some such situations practicality indicates that a lawsuit may only be properly brought to test constitutionality if the state agency refuses compliance with the act. Therefore, LB 45 may place the state agency in a very difficult position relative to the practicality or propriety of commencing a lawsuit to test the constitutionality of an act since, in all practicality, a lawsuit may only be framed if the state agency refuses to implement the act.

Yours very truly,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 74
April 13, 1977

Dear Senator Simon:

In a letter dated April 12, 1977, you asked this office whether or not an amendment to LB 64 would guarantee that no person convicted of first degree murder would be able to be paroled or discharged from prison in less than thirty years regardless of the good time provisions, but would at the same time allow the good time provisions to apply to a person so convicted who had a lengthy first degree murder sentence. Your amendment provides that a person convicted of first degree murder shall be sentenced:

> "For not less than thirty years nor more than ninety years for each count which must be served consecutively. The laws affecting both eligibility for release on parole and the date when an inmate's discharge from the custody of the state becomes mandatory pursuant to sections 83-1,107 and 83-1,107.01 shall not apply to reduce the sentence of a person convicted of first degree murder to less than thirty years, but shall otherwise be applicable."

We believe that this proposed amendment would guarantee, subject to the power of the Pardon Board to commute sentences, that no person convicted of first degree murder would be paroled or discharged from prison in less than thirty years regardless of the good time provisions, but would at the same time allow the good time provisions to apply to a person once he had completed the thirty year sentence.

In order to make this amendment and its effect more clear, the following hypotheticals are used. The first hypothetical involves a situation in which a first degree murderer was sentenced to a flat term of thirty years. Under your amendments that person could not be paroled or discharged because of the application of the good time laws before he had served thirty years. Of course, since the sentence was for thirty years he would be discharged at the completion of that period of time.

A second hypothetical involves a situation where an individual is convicted of first degree murder and is given an indeterminate sentence of thirty to ninety years. In that situation, again, the person convicted could not be paroled or discharged prior to the expiration of his thirty year minimum sentence. However, because of the application of the good time laws, he would on the day after the expiration of his thirty year minimum be eligible for parole. This is assuming that he did not forfeit any of the good time awarded to him. That same person would be eligible for mandatory discharge, assuming that he did not forfeit any of his good time or faithful performance good time, after serving approximately forty-five years of his sentence.

Another hypothetical involves a situation where an offender is sentenced to a flat term of fifty years. Again, the person so convicted would not be eligible for parole or discharge prior to the completion of the minimum thirty year term. He would, however, even though his sentence was for a flat term of fifty years be eligible for mandatory discharge upon completion of the thirty year minimum that is provided for in your amendments. This result is so because of the application of sections 83-1,107, and 83-1,107.01 wherein good time and faithful performance deductions are to be deducted from an offender's maximum term, which in this case would be the flat term of fifty years, to determine mandatory discharge date. Under present statutes this mandatory discharge date would have ordinarily occurred after serving slightly more than half of the fifty year sentence. However, under your amendment he cannot be released before the expiration of a thirty year period and so at the expiration of that thirty year period since he would have ordinarily been entitled to a mandatory discharge, he would then be discharged.

It is hoped that the hypotheticals above help to demonstrate the effect of your amendments. We again reiterate that your amendments as contained in the April 12, 1977, letter would guarantee that a person convicted of first degree murder would serve thirty years regardless of the good time provisions in effect, but would at the same time allow the provisions of those good time laws to otherwise apply to a person convicted of first degree murder.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

UNANIMOUS CONSENT—Print Amendments to LB 204

Mr. Barnett asked unanimous consent to print the following amendments to LB 204 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.
(Amendments printed separate from the Journal and on file in the Clerk's office—Req. No. 2601)

Introduced by Newell, District 13.

Whereas, property taxes for many Nebraskans are becoming more and more burdensome and the need for relief from taxation is becoming quite apparent; and

Whereas, personal and real property taxes are a method of local government finance that does not entirely live up to the recognized principles of a just tax, that is it can not be levied uniformily or with regularity and is in few ways based on an individuals ability to pay; and

Whereas, property taxes, both personal and real, as a method of local government finance is slowly breaking down--as is evidenced by the continual "exempting" and "revenue replacing" programs of the State; and

Whereas, the shift to sales and income taxes has caused increases in the sales and income tax rates; has cost the State General Fund millions of dollars, and has prohibited complete property tax revision or replacement; and

Whereas, property taxes are levied only against certain classes of property; and

Whereas, the valuation of homes and increases in tax rates against these values have increased at a more rapid rate than the growth in individual income for most people; and

Whereas, the ability to pay any tax should be based on income; and

Whereas, one half of the "replacement funds" for property tax relief comes from sales tax revenue; and

Whereas, the burden for sales tax payment falls more heavily on those Nebraskans least able to pay the tax; and

Whereas, the "replacement funds" are one step removed from direct taxation for specific purposes by governmental bodies.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That an interim study by the Revenue Committee with the cooperation of the appropriate Departments of State Government be undertaken.

2. That the Committee investigate alternative approaches to the present system of eliminating personal property taxes, and include a study of relief of real property taxes.

3. That the Committee seek a reasonable and progressive replacement tax (or taxes) for local government other than the present system of State replacement funding.

4. That the Committee report its finding to the Eighty-fifth Legislature of Nebraska, second session, in the form of proposed legislation.

MOTION—Reconsider Action on LB 90A

Mr. DeCamp moved to reconsider action on final passage of LB 90A.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT—Print Material on LB 45

Mr. Murphy asked unanimous consent to print the following material on LB 45 in the Journal.

WORDING AS IT PRESENTLY EXISTS IN LB 45
84-205, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976.

When an opinion of the Attorney General states that an act of the Legislature may be unconstitutional, such act shall nevertheless be fully implemented by the agency charged with the administration of such act. Implementation may be deferred only if, within ten working days of the issuance of the Attorney General's opinion, such agency shall have commenced an appropriate action, in a court of competent jurisdiction to seek judicial review to determine the constitutionality of the act;

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S RECOMMENDED WORDING FOR LB 45 TO THE GOVERNMENT, MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

When the Attorney General issues a written opinion that an act of the Legislature is unconstitutional and any state officer charged with the duty of implementing the act, in reliance on such opinion, refuses to implement the act, the Attorney General shall, within ten working days of the issuance of the opinion, file an action in the appropriate court to determine the validity of the act.

COMMENTS

The Assistant Attorney General opinion in the Journal as of April 14, 1977 on page 1411, has declared the language of the Attorney General to be unconstitutional. This makes my point very precisely. What is an opinion of the Attorney General.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 56.

For a year before March, 1975, a federal grand jury investigated gambling activities in Omaha and elsewhere in Nebraska. It returned an indictment against eighteen, charging operation of an illegal gambling business, conspiracy, and use of wire communication facilities to conduct an unlawful gambling business. Although no governmental official or employee was indicted, the indictment included declarations that some of the defendants:

> ". . . did conspire . . . with Anthony Troia, an Assistant Prosecutor for the City of Omaha, Nebraska, and with other officials and employees, elected, appointed, and otherwise, of the State of Nebraska and its political subdivisions, to obstruct the enforcement of the criminal laws . . ."

and that a purpose of the conspiracy was to:

> ". . . corruptly endeavor to impede . . . the laws . . . by influencing the officials and employees of said State and City of Omaha, including but not limited to said Anthony Troia . . ."

The City of Omaha, the Counsel on Discipline of the Nebraska State Bar Association, the Nebraska Commission on Judicial Qualifications, and a member of the Judiciary Committee of the Nebraska Legislature have moved separately for disclosure of testimony given before the grand jury. A hearing on the applications was held by this court en banc on September 29, 1976. Between that date and this, we have read the transcript of the testimony of the one-hundred-plus witnesses who appeared before the grand jury and have awaited disposition of appeals of some of the defendants' convictions. In view of the approach we have decided to take, there is no need to wait longer.

I. LEGAL PREREQUISITES

A. Preliminary to or in Connection with a Judicial Proceeding

Congress has legislated on the subject of grand jury testimony in Rule 6(e) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, as follows:

> "Disclosure of matters occurring before the grand jury. . . .may be made to the attorneys for the government . . . Otherwise a juror, attorney, interpreter, stenographer, operator of a recording device, or any typist who transcribes recorded testimony may disclose matters occurring before the grand jury only when so directed by the court preliminarily to or in connection with a judicial proceeding . . ."

The Rule affirms a policy of maintaining a veil of secrecy around grand jury proceedings and means that the veil is not to be pulled aside, except "to the attorneys for the government" or "preliminarily to or in connection with a judicial proceeding." Because an "attorney for the government" means only an attorney employed by the United States, 1/ and none of the applicants is within that definition, the first sentence of the rule is inapplicable to our present inquiry. The issue then becomes whether the applicants' requests are to acquire grand jury testimony either "preliminarily to or in connection with a judicial proceeding." We hold that they are.

The Municipal Code of the City of Omaha, authorized by Article VI of the City Charter, provides for the reprimand, suspension, demotion and dismissal of persons employed by the city. These actions may be taken by the department head and an appeal to the city's Personnel Board is authorized. Nothing has been found by us which permits any judicial proceeding as an extension of or an appeal from the decision of the Personnel Board. Separately, the city attorney and city prosecutor may prosecute for criminal violations of city ordinances and state statutes, including those prohibiting gambling. The request of the City of Omaha is that we release that portion of the transcript of the grand jury testimony "which bears upon the alleged misconduct of Omaha city officials, past and present."

The Counsel on Discipline of the Nebraska State Bar Association draws his authority from Article III of the Revised Rules of the Supreme Court of the State of Nebraska, 1974, as amended July 2, 1975. Those Rules require him to investigate all allegations of misconduct of attorneys who are members of the Association. A series of steps leads, if the evidence warrants, from that investigation to a hearing before the Committee on Inquiry and then to a hearing before the Supreme Court of Nebraska, following which that court decides whether the attorney is guilty of misconduct and the discipline to be imposed. The Counsel on Discipline asks us to order release of all portions of the transcript containing the testimony of Anthony Troia, the testimony of any witnesses about any member of the Nebraska State Bar Association, including Anthony Troia, and the names of all persons who testified before the grand jury.

The Nebraska Commission on Judicial Qualifications has been organized under Section 24-715 et seq., Nebraska R.R.S. 1943, as amended. Its duties are to investigate all complaints with reference to the "acts, activities, or qualifications of any judge or justice of the courts of the State of Nebraska," hold hearings, and make recommendations to the Supreme Court of Nebraska, which has the authority to order the removal or retirement of any such judge or justice for specified reasons. The Commission on Judicial Qualifications asks us for disclosure of such part of the grand jury evidence as pertains "to the conduct of any judge of a court having jurisdiction over violations of the law of the State of Nebraska or the ordinances of the City of Omaha, Nebraska."

State Senator Ernest W. Chambers, a member of the Judiciary Committee of the Nebraska Legislature, seeks a disclosure of "any and all portions of the Grand Jury testimony and evidence which bear on the legitimate legislative and public interests" enumerated in his motion. He lists seven such interests, 2/ but only one can be said to be "preliminarily to or in connection with a judicial proceeding." That one, the removal from office of public officials, is created by Article III, Section 17, of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska, which reserves to the state legislature the sole power of impeachment and establishes a court of impeachment, consisting of the Supreme Court of Nebraska or all the judges of the District Court of the state, depending upon the office held by the person impeached. Article IV, Section 5, declares that "All civil officers of this state shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office."

Each of these procedures for prosecuting violators of criminal laws, disciplining lawyers, removing judges, and impeaching state civil officers is designed to culminate in a judicial proceeding. Judge Learned Hand's definition of "judicial proceeding," stated in Doe v Rosenberry, 255 F.2d 118, 120 (C.A. 2nd Cir. 1958), is apropos:

> "... We cannot agree that the Rule should be limited to criminal proceedings; on the contrary we hold that, prima facie, the term 'judicial proceeding' includes any proceeding determinable by a court, having for its object the compliance of any person, subject to judicial control, with standards imposed upon his conduct in the public interest, even though such compliance is enforced without the procedure applicable to the punishment of crime. An interpretation that should not go at least so far, would not only be in the teeth of the language employed, but would defeat any rational purpose that can be imputed to the Rule."

All the requests of the applicants, therefore, are preliminary to or in connection with a judicial proceeding, 3/ except to the extent that the City of Omaha asks for information beyond that relating to matters subject to prosecution. The procedure for reprimanding, suspending, demoting and dismissing employees is not preliminary to or in connection with a judicial proceeding. 4/

B. Compelling and Particularized Need

Permeating Rule 6(e) is an additional requirement, implicitly but firmly imposed by history. Its articulation by the Supreme Court of the United States in United States v Procter & Gamble, 356 U.S. 677, 681 (1958), in deciding whether disclosure of matters adduced before a grand jury should be ordered, was as follows:

> " . . . |W|e start with a long-established policy that maintains the secrecy of the grand jury proceedings in the federal courts. |Citations omitted.| The reasons are varied . . ."

A footnote at that point says:

> "In United States v Rose, 215 F. 2d 617, 628-629, those reasons were summarized as follows: (1) To prevent the escape of those whose indictment may be contemplated; (2) to insure the utmost freedom to the grand jury in its deliberations, and to prevent persons subject to indictment or their friends from importuning the grand jurors; (3) to prevent subornation of perjury or tampering with the witness who may testify before grand jury and later appear at the trial of those indicted by it; (4) to encourgage free and untrammueled disclosures by persons who have information with respect to the commission of crimes; (5) to protect innocent accused who is exonerated from disclosure of the fact that he has been under investigation, and from the expense of standing trial where there was no probability of guilt."

The Supreme Court went on:

> " . . . This 'indispensable secrecy of grand jury proceedings,' [citations omitted] must not be broken except where there is a compelling necessity."

In that case the court held that the district court had erred in ordering production of testimony given before the grand jury. It was a civil antitrust case in which it was shown that the government was using the grand jury testimony to present its case and the defendants wanted the same privilege. Needed, said the Supreme Court, was a "much more particularized, more discrete showing of need" for the "wholesale" production of the grand jury transcript. The necessity of a showing of a "particularized need" was reaffirmed in Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. v United States, 360 U.S. 395 (1959).

Secrecy was dyed into the fabric of the grand jury proceedings long before our nation's birth 5/ and became permanent by the Constitution's explicit guarantee that the grand jury would be retained as an institution. While states may do as they choose with secrecy as a concept, we are impelled by our past to treat secrecy as being indelibly within the nature of the federal grand jury. It is entitled to a dignity of its own. Accordingly, lack of a reason for secrecy in a particular case is not enough to trigger disclosure of federal grand jury testimony; only a demonstrable need for opening the proceedings will do. 6/ Moreover, an opening should be no wider than the need demands.

Therefore, we must analyze whether each of the applicants has shown affirmatively a compelling and particularized need for the portion of the transcript sought.

Wherever charges of corruption of public officials and employees surface, pointed attention to them is deserved. The integrity of the courts is shaken by every misconduct of judges or lawyers, who are the courts' officers. Neither the executive nor the legislative arm of government is worthy of confidence, if its officers are corrupt. A federal grand jury here has declared the existence of a criminal conspiracy by unnamed "officials and employees . . . of the State . . . and its political subdivisions." Reestablishing faith in state and city governments by proving or disproving the faithfulness of their officials is a goal with enough urgency to carry a major part of a compelling and particularized need. 7/ Unless the information held by the grand jury can be acquired readily another way, the primacy of the goal should be enough to allow revelation of the grand jury testimony.

Little, if any, can be obtained by other means, as things stand now. The only names that have come to any of the applicants, evidently, are those of one lawyer and one municipal judge. The lawyer, Anthony Troia, was 8/ named in the indictment, but the indictment went on to assert that the defendants conspired with Troia "and with other officials and employees" of the state and city. The wording can hardly be interpreted to mean Troia and one municipal judge. No other clue to the identity of the other "officials and employees" appears in the indictment. Under those circumstances, none of the applicants is in a position to know whether or not it or he has investigated the people or events being described by the grand jury or has talked to the persons who know the facts about those events. Because of the specific facts outlined above, we conclude that a compelling and particularized need has been shown for an in camera examination of the grand jury transcript and, in light of that examination, which we have made, for some additional disclosure, the extent of which will be as restricted as is consistent with the foregoing analysis.

By ordering relief we do not intimate that there is in the transcript any evidence of a conspiracy touching any officials or employees of any governmental unit. But there is evidence of other subjects within the purview of three of the applicants. We express no view as to whether any person about whom testimony was given was or was not engaged in any impropriety or whether any of the testimony amounts to a basis for any action by any of the applicants. We say only that some disclosures need to be made to enable three of the applicants to make decisions.

II. RELIEF

The entire transcript of the testimony of those appearing before the grand jury has been read by us. We say categorically that there is no evidence in the transcript of any misdemeanor by any civil officer, past or present, of the State of Nebraska. "Civil officer" means a holder of a constitutional or statewide office. 10/ Because the only persons over which the legislature of the State of Nebraska has impeachment power are "civil officers," and because impeachment is the only basis which we are permitted to recognize for disclosure to Senator Chambers on behalf of the Legislature, there is no necessity shown for disclosure of any of the testimony to him.

To the City of Omaha we shall reveal the names and addresses of those persons who gave testimony which could be interpreted as indicating criminal activity by one or more of the city's officers or employees and a general description of the subject matter of the testimony.

To the Counsel on Discipline of the Nebraska State Bar Association we shall disclose the names and addresses of those witnesses who gave testimony which could be interpreted as indicating criminal or professionally unethical activity by one or more lawyers and a general description of the subject matter of the testimony.

To the Nebraska Commission on Judicial Qualifications we shall state the names and addresses of the witnesses who gave testimony which could be interpreted as indicating criminal or professionally unethical activity by one or more judges and a general description of the subject matter of the testimony.

Interviews of these witnesses by the applicants 11/ may produce all the information that was given to the grand jury. If that happens, it is doubtful that there will be any need for turning over any of the transcript of the testimony given to the grand jury. 12/ Upon motion of an applicant after completion of the applicant's investigation, however, we are prepared to compare the statement to the applicant by an interviewee with the testimony to the grand jury by the same interviewee to determine whether any need remains for turning over any part of the transcript of the grand jury testimony. While we know that this disposition places greater work upon the applicants and upon the court than would an opening now of the transcript itself to the applicants, we think our order is consistent with the strict requirements of the law, as addressed in this memorandum. 13/

April 15, 1977

Mr. Vince Brown
Clerk of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. Brown:

We have received Engrossed Legislative Bills Nos. 208, 305, 305A, 345, 467, 484, and 498.

These bills were signed by me on April 14, 1977 and delivered to the Secretary of State.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

JJE:f

April 15, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

Today, the fifteenth of April, 1977, I had my first opportunity to review the 1977-78 budget bills written by your Appropriations Committee. I understand that these bills are scheduled for General File consideration next Monday, the eighteenth of April.

While I have not been able as yet to review each bill thoroughly, one item in these bills stands out either as an oversight or as a drastic change in the Nebraska's state aid to education program. In LB532, Section 45 (3), an appropriation of $56,901,166 General Fund is made to the Department of Education, of which, I presume, $55 million is for state aid. There is no further mention, however, of how this aid is to be distributed. In the appropriation act of the current year, (and in my budget bill for 1977-78), there is specific and necessary language which allocates forty-five of the fifty-five million to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, and the ten million dollar remainder to schools on a per pupil basis. Without language to allocate a part of the fifty-five million dollar to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, it appears that the entire amount will be distributed on a per pupil basis for 1977-78.

As previously stated, I have not had the opportunity to review all the bills thoroughly, nor to discuss the implications of these bills with the various state agencies. There may be other problems with the bills which will surface with time.

I urge appropriate caution before you enact these measures into law, as it is evident that either there has been a drastic change in the distribution formula without public hearing or another monumental goof has been made in the Legislature's drafting procedures.

Yours truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

LETTER FROM APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

April 18, 1977

Mr. President,
Mr. Speaker,
Members of the Legislature:

In response to the Governor's letter relative to LB 532, I wish to point out that neither a "monumental goof" nor a "drastic change in the state aid program" are contained in Program 143 of Agency 13, the State Department of Education.

The Appropriations Committee recognized in January that the Legislature's past practice of including intent or directive language in the appropriation bills was subject to question, both as a result of opinions from the Attorney General's office, as well as pending court cases. As a result, we planned to introduce "Intent Bills" as companions to the appropriation bills. These bills will contain the suggested legislative direction to agencies to insure that the policies of the Legislature are carried out by the several agencies.

In some instances, the language will be in both the appropriation bills and the "intent bills." The appropriateness as to the placing of this language in the "intent bill" or the appropriation bill, or in both, will be recommended to the body on an agency by agency basis. Those of you who have attended the briefing sessions have heard this approach discussed and the benefit will become apparent as the bills are discussed on general file.

The Legislature, unlike the other two branches of state government, makes each individual decision publicly and as a result it will only be when the total group of decisions is made and incorporated into the various bills that the existence (if any) of errors or omissions can be pointed out. By contrast, the executive branch can restrict publication of its recommendations until they are completed and introduced as a package. It is unfortunate that the Governor would seek to be critical by using the open legislative decision process while ignoring the additional information which his own staff has had every opportunity to be aware of in this year's appropriations process.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Jerome Warner, Chairman
Appropriations Committee

UNANIMOUS CONSENT–Print Amendments to LB 40

Mr. Barnett asked unanimous consent to print the following amendments to LB 40 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

1. On page 91, after line 4, insert a new section 116 to read as follows:

"Sec. 116. (1) Any person who uses a firearm, knife, brass or iron knuckles, or any other deadly weapon to commit any felony which may be prosecuted in a court of this state, or any person who unlawfully possesses a firearm, knife, brass or iron knuckles, or any other deadly weapon during the commission of any felony which may be prosecuted in a court of this state, shall in addition to the punishment prescribed for the crime of which he has been convicted, be imprisoned for two years.

(2) Sentences imposed under the provision of this section shall be consecutive to any other sentence imposed.

(3) The provisions of Sec. 83-188 to Sec. 83-1,125 relating to reduction of sentence and parole shall not apply to sentences imposed under this section."

EXPLANATION OF AMENDMENT

The above amendment is a new approach to the problem of the use of a firearm during the commission of a felony. In existing law, which is the same as Sec. 260 in LB 38, is treated as a separate crime which is often not charged or plea-bargained away. By placing it in the sentencing provisions of Chapter 29, the punishment becomes mandatory upon conviction of the underlying crime.

2. On page 201, line 7, strike "I" and insert "III".

EXPLANATION OF AMENDMENT

Recently changed, LB 421 — 1977 session.

3. On page 203, after line 1, insert a new Sec. 270 to read as follows:

"48-144.04.Reports; penalties for not filing; statutes of limitation not to run until filed. Any employer or insurance carrier who fails, neglects, or refuses to file any report required of him by the Compensation Court shall be guilty of a Class II misdemeanor. It shall be the duty of the Attorney General to act as attorney for the state. In addition to the penalty, where an employer or insurance company has been given notice, or the employer or insurance carrier has knowledge, of any injury or death of an employee and fails, neglects, or refuses to file a report thereof, the limitations in sections 48-137 and 48-128 shall not begin to run against the claim of the injured employee or his dependents entitled to compensation or against the State of Nebraska on behalf of the Second Injury Fund, or in favor of either the employer or the insurance carrier until such report shall have been furnished as required by the Compensation Court."

EXPLANATION OF AMENDMENT

LETTER FROM ATTORNEY GENERAL

April 20, 1977

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested our comments on L. B. 45 as advanced to E & R for Engrossment. We have previously issued an opinion that a substantially same version of the amendatory language was of questionable constitutional validity. The same is true with respect to the bill as we understand it to be presently worded.

This office is, of course, opposed to this legislation. We do not believe that it is needed nor do we believe that it is good legislation. Perhaps, we should review what has transpired insofar as our knowledge of this matter is concerned.

When the bill was reported out of Committee, the Committee indicated that while there were problems with this legislation they were voting to advance the bill so that it might have full discussion by the members of the Legislature. There were indications to this office that amendments would be proposed. Discussion was later had with Senator Rasmussen with reference to the validity of the bill under the Constitution of the State. As you recall former Attorney General Clarence Meyer appeared opposed to the bill and expressed his verbal opinion as to the invalidity of this legislation along with other bills which are presently bracketed on general file. We were requested to attempt to draft legislation or a proposed amendment for consideration by Senator Rasmussen and the Committee on Government and Military Affairs. This we did as a proposed amendment to L. B. 46. No suggested amendment to L. B. 45 was ever drafted. See page 1435, Legislative Journal, April 15, 1977.

In preparing these suggested amendments, we understood that it was at the request of a member of the Legislature. This was done to cure the constitutional defects. The procedure still would be cumbersome and expensive to the State. We have always felt, and still feel that the proposed legislation is bad.

In any event, the indication that appears on page 1435 of the Legislative Journal, April 15, 1977, is incorrect in at least two particulars. First, the Attorney General did not make any recommendations with respect to the wording of L. B. 45. Any recommendations were with reference to L. B. 46. Second, the recommendations quoted as being the recommendations of the Attorney General are taken out of context and are not complete. Standing alone these words are essentially the same as the wording of the original bill. We are attaching hereto and making a part hereof the complete proposal which we did prepare on request. We do emphasize again, that the procedure outlined would be cumbersome and expensive, and not needed.

Yours very truly,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

AMENDMENTS TO LB 46

1. Strike sections 1 to 3 and insert:

"Section 1. When the Attorney General issues a written opinion that an act of the Legislature is unconstitutional and any state officer charged with the duty of implementing the act, in reliance on such opinion, refuses to implement the act, the Attorney General shall, within ten working days of the issuance of the opinion, file an action in the appropriate court to determine the validity of the act. In any such action filed under the provisions of this section, the Attorney General may sue as defendant any person having a litigable interest in the matter or in lieu thereof may sue the Secretary of State. If the Secretary of State is named as defendant, it shall be his duty to defend such action and to support the constitutionality of the act of the Legislature and for such purpose is authorized to employ special counsel. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, no such action need be brought by the Attorney General if there is pending in any court of the state a legal action for the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the act. Any person having a litigable interest may be joined in the action or may intervene in the action, but shall not be deemed a necessary party in order to determine the validity of the act.

Sec. 2. When the Attorney General determines, after such investigation as shall be necessary, that any agency of state government charged with the implementation of any act of the Legislature is failing or refusing to implement such act, he shall notify the agency head by letter of such determination. If, within ten working days of the receipt of such letter, it is not established to his satisfaction that steps to implement the act are being expeditiously taken, and there is no valid reason for failing to do so, such as a failure of an appropriation, the Attorney General shall file an action in the appropriate court to compel implementation.

In any such action the department head or the agency head shall defend the action and, if successful in his defense, the costs and a reasonable attorney's fee as fixed by the court, shall be paid out of the appropriation to the department. If the defense is not successful, the costs and attorney's fee shall be the personal cost of the individual department or agency head.

Sec. 3. This act shall be cumulative to any existing remedies which may exist.

Sec. 4. Since an emergency exists, this act shall be in full force and take effect, from and after its passage and approval, according to law.

FIRST SESSION

SIXTY-SEVENTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Thursday, April 21, 1977

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:01 a.m., Speaker Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

> Father in Heaven, when we ponder the problems of Nebraska, the Country, and the World, we get the feeling sometimes that we ought to quit and go sit under a tree.
>
> The road seems endless, the hills insurmountable and the streams uncrossable.
>
> It seems that no one really cares but a few of us; and we don't really trust most of them.
>
> But somehow we go on. And when we consider that every generation in the memory of man has felt the same way, we get some consolation. Then we consider why we stayed - which is to do Your Will and to serve Your people - the struggle makes sense.
> Then we remember that You have promised us to be with us to guide and guard us; that Your Son's victory over death is the basis for our hope; that we live not for ourselves, but for You; all our troubles come into perspective and our day makes sense. Amen.

Mr. DeCamp asked unanimous consent to print the following amendments to LB 33 and LB 131 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AMENDMENTS TO LB 33 or Substitute Bill for 131

1. On page 13, insert new sections to read as follows:
"Sec. 13. The Nebraska Legislature hereby determines that ad valorem taxes are important to the effectiveness of all levels of local government. There are many and varied districts levying ad valorem taxes which overlap assessment districts. The effective administration of ad valorem taxes necessitates equality of assessment in various counties which are the assessment districts. The purposes of sections 13 to 20 of this act are to achieve equalization among the several counties while not causing unfair fluctuations in valuation and taxes so as to more adequately insure equality in taxation and education as well as quality education.

Sec. 14. Each county shall reappraise all lands and improvements in such county on or before January 1, 1978. The Tax Commissioner shall by rule establish standards for such reappraisal. The standards shall be such as to insure the determination of actual value on a consistent basis in accordance with the formula prescribed in section 77-112.

Sec. 15. No reappraisal shall be valid until approved by the Tax Commissioner. When the Tax Commissioner shall determine that the reappraisal has been completed he or she shall so certify such determination to the county officials which undertook such reappraisal. The values established pursuant to such undertaking shall be used for purposes of property taxation of all property so appraised. Each property owner shall be notified of the valuations to be used in the manner required by section 77-1315.

Sec. 16. Any taxpayer aggrieved by a reappraisal as approved by the Tax Commissioner may file an appeal in the district court of the county in which the property reappraised is located within thirty days after the date of the approval of the reappraisal by the Tax Commissioner. All appeals shall be taken as provided in Chapter 84, article 9. The Tax Commissioner shall cause to be advertised the fact of such approval in a paper of general circulation in the county. The thirty-day appeal period shall run from the first day of such publication.

Sec. 17. Counties may enter into reappraisal contracts or agreements for such reappraisal as provided in Chapter 77, article 13.

Sec. 18. The Tax Commissioner shall notify the State Treasurer of each county which does not reappraise property pursuant to section 14 of this act. If a county does not reappraise prior to January 1, 1978, ninety-five per cent of the money to which school districts within such county would be entitled under sections 1 to 12 of this act shall be distributed to such school districts and five per cent shall be forfeited to the state and transferred to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund. If a county does not reappraise its lands and improvements prior to January 1, 1979, eighty per cent of the money to which school districts within such county would be entitled under sections 1 to 12 of this act shall be distributed to the county and twenty per cent of such money shall be forfeited to the state and transferred to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund. If a county does not reappraise its lands and improvements prior to January 1, 1980, and for each year after such date for which a reappraisal has not been completed, fifty per cent of the money to which school districts in such county would be entitled under sections 1 to 12 of this act shall be distributed to the school districts and fifty per cent of such money shall be forfeited to the state and transferred to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund.

Sec. 19. Every school district shall adjust that portion of its budget for operating and maintenance purposes for the upcoming fiscal year so as not to exceed seven per cent of the previous year's budget funded by ad valorem taxes or the average increase by percentage for the three such preceding budgets, whichever is greater. When determining the budget to be funded by ad valorem taxes pursuant to this section, every school district (1) may increase such budget limit otherwise established pursuant to this section by the amount of receipts lost or to be lost from any state sources and (2) shall reduce such budget limitation established pursuant to this section by the amount of increased receipts from state sources. Any school district may, in lieu of complying with the limitations on increasing that portion of the budget funded by ad valorem taxes as set forth herein, increase such budget by the same proportion as the average daily membership or population of the district increased the prior year.

Sec. 20. (1) If the governing body of any school district determines that a budget funded from ad valorem taxes higher than is permitted by section 19 of this act is needed, it shall after completing the budget process required by statute hold a public meeting to receive input from the public regarding the advisability of exceeding the limits prescribed by section 19 of this act. Such public meeting shall be advertised and conducted in the same manner as public hearings required for the adoption of the budget.

(2) Following such public hearing the governing board of such district shall have the authority to adjust any item of the budget.

(3) The hearing and decisions required by this section shall be held during the month of August in the year in which the budget is to be adopted.".

Any increase in net assets or any net income shall be used for such purposes within two years from the period in which such increase or income occurred.

Sec. 16. If the increased net assets or any net income are not used as required by section 1 of this act, a tax of fifteen per cent shall be levied against any net income and collected by the Department of Revenue.

Sec. 17. Any money collected pursuant to section 15 of this act shall be credited to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund.

LETTER FROM ATTORNEY GENERAL

April 18, 1977

Dear Senator Luedtke:

We wish to advise you that representatives of the Nebraska Department of Public Institutions and representatives of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees have met and now agree to a contract in substance and form which is to be submitted to your honorable body for approval as required by section 48-837, R.R.S. 1943. The new contract is similar to the one which is now in effect until July 1, 1977 and which was previously approved by your honorable body.

We believe that it would be appropriate for representatives of both sides to appear before such members of the Legislature as you deem appropriate for the purpose of answering any questions which might exist with regard to the agreement. We would appreciate your advising us as to the time and place for such meeting.

We enclose, for your initial examination, two copies of the agreement and we will be glad to provide you with such additional copies as you require.

We particularly call your attention to the fact that with regard to the matter of salary and similar fringe benefits, the parties have agreed to abide by the budget eventually passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor. For that reason this contract may be considered by the Legislature prior to the adoption of the budget.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Paul L. Douglas
Attorney General

Mr. Bereuter asked unanimous consent to print the following amendments to LB 142 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AMENDMENTS TO LB 142

1. Strike the original sections and all amendments thereto and insert the following:

"Section 1. No action against a seller of a product which is based upon the theory of strict liability in tort may be commenced more than eight years after the product was first sold to any person not engaged in the business of selling the product. Nothing contained in this section shall bar an action against a product seller brought on a theory of negligence if such action is timely commenced within the limitation prescribed by section 25-207. Nothing contained in this section shall affect the right of any person found liable to seek and obtain indemnity or contribution from any other person whose actual fault caused a product to be defective or contributed to a product being defective.

Sec. 2. No manufacturer or seller of a product shall be liable upon the theory of strict liability in tort for personal injury, death, or property damage sustained by reason of an alleged defect in such product when the proximate cause of the injury, death, or property damage was an alteration or modification of such product, which alteration or modification was made by other than a manufacturer or seller subsequent to the manufacture or sale by the manufacturer or seller against whom claim is made or suit is brought.

Sec. 3. That section 27-407, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

27-407. When, after an event, measures are taken which, if taken previously, would have made the event less likely to occur, evidence of the subsequent measures is not admissible to prove negligence or culpable conduct in connection with the event. This rule does not require the exclusion of evidence of subsequent measures when offered for another purpose, such as proving ownership, control, or feasibility of precautionary measures, if controverted, or impeachment. Culpable conduct as used in this rule shall include, but not be limited to, the manufacture or sale of a defective product.

Sec. 4. In any action for damages for personal injury, death, or property damage based upon the theory of strict liability in tort and allegedly caused by a defect in a product:

(1) A product shall be considered to have a defect or be in a defective condition only if, at the time the product was sold by the manufacturer or other seller, there was a defect or defective condition in the product which made the product unreasonable dangerous to the user or consumer. The test for whether any defect or defective condition was unreasonably dangerous shall be whether or not the product, as sold, was dangerous to an extent beyond that which would be contemplated by the ordinary and reasonable buyer, consumer, or user who purchases such a product, assuming the ordinary knowledge of the community, or of similar buyers, users, or consumers, as to its characteristics, propensities, risks, dangers, and proper and improper use, as well as any special knowledge, training, or experience possessed by the particular buyer, user, or consumer or which he or she was required to possess; and

(2) It shall be rebuttably presumed that such product was free from any alleged defect if the allegedly defective plan or design, or methods, standards, and techniques of manufacturing, inspecting, and testing were in conformity with the generally recognized and prevailing state of the art in existence in the industry at the time the product was first sold to any person not engaged in the business of selling such product. State of the art as used herein shall be defined as the best technology reasonably available at the time.

Sec. 5. This act shall be known and may be cited as the Nebraska Product-Liability Act.

Sec. 6. If any section in this act or any part of any section shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions thereof.

Sec. 7. That original section 27-407, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, is repealed.".

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

> The most consoling assurance that any of us could possibly have, Lord, is Your promise that we can come to You any hour of the day or night with any kind of problem at all, and know that You are willing, even anxious to help us. What a shame it is, then, that often we give You really serious thought only when we are in some kind of desperate scrape. Actually, there isn't a moment in our lives when we don't need You. It's like our need for food. . . .we don't usually think much about it until we're really hungry. In view of how much we depend on You, and how very much You have so willingly done for us all our lives, Lord, please give us the wisdom and determination to raise our minds and hearts to You daily. ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 75

Dear Senator Duis:

You have asked us to review portions of LB 532. You cite page 69, line 19, through page 70, line 8. LB 532 is an appropriations bill. The purpose of the act is stated as an act to make appropriations for the expense of certain agencies of state government for the period of July 1, 1977, to June 30, 1978; and to declare an emergency.

Section 45, subsection (4) in part provides:

> "The State Department of Education shall establish rates for school districts contracting with the Diagnostic Resource Center in Cozad based upon an estimate of the actual cost of providing special education services computed pursuant to Chapter 43, article 6, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, and Rule 51, State Department of Education.
> "The purposes of the Diagnostic Resource Center shall include (a) diagnosis of educational handicapping conditions of children up to twenty-one years of age, (b) training services for special education teachers and others, (c) research into the improvement of educational services for handicapped children, and (d) such other related activities as may be determined by the State Board of Education. No child shall remain in the residential program of the Diagnostic Resource Center for more than ninety days during any school year."

You ask whether or not this language is constitutional since it extends beyond the fiscal year involved in the appropriations bill. You also ask whether administrative language of this type may be placed in appropriations bills.

We have substantially answered both of these questions in prior opinions to the Legislature. See, Opinion of the Attorney General, March 25, 1974, to Governor Exon, printed on page 1313 of the Session Laws, 1974; and Opinion of the Attorney General, March 16, 1976, to Senator George Syas. In both of these opinions we have substantially stated that Article III, section 14 of the Constituion (sic) and Article III, section 22 of the Constitution prohibit the inclusion in appropriations bills of language which is intended to direct or control administrative decisions. It is apparent to us that the language you refer to in LB 532 is not appropriate for an appropriations bill. Such substantive language should be enacted in the regular course as a separate bill. Such language upon being placed in an appropriations bill has no legal or binding effect and may be ignored by the persons charged with the administration of the executive units of government to which the language refers.

We therefore reiterate those comments previously made in the opinions heretofore cited in this letter. Thus we conclude that the language appearing in LB 532, page 69, line 19 through and including page 70, line 8, would be ineffective if enacted in the present form and in violation of Article III, section 14 and Article III, section 22 of the Constitution.

Sincerely,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Opinion No. 76
April 21, 1977

Dear Senator Cullan:

This is in reply to your letter of 18 April 1977. In that letter you ask if an educational service unit, pursuant to LB 445, Eighty-fifth Legislature, First Session, may act as a purchasing agent for school districts which are located outside of its territorial boundaries? The same is hereinafter discussed.

As amended by the Standing Committee, section 1 of LB 445, supra, states in part as follows:

> "In order to carry out the purposes provided in section 79-2201, educational service units may purchase or lease or lease-purchase real estate and equipment, supplies, and personal property for their own use. Educational service units may purchase, lease, lease-purchase, or act as purchase agents for equipment, supplies, and personal property for resale only to school districts within their territorial boundaries or to other educational service units."

It therefore appears to us that if the above quoted amendment to this legislative bill were to become operative law, educational service units could act as a purchasing agent for only those school districts within their territorial boundaries. See, section 1 of LB 445, supra, as amended. Conversely, an educational service unit could not, under the legislation cited, act as a purchasing agent for school districts which are located outside of its territorial boundaries.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 77
April 21, 1977

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have requested our opinion on proposed amendments to L.B. 518, printed in the Legislative Journal on page 498 and 499. You proposed to strike the original section 8 of 518 and insert two sections, section 8 and section 9. In the proposed amendment section 8 provides for a method of distributing money to counties from the personal property tax relief fund. The personal property tax relief fund is established by section 1 of L.B. 518 and provides that it shall be funded by the Legislature from funds collected through the general sales and income tax. The purpose of this fund it (sic) to replace some of the revenue lost because of a personal property tax exemption authorized by sections 77-202.25 through .29 and sections 1, 3, and 5 of L.B. 519. Section 8 in the proposed amendment would now add lands ceded to the federal government under the Laws of 1883, Chapter 90 as a factor to be used in determining the proration of the funds in the Property Tax Relief Fund to the counties. We find no constitutional difficulty with section 8 of the proposed amendment. We would point out however that in the original bill, a specific year is used as a reference point in arriving at the proportionate distribution in the counties in the proposed amendment no year of reference is used. This may pose some difficulty in determining the correct apportionment of the funds in any one year for lack of a standard against which to make such a determination. We would suggest that this matter should be cleared up by using a reference standard for making the determination.

L.B. 518 is a general act to reduce personal property taxation in the counties. It has a further purpose of reimbursing the counties for lost revenues as the result of this action. Section 9 of the proposed amendment provides that:

> "Sec. 9. No person shall avoid payment of personal property taxes because personal property of such person is located within lands ceded to the United States under Laws 1883, c. 90. Such taxes shall be paid by the person in the same manner as if such personal property were not located within such lands. Any personal property of a person which, for any reason, has not been assessed or has escaped taxation for any former year or years when such property was liable to taxation, shall be assessed at the same rate as imposed upon the property in the governmental subdivision of the state in which the property should have been returned for taxation. Such tax shall be assessed for each year the tax should have been listed and shall be assessed equal to the assessment that would have been charged against such property had it been properly listed and assessed. In addition to such tax, there shall be added a penalty of fifteen per cent of the amount of the tax due."

We have been informed that you intend to strike the last sentence of the proposed amendment and therefore this opinion will not discuss any issues raised by that sentence. The effect of this amendment is that persons having personal property located on lands under the jurisdiction of the United States shall be subject to personal property tax to the same extent as if the property were not located upon federal land. It is our opinion that this section is simply declaratory of existing state law. This same issue went to the Supreme Court of the United States in Offutt Housing Company v. County of Sarpy, 351 U.S. 253, 100 L.Ed. 1151, 76 S.Ct. 814 (1955), in that case land owned by the United States Government had been leased to a private corporation which in turn constructed houses upon the land. Sarpy County assessed a tax against the value of the improvements on the land as a personal property tax. The United States Supreme Court held that such taxation was proper under acts of Congress authorizing such state taxation of privately held property upon lands the title to which was held by the federal government. We believe that the same rationale is still applicable and pertinent to personal property located on government lands that is not the property of governmental subdivision or otherwise exempt from taxation. While a specific factual context would be necessary in order to determine whether particular property may be taxable or nontaxable, we believe that in general it is correct to state that private personal property although located upon publicly held lands is still subject to taxation. Since we believe that this is the case in the State of Nebraska under Chapter 77, Article 12, we feel that it would be inappropriate to express an opinion on the constitutionality of proposed amendment 9 on this basis.

We would caution, however, that section 9 does appear to have a slightly different subject matter than that contained in L.B. 518. 518 is a bill relating to property tax exemptions whereas section 9 of the proposed amendment relates to the taxation of personal property located upon land held by the federal government. This of course may be in conflict with the constitutional provision, Article III, Section 14, which prohibits the enactment of bills containing more than one subject. While this bill is not clearly violative of this section it does appear to be a borderline case and it might be more prudent if this section declaratory of existing law were separately enacted.

Sincerely yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 26, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President & Senators:

I hereby return LB 45 without my signature and with my objections.

LB 45 is a flagrant attempt of the Legislature to overreach its legitimate constitutional legislative authority by directing that the executive officers of government violate their oaths to uphold the Constitution. On two occasions the Attorney General has advised your body of the constitutional defects of this bill.

The heart of LB 45 is Senator Murphy's attempt of last year to specifically appropriate $8,170 to Ponca Public Schools. Such an attempt to appropriate tax funds specifically to one singled-out school district was in obvious violation of Article III, Section 18 of the State Constitution, and the unicameral was advised by the Attorney General of this problem through my veto. My veto was overridden, and the Executive, upon the advice of the Attorney General, properly refused to disburse this unconstitutional appropriation.

The Constitution of the State of Nebraska, to be an effective, living document, must govern the actions of the Legislature and the Executive prospectively as well as retrospectively. It is true that the Supreme Court is the final arbiter of the Constitution, but that does not mean the Legislature should do whatever it wishes until the Court says no! The Legislature should pay attention to the Constitution before legislation is passed as well as when the Supreme Court slaps the Unicameral's hands.

As the Attorney General has pointed out, LB 45 is also frought (sic) with practical problems as well. LB 45 places an affirmative duty on an executive officer to implement legislation or bring suit to challenge its validity. In many cases, it may very well be that the only way to establish a constitutional test will be for the executive officer to refuse to implement the legislation so that suit can be brought against that officer.

All in all, LB 45 is ill-conceived and an affront to our constitutional principles. It should be quietly laid to rest.

Sincerely,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 64.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 25, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am sending for your information a copy of a letter from Mr. Berri Balka, Director of the Department of Insurance, outlining the 77-78 cost for employees covered by the State Health Insurance Plan. For a state employee covered by the high option family plan, the increased cost is $7.83 per month, or $94 per year, which is nearly an eleven percent increase.

This information was received just last week and I am passing it along to you for your consideration. Additionally, I wish to point out that my proposed salary plan for FY 77-78 contains adequate flexibility to allow agencies to pay this increased cost through careful management of their budgets without additional appropriations. The Budget Committee has ignored my suggestions and have therefore eliminated that option. I am therefore asking you to accept my salary plan as contained in my budget bills and allow the state to offset this increased health cost for each employee covered by the state plan without additional appropriations.

Should you agree with my recommendation, Section 44-1620.01, 1976 Cumulative Supplement of RRS of Nebraska, will have to be amended. I will request the introduction of that amendment if you concur.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

Re: Group Health Insurance – State Employees

Dear Governor Exon:

In the latter half of 1976, your Insurance Committee began the study to develop bid specifications for the state employees Group Health Insurance Program. Subsequent to the Committee's study and recommendations, the Department of Insurance mailed formal bid notices to 701 insurance organizations licensed to write health insurance business in the State of Nebraska. The bid notice indicated that bids would be opened April 7, 1977, and that specifications and census reports would be made available on March 1 of this year. Nine companies requested specifications. Five companies requested employees census reports. At the time of the bid opening, 2:00 P.M., April 7, 1977, two companies submitted proposals for consideration by the Committee. The proposals submitted are summarized as follows:

1. Northwestern National Life Insurance Company submitted a proposal to administer a self-insured program for the State of Nebraska. The Company proposed to set up claims and administrative procedures for the payment of health claims out of a state fund. Payment to the company would be made on a percentage basis according to the dollar amount of claims handled.

It was the belief of the Insurance Committee that approximately nine months to one year would be required in order to gather the information and complete an analysis as to the feasibility of a self-insurance program for the State of Nebraska with regard to employee group health benefits. This study would be necessary to determine the proper reserve funds; budgetary and legislative considerations; fiscal and employee safeguards and further to determine whether or not a stop loss reinsurance program should be utilized to protect the employees and the state against vast dollar outlays as a result of a catastrophy.

The Committee's recommendation would be to utilize the next year to complete an analysis and feasibility study with regard to the self-insured type of program.

2. Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Nebraska submitted a bid proposal that would provide state employees with the same low option, high option, HMP type coverages that are currently available under the present contract.

At the present time, the State of Nebraska pays an employee contribution towards the group health insurance benefits as follows:

Low Option Plan	Current Monthly Rate
Single	$13.59
2/4 Party	35.19
Family	52.08

This contribution by the state on behalf of the employees pays the low option premium for the coverages made available by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Nebraska. Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Nebraska offered two alternatives; one for a twelve month rate guarantee and an alternative twenty-four rate guarantee. A copy of the complete rate proposal is attached for your information.

After consideration of the proposal, the Insurance Committee makes the recommendation that the State of Nebraska accept the Blue Cross/Blue Shield bid proposal for a twelve month rate guarantee. Premium rate comparisons are as follows:

Low Option Plan	Proposed Rate	Current Monthly Rate	Monthly Dollar Increase
Single	$ 15.20	$ 13.59	$1.61
2/4 Party	39.31	35.19	4.12
Family	56.25	52.08	4.17

2/4 Party	56.45	48.71	7.74
Family	79.94	72.11	7.83

Please advise if you desire further information or further analysis with regard to the alternative or the Insurance Committee's recommendation.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) M. Berri Balka
Director of Insurance

LETTER FROM ATTORNEY GENERAL

April 26, 1977

Re: LB 72

Dear Senator Marsh:

You have asked whether the guidelines in LB 72, passed with the emergency clause and signed by the Governor, apply when a birth certificate is amended as well as to the initial filing of a birth certificate. If not, you would like to introduce corrective legislation which will accomplish that purpose.

LB 72 gives directions for recording the name of the father and the surname of the child in four different situations: if the mother is married, if she is not married, if paternity is determined by a court and in all other cases. LB 72 does not set out new ways of filing or amending a birth certificate but makes its guidelines apply to birth certificates "filled out and filed pursuant to sections 71-601 to 71-648, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, and amendments thereto." Those sections include not only provisions for filling out a birth certificate and filing it within five days of the birth. They also include provisions for delayed registration of a birth and for amending a birth certificate already on file.

We have concluded that the guidelines in LB 72 are to be followed not only in making the initial filing of the birth certificate but also in making any amendments permitted by sections 71-601 to 71-648.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Introduced by Nebraska Retirement Systems Committee: Hasebroock, 18th District, Chairman; Goodrich, 20th District; Mills, 44th District; Fowler, 27th District.

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Retirement Systems Committee deals with legislation of a complex nature relating to public employee retirement systems in Nebraska; and

WHEREAS, numerous bills have been introduced during the past legislative session seeking a cost-of-living provision for various systems; and

WHEREAS, public safety employees across the state are seeking uniformity in retirement programs which are not administered by the state but for which statutory authority is required; and

WHEREAS, all of these changes and improvements in retirement systems for any public employee group require indepth analysis and evaluation; and

WHEREAS, no changes in systems can be made without full study of long-range fiscal impact on Nebraska taxpayers.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMEBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Nebraska Retirement Systems Committee will conduct an interim study with regard to improvements in public employee retirement systems.

2. That the committee will review a retirement program which would address uniformity for all public employees in the state with particular attention to public safety employees.

3. That the committee will meet with municipalities across the state in regard to improvements which might be proposed for public safety employees to determine fair and equitable benefits at reasonable cost.

4. That unfunded liabilities in retirement systems in municipalities and political subdivisions will be evaluated, to determine if a feasible approach to sound funding could be established.

5. That cost-of-living provisions will be studied and evaluated by the committee.

6. That the committee will compile a report on their studies and present it to the full Legislature in December 1977.

7. That the committee will introduce legislation to correct inequities which may be found or to implement programs which may be deemed meritorious.

Referred to the Executive Board.

Mr. DeCamp asked unanimous consent to print the following amendments to LB 518 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AMENDMENTS TO LB 518

1. Insert two new sections to read:

"Sec. 9. In order to insure that each county receives all the personal property tax revenue to which such county is entitled, the purpose of this section is to reaffirm that no person shall avoid payment of personal property taxes because personal property of such person is located within lands ceded to the United States under Laws 1883, c. 90. Such taxes shall be paid by the person in the same manner as if such personal property were not located within such lands. Any personal property of a person which, for any reason, has not been assessed or has escaped taxation for any former year or years when such property was liable to taxation, shall be assessed at the same rate as imposed upon the property in the governmental subdivision of the state in which the property should have been returned for taxation. Such tax shall be assessed for each year the tax should have been listed and shall be assessed equal to the assessment that would have been charged against such property had it been properly listed and assessed.

Sec. 10. In distributing the funds appropriated to the Personal Property Tax Relief Fund the amount of tax revenue lost to local subdivisions of government because of the exemptions allowed for business inventories under section 77-1226.01 shall be given the same consideration as the lost revenue because of the exemptions provided for in this act.".

LEGISLATIVE BILL 131. Considered.

Mr. DeCamp offered the following amendment:

1. Strike original sections 1 to 4 and the DeCamp Amendments adopted 4/27/77, and insert:

"Section 1. The Nebraska Legislature hereby determines that ad valorem taxes are important to the effectiveness of all levels of local government. There are many and varied districts levying ad valorem taxes which overlap assessment districts. The effective administration of ad valorem taxes necessitates equality of assessment in various counties which are the assessment districts. The purposes of sections 1 to 8 of this act are to achieve equalization among the several counties while not causing unfair fluctuations in valuation and taxes so as to more adequately insure equality in taxation.

Sec. 2. Each county shall reappraise all lands and improvements in such county on or before January 1, 1978.

The Tax Commissioner shall by rule establish standards for such reappraisal. The standards shall be such as to insure the determination of actual value on a consistent basis in accordance with the formula prescribed in section 77-112, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976.

Sec. 3. No reappraisal shall be valid until approved by the Tax Commissioner. When the Tax Commissioner shall determine that the reappraisal has been completed he or she shall so certify such determination to the county officials which undertook such reappraisal. The values established pursuant to such undertaking shall be used for purposes of property taxation of all property so appraised. Each property owner shall be notified of the valuations to be used in the manner required by section 77-1315, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943.

Sec. 4. Any taxpayer aggrieved by a reappraisal as approved by the Tax Commissioner may file an appeal in the district court of the county in which the property reappraised is located within thirty days after the date of the approval of the reappraisal by the Tax Commissioner. All appeals shall be taken as provided in Chapter 84, article 9. The Tax Commissioner shall cause to be advertised the fact of such approval in a paper of general circulation in the county. The thirty-day appeal period shall run from the first day of such publication.

Sec. 5. Counties may enter into reappraisal contracts or agreements for such reappraisal as provided in Chapter 77, article 13.

Sec. 6. The Tax Commissioner shall notify the State Treasurer of each county which does not reappraise property pursuant to section 2 of this act. If a county does not reappraise prior to January 1, 1978, ninety per cent of the money to which such county would be entitled under the Personal Property Tax Relief Fund as provided in section 77-202.30, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976, shall be distributed to such county and ten per cent shall be ffeited to the state. If a county does not reappraise its lands and improvements prior to January 1, 1979, eighty per cent of the money to which such county would be entitled under the Personal Property Tax Relief Fund as provided in section 77-202.30, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976, shall be distributed to the county and twenty per cent of such money shall be forfeited to the state. If a county does not reappraise its lands and improvements prior to January 1, 1980, and for each year after such date for which a reappraisal has not been completed, fifty per cent of the money to which such county would be entitled under the Personal Property Tax Relief Fund as provided in section 77-202.30, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976, shall be distributed to the county and fifty per cent of such money shall be forfeited to the state.

Sec. 7. Every political subdivision authorized to levy a tax shall adjust that portion of its budget for operating and maintenance purposes for the upcoming fiscal year so as not to exceed seven per cent of the previous year's budget funded by ad valorem taxes or the average increase by percentage for the three such preceding budgets, whichever is greater. When determining the budget to be funded by ad valorem taxes pursuant to this section, every such political subdivision (1) may increase such budget limit otherwise established pursuant to this section by the amount of receipts lost or to be lost from any state sources and (2) shall reduce such budget limitation established pursuant to this section by the amount of increased receipts from state sources.

Sec. 8. (1) If the governing body of any political subdivision authorized to levy a tax determines that a budget funded from ad valorem taxes higher than is permitted by section 7 of this act is needed, it shall after completing the budget process required by statute hold a public meeting to receive input from the public regarding the advisability of exceeding the limits prescribed by section 7 of this act. Such public meeting shall be advertised and conducted in the same manner as public hearings required for the adoption of the budget.

(2) The hearing and decisions required by this section shall be held during the month of August in the year in which the budget is to be adopted.

Sec. 9. If any section in this act or any part of any section shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration of invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions thereof.

Sec. 10. Since an emergency exists, this act shall be in full force and take effect, form and after its passage and approval, according to law.".

Sec. 2. That section 1-124, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976, be amended to read as follows:

1-124. The board may, in its discretion, waive the examination under the provisions of subdivision (5) of section 1-114, and may issue a certificate as a certified public accountant to any person possessing the qualifications specified in subdivisions (1), (2), and (3) of section 1-114 and what the board determines to be substantially the equivalent of the applicable qualifications under ~~the provisions of subdivision (4) of section 1-114~~ section 3 of this act, who is the holder of a certificate as a certified public accountant, then in full force and effect, issued under the laws of any state, or is the holder of a certificate, license, or degree in a foreign country constituting a recognized qualification for the practice of public accounting in such country, comparable to that of a certified public accountant of this state, which is then in full force and effect. The board shall charge each person obtaining a certificate under this section a fee to be determined by the board, but such fee shall not be in excess of one hundred dollars.

Sec. 3. The board shall not issue a permit under section 1-136 to any holder of a certificate of certified public accountant until such holder has had (1) two years of public accounting experience satisfactory to the board, in any state, in practice as a certified public accountant or as a public accountant or, in any state in employment as a staff accountant by anyone

All permits shall expire on the last day of December of each year and may be renewed annually for a period of one year by certificate holders and registrants in good standing upon payment of an annual renewal fee of not to exceed fifty dollars. Failure of a certificate holder or registrant to apply for such annual permit to practice within (1) three years from the expiration date of the permit to practice last obtained or renewed or (2) three years from the date upon which the certificate holder or registrant was granted his certificate or registration if no permit was ever issued to him, shall deprive him of the right to renewal, unless the board, in its discretion, determines such failure to have been due to excusable neglect. In such case the renewal fee or the fee for the issuance of the original permit as the case may be shall be such amount as the board shall from time to time determine, but not in excess of fifty dollars. Any certificate holder or registrant, who has not lost his right to issuance or renewal and who is not actively engaged in the practice of public accounting in this

Every permitholder shall furnish a corporate bond in the amount of fifty thousand dollars, conditioned for the payment of any judgment or judgments which may be assessed against such person because of any act of negligence or any incompetency of such person occurring while he is the holder of such permit; Provided, that the aggregate liability of the surety for all such judgments shall in no event exceed the amount of such bond. In lieu of such fifty thousand dollar bond, such permitholder may file a certification from an insurance carrier that such permitholder is insured, as an individual or a member of a partnership, under an accountancy liability policy in an equal or greater amount, except that any such insurance policy may provide for a deductible clause not exceeding one thousand dollars. If any such bond or insurance shall by its terms expire, or if it is canceled by the surety or insurer, the surety or insurer shall within ten days thereafter give notice of such cancellation to the official issuing such permits, who shall thereupon notify, by mail, the holder of such permit whose bond or insurance has so expired or been canceled, that he may no longer act under the authority of such permit.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 79
April 27, 1977

Dear Senator Nichol:

You have requested the opinion of this office concerning the constitutionality of two proposed amendments to L.B. 121. The Kelly amendment which you have provided to us makes two changes in what is now section 76-1416, R.R.S. 1943. First, it adds the requirement that the failure of the landlord to return the security deposit as provided by subsection (2) must be willful and not in good faith before the recovery provided to the tenant is allowed. Second, it adds "liquidated damages" of one month's periodic rent to what was before allowed to be recovered, the property and money due and attorney's fees. The Nichol amendment which you have provided to us amends the Kelly amendment by adding the following:

> "If the tenant fails to comply with obligations secured by the deposit under this section, and such failure is willful and not in good faith, the landlord may recover the property and money due the landlord, an amount of one month's periodic rent as liquidated damages, and reasonable attorney's fees."

Your specific question is whether the provisions in the two amendments relating to "liquidated damages" are constitutional under Abel v. Conover, 170 Neb. 926, 104 N.W.2d 684 (1960). In our opinion, both amendments are probably unconstitutional since they may be held to impose a penalty not reasonably related to actual damages in violation of Article VII, section 5 of the Nebraska Constitution and the due process clause.

Abel v. Conover, supra, states the rule very clearly concerning the question of whether liquidated damages are constitutional. That case states the rule as follows on page 931:

> "It is clearly within the province of the Legislature to provide for liquidated damages in favor of a private person, although in form a penalty, if the amount provided bears a reasonable relation to the actual damages which might be sustained and which damages are not susceptible of measurement by ordinary pecuniary standards. But where it appears that the provision provides for the payment of an amount clearly in excess of compensatory damages, it is a penalty and violates the due process clause of the Constitution when considered with Article VII, section 5, thereof. . . ."

The question presented in the case of both amendments is whether an amount clearly in excess of compensatory damages is provided thereby constituting a penalty.

As we read the Kelly amendment it provides that if a landlord willfully and in bad faith fails to return a security deposit due the tenant, he is liable to not only return such money and pay reasonable attorney's fees to the tenant, but in addition he is liable to pay liquidated damages of one months periodic rent. If the failure to return the security deposit is not willful or is in good faith, then the tenant could only collect the money he is due. The liquidated damages provided do not appear to compensate the tenant for any damage he has incurred, but rather appear to be a penalty imposed upon the landlord for willfully and in bad faith withholding money due. As such, the provision of liquidated damages is constitutionally defective. Furthermore, the liquidated damages do not appear to bear any reasonable relationship to actual damages incurred, especially when it is considered that they are provided in addition to a recovery of the property or money due and reasonable attorney's fees. Finally, the damages incurred by the tenant due to the withholding of the security deposit are probably capable of being measured by ordinary pecuniary standards so that the use of the concept of liquidated damages may be inappropriate under the language quoted from Abel v. Conover.

The Nichol amendment provides to the landlord the same recovery as is provided to the tenant by the Kelly amendment in the case where the tenant willfully and in bad faith fails to comply with obligations secured by the deposit. This amendment is constitutionally defective for the same reasons expressed above concerning the Kelly amendment. The Nichol amendment, by providing liquidated damages in addition to the recovery of property or money due and reasonable attorney's fees when the failure is willful and in bad faith, imposes a penalty upon the tenant as opposed to compensation for actual damages to the landlord, contrary to the due process clause and Article III, section 5. Furthermore, the liquidated damages, being additional to other damages allowed, do not appear to bear a reasonable relationship to actual damages, and the actual damages of the landlord are probably capable of measurement by ordinary pecuniary standards.

For the reasons expressed we do not believe the constitutionality of either of the two proposed amendments to L.B. 121 could be successfully defended against constitutional attack.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 80
April 29, 1977

Dear Senator Warner:

This is in response to your inquiry concerning the payment of the cost of patient care at the Douglas County Hospital pursuant to section 83-306, R.R.S. 1943; while you do not so state, we assume you desire this information to assist you in preparing legislation; therefore the following is offered on that basis.

The provision relating to payment by the state for patients admitted to the Douglas County Hospital is confined to subsection (3) of said section 83-306; there are three other subsections to said statute all of which relate to the state hospitals.

The only reference in said subsection (3) to patients being admitted to the Douglas County Hospital is to mentally ill dangerous persons committed by the mental health board. The section then provides:

> ". . . The county and state shall contribute toward the payment of the costs of such commitment, as defined in section 83-376, in an amount which would have been paid if such mentally ill dangerous person had become a patient and received care and treatment at a state hospital described in section 83-305; . . ." (Emphasis added.)

The subsection goes on to provide that a person committed to the Douglas County Hospital shall be considered committed to the State of Nebraska and the provisions of the commitment must be identical to those relating to commitment of a mentally ill dangerous person to a state hospital.

Everything in section 83-306 relating to admission and payment for patients in the Douglas County Hospital refers to committed patients and then only authorizes it as to mentally ill dangerous persons. There is no indication that it was meant to apply to persons voluntarily admitted at the Douglas County Hospital and, in fact, such persons, would have no adjudication that they were "mentally ill dangerous persons". The same provisions and observation could be made as to other public or private hospitals with acute psychiatric care facilities which have been certified by the Director of Medical Services as adequate for the care and treatment of mentally ill dangerous persons referred to in said statute.

For these reasons, it is our opinion that section 83-306, R.R.S. 1943, only provides for payment by the State of Nebraska toward the costs of mentally ill dangerous persons committed by a mental health board to the Douglas County Hospital or other public or private hospitals as described therein.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

It is the intent of this Legislature to assure that increases are given to all deserving employees on a fair and impartial basis. To assure that this intent is carried out, the Board of Trustees and the Presidents of the State Colleges shall monitor and review the distribution of salary dollars, giving special consideration to instructional faculty of the Instructor and Assistant Professor rank consistent with the Board of Trustee's salary policy and giving due consideration to inequities between colleges and instructional ranks.

On or before February 1, 1978, the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges and the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska shall each file with the Clerk of the Legislature a salary distribution report that identifies the way in which new salary dollars were distributed by each college or campus, to include (1) the number of employees given increases, (2) the average amount and the range of the increases, (3) the total amount spent by rank for salary increases. The report shall also identify the distribution of new salary dollars by rank, tenure status, sex, and department of instruction.

V. This amendment establishes special accounts within the University of Nebraska campus accounting systems for receipt and expenditure of overhead costs associated with grants and contracts.

1. On page 20, after line 6, insert: The University of Nebraska campuses shall establish special accounts within their respective accounting systems through which they shall receipt and expend overhead costs associated with grants and contracts. Such accounts shall include those overhead receipts and expenditures in excess of those estimated in the University of Nebraska budget request for 1977-78. Such overhead funds shall be distributed back to the programs in which the costs are incurred. This distribution shall be in accord with federal auditing agency procedures and guidelines, and shall be available for inspection by the appropriate government officials. It is the intent of the Legislature that the University of Nebraska shall have the authorization to expend above the cash ceilings as shown in Legislative Bill 533, Eighty-fifth Legislature, First Session, 1977, in an amount not to exceed $500,000 at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and the University of Nebraska Medical Center campuses, and $200,000 at the University of Nebraska at Omaha campus, for the purpose of receipting and expending overhead costs. The authorization to exceed the Cash Fund ceiling is granted only to the extent such funds are available. Authorization is also given to exceed the personal service limitation to the extent such overhead costs are authorized for personal service expenditures.
VIII. Strike subsection (1) of Section 22 and insert:
(1) Expenditures for personal services shall be limited to the amount shown, except when federal funds in excess of the amount shown are available and have actually been reviewed by the Executive Board or the Legislative Council and approved by the Governor pursuant to sections 81-1131 to 81-1138, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976. The Governor shall submit a report of positions and funds approved to the Legislature on January 10, 1978, and June 30, 1978. Personal services expenditures from such grants shall be in addition to the personal services limitations otherwise shown within this act. No agency shall request any state funds for continuation or replacement of any such personnel or activities in future budget requests. To the extent feasible, requests for increases in the personal service limitation shall be addressed to the Appropriations Committee when the Legislature is in session.
IX. Insert a new section to read: If any section in this act or any part of any section shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions thereof.

RESOLUTIONS

Introduced by Koch, 12th District.

WHEREAS, the structure and operation of the committee system of the Legislature is vital to the investigation and understanding of legislation by both the public and the legislators; and

WHEREAS, in the recent past, debate has arisen regarding whether a legislative bill had been properly referred to or heard by the appropriate committee; and

WHEREAS, the established Legislative committees have been forced to accomodate many changes in political and legislative issues; and

WHEREAS, there has never been a specific exploration of the Legislature's committee structure and the subject matter with which such committees should be concerned.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a special committee, composed of the chairmen of each of the Legislature's standing committees and chaired by the chairman of the Executive Board, conduct an interim study to investigate the Legislative committee structure in general and the various legislative issues and other subject matter which the Legislative committees should address.

2. That this special committee study all reasonable alternatives for revising and redeveloping the several Legislative committees.

3. That this special study committee make a report to the entire Legislature not later than the first day of the next regular session, setting forth its recommendations for committee restructuring, and also suggest to the Legislature that such recommendations be considered and implemented by the entire body as expeditiously as may be practicable.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 73.

Introduced by Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee: Koch, 12th District, Chairman.

WHEREAS, the issues of taxation, real estate valuations, and personal property valuations are of great concern to the citizens of this state and of continuing interest to the Nebraska Legislature; and

WHEREAS, the present property tax applied at generally equal rates to both land and improvements results in a less than optimal use of land, and, as a tax on improvements, it retards rehabilitation and discourages intensive use of land; and

WHEREAS, the taxation of mobile homes as personal property based on valuation has contributed little to a community's tax base; and

WHEREAS, much debate has ensued over proposed administrative and legislative remedies to the problems of taxation and valuation.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee conduct an interim study for the purpose of addressing the issues outlined above.

2. That the Committee specifically investigate the areas of site value taxation for real estate and a special tax levy on mobile homes.

3. That the Committee submit a report of its findings along with any recommendations regarding legislation to the next regular session of the Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 74.

Introduced by Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee: Koch, 12th District, Chairman.

WHEREAS, an efficient and orderly political process is desired by all citizens interested in government; and

WHEREAS, all efforts possible should be undertaken to attract worthy and responsible citizens to serve in state government; and

WHEREAS, Constitutional and statutory changes are proposed in each session of the Legislature in an attempt to improve the political process and governmental relations; and

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Unicameral Legislature and the citizens of the State of Nebraska entertain a close personal relationship.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee conduct an interim study to address the issues presented above.

2. That the Committee study particularly the issues of a partisan legislature and senatorial wages.

3. That the Committee actively seek to honor citizen suggestions for improved government relations and educate the citizens of this state regarding the demands of government service.

4. That the Committee submit a report of its findings along with any recommendations relative to legislation to the next regular session of the Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

Introduced by Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee: Koch, 12th District, Chairman.

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission plays a key role in the administration of lands and programs dedicated to the preservation of Nebraska natural resources and the recreational activities of its citizens; and

WHEREAS, current budgetary proposals may tend to unduly limit the services which the Game and Parks Commission could offer in attempting to keep pace with the demands imposed by the need to protect nature and our recreational opportunities; and

WHEREAS, a thorough examination of all data relative to the activities of the Game and Parks Commission should be conducted prior to making policy and fiscal decisions relating to the Commission which could have far reaching implications for its future operations.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee conduct an interim study of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission to determine its financial needs as well as all improvements it might be able to offer as are needed for parks and recreational facilities of the state.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 81
April 29, 1977

Re: Section 39-6,131, R.R.S. 1943.

Dear Senator Newell:

We are in receipt of your letters of April 14 and April 20, 1977. We understand that you are considering the introduction of legislation to clarify any confusion surrounding the enforcement of the above noted statute concerning studded tires. That statute states, in pertinent part, as follows:

> ". . . No tire on a vehicle moved on a highway shall have on its periphery any clock, stud, flange, cleat or spike or any other protuberance of any material other than rubber which projects beyond the tread of the traction surface of the tire, except that (1) this prohibition shall not apply to pneumatic tires with metal or metal-type studs not exceeding five-sixteenths of an inch in diameter inclusive of the studcasing with an average protrusion beyond the tread surface of not more than seven sixty-fourths of an inch between October 1 and April 15; . . . "

You have specifically inquired which days are excepted from the prohibition on studded tires under the provisions of Section 39-6,131. This question hinges upon an interpretation of the word "between." The Supreme Court of this state has held, when referring to intervals of time, that when the word "between" is used the dates noted as bracketing the interval of time in question are excluded from effect. Weir v. Thomas, 44 Neb. 507, 62 N.W. 871 (1895). Therefore, the exception allowing the use of studded tires under the provisions of Section 39-6,131 would exclude from that exception both the first day of October and the fifteenth day of April. The first day that such tires could properly be employed would be October 2nd and the last day would be April 14th.

Yours truly,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 3, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

In line with my policy of having State Government assume the leadership role in energy conservation, I am submitting to you amendments to LB 495, my capital construction budget for fiscal year 1977-78. These amendments will allow the Department of Correctional Services to use Solar Energy to provide the domestic hot water requirements for the new Medium-Minimum Security facilities in Lincoln and Omaha, and the Diagnostic and Evaluation Center in Lincoln. Also, I am requesting that the previously planned gas and oil fired power plant at the Maximum Security facility in Lincoln be changed to a coal fired power plant.

Previously, I had directed the Lieutenant Governor to explore and evaluate current and planned energy usage in State Government to see what type of efforts we could make in reducing our demands for the scarce energy resources that will be available in the future. In pursuing this goal, the Lieutenant Governor has met with several committees of the Legislature and professionals in the energy field. He has informed me that the concerns of the Legislature and the energy professionals are identical to the concerns of this Administration.

In considering the course of action I am charting with these amendments, one must realize that these buildings will have a minimum usage life of 50 years while the most liberal estimates of available natural gas supplies is far less. Based on the most reliable information currently available to me, the most prudent investment of public funds appears to be in utilizing alternative energy resources in the new Penal Institutions.

These proposed amendments will delay the total correctional construction plan by about five months, and will, therefore, result in approximately $3.5 million of such construction funds not being expended during the current fiscal year, ending June 30, 1977. Nevertheless, that amount of funds, plus an additional $2.5 million for the energy proposals, will be necessary for such construction the next two years, that is during fiscal year 1977-78 and fiscal year 1978-79.

Since there may be a tendency for the Legislature and its Appropriations Committee to look upon these funds as available for expenditure now, I caution that this $3.5 million should be reappropriated for its intended and promised use and not "diverted" to other expenditures now that will certainly have to be made up from tax receipts later.

I am, therefore, urging "conservation" of this $3.5 million as intended, and that it should not be improperly considered as "wind fall" now.

Yours truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 83
May 2, 1977

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have asked for our opinion as to the constitutional validity of L.B. 524. This bill consists of one section, which provides:

> "No action may be maintained under Chapter 59, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, and amendments thereto, against any person, corporation, organization, or association for acting pursuant to and under the authority of any state or federal law. It is the purpose of this section to reaffirm that a person may rely on the validity of any state or federal law until declared invalid."

We believe that this bill presents certain constitutional difficultives. Chapter 59 of the Nebraska statutes deals with monopolies and unlawful combinations. It provides for varioustypes of legal actions in the event of violation of its provisions, including criminal, quo warranto and mandamus actions and actions for damages and injunctions. Under the clear terms of L.B. 524, all of these actions would be barred if the action complained of was authorized by any state or federal law, even though that law is invalid.

So far as an action for criminal sanctions is concerned, the act might be upheld. In most criminal actions, criminal intent is an essential element of the crime, and if some statute apparently authorizes the action in question, this might be a valid defense, since, it can be argued, the necessary criminal intent is lacking. This bill, in that respect, would simply be affirmance by the Legislature that this should be proof of lack of the necessary intent.

With respect to civil actions, however, a different situation prevails. In that case, some other person or corporation will, presumably, have been injured by the action which is prohibited by some provision of Chapter 59, but authorized by some other statutory provision which is unconstitutional. L.B. 524 would, nevertheless, deny the injured party

To illustrate what we mean, Chapter 59, Article 8 forbids monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade. Provisions in that article permit injunctions and actions for damages by persons injured by such illegal activities. Suppose the Legislature were to pass a bill permitting corporations to refuse to do business with blacks, and all of the white-controlled corporations engaged in a particular industry conspired to refuse to do business with a black man, driving him out of business.

Obviously, the bill authorizing such action would be palpably unconstitutional, and the conspiracy would be in violation of the provisions of Chapter 59. Yet, L.B. 524 would appear to deny the injured black man any recovery of damages, or even an injunction action to restrain the unlawful conspiracy.

An unconstitutional law is a nullity, and it cannot be used to deprive a private person of his right to access to the courts and redress of grievances. In 16 Am. Jur. 2d 923, Constitutional Law, Section 533, we find:

> ". . . The Supreme Court at an early date recognized the rule that an act of the legislature which in terms would give to one individual certain rights and the benefit of certain modes of procedure, and would deny to another similarly situated the same rights, could be challenged successfully on the ground of unjust discrimination and denial of the equal protection of the laws. . . ."

We are therefore of the opinion that L.B. 524, in taking away from private citizens rights of action they would otherwise have under the provisions of Chapter 59, because the action they complain of is authorized by an unconstitutional law, thereby deprives them of equal protection and due process of law, in violation of the federal Constitution. It also deprives them of due process of law, in violation of Article I, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution.

You have specifically asked whether the fact that L.B. 524 is limited in its application to actions under Chapter 59 makes it unreasonable classification, or special legislation, in violation of Article III, Section 18 of the Nebraska Constitution. We do not believe that is a major problem with respect to this bill. As we have indicated, we believe that it could only be applied as a defense in criminal actions. In some types of criminal actions, lack of criminal intent is a defense, and in others it is not. For the Legislature to provide that, with respect to criminal actions brought under Chapter 59, lack of the necessary criminal intent could be shown by proof that the allegedly criminal action was authorized by some other statutory provision is not, in our opinion, unreasonable. A general law so providing might provide a defense against a criminal action in another field, in which criminal intent is not a defense and in which the Legislature did not intend it to be a defense. Therefore, a general law would not be appropriate. We therefore feel that the classification involved in L.B. 524, in the respect you inquire about, could be defended.

Very truly yours,

Clerk of the Legislature

Opinion No. 84
April 29, 1977

Dear Senator Kremer:

You have asked several questions pertaining to the constitutionality of section 3 of LB 217. You specifically inquire about the provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of section 3 which provide:

> "(2) Within ninety days after the effective date of this act, each natural resources district shall adopt, following public hearing, notice of which shall be given in the manner provided in section 46-658, rules and regulations necessary to control or prohibit surface runoff of water derived from surface water irrigation. Such rules and regulations shall prescribe (a) standards and criteria delineating what constitutes the inefficient or improper runoff of surface water used in irrigation, (b) procedures to prevent, control, and abate such runoff, (c) measures for the construction, modification, extension or operation of remedial measures to prevent, control, or abate runoff of surface water used in irrigation, and (d) procedures for the enforcement of this section.
> "(3) Each district may issue cease and desist orders to enforce any of the provisions of this section or rules and regulations issued pursuant to this section. Any such order may be issued against an individual, partnership, association, corporation, company, cooperative, irrigation district, or irrigation company."

I.

You first ask whether subsection (2) constitutes an unlawful delegation of power to a natural resources district (hereinafter NRD). Subsection (1) of section 3 provides that anyone using surface water for irrigation shall control or prevent the runoff of water so used for the purpose of conserving water supplies and preventing inefficient or improper runoff. Subsection (4) provides that the regulations adopted pursuant to subsection (2) "shall recognize the necessity of properly managed return flows." The task of determining what is inefficient and improper runoff, and the procedures and measures to be taken for implementation and enforcement of the act is delegated to each of the twenty-four NRDs in this state. Since the Legislature has previously vested the NRDs with certain powers, they are governmental subdivisions. (See, e.g., section 2-3225, R.S.Supp., 1976, power to levy a tax; section 46-656, et seq., R.S.Supp., 1976, powers over ground water control areas.) In Peterson v. Cook, 175 Neb. 296, 121 N.W.2d 399 (1963), the court discussed some of the principles applicable to this question:

> " 'It is a well-settled rule, supported with practical unanimity by the authorities, that the general doctrine prohibiting the delegation of legislative authority has no application to the vesting in political subdivisions of powers to govern matters which are local in scope. . . .' "

It is also well settled that the Legislature may delegate to a governmental subdivision the details of implementing a statute. State v. Cutright, 193 Neb. 303, 226 N.W.2d 771 (1975).

The boundaries of the NRDs are determined according to hydrologic patterns and generally encompass areas with related resource problems. See, section 2-3203, R.R.S. 1943. Due to the differences in terrains, porosity of soils, hydrologic patterns and other conditions occurring in the various NRDs, it is logical to assume that different procedures and measures may be necessary to control runoff in each NRD. What may be inefficient or improper runoff in one NRD may not be so in another. Obviously, it would virtually be a physical impossibility for the Legislature to visit each district and make the technical determinations necessary under subsection (2). These determinations are local in scope.

Thus, we believe that the Legislature may properly delegate the responsibility for making and enforcing these determinations to the NRDs.

II.

You next ask whether subsection (2) of section 3 creates vague and uncertain standards which would deprive a person of property without due process of law in contravention of Article I, Section 3, of the Constitution of Nebraska. As noted above, the Legislature may properly delegate the implementation of section 3 to the NRDs. We believe that the same factors permitting delegation as discussed above also require broad and flexible standards to guide the NRDs in their implementation. The necessity of providing standards flexible enough to insure the effective application of legislative policy to changing circumstances and different situations requires the use of such words as "inefficient" and "improper." See, 1 Davis, Administrative Law Treatise, Section 2.07 through Section 2.13 (1958) and Supplement (1970).

The standard used by the courts in determining whether legislation is vague and uncertain is set forth in Bridgeford v. U-Haul Company, 195 Neb. 308, 238 N.W. 2d 443 (1976), wherein the court ruled that a statute is not vague unless men of normal intelligence would necessarily have to guess at its meaning or would usually differ as to its application. In Nieman v. Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, 191 Neb. 672, 217 N.W. 2d 166 (1974), the court expounded upon this proposition:

> ". . . It is a general rule that a statute must be reasonably clear and definite to be valid. . . . But a statute which is otherwise valid will not be held void or unintelligible and meaningless unless it is so imperfect and deficient in its terms as to render it impossible of execution and enforcement. If the intent and purpose of the Legislature can be ascertained and the statute is susceptible to a reasonable construction which will support and give it effect, the statute will be held valid." Id. at 675.

We believe that the words "inefficient" and "improper" and the other terms employed in subsection (2) are terms of common understanding and clearly men of normal intelligence would not have to guess at their meanings. The interest and purpose of section 3 certainly is clear and we cannot say that the terms employed are so unintelligible and meaningless as to render them incapable of execution and enforcement. Thus, we believe that the standards contained in subsection (2) are not impermissibly vague and uncertain under Article I, Section 3, of the Constitution.

III.

You next inquire whether subsection (3) has the effect of impairing the obligation of contracts contrary to Article I, Section 16, of the Constitution of Nebraska. You note that many surface water irrigators have contracted with irrigation districts whereby the district agrees to deliver water to the irrigator for a fee. You are concerned that subsection (3) would allow the NRD to issue a cease and desist order prohibiting the delivery of irrigation water to any consumer who failed to prevent or control runoff pursuant to NRD rules and regulations.

Article I, Section 16, provides that no law impairing the obligation of contracts shall be passed. Article XV, Section 4, of the Constitution declares the necessity of water for irrigation purposes in this state to be a natural want. Article XV, Section 5, of the Constitution dedicates the water of every natural stream within the state to the people of the state. In State ex rel. Cary v. Cochran, 138 Neb. 163, 292 N.W. 239 (1940), the court stated:

> "That the state in the exercise of its police power may supervise and control the appropriation, diversion and distribution of the public waters of the state, and impose that duty upon administrative officers, is well settled. . . ." Id. at 168.

This duty has been imposed largely upon the Department of Water Resources by Chapter 46, art. 2, of the Revised Statutes of Nebraska. Our court has long adhered to the rule that it is the duty of the state to prevent the waste of waters available for irrigation purposes and to secure the greatest benefit possible from available irrigation waters. State ex rel. Cary v. Cochran, supra; State v. Birdwood Irrigation District, 154 Neb. 52, 46 N.W.2d 884 (1951). Thus, there is little doubt that the stated purpose of section 3 of LB 217 is a proper subject for an exercise of legislative police powers.

It is generally held that contractual rights must yield to the public welfare where the latter is appropriately declared and defined by a valid legislative enactment under the state's police power. Placek v. Edstrom, 151, Neb. 225, 37 N.W.2d 203, cert. denied, 338 U.S. 892 (1949). Our court has previously recognized the supremacy of the public welfare in the use of surface waters for irrigation purposes. In McCook Irrigation & Water Power Company v. Burtless, 98 Neb. 141, 152 N.W. 334 (1915), the irrigation company had contracted to provide its consumers with water at the rate of one dollar an acre a year. The company sought and was granted the authority to increase the rate to two dollars per year from the State Railway Commission. The consumers brought an action claiming that the commission's action impaired the obligation of their contracts and that the one dollar rate fixed in the contract was a property right with which the state, in the exercise of its regulatory power, could not interfere. The court, recognizing the paramount public interest in the regulation of the use of surface water for irrigation purposes, rejected the consumers' argument, stating:

> ". . . [A]ny contracts entered into between the irrigation company and consumers under the ditch, with reference to the annual rates which should be charged for the use of water, were entered into with the law forming a part of the contract, and were subject to legislative control. . . ." (Emphasis added.) Id. at 145.

Likewise in State v. Birdwood Irrigation District, supra, the Department of Roads & Irrigation canceled part of the district's appropriation for non-use under statutory authority which had been enacted subsequent to the acquisition of the district's water right. The court, again recognizing the overriding interests in the state administration of public waters, held that the statutory provisions were applicable and ruled:

> "... The adjudication of the water right gave to the Birdwood Irrigation District and its predecessors in interest a vested right to the use of the waters appropriated, subject to the law at the time the vested interest was acquired and such reasonable regulations subsequently adopted by virtue of the police power of the state. Enterprise Irrigation District v. Willis, 135 Neb. 827, 284 N.W. 326; State ex rel. Cary v. Cochran, 138 Neb. 163, 292 N.W. 239." (Emphasis added.) 154 Neb. at 55.

Thus, it appears that any contract entered into between an irrigation district and an irrigator is subject to reasonable regulation under the state's police power. Control of runoff appears, on its face, to be a reasonable means of conserving water which is a legitimate subject of state regulation. (Whether controlling runoff of surface water does, in fact, conserve water or promote any other public benefit is a question of fact with which we are not herein presented.)

You note that section 46-160, R.R.S. 1943, makes any irrigation district liable in damages for negligence in failing to deliver irrigation water. As a general principle, performance of a contract is excused where performance is rendered impossible by law as long as the promisor is not at fault. Columbus River Power & Light Company v. Columbus, 249 U.S. 339 (1919). A district could certainly not be considered negligent for failure to deliver irrigation water under section 46-160 if an NRD ordered the district to refrain from delivering water to an irrigator until the irrigator complied with runoff control regulations.

IV.

Lastly, you question whether section 3 violates the due process clause of the Constitution because it does not provide for a hearing of any kind prior to the issuance of a cease and desist order under subsection (3).

Section 3 of LB 217 pertains to the control of runoff from surface water irrigation and amends no existing statute. Section 3 does not provide for a hearing before or after the issuance of a cease and desist order nor does it provide a procedure for judicial review of such an order. Although the NRDs may choose to provide for prior hearings in their rules and regulations, the law does not require it.

Certainly an appropriator of surface water who has complied with the statutory requirements holds a vested property right in the use of that water. Enterprise Irrigation District v. Willis, 135 Neb. 827, 284 N.W. 326 (1939). Although an NRD would presumably have other alternatives besides depriving the noncomplying irrigator of water, any order which could prevent an irrigator from receiving life sustaining water could obviously deprive him of his livelihood. The concept of procedural due process generally affords to every person the constitutional right to notice and hearing sometime before a final taking of his life, liberty or property. Stauffer v. Weedlun, 188 Neb. 105, 195 N.W.2d 218, appeal dismissed, 409 U.S. 972 (1972). The question of exactly when a hearing is required, if at all, is a balancing process. In Stauffer v. Weedlun, supra, a motor vehicle license revocation case, the court discussed this question at length:

> "... The extent to which procedural due process must be afforded the recipient is influenced by the extent to which he may be condemned to suffer grievous loss, ... and depends upon whether the recipient's interest in avoiding that loss outweighs the governmental interest in summary adjudication. ...[C]onsideration of what procedures due process may require under any given set of circumstances must begin with a determination of the precise nature of the government function involved as well as of the private interest that has been affected by governmental action. ...It is true, of course, that some governmental benefits may be administratively terminated without affording the recipient a pre-termination evidentiary hearing. ... [The United States Supreme Court] has long recognized that the requirements of due process may vary according to the nature of the interest to be protected and the likelihood of harm to the individual. ... The due process of law provisions do not prevent an administrative agency in every case from issuing an order affecting the private rights of an individual without formal notice and hearing before such order. The due process requirements may under some circumstances be satisfied if full hearing in the courts is available after the administrative order with judicial power to stay irreparable injury pending court hearing. ..." Id. at 112-113.

The court in Stauffer ruled that the statutory procedures for judicial review entailing a full evidentiary hearing after the administrative order revoking the driver's license would satisfy due process requirements since the admiistrative action was ministerial only. The court distinguished cases involving administrative exercises of discretion, stating that such actions may require notice and hearing to protect the individual against mistake.

As noted above, the NRDs are given broad discretion under section 3. Section 3 vests the NRDs with legislative, executive, administrative, and quasi-judicial powers. Since Section 3 lacks any procedures for notice and hearing, either before or after the order, it appears to be constitutionally deficient.

Friday, May 6, 1977

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:02 a.m., President Whelan presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

> Eternal Father of our souls, grant to the members and officers of this Legislature a sacred moment of quiet before we take up the duties of the day. Turn our thoughts to Thee, and open our hearts to Thy spirit that we have have wisdom in our decisions, understanding in our thinking, love in our attitudes, and mercy in our judgment. Let us not think, when this prayer is said, that our dependence upon Thee is over, and forget Thy counsels for the rest of the day. Rather from these moments of hard searching may there come such a sweetness of disposition that all may know that thou art in this place. From this holy interlude may there flow light and joy and power that will remain with us until night shall bring thy whispered benediction, "Well done good and faithful servant." So help us all this day, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

We believe that it would be appropriate for representatives of both sides to appear before such members of the Legislature as you deem appropriate for the purpose of answering any questions which might exist with regard to the agreement. We would appreciate your advising us as to the time and place for such meeting.

We enclose, for your initial examination, two copies of the agreement and we will be glad to provide you with such additional copies as you require.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 6, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning LB 110 with my signature but with a specific line-item exception.

Section 4 of LB 110 reappropriates for the fiscal period 1977-78 forty thousand dollars to the University of Nebraska out of the current year's appropriation. Funds to carry out the bill's pesticide education activities, however, are already included at the level of the University request both in my budget bill for 1977-78 and in LB 533, the Appropriations Committee's budget bill. It is, therefore, unnecessary to include any reappropriation language in LB 110.

Attached is a letter from the University which indicates that the reappropriation in LB 110 is not necessary.

Yours truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

Dear Jon:

Pursuant to our phone conversation yesterday on the funding for Pesticide Training in LB 110, I thought I would follow up in writing on our understanding of the issue.

The $50,000 allocation that the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources received last year in LB 332 was incorporated in the base budget request for 1977-78. This amount is in LB 533 as it stands now and thus the Institute, in line with the request for 1976-77, would not need any additional funds in LB 110.

If you have further questions, please contact me.

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Monday, May 9, 1977

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:04 a.m., Speaker Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The Prayer was offered by Dr. Robert B. Ohman, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

> Holy Father, teach us to number our days. Time is short, and no one of us knows how little time he has left. May we be found using wisely our time, our talents, and our strength. Save these representatives, chosen by the people, from the tyranny of the nonessential, from the tiring round of activities that saps strength, frays, nerves, shortens life, and adds nothing to their usefulness to You or to this state. Help them to give themselves to the important, and to recognize the trivial when they see it. Give them the courage to say "no" to everything that makes it more difficult to say "yes" to You. Through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Mr. Kelly who was excused; Messrs. Boughn, Koch, F. Lewis, Swigart, Venditte, Burrows, Brennan, and Mrs. Labedz who were excused until they arrive; Mr. Murphy who was absent until 9:30 a.m.; and Mr. Newell who was absent until 11:00 a.m. and Mr. George absent until 9:45 a.m.

RESOLUTIONS

Introduced by R. Lewis, 38th District; Schmit, 23rd District; Rasmussen, 41st District; Kremer, 34th District; DeCamp, 40th District.

WHEREAS, a number of public entities in Nebraska possess the power of eminent domain, the power to take private property for public purposes; and

WHEREAS, those against whom condemnation proceedings are instituted should be treated with fairness and equity; and

WHEREAS, to insure this basic standard of fairness and equity the entity instituting condemnation proceedings should be required, when filing, to set forth with particularity the extent and purposes of the public use for which title or easement is sought; and

WHEREAS, the condemnor should be denied excess taking, that is, should take no greater title or easement than is absolutely necessary for the accomplishment of the public purpose sought; and

WHEREAS, when excess property has been taken in eminent domain proceedings beyond the public purpose needs, and such excess is to be disposed of to other than another public entity, the original owner should have the first right of purchase; and

WHEREAS, whenever facilities and structures are built on lands taken in eminent domain proceedings the condemnee should have the right to use such facilities or structures if such use would not endanger the public purpose for which the proceedings were instituted.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a special committee composed of Senators Dennis Rasmussen, Loran Schmit, Maurice Kremer, John DeCamp, and Richard Lewis, chairmen of the following standing committees; (a) Government, Military and Veterans Affairs, (b) Agriculture and Environment, (c) Public Works, (d) Banking, Commerce, and Insurance, and (e) Public Health and Welfare, conduct an interim study of the eminent domain statutes and procedures in Nebraska.

2. That such special committee consider the specific issues set forth in this Resolution as well as any other issues relevant to the power of eminent domain.

3. That the special committee report its findings, together with any recommendations, to the next regular session of the Legislature.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 84.

Introduced by Savage, 10th District.

WHEREAS, Congress has passed the Metric Conversion Act of 1976 (P.L. 94-168), which declares a national policy for coordinating the increasing use of the metric system in the United States and establishes a United States Metric Board to coordinate the voluntary conversion to the metric system; and

WHEREAS, the confirmation of the United States Metric Board nominees by the Senate will take place upon submission by President Carter; and

WHEREAS, a vast majority of the world's population and much of the world's production and trade currently employ the metric system; and

WHEREAS, Canada, in particular, is now completing a very successful four-phase metric conversion plan with metrication to occur by 1980; and

WHEREAS, the education agencies of all fifty states have made some commitment, formal or informal, to commence with the implementation of the modern metric system of measure.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature begin the orderly transition from the customary units of measurement to the modern metric system of measurement through the establishment of a state metric plan.

2. That the Legislature in conjunction with state government consider the advantages of establishing a State Metric Board consisting of representatives of agriculture, business, education, government, industry, and labor, to coordinate the implementation of the metric system of measurement and to evaluate the progress of metrication and recommend changes necessitated by national plans for metrication.

3. That the Legislature (a) call upon the various agencies of state government capable of assisting the Legislature in its work, (b) encourage executive action to effectuate the formulation of a state metric system, and (c) if necessary secure passage of necessary legislation.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 87
April 28, 1977

Dear Senator Brennan:

You requested an opinion concerning the constitutionality of Section 325 of L.B. 38 now pending in the Nebraska Legislature. Section 325 is a recodification of Sections 28-814.01 and 28-814.02, R.R.S. 1943, and virtually identical to said sections. It defines "mass picketing" as:

> " . . . picketing in which there are more than two pickets at any one time within either fifty feet of any entrance to the premises being picketed or within fifty feet of any other picket or pickets, or in which pickets constitute an obstacle to the free ingress and egress to and from the premises being picketed or any other premises, or upon the public roads, streets, or highways, either by obstructing by their persons or by the placing of vehicles or other physical obstructions."

It makes mass picketing a crime punishable as a Class II misdemeanor and requires pickets acting lawfully to display on their persons a sign with at least two and one-half inch upper case letters showing the name of the organization represented.

L.B. 415, 1949 Legislature, which included the present law, was analyzed in detail by this office in an opinion dated February 18, 1950. A copy of that opinion is enclosed for your reference. We have reviewed the matter again and believe the opinions expressed are still generally correct as to mass picketing. We have some concerns, however, about the "numbers and distance" formula for determining the existence of mass picketing and will further discuss that matter.

As indicated in our 1950 opinion, the dissemination of information concerning the facts of a labor dispute, by means of peaceful picketing, is within the area of free expression that is guaranteed by the First Amendment to the United States Constitution. That right is not absolute, however, since picketing has been held to be more than speech. Governmental restriction on the expression involved in picketing can be justified where required in order to advance some overriding state law or policy or where the picketing poses a clear and present danger of violence in the community. Local Plumbers Union No. 10 v. Graham, 345 U.S. 192 (1953); Youngdahl v. Rainfair, 355 U.S. 131 (1957).

Our concern is whether the "numbers and distance" formula is a reasonable one which can be justified under the above test. We believe it can be fairly argued that some restriction on numbers can be legislated and that the formula in Section 325 is reasonably related to advancing the state's policies and laws of free access to the picketed premises, prevention of intimidations and threats of violence, and freedom of access to public ways. However, this determination would be one of judgment, and might as well be decided conversely.

We find support for the validity of the formula in a series of cases decided by the Texas Court of Civil Appeals. Geissler v. Coussoulis (Tex. Civ. App.) 424 S.W.2d 709 (1967); Farah Manufacturing Co., Inc. v. Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (Tex. Civ. App.) 483 S.W.2d 271 (1972). Dallas General Drivers v. Central Beverage, Inc. (Tex. Civ. App.) 507 S.W.2d 596 (1974). All three cases involve state court injunctions against mass picketing and other illegal picketing, which injunctions were based, at least in part, on a statute virtually identical to the mass picketing portion of Section 325. Section 1 of Article 5154d, Vernon's Annotated Texas Civil Statutes, provides in part:

"Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person, singly or in concert with others, to engage in picketing or any form of picketing activity that shall constitute mass picketing as herein defined.

" 'Mass picketing,' as that term is used herein, shall mean any form of picketing in which:

"1. There are more than two (2) pickets at any time within either fifty (50) feet of any entrance to the premises being picketed, or within fifty (50) feet of any other picket or pickets."

The Geissler and Farah cases both sustained the injunctions, noting the plaintiff did not seek to enjoin all picketing, only to prevent violence, property damage, threats of violence, mass picketing and other illegal activities. The mass picketing statute provided reasonable means to publicize the facts of the labor disputes. They found no unconstitutional restriction on freedom of expression.

The Dallas Drivers case reversed the judgment of the district court and dissolved the temporary injunction since the injunction was based on nonviolent coercion of nonstricking (sic) employees, arguably prohibited by Section 8(b)(1) of the National Labor Relations Act and preempted by the federal act.

A similar result was reached by the California Court of Appeals for the First District in California Retail Liquor Dealers Association v. United Farm Workers, 57 Cal.App.3d 606, 129 Cal.Rptr. 407 (1976). There the court held that a "numbers and distance" restriction in a state statute did not violate the labor organization's right of free speech.

On the other hand, two federal cases have taken a contrary view. Davis v. Francois, 395 F.2d 730 (5th Cir. 1969); Medrano v. Allee, 347 F.Supp. 605 (D.C.S.D. Tex. 1972). The Davis case involved a picketing ordinance in Port Allen, Louisiana which limited the number of pickets to two without regard to time, place or circumstances.

The Medrano case specifically held the Texas statute previously cited was unconstitutional but that portion of Medrano was vacated by the United States Supreme Court and remanded for further proceedings.

In conclusion we are of the opinion that Section 325 of L.B. 38 can be successfully defended as constitutional with the possible exception of the "numbers and distance" formula. That portion could probably be sustained but is questionable in that it may be overbroad and violative of First Amendment free speech rights.

Respectfully submitted,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 88

Dear Senator Barnett:

You have inquired about the validity of the amendments to LB 131 found on page 1671 of the Legislative Journal. You particularly ask whether it is too vague. We believe the bill, as amended, is quite unclear, and we have serious question as to whether the bill, as amended, actually expresses the intentions of the drafters.

Section 2 of the bill now provides:

> "Each county shall reappraise all lands and improvements in such county on or before January 1, 1978. The Tax Commissioner shall by rule establish standards for such reappraisal. The standards shall be such as to insure the determination of actual value on a consistent basis in accordance with the formula prescribed in section 77-112, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976."

Section 3 of the bill provides for approval of the reappraisals by the Tax Commissioner. Section 4 provides the right of appeal by aggrieved taxpayers. Section 5 provides that counties may enter into reappraisal contracts as provided in Chapter 77, Article 13. Section 6 provides for penalties for counties that do not reappraise by January 1, 1978, and further penalties for those who do not reappraise by 1979, 1980, and subsequent years.

The bill seems to say in quite unambiguous language that all 93 counties in the state shall reappraise all lands and improvements between the effective date of the act, if it passes, and January 1, 1978. We are not sure exactly what type of reappraisal the drafters of the amendment had in mind, but it is manifestly impossible for all counties, or, perhaps, any county, to complete a meaningful reappraisal in that period of time. Reappraisals done by professional appraisal firms have generally taken several years to complete. Furthermore, most counties have had their real estate reappraised pursuant to sections 77-1301.01 to 77-1301.07. Some of these reappraisals have recently been put into effect. This bill would, apparently, require all of these reappraisals to be scrapped, and new ones made before next January.

We cannot believe that this is the real intention of the bill. We assume that the real intention is to force those few counties which have not completed reappraisals pursuant to sections 77-1301.01 to 77-1301.07 to do so, and put them into effect for next year. If that is the intention, it has not been expressed in the bill, as amended.

We do not believe your questions about the imposition of penalties raise any constitutional problems. The bill provides for approval of reappraisals by the Tax Commissioner. A refusal on his part to approve a valid reappraisal would be subject to appeal to the courts. If a county submits a reappraisal which he rejects, and his rejection is sustained by the courts, it would be prefectly proper, as a constitutional matter, for the Legislature to penalize the county, even though it acted in good faith. In the event the court reversed the Tax Commissioner, and accepted the reappraisal, we assume no penalty would be assessed.

Sections 7 and 8 of the bill would limit the amount of budgets of political sbudivisions levying taxes. Similar provisions were contained in a previous version of the bill, which we discussed in an opinion to Senator Koch dated March 22, 1977. Some of the same ambiguities we called attention to are still present in sections 7 and 8 of this version of the bill.

Section 7 provides in part:

> "Every political subdivision authorized to levy a tax shall adjust that portion of its budget for operating and maintenance purposes for the upcoming fiscal year so as not to exceed seven per cent of the previous year's budget funded by ad valorem taxes or the average increase by percentage for the three such preceding budgets, whichever is greater. . . ."

We are confident that this provision does not express the real intention of the drafters of the amendment. It seems to say that the budget (or the part of it for operating and maintenance purposes) shall not exceed seven per cent of the previous year's budget. What was intended, we believe, was that the increase in the budget should not exceed seven per cent. To illustrate what we mean, suppose the previous year's budget was one million dollars. Under section 7, as written, the current year's budget for operating and maintenance purposes could not exceed seventy thousand dollars. This surely cannot be the intention, but it is what is said.

We pointed out in our opinion of February 10, 1977, to Senator DeCamp, that the court might find a budgetary limitation based upon the previous year's budget to be unreasonable classification, since it appears to permanently freeze budgets on the basis of the budget in effect on the effective date of the act, which might have no relationship to budgetary needs in the future, and two identical taxing entities might have different budgetary limitations, based upon what are essentially irrelevant considerations.

Section 8 of the bill is an apparent attempt to permit an escape from the budgetary limiations of section 7, which probably would take care of the constitutional question we just discussed. However, it fails to accomplish its purpose. It provides that if any political subdivision determines that a budget higher than permitted by section 7 is needed, it shall hold a public hearing to receive input from the public regarding the advisability of exceeding the limits prescribed by section 7. Nowhere in section 8, however, do we find authorization to exceed the limitations imposed by section 7, even after the hearing. The section provides for the hearing, but does not provide for any action by the governing body as a result of the hearing. Therefore, the limitations of section 7 would still be applicable, and the hearing prescribed by section 8 would be futile.

In summary, we believe that the amended bill fails in a number of ways to adequately express what is intended, and that, if interpreted literally, would require impossible actions or disastrous results.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 89

Dear Senator Lamb:

You have asked if LB 33 of the Eighty-fifth Legislature, First Session (1977), is constitutional. You state that you are particularly interested in the question as to whether section 10 (1) of LB 33, supra, meets all the tests of constitutionality. You note that said section limits general fund expenditures of school districts and subsection (1) of this section limits increases in salary and salary related items to percentage increases in the Consumer Price Index. In connection therewith you state that Mr. Richard Bahr, U.S. Department of Labor, Division of Consumer Prices and Indices, has informed you that although the criteria used to determine the Consumer Price Index has not been changed since 1973, a number of criteria changes will be made in the fall of 1977.

It is well-settled law that the Legislature may lawfully enact a statute in which it adopts by reference an existing law of regulation of another jurisdiction, including the United States. Hamilton v. Foster, 155 Neb 89, 50 N.W.2d 542 (1951); Lincoln Dairy Co. v. Finigan, 170 Neb. 777, 104 N.W.2d 227 (1960). On the other hand, it is also well-settled law that the Legislature, except as authorized by the Constitution of Nebraska, may not lawfully enact a statute in which it adopts (1) administrative rules of a federal agency to be promulgated in the future or (2) an act of the Congress of the United States to be enacted in the future. Section 1B of Article VIII, Constitution of Nebraska; Smithberger v. Banning, 129 Neb. 651, 262 N.W. 492 (1935).Consequently, the critical problem with section 10(1) of LB 33 of the Eighty-fifth Legislature, First Session (1977), is the possibility that the United States Department of Labor may establish certain criteria to determine the Consumer Price Index different from the criteria which was established to determine this index at the time LB 33, supra, is passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor. If that were to occur a court could find that section 10(1) of this legislative bill had been rendered inoperative. However, such a finding would not necessarily be critical for the reason that school district budgets are fixed in August of each year which would be prior to any change in the criteria to determine the Consumer Price Index, assuming that criteria is changed this fall. Obviously, if that criteria is changed this fall, the second session of the Eighty-fifth Legislature should consider an appropriate amendment to this legislation next year. Even if the criteria to determine the Consumer Price Index is not changed this fall, the Legislature should consider an appropriate amendment to this legislation next year for the reason that the law is unclear as to whether or not the Legislature can presently adopt the numerical value of this index to be determined in the future.

Very truly yours,

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 88.

WHEREAS, an increasing portion of Nebraska community resources are now needed to cope with the legal, emotional and financial problem, for Nebraskans brought about by incidences of spouse assault; and

WHEREAS, our government at all levels should work toward the most fair and reasonable treatment possible of all individuals effected by spouse assault acts.

AMENDMENTS TO LB 131

1. Strike the original bill and all amendments thereto except Koch amendment on page 1864 and insert the following:

"Section 1. The Nebraska Legislature hereby determines that ad valorem taxes are important to the effectiveness of all levels of local government. There are many and varied districts levying ad valorem taxes which overlap assessment districts. The effective administration of ad valorem taxes necessitates equality of assessment in various counties which are the assessment districts. The purpose of this act is to achieve equalization between the several counties while not causing undue fluctuations in valuation and taxes.

Sec. 2. (1) Each county which has not started or implemented a revaluation plan shall revalue or implement the revaluation of all lands and improvements in such county on or before January 1, 1978, and each year thereafter.

(2) Each county assessor shall, on or before July 1, 1977, and each year thereafter on that date, notify the county board of such county in writing of the assessor's plans for determining the county's values for the coming assessment year. Such notification shall contain such information as may be required by rules and regulations of the Tax Commissioner which shall include information regarding the level of values for all classes of taxable property.

Sec. 3. Each county board shall review the statement of the county assessor and shall on or before August 15, 1977, and each year thereafter on that date report to the Tax Commissioner transmitting a copy of the assessor's notification of plans as required by section 2 of this act, the opinion of the county board as to those recommendations, and a report as to the budget of the assessor's office to accomplish the duties of the assessor.

Sec. 4. The Tax Commissioner on or before November 1, 1977, and each year thereafter on or before that date shall cause to be analyzed the report from each county and shall notify each county board and assessor of the opinion of the Tax commissioner as to what must be done for the coming year's valuation for that county to maintain the property level of values.

Sec. 5. The Tax Commissioner shall transmit copies of his actions required by section 4 of this act to each member of the State Board of Equalization and Assessment. Such board shall at its next meeting held pursuant to section 77-505, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, consider such information, along with a report of the Tax Commissioner of the extent of compliance with his suggestions and such other information as may be relevant.

Sec. 6. The Tax Commissioner shall notify the State Treasurer of each county which does not revalue property pursuant to section 2 of this act. If a county does not revalue prior to January 2, 1978, ninety per cent of the money to which such county would be entitled under the Personal Property Tax Relief Fund as provided in section 77-202.30, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1976, shall be distributed to such county and ten per cent shall be forfeited to the state. If a county does not revalue its lands and improvements prior to January 2, 1979, eighty per cent of the money to which such county would be entitled under the Personal Property Tax Relief Fund shall be distributed to the county and twenty per cent of such money shall be forfeited to the state. If a county does not revalue its lands and improvements prior to January 2, 1980, and for each year after such date for which a revaluation has not been completed, fifty per cent of the money to which such county would be entitled under the Personal Property Tax Relief Fund shall be distributed to the county and fifty per cent of such money shall be forfeited to the state.

Sec. 7. Every political subdivision authorized to levy a tax shall adjust its budget for the upcoming fiscal year so as not to exceed an increase of more than seven per cent of the previous year's budget funded by ad valorem taxes or the average increase by percentage for the three such preceding budgets, whichever is greater. When determining the budget to be funded by ad valorem taxes pursuant to this section, every such political subdivision (1) may increase such budget limit otherwise established pursuant to this section by the amount of receipts lost or to be lost from any state sources and (2) shall reduce such budget limitation established pursuant to this section by the amount of increased receipts from state sources.

Sec. 8. (1) If the governing body of any political subdivision authorized to levy a tax determines that a budget funded from ad valorem taxes higher than is permitted by section 7 of this act is needed, it shall, after completing the budget process required by statute, hold a public meeting to receive input from the public regarding the advisability of exceeding the limits prescribed by section 7 of this act. Such public meeting shall be advertised and conducted in the same manner as public hearings required for the adoption of the budget.

(2) The governing body of any political subdivision may adjust its budget in accordance with the information presented to the meeting required by subsection (1) of this section. In making such adjustments, the governing body may exceed the limits prescribed by section 7 of this act.

(3) The hearing and decisions required by this section shall be held during the month of August in the year in which the budget is to be adopted.

Sec. 9. If any section in this act or any part of any section shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions thereof.

Sec. 10. Since an emergency exists, this act shall be in full force and take effect, from and after its passage and approval, according to law.".

2. In the title as amended, strike lines 2 to 7 and insert:

"FOR AN ACT relating to taxation; to require reappraisal of all land and improvements as prescribed; to provide penalties for noncompliance; to limit budget increases except as prescribed; to provide severability; and to declare an emergency.".

Enrollment and Review

Correctly Enrolled

The following bill was correctly enrolled: 522.

PRESIDENT SIGNED

While the Legislature was in session and capable of transacting business, the President signed the following: LB522 and LR 79.

Introduced by Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee: DeCamp, 40th District, Chairman; Schmit, 23rd District; Swigart, 8th District; Labedz, 5th District; Mills, 44th District; Murphy, 17th District.

WHEREAS, in 1945 the McCarran-Ferguson Act, 15 U.S.C. ss. 1011 to 1015, inclusive, was enacted into law; and

WHEREAS, in that Act it is stated, "Congress declares that the continued regulation and taxation by the several states of the business of insurance is in the public interest"; and

WHEREAS, in the course of such regulation, the several states have encouraged and required continued improvements in insurance coverages and the provision of insurance at reasonable rates; and

WHEREAS, the several states have continually reviewed, experimented with, and altered various approaches to regulation in an effort to assure the public of the availability of insurance at the lowest practicable cost; and

WHEREAS, the business of insurance has developed a competitive structure which includes a wide variety of organizations and many small businesses providing policies and services directly to the public; and

WHEREAS, the public has benefited from the competitive structure of the insurance business and from the regulation of the business by the several states; and

WHEREAS, federal regulation has repeatedly been shown not to be a panacea; and

WHEREAS, it is clear that the establishment of federal regulation increases the cost of government and often increases the cost of products and services to the consumer without providing offsetting benefits to the public; and

WHEREAS, federal regulation often adds confusion and delay; and

WHEREAS, there has been no showing that the several states cannot continue to provide effective regulation of the insurance business; and

WHEREAS, there has been no showing that federal regulation of the insurance business, by applying federal antitrust laws and limiting state regulation, will have a salutory effect upon the business or otherwise benefit the public; and

WHEREAS, two or more insurance companies often pool their resources and coordinate their actions under state regulation in order to provide effective insurance coverage of certain risks, to provide reasonable prices and efficient services for the public, and to make available innovative coverages and services; and

WHEREAS, officials of the Federal Government have publicly, although unofficially, recommended amendment of the McCarran-Ferguson Act so as to limit state regulation of the business of insurance.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to reject any proposed legislation to amend the McCarran-Ferguson Act by providing for federal regulation and limiting state regulation of the insurance business.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 97.

Introduced by Bereuter, 24th District.

WHEREAS, our criminal justice system mandates penal detention of convicted offenders; and

WHEREAS, successful attainment of the goals of penal detention can result only when those persons so detained are dealt with in fundamental fairness; and

WHEREAS, an essential element of fairness in a system of detention is certainty about the time when any given sentence has been fully served and the offender then entitled to release; and

WHEREAS, Nebraska law provides a system of indeterminant sentencing for criminal offenses which precludes many convicted offenders from having exact knowledge concerning their date of release from detention; and

WHEREAS, alternatives to indeterminant sentencing, such as determinant sentencing, do exist; and

WHEREAS, adoption of any alternative form of sentencing should be considered only with knowledge of the effects such alternative would have on Nebraska criminal law and procedures.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature's Judiciary Committee perform an interim study and evaluation of Nebraska law and procedures relating to sentencing to determine the workability and feasibility of determinant sentencing as an alternative to the present system.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:03 a.m., Speaker Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

> Eternal God, we confess we so often use our agility to avoid responsibility. Help us with the rush of constant pressures not to follow the lower levels and the easy escapes. Guide us lest we hurt those deeply upon whom we are most dependent. Through chance, or providence, we are here to do strategic work, and are challenged by issues far beyond our limited knowledge. Give to this Legislature humility of spirit, yet tenacity of intellect, that they may rise to new heights because of the mountainous issues before them. May each have a serenity of spirit which keeps them from frustrations, and enables the making of vital decisions in a calm and sane manner. In the name of our Master. Amen.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 12, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

While there has been no hesitation or indecision on my part whatsoever on my intentions on your LB 4 as advanced to final reading, I am pleased to notify your body officially, as requested by your Speaker, that should that bill pass on final reading, it will, I promise you, receive my prompt veto.

I have been aware of the determined move by a majority of the Legislature to scrap the Sunshine Bill, with the help and encouragement of most lobbyists. The vehicle is LB 4.

These efforts are wrong, and I will do anything I can to thwart the movement. Let's let the sun shine in on campaign financing and reporting.

If such an effort is made in the Legislature, I believe there will be sufficient changing of minds under the heat of public opinion and light that even the lobbyists will run for cover and LB 4 can be promptly and properly laid to rest.

If I have not made myself clear in this letter, please let me know, and I will endeavor to make my position clearer, if that be possible.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

Opinion No. 91

Dear Senator Fowler:

This is in response to your inquiry concerning the constitutionality of proposed amendments to section 2 of L.B. 501. These amendments would add three additional classes of individuals to the present class of peace officers who would be authorized to take an individual into custody or cause him to be taken into custody when such authorized persons believed such individual to be a mentally ill dangerous person, and that such person is likely to cause harm to himself or another before mental health board proceedings may be had.

Section 3 also proposes to add these classes to the existing provision which requires that peace officers execute a written certificate alleging that the signer believes that the subject in custody is a mentally ill dangerous person and likely to harm himself or others before the mental health board proceedings may be had. We construe the term "admission" in this section to mean at the time the peace officer takes a person into custody and admits him to a jail as defined in Section 83-1015 of said act, a mental health center or state hospital or other government or private hospital as required by Section 83-1020 of said act and unchanged by section 2 of L.B. 501.

You inquire whether or not the authorization of these private individuals proposed by the amendments to section 2 of L.B. 501, would be an unconstitutional delegation of police power.

At common law, an insane person who was a menace to his own safety or that of others could be confined in a suitable place by any interested person and without legal process. The danger to society as a whole was said to justify emergency action by private citizens. However, the private citizen acted at the risk of being held responsible to the person taken into custody if it should develop that either there was no emergency or that the person was not insane. If no emergency, there was no justification for restraining the person's liberty; if the person was found to be insane, there was said to have been no injury to him but otherwise if found to be sane. Appeal of Sleeper, 87 A.2d 115 (1952), 41 Am.Jur.2d 38.

In Fahgen v. Miller, 328 N.Y.Supp. 2d 393, 278 N.E.2d 615, cert. denied, 409 U.S. 485 (CA N.Y. 1972), the highest court in New York held that a person even though not dangerous could be taken into temporary custody to prevent detrimental acts to society or danger to the person. The Court included as detrimental acts such things as public lewdness, a criminal nuisance, disorderly conduct and sexual abuse. The Court said that due process is not offended if notice and hearing follow confinement so long as the person is given an opportunity within a short time to litigate the question of his mental illness. This statute did not provide for a hearing until five days after a request was made.

Under one section of the New York statute any interested person could have the suspected insane individual placed in temporary custody without any doctor's certificate. Under another section where the person was alleged to be a dangerous person, the certificate of two physicians were required.

A number of cases to the same effect as the two foregoing examples are contained in 92 A.L.R.2d 572. It is especially clear that a mentally ill dangerous person as required under L.B. 501 may be taken into temporary custody by private citizens. However, the warning bears repeating, that such private individual may subject himself to civil liability.

Inasmuch as police power is the authority of the state to encroach upon certain private rights of individuals when the general welfare of society is deemed to be more important and private citizens have always been authorized to take persons into custody in the furtherance of society's superior right, it is our opinion that the proposed amendments authorizing the new classes of persons to take persons into custody under the circumstances described do not violate the Constitution as an invasion of due process or an unauthorized delegation of police power.

Furthermore, said provisions do not, in our opinion, pose any equal protection problem since there is ample justification for creating a classification of persons such as mentally ill dangerous persons who may be treated differently than others not in that class.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Opinion No. 92

Dear Senator Simon:

You have requested our opinion with regard to the requirements for financial disclosure contained in LB 987, Eighty-fourth Legislature, Second Session, 1976. Your question is, "whether the bill requires or even suggests full disclosure of a person's financial net worth. . is full disclosure required, not required or is there some grey area regarding full financial disclosure?" Your purpose is to consider LB 4 this session.

We interpret your question to ask whether an individual is required to file a statement setting forth his assets and liabilities.

Section 49-1496 sets forth in six separate subsections items of information that are to be disclosed. Thus by referring to section 49-1496, R.S.Supp., 1976, we may discern those matters which are required to be disclosed.

Section 49-1496(2) (a) requires the person to identify on the form the name, address and the nature of association with any business in which the individual was associated and any entity in which a position of trustee was held in the year proceding the filing. Subsection (b) requires disclosure of the name, address and nature of business of any person from whom income or gift of more than $1,000.00 was received during the preceding year. In addition it requires the disclosure of the nature of the services rendered. There is an exemption where the individual is an employee, operator or participant in a proprietorship, partnership, professional corporation, business or non-profit corporation or other person. In such case, the requirement is that the name of the entity be listed. Subsection (c) requires disclosure of interests in real property, excluding the personal resident of the candidate, where the fair market value of such property exceeds $1,000.00. This subsection also requires disclosure of all other forms of wealth of a tangible or intangible nature in which a direct financial interest is held. Subsection (d) requires the disclosure of the name and address of each creditor to whom the individual or a member of the immediate family is indebted in excess of $1,000.00. An exclusion, however, applies to the following items:

> ". . . Accounts payable, debts arising out of retail installment transactions or from loans made by financial institutions in the ordinary course of business, loans from a relative, and land contracts that have been properly recorded with the county clerk or the register of deeds need not be included;"

This exclusion operates to exempt the great majority of normal financial transactions. Subsection (e) requires that the name, address and occupation of any person from whom a gift of more than $100 has been received be listed. It also requires a description of the circumstances surrounding such gift. Subsection (f) provides:

"Such other information as the person required to file the statement or the commission deems necessary, after notice and hearing, to carry out the purposes of sections 49-1401 to 49-14,138."

While this discussion is not exhaustive of all possibilities arising under the act, it does indicate the information required to be filed by law.

In setting forth the requirements to report various items of financial interest the standard generally used is that the interest to be reported exceed $1,000.00 in value. In neither the act or this section is it required that the dollar value of an asset or a debt be stated.

The act only requires disclosure of a person's interest in the areas described, generally only where the value exceeds $1,000.00. At this time no action has been taken by the Commission established under LB 987 which would require the disclosure of specific values for such items.

Therefore, in answer to your question we do not find any requirement under the Political Accountability and Disclosure Act, LB 987, Eighty-fourth Legislature, Second Session, 1976, that a net worth statement be filed by a covered person.

Thus the act contemplates the disclosure of an interest in described types of assets but is not designed to require a net worth statement or a statement as to the market value of assets or liabilities.

Sincerely yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 93

Dear Senator Koch:

In your letter to this office as of this date, you state that LB 33 was passed by the Legislature and that LB 33A is being considered. You ask if it is necessary for the Legislature to pass LB 33A for the funding of LB 33. We have reviewed section 7(4) of LB 33. This generally appropriates a sum of money from the General Fund for the 1977-78 fiscal year and another sum for the 1978-79 fiscal year to the State Department of Education, Agency No. 13, for Program 143, to aid in carrying out the provisions of this act. We have reviewed the provisions of LB 33A and except for the breaking down of the allocation into two sections, it appears to be essentially the same as section 7(4) of LB 33. This being true, LB 33A would not be needed.

There is a cautionary note. All these sections referred to do is place the money from the General Fund into a special fund, that special fund being the School Foundation and Equalization Fund. In order to actually distribute the funds, there must be an appropriation of the moneys in the School Foundation and Equalization Fund for the statutory purposes desired. We are advised that this has been done in the Appropriation Committee amendments II to LB 532 as appears by requisition 2622. Your attention is invited to page 13, section 19, of those amendments. Whether or not this will accomplish what you intend, is a matter which you should discuss with your legislative fiscal analyst.

Yours very truly,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Opinion No. 94

Dear Senator Maxey:

You have requested our opinion on the constitutionality of a portion of section 9 of LB 518, Eighty-fifth Legislature, First Session, presently on final reading, specifically subsection (r). Section 9 of LB 518 amends section 77-2704, R.S.Supp., 1976, by adding a section exempting certain property. Subsection (r) of LB 518 provides:

> "All items of tangible personal property purchased from institutionally-operated stores, canteens, and hobby shops by inmates, residents, or clients of such state institutions. Such exemption shall not apply to the employees of state institutions."

The Constitution of Nebraska in Article VIII, section 1 provides in part:

> "The necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such manner as the Legislature may direct. . . ."

We believe that this section is broad enough to allow those exemptions contained presently in section 77-2704 and additionally would not preclude the proposed amendment contained in LB 518 above cited.

We do however wish to make note of the fact that LB 518 is a bill that primarily relates to property taxation and the refunding of property tax lost thorough legislative enactments to subdivisions of government. As such, it is necessary to consider the effect of Article III, section 14 of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska which provides in part:

> ". . . No bill shall contain more than one subject, and the same shall be clearly expressed in the title. . . ."

However, even though this provision must be considered in your determination on this act we would bring to your attention the case of Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.W.2d 322. A case in which the Supreme Court considered the Nebraska Sales and Income Tax Act of 1967 and found that that act did not violate this provision of the Constitution. The attack in that case was that the enacting bill contained provisions for sales tax, use tax, income tax and a franchise tax. The court there heldthat the bill contained but one general subject and that was taxation. It did therefore not violate the Constitutional provision. While a slightly different question is presented here in that we have a bill which deals with the reimbursement of taxes lost by local subdivisions due to property tax exemptions, it does in our opinion fall within the terms of Anderson v. Tiemann, supra, and therefore is not violative of the constitutional provision restricting bills to one subject.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 16, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I hereby return LB 536 without my signature and with my objections. Here is still another measure where the Legislature is attempting to ignore the Constitution. I say again that we must remember that we are all bound by the Constitution, and it is not a document that can be ignored at will.

LB 536 would subject the State Board of Pardons to the Administrative Procedures Act even though the Board of Pardons is a constitutional agency which receives its powers and authority from the Constitution. The Pardon Board's constitutional power cannot be restricted as the Legislature is attempting to so do with LB 536. The attached Attorney General's opinion further explains the constitutional defect of LB 536.

LB 536 was heard in committee on April 29 and passed on final reading May 10, 1977. In other words, the bill was on the floor of the Legislature for seven days. It is understandable why such a constitutional error could be made when so little time was given to the implications of the form of the bill.

As far as the primary intent behind LB 536, the Board of Parole is presently in the process of drafting and adopting rules of operating procedure. This action of the Board of Parole should satisfy the spirit of LB 536.

I urge you to sustain this veto and thereby maintain intact the executive clemancy powers granted the Pardon Board by the Constitution.

Yours very truly,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

May 16, 1977

Honorable J. James Exon
Governor, State of Nebraska
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Governor Exon:

At the request of your office, we have reviewed Legislative Bill 536 to determine whether or not in our opinion that bill is constitutional. For the reasons set out below, it is our opinion that LB 536 could not meet constitutional challenge.

LB 536 was passed by the Legislature on March 10, 1977. This bill provides for the placement of the Board of Parole and the Board of Pardons under the Administrative Procedures Act. Heretofore, the Board of Parole and the Board of Pardons have been specifically exempted from the application of the Administrative Procedures Act by sections 83-199 and 83-1,134, R.R.S. 1943. Section 3 of LB 536 repeals these two above statutory sections. The repeal of these two sections would have the effect of placing the Board of Pardons and the Board of Parole under the provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act.

Section 84-901 (3), the definitional section of the Administrative Procedures Act, defines "contested cases" as proceedings before any agency in which the legal rights, duties, or privileges of specific parties are required by law or constitutional right to be determined after an agency hearing. Section 84-913, which is also a part of the Administrative Procedures Act, requires that in any contested case all parties shall be afforded an opportunity for hearing after reasonable notice. It also provides that opportunites shall be afforded all parties to present evidence and argument with respect to the issues at hand. It further requires that the agency shall prepare an official record which will include testimony and exhibits. Section 84-914 provides in part that any party to a formal hearing before that agency may request that the agency be bound by the rules of evidence applicable in the District Court. Section 84-917 provides that any person aggrieved by a final decision in a contested case is entitled to judicial review. The general upshot of the above statutes taken from the Administrative Procedures Act is that a final decision by the Board of Pardons could be appealed to the District Court. It is for this reason that we find that LB 536 is probably unconstitutional as a violation of the Separation of Powers Doctrine found in Article II, section 1.

Article IV of section 1 of the constitution of Nebraska provides that the executive officers of the state shall be the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer,

Attorney General, and the heads of other executive departments as set forth in the constitution or as may be established by law. Article IV of section 13 creates the Board of Pardons and provides that the Governor, the Attorney General, and the Secretary of State shall constitute that Board. It is quite clear then that the Board of Pardons which was established under Article IV, the executive portion of our Constitution which is comprised of three constitutional executive officers, is surely a constitutional executive board. A pardon granted by the Pardon Board is an executive act of grace which exempts an individual from the punishment the law inflicts for a crime he has committed. See, 67 C.J.S.,Pardons, Section 1. Generally speaking, the pardoning power is to be exercised on the ground that the public welfare will be as well promoted by suspension as by execution of a sentence. There is no right to a pardon on any ground, the granting of a pardon being discretionary and a matter of grace. Section 67 C.J.S., Pardons, Section 6 indicates that, "The exercise of the [pardon] power lies in the absolute and uncontrolled discretion of the officer in whom it is vested." The above discussion concerning the Pardon Board and the granting of pardons demonstrate three important facts. First of all that the Pardon Board is an executive branch of constitutional government. Secondly that no party has a constitutional or statutory right to receive a pardon. Thirdly, and finally, that the granting of a pardon involves matters which are purely within the realm of executive discretion and grace.

With the above facts in mind, it becomes quite clear that the Judicial Department of government may not encroach upon the Executive Department's functions or activities unless there is specific constitutional authorization to do so. In the area of pardons there is no such constitutional authorization. Article II, section 1 of the Constitution of Nebraska provides that the powers of government of this state are divided into three distinct departments, those being the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial, and that no person or collection of persons being in one of these departments shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others except as expressly provided in the Constitution. As mentioned above, there is no express formation or authorization for the judicial branch of government in the State of Nebraska to interfere with or encroach upon the executive branch discretionary rights to grant or not grant pardons. The general rule that in the absence of constitutional authorization the judicial branch of government cannot exercise powers and functions of the executive branch has been applied to the activities of various state executive and administrative officers, boards, and commissions including Boards of Pardons. See, State v. Dreaux, 205 La. 387, 17 So.2d 559, and Pruitt v. Law, 140 S.C. 50, 137 S.E. 216. The Nebraska Supreme Court has said in State ex rel. Beck v. Young, 154 Neb. 588, 48 N.W.2d 677 (1951), that: "The supreme executive power in the state is lodged in the governor. Article IV, section 6, Constitution. Except as limited by a constitution itself the supreme executive power is to be exercised by the governor and, under the division of powers devised by the Constitution, neither the Legislature nor the courts may exercise the powers thus conferred upon the executive branch." It is apparent from this strong and clear judicial language that the courts of this state, in the absence of specific constitutional authorization, may not interfere with the functions and practices of the administrative branch of government. This being the case, it would clearly be a violation of Article II, section 1, the Separation of Powers Doctrine to allow the courts of this state to review the Pardon Board's decision to grant or not to grant a pardon as that decision is the exercise of executive prerogative, entails the use and exercise of executive discretion, is a matter of executive grace, and therefore is not subject to being overruled by either the legislative or the judicial branches of state government.

In a recent Nebraska case, Haller v. State ex rel. State Real Estate Commission, 198 Neb. 437,__N.W.2d__(1977), the Supreme Court of Nebraska said that "In several recent cases we have held that a statute which purports to delegate to the courts de novo review of an exercise of legislative power, in the sense that the court may substitute its own judgment for that of the administrative agency to which the Legislature has appropriately delegated the power, is unconstitutional." If, as the State Supreme Court held in the Haller case, the judiciary may not substitute its judgment for the judgement (sic) of an administrative agency to which the Legislature has delegated certain powers, then surely, the judiciary may not substitute its judgment for that of the executive branch of government in matters which involved the exercise of executive discretion and grace. There could be no plainer nor more obvious violation of Article II, section 1, then to have the judiciary of this state substitute its judgment for that of the Pardons Board. And it is just such an unconstitutional act that LB 536 would authorize the judiciary of this state to undertake.

Inasmusch as LB 536 would authorize the judiciary of this state, in an appeal from the decision of the Pardon Board, to substitute its judgment for that of the Pardon Board, it would be unconstitutional as a violation of the Separation of Powers Doctrine found in Article II, section 1, Constitution of Nebraska.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 17, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am writing to advise you of two changes in my budget recommendation. I am making these changes as a result of the Legislature's actions on LB 522, the supplementary appropriations bill.

Because the Legislature has elected to use excess University cash funds in the 1977-78 budget rather than in the current year's budget as I had suggested, the 1977-78 University combined General Fund plus cash fund budget will exceed my original recommendations by over $1.5 million. I therefore wish to reduce my General Fund recommendation for the University by $1,692,876, and I recommend that this amount be used to make the last payment on the field house. The substitution of cash funds in the amount of $1,692,876 for General Funds in the 1977-78 University budget will result in no net change in my recommendation for the total University operational budget.

Since it is apparent that LB 533 and LB 549 are to be the vehicles of appropriation rather than my own bills, I urge your body to amend these bills accordingly.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

May 17, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning herewith LB 522, with my signature and my specific line item vetoes.

In total, I amreducing your spending authorization by $2,109,531 of General Fund from the Department of Education.

There is appropriated in LB 522 a total of $2,161,781 to the State Department of Education. I have approved the $14,250 for the Education Commission of the States and $38,000 of reappropriation for reimbursement of residential care and programs for the multihandicapped.

Along with these amounts there is appropriated $1,953,249 for reimbursement of 1975-76 special education programs and $156,282 for reimbursement of wards of the court.

I am vetoing these two items for several reasons. I am opposed to any open-ended appropriations which "promise" a local government that whatever it spends, the state taxpayers will reimburse by deficit appropriations. In this case, it is the school districts that have spent more than appropriated. Though the cause is commendable, the tendency to spend more than appropriated, as has been the attitude of some school districts in this area for many years, continues. They come back year after year with the same appeal.

I am also opposed to these appropriations because they will not provide any additional services. The year for which these reimbursements are being made is long since past; state and local taxes have already been raised and services delivered. These appropriated amounts, if passed over my veto, will simply become new revenues to schools for the ensuing year.

Third, I am also opposed to adding new monies to local governments for future years' expenditures when the state has a cash flow problem of its own to meet current year's obligations.

Fourth, I am opposed to the irresponsible recommendation of your Budget Committee in lowering our revenue reserve requirement from 6% to 5% in a time of obvious economic uncertainty, in order to fund these two large items. Any one of these reasons alone is sufficient cause to veto these ill-advised expenditures, and I urge your concurrence to sustain my actions. At the advice of your Budget Committee, you are playing footloose and fancy free with anticipated sources of revenue in the "game" that is being played with restraints in spending as recommended by the Governor.

For the University of Nebraska, I am accepting all of your amendments to my original bill. While my recommendation to spend excess cash funds at the University during the current year (and thus reduce the General Fund) was the obvious most appropriate course of action under the circumstances, your plan to spend the excess cash in 1977-78 accomplishes basically the same purpose of reducing the University cash balance and is not unreasonable. However, because of your combined actions on LB 522 and LB 533, you have increased the 1977-78 University total budget over $1.5 million above my recommendation. I therefore request that you reduce the 1977-78 University General Fund appropriation by a like amount and use the resultant savings to fund the last payment on the field house. This will cause no reduction in the operations budget for the University as I recommended. We are simply directing them to employ their cash funds.

For the Medical Center, I am not vetoing your action on the use of UNMC cash funds during the current year even though it was not a part of my original bill. I am optimistic that this action, coupled with a tighter budget for UNMC in 1977-78, will cause some overdue rearrangement of priorities in medical education.

I hope that you will agree that our combined actions on LB 522 meet our legitimate obligations on all supplemental appropriations for 1976-77. I urge you to sustain the reductions I have made to this bill.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) J. James Exon

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 18, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

In my letter of May 17, 1977, I indicated that I had vetoed $1,953,249 from the special education appropriation in LB 522. I struck this amount in Program 292 of the Department of Education from the General Fund, program total, and agency summary appropriation lines.

There is another paragraph in LB 522, in the language portion of the Program 292 appropriation, which also refers to this amount, and which I did not strike. I wish to advise you that this amount should also have been stricken so that all references to this appropriation are deleted in accordance with my intentions.

The Attorney General has advised that this action is not necessary as the Governor made it clear in his message his intent. However, to eliminate any possible misunderstanding I am clarifying this point.

Sincerely,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 19, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I return herewith LB 33 without my signature and with my objections which are essentially five-fold:

1. This is a tax increase measure. Thirty-one Senators have directed an increase in the statewide sales tax to a new all time high of 3½%; 4½% in Omaha, Lincoln, Bellevue and North Platte. This would cause Nebraskans to pay the highest sales tax rates of any of our neighboring states except South Dakota, which has no state income tax, but a 4% sales tax. These legislators are mandating that Nebraska be No. 1 in the Big Eight states in the sales tax rate.

2. This is still another spending measure. LB 33 is programmed to increase school spending by an additional $60 million by three-year installments of $20 million each year. Considering the present $55 million in state aid, the addition would bring the state contribution in three years to $115 million.

3. The bill carries the false premise that it will provide general statewide reductions in real estate taxes. Thousands of Nebraskans have been misled once again into believing this is "tax relief." The fact is that it is the same old "devil's tax brew" concocted by the Legislature previously. Meanwhile, general real estate tax dollars have continued to climb as they will further if LB 33 is passed over my veto. This is more of legislative "tax relief" that has proven faulty over and over again. Let us note once again that while the Legislature has been providing "relief," real estate taxes have doubled and in some cases tripled in the last ten years. This is the kind of "tax relief" the people don't need or want.

4. The Legislature has ignored once again the attitude of state taxpayers. Only two and one-half years ago, the people rejected a statewide referendum vote on a similar measure passed by the Legislature over the Governor's veto. Why will the Legislature not listen to the people rather than the lobbyists and special interest groups?

5. LB 33 as passed and sent to the Governor is an unworkable monstrosity that would cause chaos in government, education, and certainly among the people. The measure does not even do what its proponents, drafters, and lobbyists propose. It does not make a valid appropriation from the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, and therefore the $20 million could not be paid out to the school districts even if the Legislature overrides this veto. Yet, the State Board of Equalization would be required to raise the sales tax to bring in the $20 million proposed payment that could not be made by the state. The Legislature has indeed impaled itself on its own created horns of a dilemma on this one. Please note attached copies of two Attorney General's Opinions requested by the Governor on LB 33. The last of these two opinions was not received until late in the afternoon on Wednesday, May 18, and was one of the reasons I could not return this measure to the Legislature on Wednesday as requested by some for an immediate override attempt.

Your bill, LB 33, is hereby vetoed and returned in its same impossible form. For all reasons, it should be laid to rest quietly and quickly.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

May 18, 1977

Honorable J. James Exon
Governor of Nebraska
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Governor Exon:

You have requested our opinion on the following question: "If LB 33 becomes law over my veto, does the language in subsection 4 of section 7 authorize any state officer to distribute the $20 million to the various school districts throughout the state pursuant to the formula outlined in LB 33?" In answer to your question we point out that LB 33, section 7, subsection 4 provides:

> "(4) There is hereby appropriated twenty million dollars from the General Fund for the period July 1, 1977, to June 30, 1978 to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, State Department of Education, Agency No. 13 for Program 143, . . . to aid in carrying out the provisions of this act."

The mere fact that a sum of money may be appropriated to a specific fund by an act of the Legislature does not authorize the expenditure of that sum unless there is an act clearly granting the authority to the agency responsible for administering the fund to expend such monies. LB 33 does not contain such authorization. Section 79-1332, R.R.S. 1943, provides:

> "There is hereby established in the state treasury a special fund to be known as the School Foundation and Equalization Fund. Such fund shall consist of such sums as the Legislature may appropriate, and shall be administered by the State Board of Education. Any money in the School Foundation and Equalization Fund available for investment shall be invested by the state investment officer pursuant to the provisions of sections 72-1237 to 72-1259."

We find no authorization for the State Board of Education to expend the $20 million dollar sum referred to in LB 33. We have reviewed this year's budget bill and do not find an appropriation commensurate with that contained in subsection 4 of section 7 of LB 33. In State v. Wallichs, 15 Neb. 609, 20 N.W. 110 (1884), an action was brought to compel the auditor to draw a warrant on the temporary school fund to pay for county bonds purchased by the Board of Educational Lands and Funds. It was claimed that there was an implied appropriation sufficient to pay the charge. At that time an act provided the power to invest the funds of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds. There was however no legislative bill appropriating money for this purpose. The court held that there can be no implied appropriation of money under the Constitution and that there was a failure to make an express appropriation of the temporary school fund for the purposes named in the section. We believe that the situation existing under LB 33 is controlled by State v. Wallichs. It is therefore our opinion that should LB 33 become law absent some further act by the Legislature, there will be no authority to expend the sums set forth in LB 33 granted to any agency or instrumentality of government. Thus, it would appear that while there would be set aside from the General Fund a specified amount, the expenditure of that amount would be blocked because of a failure to designate what authority is to expend those funds.

Sincerely,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Honorable J. James Exon
Governor of Nebraska
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Governor:

You have asked whether, assuming that LB 33 and LB 33A do not authorize any state officer to distribute to the various school districts the twenty million dollars "appropriated" by LB 33A, the State Board of Equalization and Assessment would nevertheless be required to raise tax rates in order to generate revenue to permit the transfer of this sum from the General Fund to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund. We conclude that it would. LB 33A provides:

> "Section 1. There is hereby appropriated twenty million dollars from the General Fund for the period July 1, 1977 to June 30, 1978, to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, State Department of Education, Agency No. 13 for Program 143, to aid in carrying out the provisions of Legislative Bill 33, Eighty-fifth Legislature, First Session, 1977.
> "Sec. 2. There is hereby appropriated forty million dollars from the General Fund for the period July 1, 1978, to June 30, 1979, to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, State Department of Education, Agency No. 13 for Program 143, to aid in carrying out the provisions of Legislative Bill 33, Eighty-fifth Legislature, First Session, 1977."

This bill is substantially a copy of section 7(4) of LB 33. Assuming that neither that section of LB 33 nor LB 33A amounts to a valid appropriation to any state agency, allowing the expenditure of the sums involved, these provisions are, nevertheless, legislative directions for the transfer of such sums from the General Fund to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, from which latter fund they cannot be withdrawn except by appropriation. The General Fund will therefore be depleted in the amount of such sums.

Section 77-2715.01, R.R.S. 1943, prescribes the procedure for the setting of sales and income tax rates. The provisions of that section are too lengthy to set forth herein, but in general they provide that rates shall be set so that the estimated funds available plus estimated receipts from sales, use, income, and franchise taxes will not be less than 3 nor more than 7 percent in excess of appropriations and express obligations. Section 7(5) of LB 33 seems to resolve any doubts about whether the sums mentioned in that section are to be taken into account by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, by saying:

> "(5) This section shall be considered as establishing express obligations of the State of Nebraska for the purposes of setting tax rates as provided in section 77-2715.01."

Even if the Legislature had not stated that these were express obligations, we would reach the same result. Even though the sums could not be spent, they are to be transferred to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, depleting the General Fund to that extent. Section 77-2715.01(1)(d) provides in part:

> ". . .The purpose of this subdivision is to insure that there shall be maintained in the state treasury an adequate General Fund balance, considering cash flow, to meet the appropriations and express obligations as certified as provided in subdivision (a) of this subsection."

Therefore, even if LB 33 and LB 33A did not create express obligations, they nevertheless deplete the General Fund, which would have to be restored to a point where it could meet appropriations and express obligations. The board therefore will, if these bills become law, have to take them into account, even if the money cannot be spent, but remains in the School Foundation and Equalization Fund.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINION

Opinion No. 100
May 20, 1977

Dear Senator Warner:

In your letter of May 20, 1977, you ask whether LB 131, as it stands on final reading, is constitutionally suspect because it contains two subject matters. We conclude that the bill could probably be sustained against constitutional attack on that ground.

The title to the bill provides that it is a bill:

> "FOR AN ACT relating to taxation; to require reappraisal of all land and improvements as prescribed; to provide penalties for noncompliance; to limit budget increases except as prescribed; to provide severability; and to declare an emergency."

Sections 1 to 6 of the bill contain provisions relating to the revaluation of lands and improvements in all counties of the state, and provide penalties for noncompliance. Sections 7 and 8 limit the amount by which the various political subdivisions levying taxes shall adjust their budgets in any one year, and provide for public hearings in the event the governing body of such a subdivision deems it necessary to exceed the limits prescribed. While limitations on budgets of political subdivisions is not a subject dealing directly with taxes, the size of such budgets does, of course, directly affect the mill levies necessary to raise the budgets in question, and is, we believe, properly included in legislation dealing with taxation.

Assuming that both parts of this bill deal with taxation, are they so unrelated as to constitute more than one subject matter, in violation of Article III, Section 14, of the Nebraska Constitution? This section provides in part:

> " . . . No bill shall contain more than one subject, and the same shall be clearly expressed in the title. . . ."

Our court has, from time to time, held that matters in bills have not been covered by the title, but only very rarely, and not for many years, has our court held a bill invalid because it contained more than one subject, if all of the matters contained in the bill were covered in the title. Our court has given a very liberal construction to the provision, holding that the title need only call attention to the subject matter, and need not be a synopsis of the bill. In Beisner v. Cochran, 138 Neb. 445, 293 N.W. 289 (1940), in a syllabus by the court, we find:

> "If an act has but one general object, no matter how broad that object may be, and contains no matter not germane thereto, and the title fairly expresses the subject of the bill, it does not violate section 14, art. III of the Constitution, providing that no bill shall contain more than one subject and the same shall be clearly expressed in the title."

The title to the bill in question states that it deals with taxation. Very broadly, all of the provisions of LB 131 deal with taxation, and are covered by this blanket. Under these circumstances, we do not believe that our court would strike down this bill on that basis.

We must also call your attention to State ex rel. Meyer v. Peters, 188 Neb. 817, 199 N.W.2d 738 (1972). In that case this office attacked a bill on the basis, among others, that it contained more than one subject. The court had this to say with respect to our attack:

> "The Attorney General attacks the constitutionality of the act because it contains more than one subject contrary to the provisions of Article III, section 14, Constitution of Nebraska. The act contains a severability clause. It appears to us that sections 1, 2, and 3, and sections 4 to 11 are not interdependent and none are the inducement of the passage of the other. We reject the constitutional attack based on Article III, section 14."

While we have never been able to understand the reasoning of the court in this respect, it appears to have said that a severability clause will insulate a bill from attack on grounds that it contains more than one subject. If that is the law, it appears to be applicable to LB 131, which also contains a severability clause. We therefore feel that, on the basis of the approach our Supreme Court has taken to this constitutional provision in the past, it would probably hold that this bill does not violate this constitutional provision.

You have written a second letter to us, asking whether we would defend this bill in court, in the event we concluded that it was constitutionally suspect. In view of the fact that we have not reached that conclusion, it will not be necessary to consider the question you ask in your second letter.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

May 23, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I hereby return Legislative Bills Nos. 38, 38A, 39, 40, and 41 without my signature and with my objections. While I appreciate the time and effort spent by the Judiciary Committee and other Senators on these bills, I am nevertheless greatly concerned about the effect of the passage of the Criminal Code on this state's law enforcement system as presented to me.

The many comprehensive changes and revisions in the language of the criminal law made in LB 38 have not been adequately reviewed by this state's legal community. Even the supporters of LB 38 concede that changes should be made before the measure becomes operative on July 1, 1978. LB 38 itself provides for a review committee to study the Criminal Code and recommend the necessary changes needed to correct the defects in these bills.

In my opinion, this review should take place before the bills are enacted into law. This could easily be done by distributing the Final Reading form of the bills for discussion and study by the judges, prosecutors, defense attorneys, and others throughout the state for enactment next session before the scheduled effective date of July 1, 1978.

Without this review and general consensus of Nebraska's legal and lay community, I don't feel these bills should become law. To do so would be to concede that we are passing into law a most important new criminal code that we agree beforehand needs substantive changes. It is better to be cautious now rather than sorry later.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 101

Dear Senator Warner:

You have requested our opinion on the status of an appropriation bill subsequent to the Governor's veto message. The Governor utilized his line item veto to strike a portion of LB 522. The Governor struck $1,953,249 from Program 292 of the Department of Education from the General Fund appropriations. In exercising his line item veto, the Governor stated, "Along with these amounts, there is appropriated $1,953,249 for reimbursement of the 1975-76 special education programs. . . ." You point out in your letter that the Governor did not strike those amounts from that portion of LB 522, which appears on the final reading copy of the bill on page 26, line 26, through page 27, line 1, which provides:

> "There is included in the amount shown $1,953,249 General Funds which shall be expended for the 1975-76 special education program reimbursement."

You ask whether the agency would be required to expend that amount of money for that purpose even though the Governor had reduced the General Fund appropriation by that amount since he did not, in his veto message, strike that amount from the paragraph quoted above.

An additional factor is that on the day following his veto message, which was given May 17, the Governor sent a further communication, dated May 18, 1977, which stated that he should have stricken the amount indicated in the directory portion of LB 522 as well as reducing the General Fund appropriation.

The Constitution, in Article IV, Section 7, provides in part:

> ". . .No appropriations shall be made in excess of the recommendation contained in such budget including any amendment the Governor may make thereto unless by three-fifths vote on the Legislature, and such excess so approved shall be subject to veto by the Governor."

It further provides in Article IV, Section 15, in part:

> "Every bill passed by the Legislature, before it becomes law, shall be presented to the Governor. If he approves he shall sign it, and thereupon it shall become a law, but if he does not approve or reduces any item or items of appropriations, he shall return it with his objections to the Legislature, which shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider the bill. . .The Governor may disapprove or reduce any item or items of appropriation contained in bills passed by the Legislature, and the item or items so disapproved shall be stricken therefrom, and the items reduced shall remain as reduced unless the Legislature has reconsidered the item or items disapproved or reduced and has repassed any such item or items over the objection of the Governor by a three-fifths approval of the members elected."

The effect of these two provisions of the Constitution is to authorize the Governor to reduce legislative appropriations. The language about which you are concerned is clearly specified in the Governor's letter of May 17, 1977, as the sum stricken. As such, that language from page 26, line 26, through page 27, line 1, of the final reading copy of the bill was effectively stricken by the actual language used by the Governor. No specific action is required in striking or deleting sums from the face of a bill. The necessity is to specify the sum disapproved. The veto message made clear the intent of the Governor.

Assuming that the veto is not overridden, the effect will be to strike the authority to expend $1,953,249 for special education reimbursement. Thus, the Governor's veto message is effective to strike all authority under Program 292, LB 522, relating to the reimbursement of special education expenses from State Department of Education funds for the 1975-76 budget year.

Sincerely yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 102
May 24, 1977

Dear Senator Chambers:

You have requested the opinion of this office concerning the procedure used by the Legislature in "gutting" LB 220A and 31 and inserting matter which converts them into new bills. You question whether this procedure is constitutional in view of the fact that only three legislative days remain in this session of the Legislature, and in view of the recent federal district court decision in Nebraskans for Independent Banking, Inc. v. Omaha National Bank, decided on November 30, 1976.

Section 14 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska provides in part as follows:

> ". . . No such vote upon the final passage of any bill shall be taken, however, until five legislative days after its introduction nor until it has been on file for final reading and passage for at least one legislative day. . . ."

Judge Denney's opinion in Nebraskans for Independent Banking, Inc. v. Omaha National Bank held unconstitutional LB 763 of 1976 as having been enacted in contravention of the above-quoted section of the Nebraska Constitution. LB 763 originally related to the providing of the same advantages to building and loan associations as are provided to federal building and loan associations. On March 1, 1976, LB 763 was amended so as to relate to financial institutions and providing for attached auxiliary offices. The bill was then expedited and was adopted on March 4, 1976. Judge Denney made the factual determination that the amendment relating to commercial banking was not germane to the original bill concerning building and loan associations so that the amendment should be treated essentially as a new bill which, under the Constitution, may not be passed until five legislative days after its introduction. For the reason that the required five days was not complied with, Judge Denney held that LB 763, as relating to commerical (sic) banking, was passed in an unconstitutional manner.

Assuming the Legislature would pass the two bills in question this session, we cannot at this time render an opinion concerning the constitutionality of the procedure utilized in passing the two bills in question, because we are not in possession of sufficient facts at this time. However, we can say generally that if the new matter inserted into the two legislative bills was not germane to the matter previously being considered by the Legislature, or if the new matter had not previously been before the Legislature under another LB number for the requisite number of days, the constitutionality of the bills would be difficult to defend. However, if the new matter is germane to the original contents of the bill, or if the new matter had been before the Legislature for the requisite number of days under a different LB number, the constitutionality of the bills could probably be successfully defended.

Attached hereto is a copy of Opinion No. 18 of 1977, which was previously issued by this office upon the same general subject. This may be of some help in answering your question.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 104
May 24, 1977

Dear Senator Maresh:

You write asking if the provisions of LB 220A would apply to local subdivisions of state government, namely counties, cities, and school districts. LB 220A is an act requiring that employers shall pay wages to their employees on a regular basis and provides remedies for nonpayment.

Section 2(1) of the bill defines employer to "mean any individual, partnership, association, joint stock company, trust, corporation, the administrator or executor of the estate of a deceased individual, or the receiver, trustee, or successor thereof, employing any person as an employee, except that employer shall not be construed to include the state." Obviously, the enumerated entities do not include the state nor any of its governmental subdivisions. Had the word "person" been used, then your question might perhaps be a little difficult as section 49-801 defines a person as including bodies politic and corporate which could possibly include governmental subdivisions. However, the state or its governmental subdivisions are not normally, unless the context of the statute is otherwise, included with the specific entities listed. A question, perhaps, could be raised that by the exception which only applies to the state, that we might infer that other local governmental subdivisions would be included. We do not feel that this would be a valid argument. It would appear, rather, that this language was used out of an over abundance of caution as normally when a state or its governmental subdivisions are brought within the terms of an act, it is done rather specifically. See section 48-106 which specifically provides that the Workmen's Compensation Act shall apply to the "State of Nebraska and every governmental agency created by it." Also see section 48-604(4) (a) which brought the state and its instrumentalities under the Employment Security Act.

In view of the foregoing, we conclude that the phase "except that employer shall not be construed to include the state" is mere surplusage as the state or its governmental subdivisions do not fall within the definition of any of the specific entities mentioned.

(a) A list, for the period of July 1, 1976, through July 1, 1977, by date of Commission order, company, and application type, of all telephone rate orders issued affecting a majority of the company's customers, showing:

a. quality of service

b. the Customer Trouble Report Index

c. commission engineer's on-site inspection

2. Which of the orders permitted in the rate base only that proporty (sic) used and useful in rendering services to the public.

1. the rate of return allowed in the Commission order then in effect

2. the actual rate of return

3. the return on equity allowed in the Commission order then in effect

4. the actual return on equity

4. That the Committee shall conduct discussions with the Public Service Commission in order to:

(a) identify the general goals and specific objectives of each of the Commission's regulatory programs; and

(b) draw up statements which shall include, where feasible, quantifiable measures of such goals and objectives for eventual use in evaluating progress made toward their achievement; and

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., President Whelan presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

> Dear Lord, An honest prayer some of us might make this morning is simply, "Thank God its over!" These many weeks have been such a drain on so many of us, taking us away from responsibilities and loved ones elsewhere, and demanding so much of us. The memory of our last working day is still fresh in our minds, and some of us hope there will never be another one like it, even though it was a record day!
> On the other hand, Lord, we are also grateful for these past months and for all the good that has been accomplished. May our decisions be for the benefit of the people of this state. Continue during the interim to give vision, courage, and integrity to each of the Senators. Bless them, their families and loved ones, till we meet again. Be with our Governor and Lieutenant Governor, the various officers and servants of this Legislature. May the people of this state, who often hear only the unusual things which occur in this room, appreciate the ability and dedication of this Legislature. Implant again upon our minds the truth that greatness is found in serving, and success in helpfulness. May this Legislature continue to love you, their God, and serve all the people. In our Lord's name. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 105
May 27, 1977

Dear Senator Koch:

You have requested that we answer certain questions which are relevant to LB 33 recently passed by the Legislature. Your first question is:

> "Does the language of LB 33 require that $20 million dollars be raised by taxation?"

LB 33, subsection 4 of section 7, provides in part:

> "There is hereby appropriated twenty million dollars from the General Fund for the period July 1, 1977, to June 30, 1978, to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund, State Department of Education, Agency No. 13 for Program 143. . . ."

The requirement of this section of LB 33 is that twenty million dollars be transferred from the General Fund to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund. Without going into specific detail as to all of the types of money that flow into the General Fund, it maybe said that the General Fund is raised by taxation.

Section 77-2715.01(1) (d) provides in part:

> ". . . The purpose of this subdivision is to insure that there shall be maintained in the state treasury an adequate General Fund balance, considering cash flow, to meet the appropriations and express obligations as certified as provided in subdivision (a) of this subsection."

Thus, the twenty million dollars provided for in LB 33 must come from the General Fund. The General Fund must be at a level which will insure the state's ability to meet its obligations. To the extent that the provisions of LB 33 deplete the General Fund, the General Fund would have to be restored to a point where it would comply with total appropriations and express obligations. In making a determination on the tax rates, the Board of Equalization and Assessment would of necessity take these matters into consideration.

> "Can the Governor reduce an item of appropriation below his budget recommendation?"

There are two provisions of the Constitution which relate to the Governor's reduction of an item of appropriation. Article IV, Section 7, provides in part:

> "... No appropriations shall be made in excess of the recommendation contained in such budget including any amendment the Governor may make thereto unless by three-fifths vote of the Legislature, and such excess so approved shall be subject to veto by the Governor."

This language is a limitation on the authority of the Legislature to enact appropriations bills above the sums recommended by the Governor in his budget message sent to the Legislature as required by Article VII, Section 4, of the Constitution.

Article IV, Section 15, of the Constitution provides in part:

> "Every bill passed by the Legislature, before it becomes a law, shall be presented to the Governor. If he approves he shall sign it, and thereupon it shall become law, but if he does not approve or reduces any item or items of appropriations, he shall return it with his objections to the Legislature, which shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider the bill with objections as a whole, or proceed to reconsider individually the item or items disapproved or reduced. . . ."

Article IV, Section 15, contains no limitation upon the authority of the Governor to reduce items of appropriation. As the language of the two provisions of the Constitution are complementary and not at odds, we may generally say that Article IV, Section 7, is a limitation on the authority of the Legislature to appropriate and Article IV, Section 15, is a grant of authority to the Governor to reduce item or items of appropriation.

Thus, in answering your question, it is our opinion that the Governor may utilize his line item veto to reduce items of appropriation to an amount less than that he recommended in his budget.

Very truly yours,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

May 31, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning herewith LB 531, with my signature but with my specific line-item veto.

The increase of two probation officers and two clerks for the Probation System does not reflect an increase in probation services, but merely provides for the supplanting of local funds with State General Fund monies. This increase in appropriation reflects a piecemeal approach of having the State further assume liabilities created by local units of government.

Because I do not see any increase in services emanating from the increased General Fund, I am vetoing $33,300 for the two probation officers and two clerks from the District Courts appropriation for fiscal year 1977-78.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning herewith LB 539, with my signature but with my specific objections.

I have eliminated the earmarking of funds for the Department of Corrections' Correctional Improvement Program without, however, reducing the total amount of funds appropriated to the program.

The Department, in conjunction with the program evaluation teams, should have an opportunity to evaluate all of the program areas specified in LB 539 and allocate resources according to these evaluations. Earmarking before these evaluations can take place is premature, inappropriate, and will place a straightjacket on effective administration.

It should be noted that the total appropriation is not being reduced, only the earmarks are being eliminated.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning herewith LB 540A, without my signature and with my objections.

This bill would appropriate $30,000 from the General Fund for the costs of administering teacher certification and professional practices programs. Such functions, I believe, are the proper responsibility of the teaching profession and not the state taxpayers. Other professions pay their own way for similar services, and teachers should do likewise. To fund such a program from the General Fund would set a poor precedent.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning herewith LB 546 with my signature, but with my specific line-item vetoes because the appropriation is not needed next year.

In total, I am reducing General Fund obligations for the present year by $2,700,000 which constitutes medium-minimum construction monies which cannot be spent in the 1977-78 fiscal year.

Because of energy and population consideration, the Lancaster County medium-minimum project has not progressed to the point of requiring all the funds appropriated for fiscal year 1978. In view of the demands on state resources, I am proposing that this $2,700,000 from the State Building Fund be removed from the 1976-77 fiscal period and restored in the 1978-79 fiscal period. My recommendation for fiscal year 1979 will include this item.

I urge your sustaining my veto as outlined.

Sincerely,
(Signed) J. James Exon

May 31, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I return herewith LB 549 with my signature, but with the following line-item vetoes.

Department of Corrections--While penal reform has always been a top priority of this administration, your action on the Maximum Security facility necessitates my veto of $1,693,539 ($500,000 for next fiscal year and $1,193,539 for the second year) contained in Section 34 of LB 549. Your decisions have relegated our penal construction plans to the point that it is unworkable as a plan, would create more problems than it solves and cannot be accepted by the Penal Complex officials. Your decision to partially fund only one component of the total renovation project emasculates the concept of a master plan for capital construction. Furthermore, your decision will inevitably result in a random placement of buildings within the Maximum Security facility and destroy program continuity while not providing the relief from overcrowding that is so necessary.

Therefore, I am directing the Department of Corrections to continue with their planning of a Maximum Security facility that will adequately meet the needs of both present and future populations. At the same time, the Department will actively proceed with developing alternative programs to alleviate the current overcrowding problems and continue with the penal reform program initiated jointly by your body and the Governor several years ago. You have broken that commitment and, therefore, we are required to start all over on an acceptable funding program next year. I reject a penal program based on a piecemeal approach. It won't work.

University of Nebraska at Omaha--Nebraska will soon receive $3.2 million of new Public Works funds which will be available for new construction projects. In view of this new source of funds, I am revising my recommendation for the Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Building at UNO. I am recommending that the HPER building be funded for a total project cost of $6,900,000, including planning funds, construction costs and equipment, to be comprised of $3,200,000 of Public Works funds for fiscal year 1977-78, $2,500,000 of Revenue Sharing funds and $300,000 of Capital Construction funds for fiscal year 1978-79, and $674,000 Capital Construction funds for fiscal year 1979-80. If you accept my recommendation, I will direct the expenditures of the Public Works money to the HPER building as soon as the funds become available, on approximately Septemeber 1, 1977. This represents a net savings of approximately $400,000 on total projects costs.

University of Nebraska--I have also line-item vetoed four capital construction projects at the University. The largest reduction is in Program 913, campus utilities. I have reduced the 1977-78 appropriation by $723,275 from the State Building Fund. This leaves $672,725 available to make utility improvements which are necessary for the upcoming year in order to provide services to newly constructed buildings and for energy savings. I have reduced only those items which are not essential for the upcoming fiscal year. My recommendations leave untouched all appropriations for fire safety improvements.

The other three reductions consist of miscellaneous renovations, from $250,000 to $150,000, program statement funds of $25,000 for an architectural complex, and program statement funds of $15,000 for a theater arts facility.

Nebraska State Historical Society--I have eliminated the $160,000 appropriation for the planning of the Nebraska State Historical Society's Heritage Center. In view of your apparent interest in establishing a joint committee to identify a systematic procedure for the acquisition of property in the capitol environs, it seems most logical to postpone this proposed planning expenditure. The joint committee's recommendations could be made early in the next legislative session, taking the proposed Heritage Center into consideration. This postponement should avoid any unnecessary expenditure of the taxpayers' dollars for planning purposes without the benefit of the joint committee's recommendations.

I urge your sustaining of the above-listed vetoes.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning herewith LB 550, with my signature but with my specific line-item vetoes.

In total, my reductions in this bill are $587,200 consisting of the following:

Program 126 - Legislative Research Services--I have reduced the appropriation by $31,000 which had been designated to improve the public image of the Legislature. Inasmuch as this was not a program designed in my original recommendation, I do not feel we are in a financial climate to justify this type of expenditure.

Program 501 - Committee on Intergovernmental Cooperation--I have reduced the appropriation by $30,000 from the money budgeted for travel to a level of $75,000 which is a more reasonable level of appropriation for legislative travel.

Program 638 - Fiscal and Program Analysis--I have reduced the appropriation by $26,200 to $382,461 which was my original recommendation. This still leaves $130,000 more than the appropriation for the DAS budget staff, and I believe this to be a reasonable figure which is generous by any measurement.

Program 901 - Reappropriation of approximately $500,000 from Program 121. I am reducing this appropriation to maintain budget and program control of capitol renovation with the Building Division within the Department of Administrative Services. This is an old and historic building, and it is best that one agency coordinate all planning and renovation.

I urge your sustaining my vetoes as outlined.

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

Your body has passed LB 52 by an overwhelming vote of 43-0, and it is therefore clear that the Legislature strongly favors this measure.

I too have been and remain a supporter of the Gasohol concept, especially in these times of energy shortages and low prices for grains. It is hoped that the concept can be helpful in partially rectifying these two problems.

There have been questions raised by responsible individuals and some farm organizations about the economic feasibility of the project, and there also remains an unanswered question as to how many millions of dollars in state and Federal subsidies might be required to make the concept workable.

There is also the concern as to whether or not the employment of ethanol, derived from grain as a gasoline extender, can be successful in the long term without depressed and distressed grain prices, a condition we want to avoid.

We certainly need, as I have suggested previously, a thorough and independent marketing feasibility study on Nebraska's efforts in addition to the work in this area thus far conducted here.

Therefore, this is to advise your body that I have allowed LB 52 to become law without my signature so that I will be in a better position to continue my efforts for more concrete and independent information on this subject that is important to our further efforts.

June 1, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am writing in regard to LB 532, the mainline appropriation bill, which is currently before you awaiting your action.

Many legislative games have been played with the bill during the past week, and I have become aware of further possible parliamentary maneuvering for today. There may be plans to attempt to return LB 532 to Select File today to separate out the $20 million appropriated therein to cover the costs of LB 33. If this happens, you could not possibly complete your work today. Such action, of course, would force the Legislature to gather 40 votes to extend the session or, failing that, you would be forcing the Governor to call the Legislature back into special session in order to pass the appropriations contained in LB 532. This possible contemplated action can only be planned in order to provide the Legislature with still another opportunity to override my promised veto of this additional $20 million. You have had five months to pass this legislation without success. I think it is a little unfair to maneuver for even more time to accomplish those ends.

The proponents of LB 33 have made several questionable maneuvers in their desperate attempt to mandate a raise in the state sales tax. They shut off debate on the motion to override the Governor's veto of LB 33 so that the opponents of LB 33 would not have an opportunity to debate. They attempted to maneuver LB 33 and its appropriation in such a manner to prevent the people of this state from exercising their legitimate constitutional right to a referendum. Now, they are considering an attempt to force the Legislature into extending the session.

The time for playing games is over. There is no reason for the Legislature to extend the current session, nor to have me call them into special session in order to override any veto of any bill, including LB 532, presently awaiting your action. By this letter I am informing your body that I will return today, the final 90th day of the Legislative session, any bill which your body passes within two hours of its delivery to me. This will allow the Legislature the opportunity to exercise its override prerogatives on every piece of legislation before it. I urge you to complete action today on LB 532 and the other bills before you, and I will return any bills to which I disagree within the timetable indicated above.

I make this offer in good faith in an attempt to end the game playing and conclude the session within the constitutional 90-day period.

If my line-item veto of the $20 million is sustained, it is our interpretation of LB 33 that the $55 million appropriated to the School Foundation and Equalization Fund will be distributed in the following manner:

First, monies would be allocated to each school district to assure that each would receive at least the same funds on a per pupil ADM basis as they received in fiscal year 1976-77 from the School Foundation and Equalization Fund. Any monies remaining in the Fund after the above calculation would then be distributed pursuant to the formula contained in LB 33 (50% to Foundation and 50% to Equalization). We have discussed this matter with the Attorney General, and he has told us that the above is a valid interpretation of LB 33. I provide this analysis for your further information.

If you pass LB 532 as before you, I will veto the $20 million in state aid and thereby eliminate the need to raise the sales tax for this purpose. I will exercise this veto by striking $20 million of the current $55 million in state aid, which coupled with the $20 million you have already appropriated in LB 33 leaves total state aid at $55 million. This veto will be exercised in such a manner as to eliminate any need to raise the sales tax unless you override the veto. If you subsequently today override my veto, the total state aid will go to $75 million and the sales tax will be mandated by the Legislature to rise accordingly.

Lastly, it is not true, as stated by some, that the Omaha and Lincoln districts will lose funds if my veto is sustained. It is true that some smaller districts, under the formula passed by the Legislature, may lose some small amounts. If necessary, I will introduce legislation in the next session in January, 1978, to insure that no district shall receive less funds on an average daily membership basis than it is receiving in the current year.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon

WHEREAS, the practice of law in the State of Nebraska is and should be practiced on the highest plane and under the control and supervision of appropriate judicial authorities in Nebraska; and

1. That the Judiciary Committee conduct an inquiry into these practices and that the Nebraska Legislaure's Judiciary Committee obtain information as required to stop any such practices of "ambulance chasing" if they do, in fact, exist.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

June 1, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I hereby return LB 4 without my signature and with my objections.

LB 4 would eliminate the requirement that lobbyists keep receipts of those expenditures for food and drink in an amount less than $25.00. Contrary to what may be the feelings of some, $25.00 is not a small figure, and it is my belief that lobbyists should be required to keep records and receipts on these types of lobbying expenditures and make them available at request to the Political Disclosure and Accountability Commission. There may be an amount below which records are impractical to keep, possibly $1.00, but $25.00 is far too high. Actually, the law should read that lobbyists must report how much was spent on "lobbying" each official. It should be made clear to the public that this is not the case.

I recommended to the Legislature this session a bill which would have strengthened the Sunshine Law by eliminating a conflict of interest on the Sunshine Commission. My recommendation was that the Governor and the Secretary of State who are subject to the provisions of the Sunshine Act be removed from serving on the Commission.

Not only did the Legislature not adopt my proposal to strengthen the bill, you are now attempting to weaken it. The Sunshine Act is a good concept, and we should allow it an opportunity to function without authorizing "escape mechanisms" for complete auditing should that ever be necessary.

Yours truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 107
June 1, 1977

Dear Senator Warner:

You have asked a question regarding the line item veto exercised by the Governor of section 5 of L.B. 546, Eighty-Fifth Legislature, First Session, 1977. Section 5 authorizes the expenditure of $2,790,000 for site acquisition and initiation of construction of the Medium-Minimum Correctional Facility to be located in Lancaster County, Nebraska.

Your question is, does this line item veto limit or restrict the ability of the Department of Corrections to accept bids for a Medium-Minimum Facility. L.B. 417, Eighty-Fourth Legislature, First Session, 1975, authorized the construction of this facility. To the extent that the Department is authorized under section 38 of L.B. 417 to accept bids on such facility, the deletion of the funding by the Governor through the exercise of his line item veto will have no affect on that ability. The sum stricken does not relate to the authority or the ability of the Department of Correctional Services to enter into such contracts. It merely deletes the authority to expend those funds during the current fiscal year, but does not affect the authority of the Department to enter into a contract for construction.

Sincerely,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

June 1, 1977

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker,
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am returning herewith LB 532, with my signature and my specific line item vetoes.

In total, my reductions in this bill are $20,051,853 and are detailed below.

Department of Education, Agency No. 13 -- I have reduced the state aid bill appropriation by $20 million. The $20 million you desire to add to the current level of $55 million will certainly be depleted by local schools in increased spending, leaving nothing for property tax relief. The current level of school spending is approximately $400 million per year. If the schools increase their budgets by only 5% on a $400 million budget, the increase alone will eat up the $20 million additional you are attempting to provide. The facts are that over the last six or seven years, school budgets have been increasing on a statewide average of about 9% per year. This means that even with the additional $20 million you propose to spend, there will very likely be raises in real estate taxes in addition. There is no statewide reduction in real estate taxes assured or even probable statewide. If you override my veto, you will be directing a sales tax increase immediately.

The proponents of this increase will say that although property taxes may not go down, the increased state aid will keep property taxes from increasing. The record of other states' experiences shows that this is not the case. Of Nebraska and our six adjoining states, two - Kansas and Colorado - lead the others in proportion of state aid in local school budgets. Which of our neighbors have led in increasing school spending? The same two, Colorado and Kansas, with increases of 93 and 91% respectively since 1970. We in Nebraska should learn from our neighboring states' experiences: the more state aid is increased, the more school spending is increased. We also should learn from our own experiences right here in Nebraska. Even with 53% of the state's budget already being returned to local governments in aid to them and individuals, we have had a doubling and in some cases tripling of real estate taxes since Nebraska implemented its sales and income taxes in 1967. Ten years later we seem to have learned very little as far as the Nebraska Legislature is concerned with regard to spending.

These facts show conclusively that the argument that the increase in state aid will keep property taxes from going up is a hoax. This $20 million increase represents a measure to increase spending and to increase taxes - it is as simple as that.

Furthermore, the Legislature has admitted that it has deliberately handled the state aid matter this year so as to attempt to prevent the people's right to a referendum. This action of yours alone defies understanding. It simply is unbelievable, and I intentionally scold you for it.

Department of Aeronautics, Agency No. 17 -- I have reduced the budget for the Civil Air Patrol by $24,00 (sic) to a level of $10,000, and this is approved by the Department of Aeronautics. This amount will allow a review of the Civil Air Patrol to determine how it uses the funds and operates with state funding.

Nebraska Commission on the Status of Women, Agency 38 -- I have reduced by $27,353 the General Fund appropriation to the Nebraska Commission on the Status of Women. This brings the amount back to my original recommendation of $82,486, a 63.2% increase in General Fund support allowing for an addition of 1.6FTE to the Commission's staff.

I urge you to sustain these vetoes.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) J. James Exon
Governor
