

FIRST DAY - JANUARY 3, 1979

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE
FIRST SESSION

FIRST DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Wednesday, January 3, 1979

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 10, Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska, the Eighty-Sixth Legislature, First Session of the Legislature of Nebraska, assembled in Legislative Hall of the Capitol Building at the hour of 10:00 A.M. on Wednesday, January 3, 1979, and was called to order by President Whelan.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by Dr. Robert Palmer, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Eternal God, Who makes all things new, as we begin another new Session together, help us to leave old ideas behind while clinging to those traditions which remain of value, help us to seek new answers to our questions among the most sensible alternatives which confront us. We ask this day, and all the days throughout this Session, to guide and sustain each of these Senators, for You know them, their needs, their motives, their hopes and their fears. Put your strong arm around them and give them courage to speak the truth, and speak to their hearts that they may have a wisdom greater than their own. May they ever remember that You are concerned about what is said and done here, so they may ever be challenged to speak the truth in love.

There are some familiar faces which are gone from this chamber, and we remember them; other new faces have come, and we welcome them; many familiar faces have returned; and we are gladdened by them.

Give us what we need for the challenges which confront us, endurance for the trivia that clogs our calendars, and the wisdom to tell the difference between the two. Instruct each one of us, the officers of this body, each Senator, each secretary, each aide, each one involved in the enactment of legislation for the people of this State this year, that together we may "do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with our God" and with one another so that, when this Session ends, we may be greeted by Your benediction, "Well done, good and faithful servants." Amen.

Welcome Message
Legislative Chamber
Lincoln, Nebraska
January 3, 1979
Governor J. James Exon

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the Legislature, Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen: Thank you for your notification of the First Session of the 86th Nebraska Legislature duly convened and inviting me to your chambers for a brief State of the State message and my Farewell Address as Governor to you and the people of Nebraska, whom all here have the honor to serve in various capacities.

To the legislative veterans, welcome back, and I extend a special welcome to the newly elected senators who today begin their legislative service.

A moment ago I was escorted for the last time down the Great Hall, a journey that I have made many times during the past eight years as Nebraska's 33rd Governor. This is a special day for me, like that January day in 1971, when with somewhat of a quivering in the knees, I made that trek for the first time.

Today was not significantly different. I am always inspired when I walk the Great Hall, through the rotunda, and into the chambers to address your honorable body. It is a ceremony, yes, but not a meaningless one. It is an important visible display of a system at work, and work it does with its imperfections, real or imagined, for the benefit of all.

Today there is with us a new spirit of cooperation and understanding between the executive and legislative branches. Partially this is true because I stand here today in my new role as a lawmaker, in league with you, sharing your concerns, and simultaneously serving as Chief Executive of Nebraska. To put your minds at ease, these unusual circumstances will self-destruct in a very few hours.

In my mind, I do indeed understand the Legislative process, its uniqueness, and its distinction from the other branches of government. As your Governor, I fought hard to preserve the independence of and the encroachment upon the already limited constitutional and statutory powers of the office of Nebraska's Governor. I maintain that our system of government best serves the people when the legislative, executive, and judicial branches are essentially co-equal, serving as checks and balances, one against the others. Adversaries, at times, yes, but out of legitimate differences of opinion generally comes the intelligent resolution of all issues. The latter is the real challenge of the future. Success or failure will be measured as always with the passing of time. A single vote, a veto, or a veto override, victory or defeat, at the moment, can often times be meaningless if not harmful over the long pull. If history has taught us anything, it is that the future becomes the past in a relentless fashion, quicker than most of us care to concede.

The news is definitely that the State of the State is good, growing, and with prudent management the future bodes well for continuation of the Good Life in Nebraska.

As the Exon-Whelan Administration takes leave of its responsibilities, the State is in a sound financial position with a realistic General Fund balance of approximately $61.2 million as of today, (January 3) taking into account all monies on hand and deposited.

In the last eight years, we have reduced the only state bonded debt by 54% down from 30.2 million to 14.8 million which was first issued in 1969 for highway construction.

During that same period, without bonded debt, we have accomplished record improvement in our state highway systems, with the expenditure of $113.1 million averaged annually in highway construction and improvement, including the record of being the first State in the Union to essentially complete its originally scheduled interstate system. There is room for further improvement, but I caution again against deficit financing for highway construction.

The Architectural wonder of this beautiful State Capitol building and its chief companion structure, the Executive Mansion, have been nurtured and protected, and are both in their best physical condition since they first graced the landscape of the Capitol City.

General Economic indicators are positive, and are at least four-fold:

1. In the decade of the 70's we dramatically reversed the decline in population that amounted to a crippling deficit total of approximately 190,000 in out-migrations during the previous two decades. We have turned that negative figure completely around in the 70's to where we currently enjoy a net population of 10,000. A heartwarming reversal of the previous trend, and here again Nebraska excels among all the states in its region, showing all sections of the state having benefited as we create more and more jobs for more and more people in a sound and growing economy.

2. We have seen during the last eight years the greatest industrial expansion in Nebraska since the days when our state grew from territory. This has meant more jobs and more opportunities especially for our young people where our "brain drain" previously was a serious problem.

Our unemployment rate of 2.4% is among the lowest in the nation and 702,150 persons are now gainfully employed in Nebraska—which is a record number for November employment.

3. We have much going for us as we move soon from the 1970's to the 1980's. A recently released study authorized by the Minnesota Legislature reveals that among all the states, Nebraska rates first in the two broad categories for favorable business climate and quality of life.

No small part of this success, I suggest, is that Nebraska State Government has learned to live within its means. The sound business and personal climate we have nurtured has been enhanced by the fact that Nebraska is in the bottom fifteen of all the states for State Government tax take per $1,000 of personal income. This is an accomplishment that needs protection. The power to tax still embodies the power to destroy, and must be used with prudence.

4. Tourism has blossomed as a major industry the last few years. Tourist expenditures have doubled from $300 million in 1972 to $600 million in 1978. 30,000 Nebraska jobs are supported by this newly discovered and exciting industry.

The general optimistic economic picture is even more dramatic when recognizing that this state's primary industry, agriculture, is not in a generally healthy state today. Our family farmers and ranchers are in need of our constant attention as economic factors over which they unfortunately have little control tend to restrict their fair participation in and contribution to Nebraska's bright economic future. Envision if you will how secure Nebraska's future would be and how well we will excel when our agriculture problems are resolved fairly.

A key emphasis of this administration has been a frontal attack on the tragedies of highway fatalities and injuries. We cannot rest on our laurels despite Nebraska's being cited as excelling in this fight. I want to thank again publicly the dedicated people who have furnished the lead in this area including the law enforcement personnel, and all our friends in the news media who have given of their time, talents, energy, and resources in this information and educational experience for the common good. These efforts must be carried on, hopefully with renewed vigor by those who now will occupy leadership positions.

Speaking of education, please allow me to emphasize again here today as I have frequently in the past, the key role that the state must rightfully play in the education of its citizens of all levels. Nebraska has historically excelled in its elementary and secondary educational levels and must do so in the future, with dramatically increased support for all education the past eight years, we can now appreciate that we have advanced into the elite class in higher education as measured in the state's per capita financial support for our fine university and state college systems. We have initiated the first state-wide effort in the comprehensive community technical college concept.

Working together, we can be proud of our significant improvements in approaches, programs, and needed construction in our corrections institutions. The only remaining question mark in this regard is the beleaguered proposed Omaha facility you have had my recommendations in this area for a long time.

Nebraska has become a recognized leader during the decade of the 70's in the development of mental health and mental retardation programs. In the latter area, this administration, with the valuable assistance of the Legislature, has simultaneously fostered dramatically increased community based programs in conjunction with the most significant improvement ever in programs and facilities at our good Beatrice complex. It is discouraging to see in the face of our significant overall progress, supposedly well-meaning groups and individuals using the federal courts and the nearly unlimited resources of the Federal Department of Justice in an attempt to run roughshod over the legitimate interest of Nebraska and its less fortunate citizens.

In making this final report of the Exon—Whelan Administration, I wish to thank the Legislature and the Judicial Branches for their cooperation and assistance.

We are proud of the team of expert business-like administrators we have attracted and want to acknowledge the tireless efforts and accomplishments of our key assistants and department heads and our most dedicated state employees who have faithfully and honestly carried out their duties in behalf of the citizens of this state. My gratitude for all their understanding, dedication, and help can never be adequately expressed.

It is important now that we press on to the greater achievements in the future and all that it holds for Nebraska and Nebraskans. I wish Godspeed and the best to all of you in the Legislature, the Judiciary, and to the career state employees who will continue to faithfully serve the new administration as the others who will follow. I wish only the best for incoming Governor Charles Thone and his administration as we are about to complete the smooth transition of authority.

Good Health, Good Luck, and may God be with you always in your individual and collective endeavors for the great people of the State of Nebraska.

The Committee escorted the Governor from the Chamber.

“The earth is the Lord’s and the fullness thereof; the world, and all who dwell therein.

Lord our God, help us to understand this truth, and to live in its light, both in our relationship to You and in our relationship to one another.

We pray for Your wisdom and your guidance for the members of this body, as they meet in this uncertain time to make the important decisions affecting this life of this State. Give them the highest motives, and the courage to propose that which will be worthy of Your blessing as a New Year begins.

Forgive us, Lord, that we talk too much and think too little; forgive us that we worry so often and pray so seldom. Keep us from wasting the time You have given us, and let us not be so eager for the approval of men that we forget that it is Your approval that brings us peace of mind and a clear conscience. You know what we are, wherever we are. Help us to be the best we can be, for Your sake and for those we represent here in this part of Your Kingdom. ### ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 272

Dear Senator Lewis:

In your letter of July 17, 1978, you state that there are two interim study resolutions (LR 278 and LR 279) dealing with the financing of technical community colleges in Nebraska. Apparently some proposals are being considered to increase the state's contribution to the financing of such colleges, perhaps to the point where the state's contribution amounts to more than half of the cost of their operation.

Your question is whether increasing the state's contribution to this extent would create a conflict with Article VIII, Section 1A of the Nebraska Constitution, which prohibits the state from levying a property tax for state purposes. Apparently some contention has been made that increasing the state's share of the cost to more than 50% would make the operation of the colleges a "state purpose," and would preclude financing the balance of the budgets with a property tax.

We do not reach that conclusion. In State ex rel. Western Nebraska Technical Community College Area v. Tallon, 192 Neb. 201, 219 N.W.2d 454 (1974), the court struck down a property tax to finance such colleges, as being in violation of Article VIII, Section 1A, saying:

“Under the act with which we are concerned here, the State has assumed the direct control of major policy decisions which affect the operation of each of the seven community college areas, and the statute reflects a purpose to control the operation of all seven areas for the benefit of the residents of the state as a whole. The provisions requiring that the tuition in any technical community college area for any resident of the State of Nebraska shall be the same as for a resident of the particular area is a strong indication of the legislative purpose to benefit residents of the entire state as contrasted to residents of particular local areas. The direct control by the State over capital expenditures, the right to contract for acquisitions and additions, and to control and direct which facilities and training will be available in which area, together with the complete and direct control of the individual budget of each technical community college area, demonstrate the dominance of the State as opposed to the local areas in all major matters of control and operation of the statutory system. It is undoubtedly true that such direct control will result in a more efficient and coordinated operation and avoid expensive and uneconomical duplication of facilities and services. Those particular objectives in themselves reflect the dominance of a purpose to benefit the state as a whole.

“We hold that where the State assumes the control and the primary burden of financial support of a statewide system of technical community college areas under the provisions of the Technical Community College Area Act, the property tax levy provided for in section 79-2626, R.S.Supp., 1973, is for a state purpose within the meaning of Article VIII, section 1A, of the Nebraska Constitution.”

You will note that the court spoke of the state's assuming control and the primary burden of financial support. There is no indication that providing most of the financial support alone would be sufficient to make it a state purpose as contemplated by the constitutional provision in question. Following the above decision, the Legislature in 1975 made extensive changes in the regulation of the colleges, repealing sections 79-2601 to 79-2635, and enacting sections 79-2636 to 79-2662 in their stead. The new sections gave much more local control to the colleges. Among other things, the Nebraska

Coordinating Commission for Technical Community Colleges was created by sections 79-2654 to 79-2661, which, pursuant to section 79-2655, had only advisory supervision over the colleges. In 1977, even this Commission was abolished by the repeal of sections 79-2654 to 79-2661.

In 1976, the Supreme Court again considered the financing of such colleges in State ex rel. Western Technical Community College Area v. Tallon, 196 Neb. 603, 244 N.W.2d 183 (1976). The court this time held that no violation of Article VIII, Section 1A was involved, pointing out that the Commission had only advisory powers, with little, if any, actual control over the technical community colleges. The court said:

“ . . . Yet, in every instance where schools are locally controlled and supported, no objection has been found to a provision for state aid. No constitutional objection thereto has been called to our attention and we know of none. The mere granting of state aid does not render a school operation a state function.”

We do not believe that an increased proportion of state aid will operate to convert a local purpose to a state purpose, where there is local control and at least some local financial support. You obviously contemplate that there will continue to be some local support, as there would otherwise be no occasion to inquire about the effect of Article VIII, Section 1A. We therefore conclude that increasing the state aid to the colleges to more than 50% of their operating expenses would not make such operation a state purpose, as contemplated by Article VIII, Section 1A.

Opinion No. 274

Dear Senator DeCamp:

We are in receipt of your letter of July 21, 1978, in which you raise certain questions concerning the application of section 32-504(2)(a), 1977 Supp. For the sake of clarification, the pertinent language of this subsection is set out below:

“Each of the candidates for the office of Governor and Lieutenant Governor circulating or having petitions circulated in his or her behalf after the primary election and prior to the general election shall prior to the circulation of such petition or petitions select the person whom he or she wishes to be his or her team member for ballot purposes. Two thousand signatures on the petition or petitions carrying the names of the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be sufficient for the placing of both names jointly on the general election ballot....”

You first ask whether or not a person is restricted from filing for just the office of Lieutenant Governor under this statute. Since one individual can only file for one office we assume you are asking whether or not an individual can file in this manner for the office of Lieutenant Governor without designating a person who will seek election on their “team” as Governor. We believe the statute clearly requires all candidates for Lieutenant Governor and Governor to designate prior to circulating petitions in an effort to be placed upon the ballot by petition, the name of a person the individual wishes to be their team member. Stated differently we believe this section prohibits a person from running for the office of Lieutenant Governor if he is not attached by preference to an individual seeking the office for Governor.

You also ask whether or not the individual’s opportunity for the office of Lieutenant Governor would be contingent upon the completion of the petition of an individual running for Governor. If you mean by this would it be necessary for a candidate for the office of Lieutenant Governor to file a petition containing the requisite number of signatures on which appeared the name of a gubernatorial candidate we agree. We do hasten to point out however that only one petition needs to be circulated on behalf of both the person seeking the office of Lieutenant Governor and Governor.

You finally ask whether or not if, in fact, both persons must run as a team as in fact they must whether or not this unduly hinders the process of petition candidates from seeking the offices of Lieutenant Governor or Governor. We assume you are asking whether or not the fact that a candidate for Governor or Lieutenant Governor must run as a team hinders or unduly restricts the right of an individual to seek one of these elective offices.

It is difficult for us to respond to this inquiry in that you appear to be seeking our personal opinion rather than our informed conclusion as to this statute’s constitutionality. You have asked if we believe clarification or additional legislation is needed. We believe the statutory language is clear and suggest that in the absence of a judicial determination of unconstitutionality that you as a legislator are in an excellent position to form a conclusion as to the desirability of the retention of this language.

Should you care to propose legislation to either repeal this language or to amend it, we would be most happy to review the same and offer any legal observations concerning it you might desire.

Sincerely,

Opinion No. 276
August 17, 1978

Dear Senator Warner:

RE: LB508

We have examined the provisions of the above bill in light of your suggestion that it violates the provisions of Article VIII, Sections 1, 2 and 11 of the Constitution. Our research would indicate that there is at least some authority to support the proposition that the payments which the bill requires public power districts, and others, to make to school districts would be considered an assessment and not a tax. In this light, we would call your attention to a provision in section 78-446.01 of the statutes which requires the Department of Aeronautics to make payments similar to those provided in LB 508. The validity of this provision seems to have never been challenged.

With regard to your question of the constitutional sufficiency of the title of 508, we can only say that our research would indicate that considering the fact that it would take five of the seven members of the Supreme Court to hold the title to be insufficient, the authorities are not such that we could say with any degree of certainty that the Supreme Court would hold the title of the bill to be constitutionally deficient.

If you have any specific amendments which you feel might be necessary to make the title conform, to your satisfaction, with the provisions of the bill, or vice versa, we would be happy to consider them in light of our overall research of the questions.

Opinion No. 278

Dear Senator George:

In your letter of August 17, 1978, you inform us that the Urban Affairs Committee, of which you are chairman, is studying the statutes dealing with sanitary and improvement districts, to determine whether further amendment of the applicable statutes is necessary.

You have asked us a number of questions about the present statutes. You asked first, "[a]re S.I.D.'s allowed, vis-a-vis the developer, to avoid the payment of taxes by acquiring large areas such as golf courses and lakes and thus, due to their political subdivision status, terminate the tax on such land?"

We are somewhat at a loss to understand the significance of the phrase, "vis-a-vis the developer," as used in your question. If the S.I.D. acquires such areas for purposes authorized by the statute, obviously title will be in the name of the S.I.D., and the "developer" will have nothing to do with it.

Section 31-727, 1977 Supp., authorizes the formation of a sanitary and improvement district for various purposes, including "to acquire, improve and operate public parks, play grounds and recreational facilities." Obviously a golf course would qualify as a recreational facility, and we presume that a lake would, also, assuming that it was used for recreational purposes. Article VIII, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution provides that the property of the state and its political subdivisions shall be exempt from taxation. We are therefore of the opinion that property zoned by a sanitary and improvement district would be exempt.

You next ask "who is the intended 'public?'" Again, we are somewhat unsure of what your exact question is, but we assume you are asking whether the use of the recreational facility is, or can be, restricted to residents of the sanitary and improvement district.

Some credence might be given to the argument that such facilities were for the exclusive use of residents of the district by the provision in section 31-727 "for the joint acquisition of such facilities by two or more districts, for the joint use of the residents of the contracting districts." This language tends to create the impression that residents of the districts, as opposed to the public at large, have some superior rights in such facilities.

We do not reach that conclusion, however. We believe that the word "public" as used in the statute, modifies "playgrounds and recreational facilities," as well as "parks," and we question whether a facility whose use was restricted to a particular group could properly be described as "public." In 59 Am.Jur.2d 277, Parks, Squares, Etc., sec. 16, we find:

"...Such public parks are held not for the sole use of the people of a particular municipality, but for the use of the general public which the legislature represents. The use of the park is in kind analogous to those confessedly public. It closely resembles roads and bridges. These are open to general public travel without reference to the residence of the traveler. The enjoyment of a public park hardly can be restricted to residents of a particular city or town. . . ."

You ask whether S.I.D.'s are allowed to retail aggregate sand or gravel accumulated in the development of a lake. An S.I.D. has only such powers as are given it by statute, and those incidental thereto. It could not go into the sand and gravel business. However, if it produces sand and gravel as an incident to the development of a recreational lake, it could, of course, sell it. Such sand and gravel would, while in the hands of the S.I.D., be free from taxation.

Your fourth question is: "Once the district is established and after a plat is filed by lots and legals on completed property and approved by the planning commission and County Commissioner, can an S.I.D. file further deeds which do not follow the legals as most recently filed?"

We are not at all confident that we understand your question. When you speak of filing "other deeds," this seems to imply acquisition of title by the S.I.D., which, of course, is not involved in an enlargement of the territory covered by the district. We think you mean to ask whether the S.I.D. can enlarge its territory. If so, the answer is that it can. Section 31-761 provides the procedure for doing so, either by a petition signed by all of the property owners to be annexed, approved by the trustees, or by petition signed by the majority of the property owners, and approved by the trustees after a public hearing.

You quote from section 31-736, as amended by LB 708, 1978 Session, which authorizes an S.I.D. to acquire by purchase, condemnation, or otherwise, real or personal property, right-of-way, and privileges, within or without its corporate limits, necessary for its corporate purposes. You ask what are its corporate purposes, as used in the above provision, and what would be considered an unjust taking of private property.

We can only refer you to section 31-727, 1977 Supp., which provides that an S.I.D. may be formed for the purposes listed therein. This section also provides that the articles of association shall state which of those listed shall be the purposes of the corporation, or whether all of them shall be corporate purposes. Therefore, any of the purposes listed in section 31-727 which are included in the articles of association would be corporate purposes of the S.I.D. An unjust taking of private property would be a taking for a purpose not listed in the statute, or one not properly listed in the articles of incorporation.

You ask whether the initial corporate purpose is subject to change to allow for the replatting of lots for the creation of a lake or golf course within the S.I.D. We are not sure just what you mean by "replatting of lots," but the creation of a lake or golf course would be included as proper purposes, as recreational facilities. Section 31-727(3) provides in part:

" . . . No corporation formed or hereafter formed shall perform any new functions, other than those for which the corporation was formed, without amending its articles of association to include the new function or functions."

This provision clearly contemplates that proper purposes not originally included in the articles of association may be brought in by amendment.

Your last question, "Can the S.I.D. own and develop all acres by deed within the boundaries of the district?" We cannot answer that question, because we don't understand it. It seems to suggest that an S.I.D. might hold title to all of the land in the district, but we don't believe that is what you meant. If you will clarify your question we will try to answer it for you.

Very truly yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Opinion No. 283
September 15, 1978

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have written for the select legislative committee studying the need for any possible legislative changes in the area of law enforcement procedures. You indicate in your letter that you would like our comments regarding changes in the legislation dealing with the county attorneys and coroner's juries. You did invite our representation at the hearing to be held on September 14th, but in view of the pending litigation involving the actions of your committee, we did not feel that it would be appropriate for us to do so. You expressly requested our comments in writing.

We are mindful that the determination of policy in this area is basically for the Legislature. Our responsibility is generally toward the legalities of legislation considered by your committee. However, as we interpret your letter, and pursuant to telephone discussions with the committee's counsel, it does appear that your letter does desire that we comment on the policy aspects of this proposed legislation so that the committee can arrive at a workable solution.

The provisions for a county coroner are found in Article 18 of Chapter 23 of the Nebraska statutes. The county attorney is made ex officio county coroner pursuant to the provisions of section 23-1210, R.R.S. 1943. The question of whether or not to call a coroner's jury is a matter placed within the county attorney's discretion. The authority to require the services of a physician is authorized under the provisions of section 23-1820. His duties are set forth in that section.

Under the proposed legislation, as presented to us, there is created an office of state coroner. This office would be located within the Bureau of Criminal Investigation as established by the bill. We note that the state coroner would be appointed by the Governor subject to the approval of the Legislature. Certain requirements are set forth for the state coroner. This includes the requirement that he be a pathologist and be appointed with due regard to his or her knowledge and experience in proper preservation, identification, and scientific analysis of evidence materials pertaining to the investigation of crimes. This is to be a full time office.

We note that section 25 of the proposed bill states that the state coroner shall be in charge of performing all autopsies requested by the county attorneys in cases when death by unlawful means is suspected. If he completes an autopsy then he is required to certify the cause of death or he may issue a warrant to the clerk of the district court requesting such clerk to summon a coroner's jury to appear before him (state coroner) at a time and place named in the warrant. The coroner's jury is to consist of seven individuals as opposed to six which is required under the present law. The proposed act would require the judge of the district court to preside over the coroner's jury proceedings and would require him to assure that the testimony, proof, and other evidence would be factual and relevant at any subsequent criminal proceeding. The county attorney is required to conduct the coroner's jury in an informal manner and conduct same so as to eliminate unjustifiable expense and delay and to the extent possible, develop evidence that would be admissible in court.

While we have no statistics, we are aware that coroner's juries are seldom used under the present system. The law now states that the coroner shall hold an inquest upon the dead bodies of such persons only as are supposed to have died by unlawful means. This is a matter committed to the coroner's discretion. If there clearly is a death by unlawful means it is not customary to call such a jury. Evidence is then developed in the normal investigative fashion. Usually, it is only in those cases where there is a question as to whether or not the death resulted from unlawful means that the coroner's jury is used at all. Thus, they are rarely used.

Under the proposed legislation, the provision is made that the state coroner shall be in charge of performing all autopsies requested by the county attorney in cases when death by unlawful means is suspected. The question of whether or not to call a coroner's jury then becomes a matter for the discretion of the state coroner rather than of the county attorney. However, the state coroner would only initiate the procedure to call the jury and the conduct of such would then be substantially different than the present. Section 29 of the proposed legislation provides that the judge of the district court shall preside over all coroner's jury proceedings. Presently, the county attorney presides and interrogates the witnesses which may be called.

We suspect, that a hearing before a district judge where he is charged with the duty to assure that the testimony, proof, and other evidence would be factual and relevant at any subsequent criminal proceeding would involve several considerations. Even though the same section directs that the county attorney shall conduct the inquisition in an informal manner, he would still be subject to the direction of the district judge in the presentation of proof. This would essentially be true because the judge is charged with the duty to assure that the evidence is factual and relevant and would properly be admissible at a subsequent criminal proceeding. This presents the danger that such a hearing would then cease to be an informal proceeding, but a part of a court proceeding which might well be subject to judicial rules of evidence. This is a matter which is presently accomplished by the county attorneys who hold such hearings. Second, the availability of district judges might not always be such that they could expeditiously preside over such a hearing due to other commitments in connection with their regular duties. We suspect that this would have a tendency to eliminate even further coroner jury proceedings.

Another consideration is the fact that the state coroner is not authorized to delegate any of his duties but apparently it is contemplated that he would perform all such autopsies when requested by the county attorney. In that connection there is an inconsistency in the subpoena which states that the juror shall appear before the state coroner at the required time to hold the inquest. Then, apparently, he would then become a witness just to present the results of his autopsy. It would appear to us that this would then result in even fewer coroner's juries than are presently held.

There are other factors which are not made clear in the bill. In what county is the coroner's jury to be called? What district judge is to preside? How are simultaneous deaths in various parts of the state to be handled?

We have confined our comments to coroner's problems, and have set forth only some of the more obvious problems. We hope they will be of benefit to the committee in its study of this area.

Yours very truly,

Opinion No. 284
September 27, 1978

Dear Senator Marvel:

You have requested our opinion on two questions relating to the records of the Conflicts of Interest Committee. Your first question is whether the materials that were filed under the former statute, which established the Conflicts of Interest Committee, are confidential.

That statute formerly appeared as sections 49-1101 to 49-1117, R.R.S. 1943. Those sections were repealed upon the adoption of the Political Accountability and Disclosure Act in LB 987, Eighty-fourth Legislature, Second Session, 1976. Those sections now appear as sections 49-1401 through 49-14,138. Under the repealed section 49-1106, R.R.S. 1943, legislators, constitutional officers, members of independent boards or commissions, natural resource districts, legislative council employees receiving a salary(sic) of $10,000 or more were required to disclose certain information to the Conflicts of Interest Committee established by section 40-1105. In subsection (6) of 49-1106 the following language appeared:

“Each disclosure statement, amended statement, or notification that no admendment(sic) is required shall be public information and a copy of each shall be furnished each member of the Legislature and each nonlegislative member of the committee, at their request.”

Under this language, it is our opinion that the conflicts of interest statements filed with the committee were public records and thus not confidential.

In your second question you ask: Who is the proper custodian of the Conflicts of Interest Committee records and to whom should request for disclosure be directed? As background information, you have informed us that these records are maintained in your office in three locked filing cabinets and that you have had these records since the committee was dissolved by repeal of the establishing sections. It is clear that you are not the proper custodian for these records. There is no statute authorizing you as a legislator or as a member or chairman of any committee of the Legislature to have possession or control of the Conflicts of Interest Committee records. Those records were the records of the committee and not of the Legislature or of individual members of the Legislature. As such, you have no authority over the records nor should you be in a position of either authorizing or denying access to such records.

Under the Records Management Act, in section 84-1213, R.R.S. 1943, the Legislature has provided that records made or received or under the custody, control or in the possession of public officials or agencies of any of the branches of government are public records and the property of government. They are not to be mutilated, destroyed, transferred, removed, damaged or otherwise disposed of in whole or in part except as provided by law. Further, that section, in part, provides:

“Any person who shall willfully mutilate, destroy, transfer, remove, damage, or otherwise dispose of such records or any part of such records, except as provided by law, and any person who shall retain and continue to hold the possession of any such records, or parts thereof, belonging to the state government or to any local political subdivision, and shall refuse to deliver up such records, or parts thereof, to the proper official under whose authority such records belong, upon demand being made by such officer or, in cases of a defunct office, to the succeeding agency or to the state archives of the Nebraska State Historical Society, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. . . .”

This is the only statute that gives us any guidance with respect to the disposition of such records.

The Conflicts of Interest Committee was dissolved by repeal of the enacting sections. The Legislature made no specific provision for a successor agency nor did the Legislature make any provisions for the disposition of committee records.

It might be argued that the Political Accountability and Disclosure Commission is a successor agency. Many of the functions previously performed by the Conflicts of Interest Committee are now performed by the Political Accountability and Disclosure Commission. However, there is no direct link between the two and the Political Accountability and Disclosure Commission acts in a much wider area than did the Conflicts of Interest Committee. You could offer to the Political Accountability and Disclosure Commission possession and control of these records. That agency could determine whether or not they are a successor agency.

Another option is open to you and that is to deliver the records to the Records Management Administrator. That administrator may then make the determination as to whether or not the records are such that they should be retained or are such that they could be destroyed. Under section 84-1214.01, the state archives has the authority to acquire, in total or in part, any document, record or material which has been submitted to the Records Board for disposal or transfer when such material is determined to be of archival or historical significance. This, of course, would be subject to action by the state archivist.

In our view, the best course for you to follow would be to notify the State Records Administrator of your possession of such records and your desire to deliver them to his office so that he may determine whether or not such records should be maintained or destroyed.

Either of the courses we have outlined above are appropriate. To reiterate, they are: (1) To deliver the records to the Political Accountability and Disclosure Commission as the successor(sic) agency, or (2) to deliver them to the State Records Administrator for disposition under the statutes governing his duties. In either case, the person then having possession of those records would be the proper individual to whom a request for disclosure should be directed.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Opinion No. 289
October 30, 1978

Dear Senator Lewis:

You ask whether the authority to name the new field house lies in the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska, the Department of Administrative Services, State Building Commission, State Building Administrator or the Legislature.

It is our understanding that the Legislature authorized the University of Nebraska to construct a new field house on land at the State Fair Grounds. That building was constructed. Under the particular arrangement by which the building was financed, the University pursuant to section 85-1,100 the State Board of Agriculture has leased land to the State of Nebraska. Upon that land a field house has been constructed by a separate corporation. That corporation has leased the field house to the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska pursuant to sections 85-401 and 85-402. Section 85-401 after spelling out the manner in which such buildings are to be paid for, provides in part:

“ . . . Said contract shall provide that when the cost of construction or establishment has been paid, together with interest thereon, the buildings and facilities so constructed or established shall become the property of the State of Nebraska.”

This presents a situation unlike most others involving University property. Generally the Board of Regents has been established as a governmental corporation with the power to sell and purchase real estate. The Board of Regents has engaged in a number of real estate transactions and presently holds title to real estate in the name of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska. The particular statute under which this building was constructed does not result in the Board of Regents owning land upon which the building is situated. Rather, the University has a leasehold interest in the building for a term of years as provided for in the contract between the constructing agency and the University Board of Regents. The land itself remains titled in the name of the State of Nebraska, with a leasehold interest in the land to the corporation on which the building is constructed in accordance with the term of the contract.

Generally, the Board of Regents has exercised their authority as the general governing body of the University of Nebraska to establish names for structures owned by the University. This procedure has not been followed under any specific grant of authority existing in the statutes but rather under the general authority of the Board of Regents to act as a corporation and to own and develop real estate. As the owner of the real estate in question they undoubtedly have the right to name the structures located thereon in any manner that they see fit.

The only statute that specifically deals with the naming of state buildings is section 81-1108.36. That section provides that the Administrator of the State Building Division shall review recommendations and propose names for sites or structures subject to approval by the Governor and the Legislature. In Board of Regents v. Exon, 199 Neb. 146, N.W. 2d (1977), the Supreme Court held that a number of sections in Chapter 81, Article 11 were unconstitutional if applied to the Board of Regents since the Board of Regents was a constitutional entity and not subject to having power vested therein delegated to state agencies. For that reason we believe that section 81-1108.36 has no application to any property interest held by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska.

It would be absolutely clear to us that if the land upon which the building sits were titled in the Board of Regents and the building were constructed at the behest of the Board of Regents they would undoubtedly have the power to name the building. The complicating factor in our present instance is that the Board of Regents' interest is leasehold in nature and not a fee interest. Section 81-1108.36 speaks in terms of ". . . nameing(sic) of state owned or leased sites or structures." Thus, the inquiry must be on the issue of whether or not the state ownership or any lease interest in the site would be such as to make the application of section 81-1108.36 mandatory with respect to the athletic facility. In that connection it is interesting to note that the state leases the site to a private nonstate agency who contracted with the Board of Regents to construct a building thereon and to lease the building to the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska. The state, by virtue of section 85-1,100, does have a reversionary interest in the building under the terms of the statute. However, the building itself and all activities conducted therein are solely under the jurisdiction and control of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska. As such it is our conclusion that although there is a state interest in the building such that at the termination of the contract the State Building Administrator may well be empowered to name the building, at the present time that power resides in the Board of Regents under their leasehold interest at least for the term of the leasehold.

We believe that this conclusion is necessary because of the broad governmental powers granted to the Board of Regents under the statutes, particularly Chapter 85, and furthermore as those statutes are construed by Board of Regents v. Exon, supra. To that extent the determination of the Board of Regents as to the name to be applied to the building during the term of the leasehold while the building is under the control of the Board of Regents would be, in our view, within their governmental prerogatives. The caveat necessary, however, is to recognize that at the termination of that leasehold interest and reversion of the property and the building thereon to the State of Nebraska, the State Building Administrator, assuming section 81-1108.36 is still in effect, may well have the right to select a name for the building.

Article III, Section 18 of the Constitution provides:

“The Legislature shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following case, that is to say:

“Changing the names of persons or places.”

Arguably, this provision of the Constitution can be read to say that once a place name has been adopted, for whatever reason it may have been adopted, the Legislature is not authorized to adopt a special or local law applying solely to that person or place. In this particular instance, should a name be adopted by the Board of Regents under their leasehold interest and their power as a corporation, it may well be that the Legislature at some future date will not be able to change that name. That is not to say, however, that the Legislature may not authorize a particular body to name state held property. This may well include the right to change the name heretofore existing on any particular place. We find no prohibition existing in the constitution which would otherwise preclude the Legislature from authorizing a particular name for a particular building or site not previously named. However, the Legislature has no interest as such in the fee interest to the athletic facility under consideration here. That reversionary interest that presently exists would only be subject to action by the person authorized by statute at that time. In the absence of such a statutory grant preclusion of legislative action is arguably affected by Article III, Section 18.

The other persons that you refer to in your question — the Department of Administrative Services, the State Building Advisory Commission — nor as far as we can discern any other person or entity has any statutory authority authorizing such entities to name an athletic facility such as that here under discussion. It is therefore our opinion that the Board of Regents may lawfully adopt a name for the athletic facility under consideration under their general powers of government over the University of Nebraska to the extent that the name will be effective at least until the conclusion of the leasehold interest in the Board of Regents.

Sincerely,

Opinion No. 294
December 5, 1978

Dear Senator Murphy:

You inform us that pursuant to a vote at the last general election, the composition of the Dakota County Board will be increased from three to five members; and you have requested our opinion as to what procedure should be followed in effecting the change — especially with reference to redistricting and the selection of the two additional board members. In your request letter you express an interest in offering legislation “to correct one or two of the vagueries that currently seem to exist.” And it certainly is the case that there may arise some problem situations for which no clear answer can be found in the statutes as they now exist.

The same general question was the subject of an earlier Attorney General's opinion, dated January 8, 1959, appearing in Report of Attorney General, 1959-1960, page 22, a copy of which is enclosed for your convenience. The statutes insofar as pertinent, are essentially the same now as they were at that time. It was recognized at the time of the former opinion that the statutes are by no means free from ambiguity and fail to make adequate provision for certain contingencies, including such as those presented by your present situation. Certainly, there is room for some respectable disagreement with out conclusions. However, our 1959 opinion has been a matter of official record now for nearly 20 years, without judicial pronouncement to the contrary and without any legislative action to obviate or modify the conclusions which we there expressed. Accordingly, we see no reason that we should depart therefrom at this time. Parenthetically, we might note that the Sarpy County election to change from three to five commissioners, which prompted our 1959 opinion, ultimately was involved in litigation reaching the Nebraska Supreme Court. See, Ludwig v. Board of County Commissioners, 170 Neb. 600 (1960). However, the opinion in that decision sheds no particular light upon the question here involved, except for the proposition that the creation of five commissioner districts appears to be mandatory.

Applying the reasoning adopted in our earlier opinion, we conclude that Dakota County must be divided into five commissioner districts at the first meeting of the board following the election at which the proposition was voted upon and that vacancies in the two additional commissioner offices automatically occur at that time. We further conclude that the two additional commissioners should be appointed, without unnecessary delay, under the provisions of section 32-1040 of the statutes.

Section 32-1040 is a general statute applying to the filling of vacancies in office, where no other method is expressly provided. Vacancies in a board of county commissioners are filled by a panel consisting of the county clerk, the county attorney and the county treasurer. Pursuant to Legislative Bill 632, section 7, enacted at the 1978 Session of the Legislature, section 32-1040 was amended so as to include a provision that all vacancies shall be filled within sixty (60) days, unless otherwise provided by law or unless good cause be shown that an undue burden would be imposed thereby.

Here again, in this connection there exists a situation for which there is no specific answer in the statutes. As a result of the past election, the composition of the vacancy selection panel as provided for in section 32-1040 will be different as of January 4, 1979, than it is at the present time. Insomuch as the sixty (60) day limitation prescribed by the 1978 amendment to 32-1040 is simply a maximum, presumably the two county commissioner vacancy appointments might be made either before or after January 4, 1979. In the final analysis, the question resolves into one of policy judgment. It appears that the selection panel, as now constituted, has the authority to make the vacancy appointments; but, on the other hand, that panel might choose to defer the matter for action after January 4, 1979, when the newly elected take office.

Very truly yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Senator Barry L. Reutzel
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Senator:

In your recent correspondence to this office, you stated that you are preparing legislation which creates a source separation paper recovery system in state offices in the State Office and Capitol Buildings. According to your brief description, the system would require employees in those buildings to separate certain grades of paper from the office wastestream at their desks or work areas during the daily performance (sic) of their work. With regard to said proposed legislation, you ask whether the legislature has authority to require state agencies to comply with the program's guidelines or whether an Executive Order is necessary along with the legislation.

On the limited facts you have given us, we are unaware of any authority which would inhibit, via requirement of an Executive Order, the grant of power to the legislature found in Article III, Section 1 of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.

Please be advised that our response herein is limited to the singular question posed. It is not meant and should not be taken to pass upon any other aspects of the legislation you are preparing. If we can be of further assistance, please don't hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Mr. Chief Justice, Senator Exon, all elected and appointed officials, friends all ...

Those of you who know me well, and I am pleased to see so many who do — will understand why it is difficult for me to find the words and the phrases suitable to this occasion.

I am proud to be your Governor. Proud indeed in this office. I am more grateful than I can express for the confidence reposed in me. But that gratitude is mixed with the realization that I must continue to call on you for your support and your encouragement, your counsel and your honest criticism.

The inauguration of a new Governor, the change of a state administration provides an uncommon opportunity for us to pause and to take stock. It is a time to reflect on our past and to ponder our future. It is a time to consider the old-fashioned virtues of thrift, honesty and hard work which served our pioneer forefathers. It is a time to search for the strengths which sustained them in a hostile environment and to apply those strengths to the problems which beset us today.

It is a time to identify more closely with the land on which we depend so heavily for our sustenance — land which has made us what we are, independent, self-reliant, physically vigorous, long lived. It is a time to assess our stewardship of our natural resources with which a bountiful nature has blessed us.

It is a time to recall the words in the preamble to Nebraska's constitution which I have just sworn to uphold:

“We, the people, grateful to almighty God for our freedom ...”

It was 112 years ago that this plain and simple territory, rich with good black soil, abundant water and nature's great open sky, became the 37th state in the union.

Since that time, 33 Governors have taken the oath I took today. Each of them faced the future with some trepidation and yet with confidence — confidence in the people, confidence in our form of government, confidence in Nebraska's ability to control its own destiny.

One hundred twelve years is not such a long time. A man born in 1867, the year Nebraska became a state, could have had a child in 1909 who would today be 70 years old, 20 years younger than my mother. Two or three lifetimes — that's all it takes to cover your entire history as a state.

It's true that during that period we have had our share of difficulties, some would say more than our share. I remember, as many of you do, the drouth and depression of the '30's. Many of us - I think I can say most of us - were poor. Oh, my, how I remember!

Life was hard on the farm near Hartington. We went nine straight years without a decent crop. My parents, both children of German immigrants, were hard pressed to feed and clothe and educate a family. But they knew how to make a little money go a long way. And, we had each other. Neighbor helped neighbor. My mother and father believed in decency and hard work and believed in the family. We stuck together. We worked together. We laughed together — a littlelove

It seems to me that we might find strength and inspiration from those who, like my grandparents, came to Nebraska to make a new life, to enjoy what we now properly call "The good life." Many came to escape religious or political persecution. Can we do less today than to uphold our heritage by continuing to battle against bigotry and discrimination? And, I knew some of that first-hand.

But, many came to claim a new independence. Is it not today our obligation to see that the freedom they sought remains untrammelled? In 1923, Willa Cather wrote of her beloved Nebraska:

"When I stop at one of the graveyards in my own county, and see on the headstones the names of fine old men I used to know: 'Eric Ericson, born Bergen Norway, die Nebraska,' 'Anton Pucelik, born Prague Bohemia, died Nebraska,' I have always the hope that something went into the ground with those pioneers that will one day come out again, something that will come out not only in sturdy traits of character, but in elasticity of mind, in an honest attitude toward the realities of life, in certain qualities of feeling and imagination. It is in that great cosmopolitan country known as the middle west that we may hope to see the hard molds of American provincialism broken up, that we may hope to find young talent which will challenge the pale proprieties, the insincere conventionalism of our art and thought."

It is for us to see that Willa Cather's hope reaches reality, that we are worthy of our pioneer ancestry, that we are deserving of our heritage. Those things which we enjoy today were not produced by us. We owe them to those who went before us — to our parents, our grandparents and our great-grandparents. They were brave, good, decent, hardworking people. We owe them a quiet thanks this day.

But, the pioneering days they began are not finished. This is still an unfinished country. We have much yet to do. Just as most of our grandparents left their homes in Germany, or England, or Sweden or Czechoslovakia, or even New England, just as they came to a new and strange land, under the special Nebraska sky, on our special prairies, enduring our special winters and our special summers — just as they were pioneers, so are we.

We, too, are leaving behind a familiar world. Government is not what it was even 40 years ago, let alone in 1909 or 1899. Costs aren't what they were, taxes aren't what they were. Services aren't what they were.

I invite you to remember with me what it was like in Nebraska and in the whole country in 1939, the year that I was a 15-year-old senior in high school. Forty years ago, there were rumblings about wastefulness when President Roosevelt proposed a federal budget of nine billion dollars. Today, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare spends that much in a week. In 1939, only one out of 33 Americans paid any income tax at all. Farmers were lucky to earn a thousand dollars in 1939. The average manufacturing worker made $23.86 a week. The average doctor in 1939 earned only $4,200 and lawyers on the average earned only $4,400. Most doctors and lawyers paid $25 or less on their income taxes. A new Ford sedan cost $685 and Sears was offering a cast-iron coal kitchen range for cooking. Forty percent of the people of the United States lacked running water.

Consider how staggering are the changes in four decades today. Will we do as well for our children? It is a task which requires careful thought. Our children have a chance at a better education than most of us. Perhaps we worry more about our children than our parents did. We have to. The world in which they are growing up is stranger and more dangerous than ours.

Probably no one in this chamber has a keener sense of what I am trying to convey than Jim Exon who served this state well for the past eight years. Jim, agree or disagree — you have superlative public class!

I want now to express my appreciation, not alone for that service, but for the splendid cooperation Governor Exon and his staff have provided to me during the transition period. No one could have asked for more.

In an interview with the World-Herald just before Christmas, Governor/Senator Exon looked back over his eight years as Governor and looked ahead to what he sees as the “challenges” of the new administration. Among those challenges are an equitable and workable solution to the problem of state aid to public schools, equalization of property tax valuations, state spending limitations, quality education, water resource management, growing welfare costs — the list is long.

It gets longer, Governor, as my budget briefings now continue. It will require courage and cooperation to seek solutions to those problems. A c courage not unlike that shown by the pioneers and a cooperation with each other that helped them through troublous times, and — let’s keep in mind that dollars and more laws don’t solve all problems.

We have to be pioneers, too. With new spirit, we must find new ways to cope with the new problems our inventions and energy keep creating for us. Fortunately, given able, honest and compassionate leadership from the judiciary and the strong State House team, and with God’s help, we can fulfill that role.

My pledge to you today is that I commit my heart, my mind and my energy to the task. And, believe me, I know how to work hard. I will, however, need the help of all the citizens of Nebraska, the citizens of all of Omaha, and Ogallala, of Lincoln and Lodgepole, of West Point and Weeping Water, of Ruthie’s beloved Scottsbluff, and not to forget Blue Hill and Bow Valley.

I will especially need the help of the Legislature to which I today offer the firm hand of friendship and cooperation. The constitution of our state divides the powers of government into the legislative, executive and judicial branches and provides that “no person or collection of persons being of one of these departments shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others ...”

But, we can work together. We can settle any differences amicably and reasonably, so long as both branches are committed to the best interests of the people of our state. I believe I will have that cooperation. I again pledge mine.

Shortly after the election, I wrote to each member of the Legislature and asked for advice and suggestions. I was most gratified at the response, both from a substantive viewpoint, and from the expressions of good will and cooperation. I am not so naive as to believe that there will never be differences between the Governor and the Legislature. Sometimes verbal sparks will fly to be sure. But, I do have confidence that those differences can be resolved in a civil and dignified manner with each side giving the other the right to hold opposing views.

In personal meetings with a number of state Senators, I have expressed the hope that there would be fewer laws and that those that are passed should contain a sunset provision so that we can continually evaluate state programs. I shall always be conscious of the fact that every woman and man in this Legislature is here by the vote of his or her constituency, whose interests each of them is obliged to represent. That is our system and it has served us well. So, you bet, Senators Chambers, Hasebroock, Lewis, Schmit, Marsh, Wesely and Marvel, yes, and each and every member of our Unicameral.

It is my intention to offer the Legislature, for its consideration, a forward looking program which deals with our most pressing needs, among which is the attraction and expansion of new job-producing businesses in our state, with special emphasis on industries that would process food from Nebraska farm products.

We must continue to find sound and reasonable programs to protect and develop our water resources. And, above all, we must live within our means. That will require the adoption of a state budget and appropriations which require no tax increases. We often talk of Nebraska's land and water as our most valued resources. Yet we know that our most precious resource always will be our people — those people who come from diverse ethnic backgrounds and cultures but within whom, as Willa Cather wrote, still remains the spirit of pioneer hardiness and independence.

That human resource requires nurturing, just as do the corn, the wheat, the oats and the soybeans which cover our fields. We must give high priority to the education of our young. As Governor, I will give special attention to assuring that the dollars invested in education will provide the highest possible return. Together with the fine independent colleges in Nebraska, the institutions which are most responsible for the quality of life in our state today are our three systems of higher education — the University of Nebraska, the four state colleges and the community technical colleges. They have developed most of our community leaders, our professions, our businessmen and our teachers.

I personally, shall never be able to repay the debt I owe for the education which the people of this state made possible for me.

So, to all the citizens of Nebraska, and to their duly elected representatives, I assume the office of Chief Executive with humility, yet, with pride; with concern, yet with confidence. I earnestly solicit your help and your prayers.

I have pledged that this will be an open administration with frequent and extensive access to your Governor. I renew that commitment today. And, as we counsel together, I ask that we invoke the spirit of fortitude and determination which guided our pioneer forebearers.

It is well to recall the words of Theodore Roosevelt:

“Yet, after all, though the problems are new, though the tasks set before us differ from the task set before our fathers, the spirit in which these tasks must be undertaken and those problems faced, if our duty is to be well done, remains essentially unchanged.”

That is the message your new Governor leaves with you today — that we resolve to be true to the memories of the men and women of the mighty past and to take from them the inspiration to meet the future.

My grateful thanks goes to each of you ... especially to you who have chosen, and been chosen, to serve a public trust.

May God bless us all and give us the strength and the wisdom to do justice, and to fulfill with honor the responsibilities which are ours today.

The Governor, Chief Justice, associate Justices, newly elected state officials, Congressional delegation and families were escorted from the Chamber.

Upon Adjournment

(Signed) Steve Fowler, Chairman

ADJOURNMENT

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE

THIRD DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Friday, January 5, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 10:04 a.m.,
President Luedtke presiding.

The prayer was offered by Rev. Wallace E. Easter, Associate Pastor, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

“Blessed is the person who walks not by the counsel of the ungodly, who does not take the road that sinners tread, nor take his seat among the scornful; the law of the Lord is his delight, the law of his meditation night and day.”

Be our light and our guide, Lord God, as a new legislative year begins and as new leaders assume heavy responsibilities in behalf of the people of this State. Look with favor, we pray, upon each member of the Nebraska Legislature, and bless each one according to his or her needs. May each be aware of a mandate higher than that of the ballot box - a mandate from You - to legislate honestly, wisely and well. Give them Your grace to take things as they are, and to resolve, with Your help, to make things what they ought to be. And always, apart from sectarian interests, to welcome and give credit for success; and always, even in the security of majority rule, to accept blame for failure.

Since we cannot always do what we like, grant that we may like what we must do; and as decisions are made that affect the life of this State, keep our leaders mindful that - either through them or in spite of them - Your truth is marching on. Hear our prayer, for the sake of Him who came among us, not to be served, but to serve. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Messrs. Hoagland and Labeledz who were excused; and Messrs. Burrows and Rasmussen who were excused until they arrive.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 3.

Introduced by Carsten, 2nd District, at the request of the Oversight Committee, created by the adoption of LR 156 by the 85th Legislature, 2nd session.

WHEREAS, responsible individuals in key positions on all sides of the issues of state aid to education and the financing of education in Nebraska have unanimously concluded that equalization of property throughout the State of Nebraska is one of the biggest, if not the biggest, stumbling block to a resolution of both the state aid question in general and the question of how to finance education in Nebraska; and

WHEREAS, the efficiency of the equalization system has deteriorated radically in the last eight years; and

WHEREAS, questions have arisen as to whether public officials are performing their jobs as dictated by the statutes of this state in regard to accomplishing equalization; and

WHEREAS, any resolution of the questions of state aid and the financing of public education involves a resolution, first, of the equalization problem; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature has in 1977 passed legislation including but not limited to LB 131 designed to begin to resolve the problem of equalization and which legislation properly deserves close legislative oversight; and

WHEREAS, the integrity of the entire property tax system at all levels of government is predicated upon a just and efficient equalization system in which like items are treated in a like manner; and

WHEREAS, the Legislative Oversight Committee created by the adoption of LR 156 by the 1978 Legislature has examined the system of property assessment in Nebraska, and has concluded that the nature of the issue necessitates that the structure of the committee be retained; and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of the Legislature to insure integrity of this system.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That a special legislative "OVERSIGHT" Committee, consisting of the chairpersons of all of the standing committees of the Nebraska Legislature, and chaired by Senator Cal Carsten, be created by the 1979 Legislature, 1st session;

2. That this Committee be staffed by the Executive Board with whatever aid and assistance and legislative authority is LEGAL AND REASONABLY NECESSARY to accomplish the following:

(a) ANALYSIS and STUDY of what the equalization situation in Nebraska is now;

(b) Determine the effects of the present system of equalization upon public education, the financing of education, and our property tax system in general;

(c) Determine the effects of the present system of equalization upon the state aid question;

(d) Determine whether existing problems are being addressed and whether equalization laws are being complied with and whether officials are performing their duties under such laws.

3. That this special committee should begin work immediately and should conclude and report back to the Legislature its findings on a continuing basis.

4. That this special committee shall in addition to issuing a legislative report, make specific recommendations as to whether special legislation or other affirmative action is necessary to accomplish the goals of equity in equalization and equity in the property tax system.

Laid over.

FOURTH DAY - JANUARY 8, 1979

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE
FIRST SESSION

FOURTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Monday, January 8, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 10:03 a.m.,
President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by Dr. Robert Palmer, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

O God, Creator of all things, as we look out upon a land of white this morning, we realize it is composed of billions of individual grains. So we know that You, Who look on the billions of Your children all over the earth, are as concerned about each of us here as if we were an only child. You understand how hard it is for these servants who serve this state to keep in mind the thousands of their fellow citizens for whom they must legislate. You know the clamor of voices in their ears, the constant tugging at their sleeves, forever trying to influence them; the small voices of little people without money or names; the blatant voices of aggressive pressure groups; the big voices of selfish people and those working for personal gain; even the whispering inner voices of personal ambition those insinuating voices holding out the lure of unmerited reward. Amid all the din of voices, give these your servants the willingness to take time to listen to Your voice, knowing that if they follow the still small voice within, all your people will be served fairly, and all groups obtain what they deserve. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Messrs. Kelly and Merz who were excused; and Messrs. Goodrich and Venditte who were excused until they arrive.

MOTION - Adopt Rules

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 3
January 5, 1979

Dear Senator Newell:

This is in response to your request for an opinion concerning the constitutionality of a bill draft which you stated "deals with the criminal conviction of an elected official." We note that the bill draft attached to your correspondence by its terms appears to encompass both elected and appointed officers of the state or a political subdivision. However, we assume from your inquiry that your concern is directed to the constitutionality of the bill draft as applied to elected officers, therefore we will likewise focus our discussion on that issue.

The bill draft essentially provides that if a state officer or officer of a political subdivision is convicted of a crime, he or she shall be temporarily suspended from office pending completion of an appeal. An acting officer shall be appointed by the appointing authority. If exonerated on appeal, the accused officer shall be reinstated with back wages. The bill draft does not by its terms describe the occurrences if the conviction is affirmed on appeal. However, the provisions appear to us to imply that the temporary suspension would thereby become permanent.

Initially, we note that the word "crime" is commonly interpreted in a broad and general sense to encompass all infractions of criminal law, including felonies and misdemeanors. However, the word "crime" has occasionally been construed to designate only more serious offenses. Violations of traffic offenses and ordinances have been held not to constitute "crimes." 22 C.J.S., Criminal Law section 1, p. 3.

In our opinion, the constitutional issue raised by this bill draft concerns whether the legislature has the power to enact statutes which provide additional grounds and modes of suspension and removal of officers. It is undisputed that the legislature has plenary legislative authority, except as limited by the state and federal constitutions. Orleans Education Association v. School District of Orleans, 193 Neb. 675, 229 N.W.2d 172 (1975). The issue presented herein concerns whether there exists such a constitutional limitation.

The language, "state officer or officer of a political subdivision," employed in the bill draft encompasses both constitutional offices and offices created by statute. Our analysis and resolution of the issue presented herein differs based on the type of office considered.

Generally, where a state office is created by statute, the legislature may provide for the grounds and modes of suspension or removal from office. 81A C.J.S. States section 96, p. 488, section 98, p. 494. See, Fitzgerald v. Kuppinger, 163 Neb. 286, 79 N.W.2d 547 (1956). Similarly, the legislature generally has plenary power to provide for the grounds and modes of removal or suspension of statutory officers of political subdivisions of the state. See, 20 C.J.S., Counties, section 108, p. 908.

The more difficult question presented is whether the Nebraska Constitution restricts the legislature's power to prescribe grounds and modes of suspension or removal of constitutional officers. In Conroy V. Hallowell, 94 Neb. 794, 144 N.W. 895 (1913), the court declared unconstitutional a statute which provided the grounds and manner of removal of county officers, including county judges. Upon concluding that county judges were constitutional officers, the court stated:

" . . . Having provided, fully, by section 20, art. III, and section 5, art. V, the grounds upon which a constitutional office may become vacant, we do not think it is within the power of the legislature to add any other or additional grounds; and, having provided the manner in which the office shall be declared vacant, viz., by impeachment of its incumbent, it is not within the power of the legislature to provide for any other or different method of removal. If this be not so, then the legislature may by statutory enactment provide that the governor, or any other state officer, may be put upon trial upon the accusation of any individual elector, upon some ground other than contemplated by the constitution, and before the district court, and compel him to defend his right to his office upon such complaint, based, it may be, upon prejudice, or prompted by a desire for revenge, instead of giving the official, who has been elected by the people, the right to hold his office until the legislature in joint convention assembled has, deliberately decided, by a majority vote of all the members elected, that he should be put upon his trial, and that when so put upon trial it should be in the supreme court. That there are a few cases inferentially holding that way, we concede; but the weight of authority and the better reasoning are to the contrary." Id. at 800-801.

The issue was again considered by the Nebraska Supreme Court in Laverty v. Cochran, 132 Neb. 118, 271 N.W. 354 (1936). In this case the court declared unconstitutional an act which provided for the removal of constitutional officers upon a finding by the state bonding board that the misconduct of the officer jeopardized the bonding fund. The court stated that:

" . . . It is beyond the power of the legislature to provide for the removal or suspension of a constitutional officer where the Constitution creates the office, fixes its terms, and the grounds and manner of removal." Id. at 125.

Most recently, this rule was followed in Fitzgerald v. Kuppinger, 163 Neb. 286, 79 N.W.2d 547 (1956). The act declared unconstitutional in this case provided that a vacancy in office occurred if the incumbent filed nomination papers for election to another office. Upon reiterating with approval the above-quoted pronouncements in Conroy, supra, and Laverty, supra, the court noted that:

"Article III, section 20, of the Constitution of 1875 is the same as the present Article III, section 23. As is already apparent this section defines the grounds for vacation of a constitutional office. Article V, section 5, of the Constitution of 1875 is the same as the present Article IV, section 5. It prescribes the method whereby the holder of a constitutional office may be removed. As pointed out therein the removal shall be by impeachment." Id. at 292.

We point out that a county attorney, a statutory officer, was the plaintiff who challenged the statute in Fitzgerald, supra. The plaintiff's contention was that with the striking down of the act as to constitutional officers no valid and complete act remained, thus the statute was unconstitutional and void as to statutory officers. The court essentially agreed with the plaintiff upon concluding that the unconstitutional portion of the act was not severable.

We note that Article III, section 23 of the Constitution of Nebraska was repealed in 1972. However, Article IV, section 5 of the Nebraska Constitution, which provides that the method of removal shall be by impeachment, remains unchanged.

In conclusion, it is our opinion that the bill draft is constitutionally suspect for the reason that it is beyond the power of the legislature to provide for the suspension or removal of constitutional officers in a manner other than by impeachment. If the bill draft, by its terms, is limited to officers created by statute, in our opinion, it could probably then withstand constitutional challenge.

Sincerely,
 PAUL L. DOUGLAS
 Attorney General

FIFTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Tuesday, January 9, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 10:02 a.m.,
President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Dear God, we hear that "prayer changes things," but that really isn't true. Prayer doesn't move mountains, but it can move us to move mountains. Prayers won't endorse our blank checks, nor pass the right bills, nor pass the correct legislation, but it can move us to do these things. Prayer doesn't so much need discussion as it needs doing. Prayer isn't a motion to be tabled, it is a mood to be expressed. So as and if we take this moment for prayer, teach us as our spirits reach out to you, that while You may not do all things for us, You can help us do the things when left to ourselves. Prayer doesn't offer escape, it gives encouragement, enlightenment, and can enable us to be better than otherwise we could. May that be our experience today. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Mr. Merz who was excused; and Mr. Venditte who was excused until he arrives.

SIXTH DAY - JANUARY 10, 1979

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

SIXTH DAY - JANUARY 10, 1979*LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL*EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE FIRST SESSION*SIXTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Wednesday, January 10, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 10:00 a.m.,
President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Dear Lord and Father of mankind, forgive our foolish ways; reclothe us in our rightful mind. In purer lives Thy service find, in deeper reverence praise. Take from our souls the strain and stress and let our ordered lives confess the beauty of Thy peace. Deliver us, O Lord, from the foolishness of impatience. Let us not be in such a hurry as to run on without Thee. We know that it takes a lifetime to make a tree; we know that fruit does not ripen in an afternoon and Thou Thyself didst take a week to make the universe. May we remember that it takes time to build the State that can truly be called God's own country. It takes time to find out what we should do; what is right and what is best. Slow us down, O Lord, that we may take time to think, time to pray, and time to find out Thy will. Then give us the sense and the courage to do it, for the good of our State and the glory of Thy name. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Messrs. Lewis, Newell, Pirsch, and Stoney who were excused until they arrive.

Our Father in Heaven, be gracious unto Thy servants, the legislators of this state. Give them strength for the tasks of this day and guide them in their labors. When they are tempted to wonder whether their high goals are possible of attainment, remind them that Thou art not senile, or asleep, or defeated. "A different world cannot be built by indifferent people." Let us never give up hope of the possibility of change. When we feel the pressure of crisis, remind us that Thou hast plenty of time. ### ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Dear Senator Goodrich:

You have requested, in anticipation of introducing legislation, our opinion with respect to the following question:

“Does the Scottsbluff Campus of the University have sufficient legal base when the only legislative action to authorize and create this facility was a resolution which was passed three or four sessions back? Does this campus need statutory authorization to be either created or to be legally continued?”

We have carefully reviewed the exact status of the activities of the University of Nebraska in Scottsbluff. Our understanding at the current time is that the University owns certain lands on what was once the campus of Hiram Scott College. In addition the University owns the Elliot Building on the former college campus.

The Elliot Building is utilized primarily for nonteaching activities. A number of experimental labs exist within the facility which are utilized by a variety of state and University agencies requiring lab facilities. A second portion of the building contains classroom and office facilities which are utilized on a lease basis by a number of state agencies, such as the Mexican-American Commission and other agencies. A part of the building is utilized by the University Extension Division. A portion of that use is by the State University of Nebraska which is a continuing education system established by the University of Nebraska in cooperation with several other state university systems in the immediate geographic area of our state. It is our understanding that as such, no campus exists in the Scottsbluff vicinity. No classroom activities are carried on in that locality.

Whether or not the Scottsbluff facility could be accurately described as the Scottsbluff campus under this state of facts is questionable.

The action of the Legislature to which you refer occurred during the Eighty-Third Legislature, First Session, 1973. During that session, LB 179 was introduced and passed by the Legislature, which was an act to provide for the acquisition and acceptance of properties belonging to Hiram Scott College, Scottsbluff, Nebraska by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska. That bill was vetoed and an override attempt failed. Subsequently a motion was passed by the Legislature in the following form.

“Mr. Carpenter moved that we accept the gift of Hiram Scott, it being understood that such properties be free and clear of all encumbrances (sic) and I further move that such properties be assigned to the Board of Regents of the University for the purpose of administration with the stipulation that unless otherwise authorized by the Legislature, no degree granting course of instruction shall be offered at such property.” (Legislative Journal, page 1949.)

Clearly, assuming the state of facts outlined above exists, the present operation of the property owned by the University of Nebraska in Scottsbluff comports with the motion adopted by the Legislature, June 1, 1973.

Historically, it appears that the Legislature has generally established, by legislation, the right of the University to commence and operate campuses throughout the state. For example, see section 85-102.01, which establishes the Lincoln, Omaha and Medical Institutions as separate units. Section 85-145 et seq., relating to agricultural experiment stations; the provisions of section 85-180 and section 85-181, relating to establishment of a veterinary school; and section 85-183 et seq., involving the University of Nebraska.

In particular, section 85-102.01 provides:

“The University of Nebraska shall be composed of a chief governing administrative unit and three universities, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, University of Nebraska at Omaha, University of Nebraska Medical Center, and such other institutions and units as may be designated by the Legislature.”

In addition, section 85-106, R.R.S. 1943, provides in part:

“The Board of Regents shall have power . . . (7) to provide, through the University Extension Division, for the holding of classes at various localities throughout the state avoiding unnecessary duplication of courses offered by other educational institutions in such localities; . . .”

And finally, section 85-133, R.R.S. 1943 grants the Board of Regents the power of eminent domain. It would appear that under the present operational procedures as we understand them, the Scottsbluff operation of the University of Nebraska would be within the authority granted generally to the University.

In Board of Regents v. Exon, 199 Neb. 146, 256 N.W.2d 330 (1977), the Supreme Court found several statutory schemes relating to the University of Nebraska to be unconstitutional as an improper delegation of authority constitutionally granted to the Regents to some other entity. In this regard, the Supreme Court pointed out that:

“. . . Thus, although the Legislature may add to or subtract from the powers and duties of the Regents, the general government of the University must remain vested in the Board of Regents and powers or duties that should remain in the Regents cannot be delegated to other officers or agencies.”

Thus, under the current status of the operations of the University of Nebraska in Scottsbluff it would appear that no further legislative action is required. We of course caution that should an expansion of these activities be contemplated, the exact expansion would require some scrutiny to determine whether or not legislative authorization should be secured.

Sincerely,

Paul L. Douglas

O God, our heavenly Father, as we resume our duties, restore our faith in the ultimate triumph of Thy plan for the world Thou hast made. LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE

NINTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Tuesday, January 16, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 10:00 a.m.,
President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Rev. Wallace E. Easter, Associate Pastor, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

O Lord our God, before Whom one day we shall all have to give account; give us Your help, that this day's work may be pleasing to You. We come to You now in prayer. Keep this moment from being merely a gesture to custom and tradition, and make it a real experience for each one of us in this place, as we call upon You for guidance and help. Make us now to feel Your nearness in the business of this day's vote through the members of the Legislature, that what they say and what they do may be in accordance with Your will for this Nebraska that we love so much.

You have said, "When you stand praying, forgive, if you have anything against anyone." Give us the grace to lay aside all bitterness or any resentment we may be nursing in our hearts, lest their acid eat into our peace and corrode our spirits.

You have said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."
Give us the grace today to think, not of what we can get, but of what we can give, that a new spirit may come into our work here, with a new vision and a new purpose, that all will be worthy of Your blessing.

Give us Your blessing in all that is right, and correct us in all that is wrong. We pray in the Name of the One Who is the Master Teacher in the art of living, Jesus the Christ. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Mrs. Labeledz, Messrs. Lewis, Reutzel, and Venditte who were excused; and Messrs. Fowler, Maresh, Newell, Simon and Warner who were excused until they arrive.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 5
January 15, 1979

Dear Senator Murphy:

In you letter dated January 8, 1979, you call our attention to a proposed amendment to Article IV, section 11, Constitution of Nebraska. You point out that under our State Constitution, the Office of Lieutenant Governor is now a full-time position, Article IV, section 16. You invite our comments on your proposed amendment.

Presently Article IV, section 11 reads as follows:

“If any elected state office created by this Constitution, except offices provided for in Article V of this Constitution or the office of Lieutenant Governor, shall be vacated by death, resignation or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the Governor to fill that office by appointment, and the appointee shall hold the office until his successor shall be elected and qualified in such manner as may be provided by law.”

You propose to amend this section by striking the words “or the office of Lieutenant Governor.” This proposed amendment, in our opinion, would authorize the Governor to fill the Office of Lieutenant Governor by appointment should a vacancy occur. Presently, the Governor does have the authority to fill vacancies in elected state offices under this provision of the Constitution with the Lieutenant Governor and judges being excepted by its terms.

Yours very truly,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE
FIRST SESSION

TENTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Wednesday, January 17, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 10:01 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Rev. Wallace E. Easter, Associate Pastor, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

God, our Father, in this brief moment the members of the Legislature of the State of Nebraska, representing all our people, ask for Your help and guidance. And if any of us ever feel we have no need for You, then remind us in unmistakable ways of Your great love for us. Make this a moment full of meaning--a moment when these men and women are aware of their need of You--a moment when answers come and guidance is given.

Sometimes we pray for that which is already ours, neglected and unused. Sometimes we pray for that which can never be ours, and sometimes we pray for that which we must do for ourselves.

Sometimes we never pray at all, relying on our own strength, and then we work and worry ourselves to death to gain something that is ours for the asking.

Help us each one this day, O God, to understand that faith without works is dead, and that works without faith can never live for very long. In that spirit bless our work today, which we offer to You for the good of all. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Mrs. Labedz who was excused; and Messrs. Kahle, Lewis, and Warner who were excused until they arrive.

CORRECTIONS FOR THE JOURNAL

COMMUNICATION

January 16, 1979

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and
Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

Section 84-602 lists some of the duties of the State Treasurer and requires under Subsection (6) that the Treasurer...“report to the Legislature as soon as practicable, but within ten days after the commencement of each regular session, a detailed statement of the condition of the treasury, and its operations for the preceding fiscal year.”

Enclosed for your official records is my Biennial Report covering the fiscal period July 1, 1976, to June 30, 1978. This Report, of course, contains a fine tuned statement of the condition of the treasury and our operations for the preceding fiscal year. In addition, I have placed on each Member's desk the November and latest available monthly statement regarding the condition of the treasury. The end of the calendar year compilations have delayed our December 31 statement. This is expected soon and will be distributed to the Members.

Hopefully, the Legislature will find this information adequate for the discharge of my obligation under Section 84-602, Subsection (6).

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) Frank Marsh
State Treasurer

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Thursday, January 18, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 10:01 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Rev. Wallace E. Easter, Associate Pastor, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

O God, our heavenly Father, keep us from a worship of the lips while our hearts are far away.

When we think of the great people out of the past who, by their trust in Thee, helped to give our Nation and this community a glorious heritage, remind us that we honor them best when we follow their good example.

May this moment of prayer find each of us, in his or her own way, reaching out for Thy guidance and help.

We ask not for tasks more suited to our strength, but for strength more suited to our tasks.

Give us faith to look with fearless eyes beyond the chaos and uncertainty of our world and time, believing that out of our efforts, ineffectual as they seem, shall come, with Thy help, the time of peace with justice . . . the time of true brotherhood and sisterhood.

By Thy grace give us the will to work together, and may Thy purpose for Nebraska and for the Nation be fulfilled in some small way by that which we do today. To Thy Name, O God, be the glory. Amen.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

January 18, 1979

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and
Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

Through a clerical error the names of Colonel C. P. Karthausser and Edward C. Binder, M.G. were included in a letter of January 16, 1979 from the Governor, asking for your consideration of his appointments.

Legislative confirmation of the Superintendent of the State Patrol and of the Adjutant General of the Department of the Military are clearly unnecessary. The names of Colonel Karthausser and General Binder should be removed from that record.

We regret any inconvenience to you.

Sincerely,
(Signed) Marilyn Hasselbalch,
Secretary

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Friday, January 19, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 10:00 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Eternal Father of our souls, grant to the members and officers of this body a sacred moment of quiet ere they take up the duties of the day. Turn their thoughts to Thee, and open their hearts to Thy Spirit, that they may have wisdom in their decisions, understanding in their thinking, love in their attitudes, and mercy in their judgments. Let them not think, when this prayer is said, that their dependence upon Thee is over, and forget Thy counsels for the rest of the day. Rather, from these moments of heart searching may there come such a sweetness of disposition that all may know Thou art in this place. From this holy interlude may there flow light and joy and power that will remain with them until night shall bring Thy whispered benediction: "Well done, good and faithful servant." So help us all this day. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL’S OPINION

Opinion No. 8
January 18, 1979

Dear Senator Simon:

You have requested our advice as to possible constitutional impediments to the enactment of legislation “prohibiting utilities from good will advertising and advertising designed to encourage greater consumption.”

Advertising is a legitimate activity and, although subject to some reasonable regulation, it may not be arbitrarily prohibited.

Furthermore, the constitutional right to engage in any lawful private business or enterprise carries with it the right to promote that business through otherwise lawful forms of advertising. See 3 Am.Jur.2d, Advertising, section 4, p. 357. It is those principles which would present a legal obstacle to the imposition of any prohibition against otherwise lawful advertising on behalf of a privately owned public utility.

As for a publicly owned utility, such as a city electric system, for example, the situation is quite different; as the matter of expenditure of public funds would be involved. In 56 Am.Jur.2d, Municipal Corporations, section 205, at p. 263, it is stated: "In accordance with the general rule that municipal funds cannot be expended for private or nonpublic uses, it is held that a municipality has no power to make expenditures for advertising or other forms of publicity, in the absence of legislative authority either in the charter or by statute. . . ." Moreover even where there is an express legislative enactment purporting to authorize a governmental subdivision to spend public money for a specific activity or use, the legislation is void if that activity or use does not in fact serve a legitimate public purpose. Chase v. County of Douglas, infra.

There has long been in existence a statute expressly authorizing municipalities and counties to expend public funds "to conduct and carry on a publicity campaign. . .for the purpose of acquiring. . .a municipal electrical distribution system" and for the purpose of subsequent "exploiting and advertising. . .resources, including utility services, of the city, village, or county." See section 18-1401, R.R.S. 1943 (Reissue 1977). The constitutionality of that statute was under review by the Supreme Court in Chase v. County of Douglas, 195 Neb. 838, 241 N.W.2d 334. The statute had been attacked on the grounds that it constituted an invalid attempt by the Legislature to authorize the expenditure of public funds for advertising and other promotion of the utility services of the City of Omaha, among other things. However, the court found that there was sufficient basis for the Legislature to determine that such advertising and publicity served a public purpose such as to justify the expenditure of public funds therefor. The test which the court applied in reaching that conclusion is reflected in the following excerpt from the opinion:

"The first proposition is that it is for the Legislature to decide in the first instance what is and what is not a public purpose, but its determination is not conclusive on the courts. However, to justify a court in declaring a tax invalid because it is not for a public purpose, the absence of public purpose must be so clear and palpable as to be immediately perceptible to the reasonable mind. . . ."

While Chase v. County of Douglas did not specifically involve the question of advertising by or on behalf of a publicly owned utility, we are inclined to think that such a practice would come within the purview of the court's ruling and that the statutory authority is valid as applied to good will and promotional advertising by a publicly owned utility. This being the case, in order to effect a prohibition against such advertising practices a repeal, pro tanto at least, of section 18-1401 would appear necessary. The mere fact of enactment of section 18-1401, in itself, is some indication of a legislative sense that in the absence of express legislative approval there would be no authority to expend public funds for such advertising and promotion on behalf of utilities. Accordingly, it would appear there may be no real need for any express legislative prohibition. Nonetheless, of course, enactment of a specific legislative ban would eliminate any possible contention that such authority existed by necessary implication from other more general powers.

Very truly yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Dear God, Who knows everything far better than we, we have a difficult time in our discussions and debates deciding in the various issues which side is telling the truth and which one is not. At times we feel that one side is right and the other is wrong, on the other hand we feel that the opposite side is right and this side is wrong. Perhaps the truth of the matter is that each side is telling half of the truth, and half of it is not true. Help us, in the days which lie ahead, to put the right two halves together, that we may know, and speak, and do the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 9
January 19, 1979

Dear Senator Wesely:

We are in receipt of your letter of January 17, 1979, inquiring about the qualifications for the position of Director of Personnel for the State of Nebraska and seeking our opinion as to whether or not Mrs. Janet Pieper meets these qualifications.

The qualifications for this position are set forth in section 81-1304, R.R.S. 1943, as follows:

“Any person who is a graduate of an accredited four-year college or university and who has at least five years of progressively responsible experience in development and administration of a public or private personnel program, including responsibility for development and administration of company or agency policies, supervision of staff or programs, negotiations of personnel matters with other agencies or organizations and a demonstrated knowledge of public personnel administration, testing, classification, wage and salary administration, recruiting, certification, and modern office procedures may be appointed as Director of Personnel; Provided, that not more than two years' experience as a full-time paid faculty member with primary responsibilities for teaching in public or business administration, industrial engineering, sociology or psychology may be substituted for two of the five years' experience required; and provided further, that not more than one year of graduate training in one of the foregoing fields may be substituted for one year of experience.”

From the information furnished, it appears that Mrs. Pieper is a graduate of an accredited four-year college or university having earned her Bachelor of Science degree in mathematics from the University of Nebraska, 1954, her Masters in English from the University of Nebraska in 1969 and her PhD in English from the University of Nebraska in 1976.

She served for a period of three years six months as the Director of the Study Commission on Undergraduate Education and for the eighteen months prior to her appointment, served as administrative assistant to the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

We personally interviewed Mrs. Pieper and reviewed the affidavits presented by her and Dr. Paul Olsen, Director of the Center for Great Plains Studies. We are of the opinion that her qualifications, as presented to us, meet the statutory requirements as to time, nature of duties, and the progressive responsibility required. Therefore, we are of the opinion that Mrs. Pieper is legally qualified for appointment to the position of Director of Personnel of the State of Nebraska.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Such motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged, except that motions to postpone indefinitely and amend do not yield to each other.

When any of the following motions shall be made, any action on such motion shall be delayed at least one legislative day and the motion shall be printed in the Legislative Journal:

- a. Motion to postpone indefinitely on Select File
- b. Motion to advance bills from committee
- c. Motion to place bills on General File, notwithstanding action of a standing committee

(b) When a motion or other proposition is under consideration, a motion to amend and a motion to amend that amendment shall be in order.

(c) Amendments to the title shall be made by the Enrollment and Review Committee.

(d) No motion, proposition, or subject, different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment.

(e) Any member may call for the division of a question, which shall be divided if it comprehends propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the Legislature. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost, shall not preclude an amendment or a motion to strike out or insert.

(f) When motions are made for reference of the same subject to a select committee and to a standing committee, the question on reference to the standing committee shall be considered first.

Referred to the Rules Committee.

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Wednesday, January 24, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

O God, show us the way to go that we cannot find alone. Help us to see how our colleagues and constituents look to Thee, and put out of our mind how they may see to us at times. Keep us on the right track; let us never feel so sorry for ourselves that we lose our way. We want more than anything to keep our relationship with people direct, warm, and steady. We know that we cannot always do this; we know we have not always done it. But help us this day to know what is right, give us the spirit of love for those with whom we work and for whom we are responsible, and then give us the power to do the right as we see it by Thy Spirit. Amen.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Our Father in heaven, we pray for the members of this body in their several responsibilities. Help them in their offices, in committees, and above all as they meet here in legislative session.

May they never forget that what is said and done here is not done in a corner, but always under Thy scrutiny. May they feel the weight of their responsibilities before Thee, and remember the influence of a good example, that all who come to this place may have a stronger faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people.

May the senators so speak and so act that all who wait upon them may be inspired, rather than disillusioned by what they see and hear and are asked to do. O Lord, make Thyself real to these men and women that each may feel Thee sitting beside him, and hear Thy voice, and win Thine approval in all things. So help them, God. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 10
January 22, 1979

Re: Whether enabling legislation for section 1122 reviews is necessary if the reviews are to continue.

Dear Senator Cullan:

Your committee has been asked to sponsor a bill which would authorize the Department of Health to conduction section 1122 reviews. You wonder whether it is necessary to have state enabling legislation in order for such reviews to continue.

As you know, the department has been conducting such reviews for several years. It has done so on the basis of a contract it made on behalf of the State of Nebraska with the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. The terms of section 1122 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. section 1320a-1) are restated in that contract. The contract also requires the state to comply with the federal rules and regulations for implementing that section. It requires the department itself to make rules governing certain aspects of the program.

The Secretary is authorized by section 1122 to make such a contract with any state which is "able and willing" to agree that a designated planning agency will conduct reviews of proposed capital expenditures by certain health care facilities and health maintenance organizations and make recommendations on whether they are needed. If so, the facility making the expenditure may get reimbursements under several federal programs, including Medicare.

There is no corresponding state legislation expressly authorizing the department to enter into such a contract or to conduct such reviews. The department did so because the Governor named the Section of Hospital and Medical Facilities of the department as the designated planning agency to conduct section 1122 reviews and the Board of Health as the appeal board for such reviews.

In making those appointments, the Governor relied on section 84-109, R.R.S. 1943. It provides in part:

"Wherever statewide projects contributed to by any federal agency are initiated within the state, and there is no state agency which is authorized by law to sponsor the same, the same may be sponsored by the governor. . . .[T]he Governor may delegate actual performance of such duties as may be necessary to any department or agency of the state. . . ."

Judge Urbom in a recent federal case found the department had authority to make the rules and regulations required by the contract with the Secretary of HEW. He did so by inferring that section 1122 was incorporated by reference in section 71-2002(2), R.R.S. 1943. We based our approval of such rules and regulations on Judge Urbom's opinion.

However, we find problems with both section 84-109 and section 71-2002(2) as sources of authority for the department to conduct section 1122 reviews and to make rules to facilitate them. Both laws were enacted prior to section 1122. If they are interpreted as authorizing such reviews and rules, then the making of Nebraska law has been delegated to Congress and the determination of which federal laws are to operate in Nebraska has been delegated to the Governor. Neither the Congress nor the Governor should be deciding whether Nebraska is "able and willing" to make section 1122 reviews because under the Nebraska Constitution all legislative power is vested in the Legislature except that which is reserved to the people.

So far the Secretary of HEW has continued to require such reviews as a condition for federal reimbursements under certain programs to health care facilities or health maintenance organizations making capital expenditures as defined in section 1122. However, it is questionable whether the State of Nebraska is "able and willing" to conduct such reviews at the present time. If the Legislature wants to assure the continuation of such reviews, it should enact enabling state legislation.

Sincerely yours,
Paul L. Douglas

FIRST SESSION

SEVENTEENTH DAY

Friday, January 26, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:01 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

It is good, O Lord, that it is not custom that brings us again into this sacred moment of prayer, but our deep sense of need. Forgive us all that we talk too much and think too little. Forgive us all that we worry so often and pray so seldom. Most of all, O Lord, forgive us that, so helpless without Thee, we are yet so unwilling to seek Thy help. Give us grace to seek Thee with the whole heart, that seeking Thee we may find Thee, and finding Thee may love Thee, and loving Thee may keep Thy commandments and do Thy will. Amen.

Monday, January 29, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:01 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Our Father, before we become involved in the routine of this day - with our committees and hearings, our meetings and decisions, and the many interests which clamor for our attention and the people who want us to vote this way and that - we pause to seek Thy help. Experienced in the ways of men, we know all too little of the ways of God.

Thou knowest us, each one, by name and by our need. Turn our wayward minds and hearts to Thee. Forgive the faults and failures of the past and set us free from them. Forgive our failure to apply to ourselves the standards of conduct we demand of others. Forgive our slowness to see the good in our fellows and to see the evil in ourselves.

In our differences may we be kind; in our agreements may we be humble, that Thy will may be done in us, and through us in our common service. Amen.

MOTION - Introduce Bill

Mr. Nichol moved the introduction of a new bill by the Committee on Judiciary (Req. #635).

The motion prevailed with 33 ayes, 0 nays, and 16 not voting.

BILL ON FIRST READING

The following bill was read for the first time by title:

LEGISLATIVE BILL 541. By Judiciary Committee: Nichol, 48th District, Chairman; Pirsch, 10th District; Reutzel, 15th District; Stoney, 4th District; Haberman, 44th District.

A BILL FOR AN ACT to adopt the Nebraska Act to Free Children For Permanent Placement; to amend section 43-209, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1978; to provide for severability; to provide an operative date; and to repeal the original section.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

January 29, 1979

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
Members of the 86th Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I am transmitting herewith as provided by law my recommendations for supplemental appropriations for Fiscal Year 1978/1979. This recommendation totals $8.0 million from the General Fund.

Upon entering office January 4, 1979, I was presented with large deficits in several areas. Even though these have subsequently been reduced, they nevertheless point to large and continuing problems - particularly in the Medicaid program and other cost reimbursements areas.

I invite your particular attention to my request for $700,000 for the Governor's Emergency Fund. These funds will provide for the remaining obligations incurred by last Spring's flooding, the current emergency conditions in the Sandhills, and other emergencies which may occur this coming Spring. It is my recommendation that this fund be maintained at the $500,000 level to meet future emergency conditions. Your early consideration of this request is vital.

In addition, I am recommending $800,000 as the state's share of a $2.4 million cooperative Federal-State-Local Grasshopper spraying program as a supplemental appropriation. These funds will allow the Department of Agriculture to initiate early action to prevent the predicted grasshopper egg hatch this spring, and will allow spraying of 2,000,000 acres. Your favorable consideration of this request is necessary to ensure early availability of funds for this critical program.

Other major recommendations include:

- $2.9 million for increased medicaid costs and a $1.0 million shortfall in expected federal welfare relief.

- $2.7 million for the Department of Education. This recommendation includes $258,000 for increased cost reimbursement for wards of the state, $2.2 million for special education and transportation, and $184,000 to replace a tuition shortfall at the School for the visually handicapped.

- $213,000 for the University of Nebraska for veterinary medicine student contracts.

-$254,000 for increased costs of the Nebraska Employee Information System.

-$200,000 for the Department of Revenue Homestead Exemption Program.

I have not provided for increases in Personal Services Limitations in my recommendations. It is my understanding that your Appropriations Committee will address this area.

Yours truly,
(Signed) Charles Thone
Governor

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 9.

Introduced by Maresh, 32nd District; Burrows, 30th District; George 16th District.

WHEREAS, farmers in and around the communities of Jansen, Harbine, Beatrice, Tekamah, and Blair have made a heavy investment of personal and economic resources in their farming efforts; and

WHEREAS, this investment is reflected in high productivity of fine agricultural products; and

WHEREAS, the farming industry here, as in other areas of our state, depended on rail transportation of their products to markets; and

WHEREAS, abatement of rail service to these communities would require use of more expensive alternate transportation of commodities and necessitate higher fuel consumption which could be reflected ultimately in (1) lower prices for agricultural products, (2) farm income eroded by increased costs of production, and (3) waste of energy; and

WHEREAS, the Rock Island Railroad and the Chicago Northwestern Transportation Company Railroad have proposed abandonment of rail lines which would directly affect the above named communities; and

WHEREAS, this contemplated abandonment has prompted the introduction of LB 507 and LB 508 in the Eighty-Sixth Legislature of Nebraska relating to branch rail lines, and a request for a public hearing before the Nebraska Public Service Commission; and

WHEREAS, there is concern that action by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the proposed abandonment might come before state government has time to resolve this program.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature requests and urges the Interstate Commerce Commission to delay action upon the proposed abandonment described herein until legislative action on LB 507 and LB 508 has been taken and the deliberations of the Nebraska Public Service Commission have ended.

2. That it is hoped and urged that Interstate Commerce Commission action will further be delayed until the completion and evaluation of a report by the United States Department of Agriculture relating to operation of branch rail lines by local citizens.

3. That the Legislature request no further federal action be taken on any proposed rail abandonment until other states have finished deliberations on Branch Rail Revitalization Act legislation pending in various state legislatures.

NINETEENTH DAY - JANUARY 30, 1979*LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL*EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE FIRST SESSION*NINETEENTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Tuesday, January 30, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:01 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Dear Lord, as we drive about these days it is so easy to become stuck in the snow and ice, and the ruts which they create. It's also easy to become stuck in the ruts in which we often are travelling through life, we often spin our wheels, assuming that only if we run faster we'll make progress, while we ought to rest, and remember who we are, and gain some traction from trusting Your truth. Sometimes the only way to get out of a rut is to make a turn to the right, or to the left, and realize that other people who are different from us may have something to teach us. And, even sometimes Lord, we need to back up, to reverse some decision, before we can make any more progress. If this is true of any of us here today, we ask that You will help us get out of our ruts, in our thinking, in our praying, in our voting, for the only difference between a rut and a grave, is that a grave is a rut with the ends knocked off. Don't let that happen to us, not this session, not ever, as Senators, as sinners, as saints, or as survivors in the journey of life. Amen.

FIRST SESSION

TWENTY-FIRST DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Thursday, February 1, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:02 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Dear God, as we rise each morning during these cold days of winter, we look at our thermometer, shiver, and maybe complain. Even when we walk into this chamber, our souls sometimes shiver when we get the cold shoulder, or our bill is frozen in committee, or no one warms up to our ideas. Yet, when the thermometer drops, we do have an alternative, we can turn the thermostat up. So it is with us who stand before You now, some of us are like thermometers, others are like thermostats. Some of us merely record what goes on around us, while others change the atmosphere. Help us all, in those areas where genuine values are at stake, to be change agents for a better environment, that by our speaking and voting, by our choosing and compromising, by the work we do in committee rooms, and the halls of this building, or at our desks, that we be like thermostats that help to regulate a more moderating environment for all where, without boiling or freezing, each citizen of this State may better be able to enjoy the good life in a climate of understanding and equality, liberation and justice. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Messrs. Brennan, Duis, Hoagland, and Murphy who were excused; and Messrs. Fowler, Lewis, Reutzel, Simon, Wesely, Mesdames Labedz and Marsh who were excused until they arrive.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No 12
January 30, 1979

Dear Senator Marsh:

In your letter of January 23, 1979, you requested some clarification "regarding the present appointee to the office of Tax Commissioner, since the individual named as acting director also holds the position of a public power director." You cite Article IV, Sections 2 and 28 of the Constitution of Nebraska for our consideration. We assume that this request is made pursuant to your position as Chairperson of the Committee on Committees and the Committee's responsibility under Rule 3, Section 17(d) of the Rules of the Nebraska Unicameral.

The issue raised by your request is whether a person who has been appointed as acting Tax Commissioner may also continue to serve as a member of the board of directors of a public power district in light of the prohibition contained in Article IV, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution. We have considered the provisions of the Nebraska Constitution that you have cited, and conclude that Article IV, Section 2 does not prohibit a person appointed as acting Tax Commissioner from continuing to serve on the board of directors of a public power district.

Article IV, Section 28 of the Nebraska Constitution provides:

"A Tax Commissioner shall be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. He shall have jurisdiction over the administration of the review laws of the state, and together with the Governor, Secretary of State, State Auditor and State Treasurer shall have power to review and equalize assessments of property for taxation within the state. He shall have such other powers and perform such other duties as the Legislature may provide. His term of office and compensation will be as provided by law."

This provision establishes the office of Tax Commissioner and, thus, brings the office within the prohibition found in Article IV, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution.

Article IV, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution provides:

"No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, and who shall not have been for five years next preceding his election a resident and citizen of this state and a citizen of the United States. None of the appointive officers mentioned in this article shall be eligible to any other state office during the period for which they have been appointed."
(Emphasis added.)

As the above underlined portion of Article IV, Section 2 indicates, persons appointed to offices pursuant to Article IV are not eligible to hold any other state office during the period of time for which they have been appointed. Thus, the precise question raised is whether a director of a public power district holds a "state office" within the meaning of Article IV, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution.

It is our opinion that a member of the board of directors of a public power district does not hold a "state office", and therefore, a person appointed as acting Tax Commissioner is not precluded by Article IV, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution from continuing to serve as a director of a public power district.

In considering whether a particular public office constitutes a "state office", courts have focused on several factors including: (1) the territorial extent of the authority of the office; (2) whether the duties and functions of the office are coextensive with the state; (3) the source of compensation for the office; (4) the degree of supervision of the office by state authorities; and (5) the manner in which a person acquires the office. 81A C.J.S. States section 80, p. 451-55 (1977). It is generally held that a "state office" exists when the powers and duties of the particular public official involved is coextensive with the state and the public official is directly paid by the state. 81A C.J.S. States, section 80, p. 451-55 (1977).

With these specific factors as guidelines, it is necessary to analyze the particular position of director of a public power district. A public power district is a public corporation and political subdivision of the state. Section 70-602, R.R.S. 1943. The procedure for the creation of a public power district is statutory. A district is created by the filing of a petition with the Department of Water Resources. Section 70-604, R.R.S. 1943. The geographic boundaries of the district are required to be set out in the petition and are not imposed by state law. Section 70-604, R.R.S. 1943. The operating area of a district is the geographical area comprising the district's retail and wholesale distribution area. Section 70-604.02, R.R.S. 1943.

The powers granted to a public power district are intended to permit it to operate in a successful and profitable manner. York County Rural Power District v. O'Conner, 172 Neb. 602, 607, 111 N.W.2d 376 (1961). The business activities of the district are run by the board of directors who are elected by voters within the district. Section 70-610, R.R.S. 1943. The authority of the board of directors is not statewide, but is limited to the geographic boundaries of the district's operating area. The salary of the board of directors is set by the board, with statutory maximums, and it is paid solely from the revenue of the district. Section 70-624.02, R.S.Supp., 1978.

In applying the various factors noted above to the position of director of a public power district, it is our conclusion that such a position does not constitute a "state office" within the meaning of Article IV, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution. Particularly persuasive is the fact that a director is paid by the district and not the state and the fact that the director's duties and authority do not extend statewide but rather are limited to a smaller geographic area.

While the Nebraska Supreme Court has never directly addressed the issue of what constitutes a "state office" within the meaning of Article IV, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution, the court has rendered two decisions on related issues which support our opinion that a director of a public power district does not hold a state office. In Neeman v. Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, 191 Neb. 672, 217 N.W.2d 166 (1974), the court held that the Director of Water Resources is a state officer and that officers of the University of Nebraska are not state officers. However, the court did not discuss the reasons underlying the decision.

In State ex rel. Howard v. Marsh, 146 Neb. 750, 21 N.W.2d 503 (1946), the court considered the issue of what constitutes an "executive state office". The court defined an "executive state office" as an office with executive powers and jurisdiction throughout the state. While the court's decision in this case is not directly applicable to the situation herein, the inclusion by the court of the element of jurisdiction throughout the state is some indication that the court may be inclined to limit the definition of "state office" to those offices which have jurisdiction coextensive with the boundaries of the state.

In summary, it is our opinion that Article IV, Section 2 of the Nebraska Constitution does not prohibit a person appointed as acting Tax Commissioner from continuing to serve on the board of directors of a public power district.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

MOTION - Escort Governor

Speaker Marvel moved a committee of 5 be appointed to escort the Governor to the Chamber.

The motion prevailed with 31 ayes, 0 nays, and 18 not voting.

The Chair appointed the following members to serve on said committee: Speaker Marvel, Mrs. Labeledz, and Messrs. Beutler, Carsten, and Warner.

The committee returned and escorted Governor Charles Thone to the rostrum where he delivered the following Budget Address:

GOVERNOR CHARLES THONE
BUDGET ADDRESS TO THE 86th LEGISLATURE
FIRST SESSION

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, distinguished members of the Legislature and friends:

Less than a month ago I was privileged to stand here to take the oath of office as your Governor--an oath in which I swore to faithfully discharge the duties of that office according to the best of my ability.

One of those duties, under our constitution, is to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed and the affairs of the State efficiently and economically administered."

I come here today in fulfillment of that duty and to present to you, the Legislature, my budget recommendations for fiscal year 1979/1980, and to report to you on the State of the State.

And I come to fulfill a compact I made with the people of Nebraska last year that I would present a budget which requires no increase in taxes.

This is an austere budget in that it is a budget of self-restraint and discipline. It was fashioned after long hours of study, thoughtful consideration and reconsideration. No single effort has absorbed more of my time and thought, both before and after my inauguration, than the preparation of the document before you.

There will be those who will label this a "caretaker budget," a description I willingly accept, if by that phrase is meant the literal taking care of the resources of our state, in the same sense that the constitution adjures me to take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Ladies and gentlemen, there are those who only lately have come to realize that the resources of state government are limited, and there are those who have only recently come to recognize that there are limits not alone on our resources but on what government can effectively do. We are relearning that government is not all powerful and ought not be. Just as there are good and legitimate functions of government, so there are many things government cannot do and ought not try to do.

Some of you will recall that more than a year ago when I announced my candidacy for Governor, I said:

"There is a political tide that is just beginning to flow in America. We are on the verge of a powerful political movement. That movement will take away some of the excessive power from the inefficient and non-responsive federal government. Americans are realizing that overgrown, centralized government doesn't work very well. Therefore, we're going to see some power restored to state and local governments."

This is an exciting time to be involved in state government. The programs we fund and administer are people programs. They deal with the needs and situations which people face in their day-to-day lives, ranging from education to transportation, from clean air to safe water, from physical to mental health.

The challenge before us is to perform those services in what has been called "an age of limits."

We have learned, or are in the process of learning, that spending more money is not the best solution to many of our problems, we have learned that there are strict limits on the funds and resources at our disposal.

But merely because there are limits on our resources does not mean we must be limited in our resourcefulness. Having discovered that spending and spending, and taxing and taxing is not the answer, we must use our ingenuity and our management skills to find new and better ways of delivering services efficiently and economically, as our constitution requires.

Bertram Goodhue would recognize the design of this magnificent capitol he created more than half a century ago, but he would be staggered by the changes wrought under its golden dome.

Let us consider what has happened in just the past decade. The General Fund expenditures for the operations of state government and state aid to local government, excluding capital construction, has risen from $163 million in fiscal year 1969/70 to $520 million this year, an increase of 219 percent.

It is well known that America's No. 1 domestic threat is inflation, the primary cause of which is skyrocketing federal spending, with its annual budget of half a trillion dollars, representing 21.2 percent of our gross national product.

The Omaha World-Herald, in its recent survey of business in the midlands, quoted the operator of a string of McDonald's Restaurants in Omaha as saying, "there is a limit to how much the customer will pay. The hamburgers we used to sell for 15 cents are now 40 cents. There's no way it can go on forever."

Nor is this attitude which some have termed a taxpayers' revolt limited to Nebraska.

In his annual message to the New Jersey Legislature, Governor Brendan Byrne said:

"I do not come before you today with a long laundry list of bills to be passed. Rather, I shall submit to you a list of laws to be repealed. It is time New Jersey went on a Legislative and regulatory diet. My challenge to you is to repeal a law for every one you pass."

Governor Willim G. Milliken of Michigan told his Legislature that the message the people are sending is "that they want a better government--that they want their money's worth from government--and that they want government to know what it is doing before it acts."

Governor Bruce Babbitt of Arizona said in his budget message:

"The budget that I have submitted today reflects my response as Chief Executive to the public demand for fiscal restraint. It says to you and the people of Arizona: We cannot afford to do everything, we must live within our means, and we must have tax relief now. We must scrutinize existing programs and expenditures to determine what should be continued and what should not."

And President Carter has proposed to the Congress a budget which clearly recognizes the urgent need to meet and conquer the inflation which threatens to destroy us.

The budget I propose is not a perfect one. In the weeks and months ahead you will have ample opportunity to review it thoroughly through the normal legislative process. I welcome that review and the constructive criticism and improvement it will produce. I will from time to time deliver to you additional messages on the budget, as well as offer my suggestions for addressing the difficult problems of property tax equalization. Statewide property tax equalization in and among political subdivisions is an absolute necessity and being given the highest priority by my office.

It is also my hope that each of you will take advantage of the open door to the Governor's Office. Through this and other means a truly cooperative spirit between the Legislative and Executive Branches will facilitate the fulfillment of our joint responsibilities.

My budget message to you and to the citizens of Nebraska is simple - and straightforward. We must live within our means. We must decide what is necessary, and what we can live without. We must make difficult decisions.

We must set limits, and one sure limit is the current sales and income tax rates. State Government as well as local subdivisions of government must accept limits on expenditure growth.

The budget I present you today is within our means and is within the limits. It is a budget which requires no tax increase.

Yet it is a budget which is forward-looking, which meets our needs, and which sustains and advances Nebraska in the forefront of state and our good life.

The State of Nebraska economy is good and growing. Unemployment this past year has averaged 3.2 percent while total employment is up an average of 20,306 jobs over the previous year. Nebraska's first place composite ranking among the states in a recent study of business climate and quality of life is a source of pride to all of us - and a stimulus to further action. It will be my policy and my goal as Governor to build on these great strengths of ours - our people and our resources - to secure for future generations those blessings we now enjoy.

Agricultural conditions are somewhat improved over what they were a year ago in Nebraska. The livestock industry is presently enjoying a period of profitability. For the ranchers, it is the first real profit they have experienced in five years. Regrettably, some ranchers in our state are facing very difficult days because of the snow and ice and we are offering them all possible assistance.

While the current situation is improved there are danger signals we must not ignore.

The rising costs of machinery, chemicals, electricity, and other sources of energy are keeping farmers in the all too familiar cost/price squeeze.

The parade of tractors now on its way to Washington offers continuing evidence that not all segments of agriculture are receiving fair or adequate prices.

The best available evidence suggests that no less than 60 and perhaps as much as 70 percent of the state's grain storage capacity in commercial elevators and in farm storage will still be filled with unsold and unshipped grain when the combines enter the fields for the 1979 harvest.

Grain shipment is a continuing problem, and is compounded by the fact that perhaps hundreds of bridges on rural roads and some on rural rail lines are unable to stand fully loaded trucks and hopper cars. This, of course, increases transportation costs with the end result of lower profits for farmers.

Pursuant to a bill I was privileged to support while still in the Congress - an estimated $60 million will be available over the next four years to replace bridges on state and local highways and roads. Up to 35 percent of this amount is available for local subdivisions of government.

The expanded marketing program I am recommending to you today is a start in the right direction. But it is not enough, and we expect to make further progress in succeeding years.

Turning to the budget and fiscal condition of the state, the General Fund balance as of December 31, 1978 was $55.2 million, while receipts to the General Fund were 1.1 percent below projections for that date.

The science of revenue forecasting is an uncertain one at best, and perhaps more so in the next and coming years than in others. For fiscal year 1979/80, I have been presented three alternative forecasts by the Department of Revenue: no recession, mild recession, and deep recession.

I am not by nature a pessimist. Nevertheless, amidst national predictions of economic downturn - the congressional budget office among them - the recent opec increases, continuing high levels of inflation, the undetermined success of the President's wage and price policy, and our own Department of Revenue projections, I am constrained to counsel and urge fiscal caution.

My budget recommendations are based on net receipts in FY 1979/80 of $590 million. This is coupled with a 6 percent reserve I am recommending to you and which I believe is prudent at this time.

Further, I sincerely urge you to consider the cost of proposals now lying before you - not just in the light of next year's cost but of future years, as well. Too often in the past, proposals with low initial cost have ballooned upward beyond anyone's expectation. I propose to you that the full future yearly cost of all such proposals play a prominent part in your debate, as it will in my actions as Governor.

The budget of $570.1 million I am presenting you is 6.3 percent above the current fiscal year budget of $536.4 million including those necessary deficiencies which were presented to me upon entering office and which I have delivered to you for your consideration as is provided by law. Included in this total is the added cost of $10.7 million for the expanded Homestead Exemption Program passed by the Legislature just last year, and the next phase of Personal Property Tax Exemption Program which adds a cost of $3.6 million as provided in LB 518. Without these two items alone, my total budget recommendation today would be only 3.6 percent above last year.

In developing this budget, I have reduced state agency requests for operations and aid by 24.2 million and for capital construction by $58.5 million.

Total General Fund expenditures for state operations and state aid are recommended at $563.1 million including $15 million from the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund. Of this amount, 53.3 percent is allocated to state aid to local subdivisions of government and to individuals, 23.8 percent to post-secondary education; and 22.9 percent to operations of state government.

The total General Fund capital construction recommendation of $22.1 million includes $7.0 million for deferred building maintenance as provided by LB 309 including improvements to meet handicapped access standards, $7.0 million for second and third year capital items currently underway, and $8.1 million for other necessary capital projects.

My capital construction recommendation to you is $7.7 million under that approved for the current fiscal year. It is based on finishing previously approved projects, providing for continuation of the important deferred maintenance program, and providing for necessary improvements and renovation of existing structures as priority items given available funds. With the sole exceptions of a new maximum security cottage and visitors center in the York women's facility and initial development funding for a Omaha information center, I am recommending no major new state structures not already authorized. Included within this recommendation is $350,000 in each of the next two fiscal years for the Omaha Central Park Mall and Marina project.

Additionally, I have directed the LB 309 commission to conduct an energy audit of state buildings and campuses to insure the proper utilization and maintenance of boilers, cooling equipment and other energy related items. I was shocked to hear estimates of nearly $9 million potentially needed to replace such mechanical systems in state structures.

Nebraska is truly indebted to its loyal and hardworking public employees. Their dedication to their responsibilities and duties did much to ease the recent transitional period between administrations. In recognition of that dedication and of prevailing economic conditions, I am recommending for your approval a 6.5 percent increase in salaries effective July 1, 1979. This is a figure within the President's wage guidelines and allows a margin for salary grade revisions, merit increases, and other actions which also must count against the guidelines.

At the same time, I intend to take a long, careful look at staffing in state agencies. Increases in productivity and efficiency in all state agencies will ultimately mean better services at lower costs for the taxpayers of Nebraska. President Roskens and his administration have taken a first, hard step in this direction at the University of Nebraska. In this regard, I have directed the State Budget Administrator to delete from the state authorized staffing report all positions which have been vacant in excess of thirty days. He estimates there are approximately 2,000 such positions. Each state agency will be required to submit for review a detailed organizational chart enumerating positions and numbers of individuals necessary to conduct agency business efficiently. Re-establishment of such positions on the authorized staffing report will be contingent on this review. I request all state agencies - including those not under the state personnel system - to cooperate to the fullest in this action.

Our institutions of higher education - the University of Nebraska, the four state colleges and the community technical colleges represent our commitment to the future for our children and ourselves. It is vital that scarce state tax dollars invested in higher education bear the highest possible return.

I am recommending a 6.8 percent increase for the University of Nebraska from $108.1 million to $115.5 million. I am also recommending the concept of a system-wide approach to university management and propose that the appropriation be provided in lump-sum. I have also provided for the agricultural engineering building on Lincoln's east campus, planning funds to begin renovation of the Eppley Library at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, and full funding for the necessary animal holding facility at Curtis.

In addition, I am recommending a 7.7 percent increase in state General Fund for Chadron, Peru, Kearney and Wayne State Colleges for a total of $18.5 million. For community technical colleges I am recommending a state General Fund increase of 6.8 percent.

My recommendations for agriculture and natural resources reflect an increase emphasis in this vital area:

- For the Department of Agriculture, my budget will double the effort in agricultural marketing.

- For the Department of Water Resources, my budget provides for increased stream gauging activities.

- In the area of gasohol, I am recommending $1 million for project grants.

- I have already provided you with my recommendation for a $2.4 million federal-state-local grasshopper spraying program with the state's share at $800,000. I urge that this money be made available prior to July 1, 1979, so that it can be used for maximum benefit.

- For the Natural Resources Commission I am providing $2 million which, if the commission chooses, may be used solely for development projects, and would double the budget in this area.

- For the Governor's emergency fund I am recommending $300,000 plus a deficit appropriation of $700,000. It seems prudent that this fund be maintained at a minimum of $500,000 to meet any natural disaster that may occur.

- Available revenues will accommodate $250,000 as the First-year cost of an updated state water plan which I fully support. Your Public Works Committee is to be commended for its foresight and diligent efforts in this important area.

Human services is a large and growing function of state government. My budget recommendation for the Department of Public Welfare includes an 8.6 percent General Fund increase over the current year including deficits to $71.5 million from the General Fund. The fastest growing sector in public welfare is Medicaid which now amounts to over 55 percent of the total Welfare Aid Budget. Health care costs in general and nursing home costs in particular are rising alarmingly, nationally, as well as in Nebraska.

I share the concern which has been expressed over the effect of these rapidly rising costs and their impact on county budgets, and I support efforts to ameliorate this burden. I do not endorse the total removal of this responsibility from county government.

Further, action must be taken now to stem the cost growth in health care services. Reasonable certificate of need legislation is one answer, but is not in itself sufficient. In the coming months, I will be asking those state agencies with responsibility and expertise in this area to submit to me recommendations on possible state action to bring this program under control.

In the Department of Public Welfare, I have provided for the pass-through of federal benefit increases for state supplemental security income recipients. I am recommending doubling to $280,000 the program for victims of domestic abuse.

In the area of mental retardation, my recommendation includes $1 million from the State General Fund to provide for appropriate evaluations for community placement and continued movement of Beatrice State Developmental Center residents to community programs. Our best estimate is that this will double the amount which will be allocated for this purpose during the current fiscal year. My budget will also ensure the proper level of staffing and care for those residents whose evaluations show they are best served at our fine Beatrice facility.

In the area of education, I would like to call your attention to the fiscal impact of last year's LB 889 which calls for state funding of 90 percent of the cost of preschool handicapped children. The Commissioner of Education has recently put me on notice that the $2.5 million included in their budget request for this program may be as much as $1 million short of currently estimated costs. I will report to you when final costs for this program have been provided.

In the area of correctional services, both the new Diagnostic and Evaluation Facility and the Lincoln Medium/Minimum Security Facility will be operational this spring. These two fine facilities will do much to improve correctional services and the penal environment. I am recommending funds to test an innovative prison staffing strategy called the "unit manager concept". Future funding for this concept would be dependent upon objective evaluations of its impact on inmates.

I have included funds for the new Maximum Security Unit in Lincoln for which construction must start without delay. We are all aware of the critical need for this facility.

Additionally, I have provided funds for the new work-release facility in Omaha and provided for reappropriation of funds for the Omaha medium/minimum facility. Both these projects are essential to our correctional program. Continuing delay in land acquisition is adding thousands of dollars each month to the cost of these facilities - which is now several million dollars higher than when originally planned. If another site must be found to expedite these facilities, then that decision must be made. I have requested the Department of Correctional Services to review possible alternative sites in the Omaha vicinity and will report to you on their conclusions at a later date.

Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, the preparation of a budget by an incoming Governor is never an easy task. I cannot conclude these remarks without acknowledging the expert assistance that I have received from the talented and dedicated members of the budget office under Donald Leuenberger and Brent Stevenson. I have found no group of state employees more capable or more willing. We had a large number of early morning and late night sessions. I want publicly to salute Mr. Leuenberger and his staff of Steve Ferris, Dave Wagaman, Pat McCormally, John Rochford, Jean Larson, Steve Schafer, Arlon Zabel, Gwen Waybright, and Sonia Hart for their skilled professional assistance in the preparation of this budget.

The budget for the coming Fiscal Year is now in your hands. I know it will receive your careful and competent consideration. I renew the invitation I extended earlier, that I am available at any time to counsel with you in any area in which you feel I can be of assistance.

The people of this state have reposed in us their trust and their confidence. It will require the best efforts of all of us to merit their reliance upon us to work together and act together for the public interest for all Nebraskans.

The Committee escorted Governor Thone from the Chamber.

Friday, February 2, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

O God, Who dost watch over every one of Thy children throughout the world, Thou dost understand how hard it is for these, Thy servants, to keep in mind the thousands of their fellow citizens for whom they must legislate. Thou knowest the clamor of voices in their ears, the constant tugging at their sleeves, forever trying to influence them; the small voices of little men without monies or reputation; the blatant voices of aggressive pressure groups; the big voices of selfish men and those working for personal gain; even the whispering inner voices of personal ambition; those insinuating voices holding out the lure of unmerited reward. Amid all the din of voices, give these Thy servants the willingness to take time to listen to Thy voice, knowing that if they follow the still small voice within, all Thy people will be served fairly, and all groups will get what they deserve. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Messrs. Lewis and Reutzel who were excused until they arrive; and Messrs. Brennan, Duis, Fowler, Hoagland, Kelly, and Murphy who were excused.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY - FEBRUARY 6, 1979*LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL*EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE FIRST SESSION*TWENTY-FOURTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Tuesday, February 6, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:03 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

O Lord of our lives, wilt Thou teach us true discrimination, that we may be able to discern the difference between faith and fatalism, between activity and accomplishment, between humility and an inferiority complex, between a passing salute to God, and a real prayer that seeks to find out God's will. We can stand criticism. We can stand a certain amount of pressure. But we cannot stand the necessity of making grave decisions with nothing but our own poor human wisdom. Our heads are not enough and our hearts fail us. Cabbages have heads, but they have no souls. We, who are created in the image of God, are restless and unhappy until we know that we are doing Thy will by Thy help. This is what we pray for. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Messrs. Cullan and Lewis who were excused.

CORRECTIONS FOR THE JOURNAL

TWENTY-FIFTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Wednesday, February 7, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:01 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Eternal God, for the members of this legislature who are serving the people of this state, sometimes accepting personal abuse, misunderstandings, and often sacrificing home and family, we are grateful. May they feel that their service has been worthwhile. And may they be given a time of spiritual, mental, and physical re-creation, so again they may face problems too intricate to solve, yet require a vote nevertheless.

Give to each one of these senators a righteous purpose from which no alluring incentives may cause them to deviate. Give them a toughness of will that no tribulation can destroy. Give them a coolness of mind, which can think objectively, and a warmth of heart which has compassionate logic as well as deep understanding that as we come to the end of this session we may merit Thy benediction, "Well done, good and faithful servant." Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Mr. Murphy who was excused until he arrives; and Messrs. Schmit and Venditte who were excused.

CORRECTIONS FOR THE JOURNAL

The Journal for the Twenty-Fourth Day was approved.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 12
January 29, 1979

Dear Senator Chambers:

This is in reference to your correspondence of January 23, 1979, concerning section 83-151, R.R.S. 1943. You inquire whether a literary work produced by an inmate "on his own time and with his own resources" is exempt from the operation of section 83-151 as it now reads. In our opinion such an item would fall within the exempted class.

We call to your attention the fact that LB 319, introduced in the present session, would delete the language about which you inquire from section 83-151.

Yours truly,

Re: LB 75

Dear Senator Keyes:

This is in reply to your inquiry concerning the authority of the Legislature to permit the sale of state-owned real estate by other than public sale, and place the proceeds of the sale in an agency account rather than the General Fund.

Insofar as the Constitution of the state is concerned, we have found no specific provision which would prohibit the sale of state-owned lands, other than state school lands, by other than public bid or auction, and the placing of the proceeds of the sale in an agency fund rather than the General Fund of the state.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

O God, Who hast set before us so many and such great choices, Thou knowest that we are divided often in our own hearts and we do not know which way to go. There seems to be some good in so many of the bills before us, yet how can we be expected to understand all the implications of each measure? Help us therefore to remember that there are some things that are wrong and some things that are right and that the responsibility for what we do ultimately rests upon ourselves - our wills, our mind, and our hearts. So give us that awareness of right and wrong which shall enable us to do a good work for the people. In Thy name. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL’S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 15
January 29, 1979

Dear Senator Warner:

You have asked us for advice on whether the Legislative Fiscal Analyst may have access to data contained in computer files. The question arises because of the provisions of section 81-1117.02 which prohibits the release of information to “any person or persons” without written approval by both the agency and the employee “to whom such data pertains.” Section 50-420 provides:

“Each officer, board, commission and department of state government shall furnish such information to the Legislative Fiscal Analyst as he may require.”

In determining the question it is necessary to determine whether the phrase “person or persons” as used in section 81-117.02, R.R.S. 1943, encompasses employees of the state performing their duties under law. Generally person is held not to include the state. See, Hanson v. Commissioner, 181 N.E.2d 843 (Mass.). This general law operates under the presumption that the term “person or persons” excludes the state from a number of situations, including actions under the Civil Rights Act, for instance, and certain liabilities arising in tort law.

There are, of course, many exceptions to this general rule. One of those exceptions is that the state is considered to be included within the term “person” in a declaratory judgment action in Nebraska. See, City of Lincoln v. First National Bank, 146 Neb. 221, 19 N.W.2d 156 (1945). Additionally, the Legislature has defined the term “person” in section 49-801, R.R.S. 1943 (18):

“Person includes bodies politic and corporate, societies, communities, the public generally, individuals, partnerships, joint stock companies and associations.”

This definition, along with the construction of the term “person” in other statutes in Nebraska leads us to the conclusion that the term “person” as used in the statutes normally would include the state. By including the state, it would appear that the use of such a term would include the agencies of the state seeking information which pertains to a particular individual or which has been generated and is maintained by some entity other than the computer operations division of the Department of Administrative Services. Thus, to the extent that the information sought is generated by another agency and pertains to an individual employee the fiscal officer would not have access to that information in computer form. He would, of course, have access to that information from the agency responsible for generating and maintaining the information, a more time consuming process but nonetheless one that exists. For that reason the specific prohibition contained in section 81-1117.02, coupled with the criminal provisions provided in section 81-1117.03, R.R.S. 1943, would dictate a prudent course of refusing access to computer files upon the request of the Legislative Fiscal Officer.

In your second question you ask whether the following language inserted in section 81-1117.02 would clear up this problem of securing information from DAS by the Legislative Fiscal Analyst.

We do not believe the language will clear up your problems as you describe it. Section 50-420 does not require the release of any information. It merely authorizes the Legislative Fiscal Analyst to secure information from officers, boards, commissions, and departments. It would appear advisable that more general language be inserted in this section which would authorize the release of information maintained in computer files to state agencies and state officers where such information is required for them to perform their duties as mandated by statutes. Such general language would then authorize the Legislative Fiscal Analyst to secure information in the performance of his duties as specified under section 50-419, R.R.S. 1943. Some language such as “except as required by another state officer or agency in the performance of his official duties” would clearly authorize release of such information to the Legislative Fiscal Analyst.

Opinion No. 16
February 6, 1979

Dear Senator Keyes:

You have asked our opinion as to the constitutional validity of LB 150. This bill would amend section 77-1701, R.R.S. 1943, by adding at the end of that section the following language.

“In any county in which a city of the metropolitan class is located, all statements of taxes shall include special assessments for cutting weeds, removing litter, and demolishing buildings.”

At first glance it may appear that the amendment may be unnecessary, because the earlier portions of section 77-1701 provide that the county board may direct that a statement of taxes and special assessments be mailed or otherwise delivered to the person, firm, association, or corporation against whom such taxes are assessed, and providing that the taxes and special assessments be shown on separate amounts and that the special assessments be identified.

However, we have talked with a deputy county attorney of Douglas County, and he informs us that while Douglas County has been sending out statements for special assessments, they have been separate statements, and they have not been included in the statement for general taxes. Apparently the proponents of the bill want the special assessments mentioned in the bill included in the statement for general taxes, and that is what the bill will accomplish.

We see no constitutional problems about requiring the county treasurer to send statements of the type described. He is the ex officio collector of all taxes levied within the county, including special assessments assessed by the cities within the county. We see no constitutional reason why the Legislature cannot give instructions as to how he shall go about it.

In limiting the reach of the bill to those counties in which a city of the metropolitan class is located, however, the bill may be in conflict with Article III, Section 18, of the Constitution of Nebraska. This section has been held to prohibit unreasonable class legislation. In this instance we find some difficulty in ascertaining the reason for limiting the bill, instead of making it applicable to all counties.

All cities and village have authority to cut weeds, remove litter, and demolish buildings, and assess the costs against the real estate. All, no doubt, have similar problems in collecting such special assessments, although, of course, a city of the metropolitan class will naturally have more such instances of unpaid special assessments, because of its larger size. The impact on smaller cities and villages may just as severe, however.

We have examined the transcript of the committee hearing on the bill, to see if we could find a reason for the limitation. We find a suggestion that possibly it could include all counties, but the statement was made that this was a good clean bill, and that making it applicable to all counties might stir up a hornet's nest outstate and kill it. If that is the only justification for limiting the reach of the bill, it is not, in our opinion, a sufficient reason.

The court has sanctioned different legislation with respect to cities of various classes, but this bill is not limited to cities of the metropolitan class, but to counties in which such a city is located. There could be other cities and villages in that county. The bill would require tax statements sent out by the county treasurer to include the specified special assessments of such other cities and villages. It is difficult for us to see why the problems and needs of cities and villages located in the same county as a city of metropolitan class are different from those of similar cities and villages in other counties.

In Axberg v. City of Lincoln, 141 Neb. 55, 2 N.W.2d 613 (1942), the court held a statute dealing with a matter of statewide concern, but excluding from its reach cities of the first class governed by a home rule charter, to be in violation of Article III, Section 18. We believe that LB 150, in making its provisions applicable to special assessments of cities and villages located in a county having a city of the metropolitan class, may be subject to such infirmity.

Opinion No. 17
February 6, 1979

Re: Rule 1 of the Board of Examiners in Embalming

Dear Senator Duis:

As Chairman of the Legislature's Administrative Rules and Regulations Review Committee, you have received a complaint about Rule 1(3) (a) of the Board of Examiners in Embalming which requires that unembalmed bodies dead of certain communicable diseases are to be encased in a metal or metal lined and hermetically sealed container. You are concerned about the financial consequences of such a rule. You are also concerned that the Board of Examiners in Embalming and not the Department of Health made the rule.

The duties and powers of the Department and the Board are closely intertwined in regard to the licensing and disciplining of embalmers, funeral directors and funeral establishments. All are licensed by the Department and disciplined by the Department. However, the Board has some input in these procedures by conducting the licensing examinations and by recommending licensing or disciplinary action. The Board is appointed by the Department for the purpose of giving examinations to applicants for licensing as embalmers. This duty goes back to 1927. Its duties in regard to funeral directors and funeral establishments under Chapter 71, Article 13 began in 1957. As you pointed out, those duties do not include express authority to regulate the transportation and disposal of bodies dead of communicable disease.

The Department, however, has specific authority under section 71-502, R.S.Supp, 1978, to adopt general rules and regulations to promote sanitation and prevent the introduction or spread of disease. It has done so in Rule 19 of the Department. Rule 19(3) (b) is entitled "Transportation and Disposal of Bodies Dead of a Communicable Disease." It provides:

"(See 'Rules and Regulations Relating to Embalming and Funeral Directing', published by the Bureau of Examining Boards.)"

Rule 19(3) (b) of the Department of Health thus appears to incorporate by reference Rule 1(3) (a) of the Board of Examiners in Embalming. (Under section 71-121.01, R.R.S. 1943, the Bureau of Examining Boards of the Department of Health is responsible for the general administration of the activities of the Board of Examiners in Embalming.)

Rule 1 of the Board has been filed and refiled without any changes at least since 1973. During the general refile of rules in 1975, it was approved by our office on the basis of prior approval. It has been approved by the Governor and is on file with the Secretary of State and with the Revisor of Regulations. Thus, under section 84-906, R.R.S. 1943, there is a rebuttable presumption that it was duly and legally adopted. There is a procedure outlined in section 84-911, R.R.S. 1943, for determining the validity of any rule by filing a petition for a declaratory judgment in the District Court of Lancaster County. (As you know, we questioned the authority of the Legislature to make such a determination itself through the procedures outlined for your committee in Laws 1978, LB 44. See Attorney General Opinion No. 24 dated February 25, 1977, attached.)

Sincerely yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

TWENTY-SEVENTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Friday, February 9, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:01 a.m, President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

O God, our Father, believing that Thou created us in Thine image, with a vast potential for growth and creativity, grant us now courage to stand for what is right; give us perseverance to contend against the wrongs of society; and afford us the wisdom to discern the difference.

We are painfully aware that most issues, by and large, cannot be discussed in terms of black or white, for they contain strands of gray. Therefore, when we are often called upon to make compromises, may they be not in the nature of giving up our principles but of trying to understand the other person's principles the better.

May we not lose confidence because of the intricate problems of discretion and decision, but know this is one reason why we have been put here on earth - to make decisions, for ourselves and others.

Give us, therefore, the incentive to lean toward the truth, toward the right, and toward the good. We pray in our Lord's name. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Messrs. Fowler, Goodrich, and Johnson who were excused until they arrive; and Mrs. Labedz and Mr. Venditte who were excused.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 18
February 8, 1979

Dear Senator Koch:

This is in response to your letter of February 6, 1979. In that letter you note that Neb.Rev.Stat. Section 79-1247.07 (Supp. 1978), provides (1) that all certificates and permits to teach, counsel, supervise, and administer in all elementary and secondary schools in this state shall be issued by the Commissioner of Education; (2) the contents of the certificates or permits; and (3) the fee to be paid by the applicant for the issuance of the certificate or permit. You also state that the Education Committee has before it LB 126 which would add a subsection to Neb.Rev.Stat. Section 79-1247.07 (Supp. 1978), to wit:

“The commissioner may issue any certificate or permit without payment of the fee required in subsection (1), (2), (4), (5) of this section, to an applicant who files with the office of the commissioner evidence that the applicant’s currently valid certificate or permit was issued under payment of the applicable fee and contains erroneous information that was not the responsibility of the applicant.”

You then ask us to review and comment on the following: “Under the existing statute, may the Commissioner of Education permit the issuance of a corrected certificate without the applicant being required to resubmit another fee to correct errors made by the Department of Education, the Department of Administrative Services, or any other state agency? Is the pending legislation necessary?”

I.

We have examined Neb.Rev.Stat. Section 79-1247.07 (Supp. 1978), and find nothing in that statute which would authorize the Commissioner of Education to charge an additional fee for the issuance of a corrected certificate or permit. Moreover, it is well settled law that where statutes do not expressly authorize a charge for service performed by a public officer, such service must be performed gratuitously. See, inter alia, Ehlers v. Gallagher, 147 Neb. 97, 22 N.W.2d 396 (1946); and State ex rel Tomka v. Janing, 183 Neb. 76, 158 N.W.2d 213 (1968). We are therefore of the opinion that when it is brought to the attention of the Commissioner of Education that certificate or permit issued pursuant to Neb.Rev.Stat. Section 79-1247.07 (Supp. 1978), contains error(s) caused by the Department of Education, the Department of Administrative Services, or any other state agency, the Commissioner of Education must issue a corrected certificate or permit gratuitously.(sic)

II.

We have also examined the proposed amendment to Neb.Rev.Stat. Section 79-1247.07 (Supp. 1978), which is stated in LB 126 of the Eighty-Sixth Legislature, First Session, and find that it merely reflects the common law, which is cited above. Consequently, in our opinion, LB 126 is wholly unnecessary.

Very truly yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Tuesday, February 13, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:01 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Eternal God, our Father, may this be a day of high visibility for us. So often our mental and emotional ceiling is zero. We try to think clearly and see accurately, but are often fogged in. May we through contact with Thee lift our thoughts above the clouds where there is clear visibility and broad perspective for making our decisions. Remind us afresh that "they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint." Amen.

3 the following:

4 "Section 1. As used in this act, unless the 5 context otherwise requires, department shall mean the 6 Department of Roads.

7 Sec. 2. The department shall have authority to 8 determine that (1) a railroad crossing shall be 9 eliminated, (2) automatic railroad grade crossing
10 protection devices shall be installed, modified, or 11 improved, or (3) other measures are necessary to improve
12 public safety at railroad crossings.

13 Sec. 3. The department shall establish and 14 update, as needed, a priority list for improving the 15 safety of railroad crossings in Nebraska. The list shall 16 identify all crossings in need of safety improvements and 17 the relative order of need.

18 Sec. 4. In establishing the priority list under 19 section 3 of this act, the department shall consult with 20 railroad officials and governmental subdivisions to 21 determine where railroad crossing safety measures are 22 needed. The department shall consider the accident
23 history of the crossings, the amount of traffic at the 24 crossing, traffic speed limits, population density,
25 visibility of the crossing, any information provided by 1 notices filed with the commission under section 7 of this 2 act, the results of any investigations conducted by the 3 Public Service Commission under section 74-913, Reissue
4 Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, and similar factors.

5 Sec. 5. When any political subdivision of this 6 state determines that public safety will be improved by 7 eliminating a crossing or by the installation,
8 substantial modification, or improvement of automatic
9 railroad grade crossing protection where a street, road,
10 or highway intersects with a line of the railroad company
11 within its jurisdiction, and demand is made upon the 12 railroad company concerned, either the railroad company
13 or the political subdivision shall inform the Department
14 of Roads of such fact.

15 Upon receiving such notice, or upon its own
16 determination, the Department of Roads shall forthwith
17 examine the crossing concerned, in conjunction with 18 representatives of the political subdivision and the 19 particular railroad company involved, to determine
20 whether the position of such crossing on the priority list

21 established under section 3 of this act should be 22 adjusted.

23 Sec. 6. The department shall utilize any 24 federal funds available in the construction of railroad
 25 grade crossing protection devices or other safety
 26 improvements. If funds are needed to match any federal 27 funds the political subdivision in which the crossing is 1 located shall contribute half of the funds needed but
 2 shall not be required to provide more than five per cent
 3 of the total cost. The balance of any funds needed shall 4 be paid by the department from the Grade Crossing
 5 Protection Fund.

6 Sec. 7. When an accident occurs at any railroad
 7 crossing within the State of Nebraska which results in 8 serious personal injury or loss of human life, the 9 corporation operating the railroad which was involved in 10 the accident shall within one day thereafter notify the 11 department that an accident has occurred and shall 12 promptly furnish to the department a copy of the same
 13 notice that it is required to furnish to the Nebraska
 14 Public Service Commission and Federal Railroad
 15 Administration.

16 Sec. 8. That section 39-6,195, Revised Statutes
 Supplement, 1978, be amended to read as follows:

 8 ~~particular railroad company involved, to arrive at an~~
 9 ~~estimate of the cost and the type of automatic railroad~~
 10 ~~grade crossing protection that should be required, and~~

15 (1) If the department, the political subdivision

 27 removal, if any, shall receive two thousand dollars or 1 the actual cost thereof but not to exceed twelve thousand
 2 dollars from the Grade Crossing Protection Fund;

3 (3) (2) In order to facilitate and protect the 4 interest of the public as a whole, and to compensate for

 6 Department of Roads shall pay eighty eighty-seven and one
 7 half per cent of the cost of such automatic railroad
 8 grade crossing protection measures or devices from the 9 Grade Crossing Protection Fund, and the balance of the 13 a Railroad Transportation Safety District has been 14 formed, such balance shall be borne entirely by the 16 (4) (3) It shall be the sole responsibility of 17 the railroad company involved to maintain all automatic 18 railroad grade crossing protection devices existing in 19 this state as of August 24, 1975. For any automatic 20 railroad grade crossing protection device installed or 21 substantially modified or improved in this state on or

 25 costs for maintenance thereof and the balance of such 26 annual costs for maintenance shall be borne by the 27 railroad companies at whose railroad crossings such 1 devices are constructed;

2 (5) (4) The Department of Roads shall allocate
 3 the amount to be borne by the Grade Crossing Protection

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Eternal God, we acknowledge that You show Your love for us in so many ways, through the world around us, through opportunities for service, through our families, and friends; help us on this Valentine's Day to realize the spirit of genuine love, not just the kind of love which desires to get, not just the kind of love which desires a favor, but the kind of love that genuinely cares for other people, for their needs, for their hopes and ambitions. May this kind of love so permeate our thinking and acting this day, that we may control our tempers and regulate our speech, that we may have a central calm in the midst of storms, that we may love others while differing from them. Give us this kind of love so that, though others may know we differ with them, they will know we genuinely care for them, even as You have loved us. Amen.

6 follows:

7 18-416. No public or private utility company
8 furnishing water, natural gas, or electricity at retail 9 in this state shall discontinue service to any domestic

11 the utility company shall first give ~~written~~ notice as 12 provided in section 3 of this act by first-class mail or 13 in person to any subscriber whose service is proposed to 14 be terminated. If notice is given by first-class mail, 15 such mail shall be conspicuously marked as to its 16 importance. Service shall not be discontinued for at 17 least seven days ~~prior to termination~~ after notice is 18 sent or given. Holidays and weekends shall be excluded 19 from the seven days. As to any subscriber who has 20 previously been identified as a welfare recipient to the 21 company by the county welfare department, such notice
22 shall be by certified mail and notice of such proposed
23 termination shall be given to the county welfare

6 Sec. 3. The notice required by section 18-416
7 shall contain the following information:

8 (1) The reason for the proposed disconnection;

9 (2) A statement of intention to disconnect,

10 unless the domestic subscriber either pays the bill or 11 reaches an agreement with the utility regarding payment

12 of the bill;

13 (3) The date upon which service will be 14 disconnected, if the domestic subscriber does not take 15 appropriate action;

16 (4) The name, address, and telephone number of 17 the utility's employee or department to whom the domestic 18 subscriber may address any inquiry or complaint;

19 (5) The domestic subscriber's right, prior to the 20 disconnection date, to request a conference regarding any 21 dispute over such proposed disconnection;

22 (6) A statement that the utility may not

24 conference;

25 (7) A statement to the effect that disconnection

2 subscriber's household has an existing illness or 3 handicap which would cause such subscriber or resident to 4 suffer an immediate and serious health hazard by the 5 disconnection of the utility's service to that household.

6 Such certificate shall be filed with the utility within 7 five days of receiving notice under this section and will 8 prevent the disconnection of the utility's service for a 9 period of thirty days from such filing. Only one
10 postponement of disconnection shall be allowed under this 11 subdivision for each incidence of nonpayment of any due 12 account;

20 and that they should contact their caseworker in that 21 regard; and

22 (11) Any additional information not inconsistent
23 with this section which has received prior approval from 24 the board of directors or administrative board of any 25 utility.

26 Sec. 4. Each utility subject to this act shall 27 establish a third-party notice procedure for the 1 notification of a designated third party of any proposed
2 discontinuance of service, and shall advise its 3 subscribers, including new subscribers, of the 4 availability of such procedures.

5 Sec. 5. A domestic subscriber may request a
6 conference in regard to any dispute over a proposed
7 discontinuance of service before an employee designated

8 by such utility to hear such matters.

9 Sec. 6. The employee designated by the utility 10 shall hear and decide all matters disputed by domestic 11 subscribers pursuant to this act. Such subjects to be 12 heard shall include matters relating to a disputed bill.

13 Sec. 7. A domestic subscriber may dispute the 14 proposed discontinuance of water, natural gas, or 15 electricity by notifying the utility with a written 16 statement that sets forth the reasons for the dispute and 17 the relief requested. If a statement has been made by 18 the subscriber a conference shall be held before the 19 utility may discontinue service.

20 Sec. 8. Upon notice to the employee designated 21 by the utility of any request for a conference by a 22 domestic subscriber, the employee shall:

23 (1) Notify the domestic subscriber, in writing,
24 of the time, place, and date scheduled for the

26 (2) Hold a conference within fourteen days of the 27 receipt of the domestic subscriber's request. Such 1 conference shall be informal and not governed by the 2 Nebraska Rules of Evidence. If the employee determines
3 at the conference that the domestic subscriber did not
4 receive proper notice or was denied any other right
5 afforded under this act, the employee shall recess and 6 continue the conference at such time as the subscriber
7 has been afforded his or her rights.

8 Sec. 9. The employee of the utility shall,
9 based solely on the evidence presented at the conference,
10 affirm, reverse, or modify any utility's decision which 11 involves a disputed bill which results in a threatened 12 termination of utility service. The employee shall allow 13 termination of utility service only as a measure of last 14 resort after the utility shall have exhausted all other 15 remedies less drastic than termination.

16 Sec. 10. Any domestic subscriber may appeal an 17 adverse decision of the utility employee to a management
18 office designated by the utility or to the utility board
19 when designated by the utility. Each utility shall 20 establish a hearing procedure to resolve utility bills
21 appealed by domestic subscribers. The procedure shall be 22 in writing and a copy of such procedure shall be 23 furnished upon the request of any domestic subscriber.
24 Such appeal shall be filed with the management office or 25 utility board within the time specified in the procedures
26 established by the utility.

1 Sec. 11. Nothing in this act shall prohibit any

6 (1) Be represented by legal counsel or other

12 reaching the decision to propose termination or to take 13 other action which is the subject of the hearing;

14 (3) Present witnesses and offer evidence;

15 (4) Confront and cross-examine such other 16 witnesses as may appear and testify at the hearing; and

17 (5) Make or have made a record of the proceedings
18 at his or her own expense.

19 Sec. 13. In any appeal filed pursuant to 20 section 10 of this act, the management office designated 21 by the utility shall notify the domestic subscriber of 22 the time, place, and date scheduled for such hearing.
23 The notice requirements, hearing procedures, and other 24 rights of domestic subscribers shall be set forth in the 25 procedures established under sections 10 to 12 of this 26 act.

1 Sec. 14. This act shall not apply to any
2 disconnections or interruptions of services made
3 necessary by the utility for reasons of repair or 4 maintenance or to protect the health or safety of the 5 domestic subscriber or of the general public.

6 Sec. 15. If any section in this act or any part 7 of any section shall be declared invalid or 8 unconstitutional, such declaration shall not affect the 9 validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions
10 thereof.

May these Senators, who represent us, represent Thee and, in Thy Spirit be courageous enough to begin anew, fearless enough to admit mistakes, and loving enough to forgive others. ## ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 21

Dear Senator Kelly:

You have asked whether or not the question of amending a current state statute can be placed by the Legislature on a statewide ballot for final resolution by the electorate at large. We think not.

While such could be accomplished directly by the electorate through the initiative process, we do not believe the responsibility for amending or not amending an existing statute can be delegated in this manner.

We have considered this question previously and on that occasion stated in pertinent part:

“. . . In the first place, Section 1 of Article 3 of our constitution provides that ‘the legislative authority of the state shall be vested in a legislature.’ It then provides that, ‘the people . . . reserve power at their own option to approve or reject at the polls any act, item, section, or part of any act passed by the legislature.’ The option is not given to the legislature to refer laws to the people . . .” Opinion of the Attorney General No. 46 dated April 26, 1965, beginning on page 73 of the Reports of the Attorney General for 1965-66.

While we believe no statutory authority currently exists for the placing of an item on a statewide ballot for an advisory or “straw vote” such could no doubt be enacted by the legislature and such an election conducted. The results of such vote, however would not be binding in any way upon the legislature. This conclusion was reached in Opinion of the Attorney General No. 93 dated July 14, 1965, found beginning on page 142 of the Reports of the Attorney General for 1965-66.

We hope you will find this information useful to the resolution of the matter now before you, and if we can be of further assistance to you on it, please let us know.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

TRANSCRIPT

Statements of Court at conclusion of hearing

Tried before the Honorable Warren K. Urbom, on December 28, 1978, in Lincoln, Nebraska.

APPEARANCES

Mr. Lawrence I. Batt,

For Plaintiffs;

Messrs. Jerold V. Fennell and Henry L. Wendt,

For Defendants.

THE COURT: I deal first with the motions to dismiss, both of which are bottomed upon the proposition that the Court should abstain from deciding any issues in this case, at least, at this time; first because of the doctrine enunciated in Younger v. Harris, page 401, United States 37, cited in 1971. Essentially that case held that a federal court should not interfere in the criminal process of any state.

Subsequent cases have made it clear, I think that, that does not mean that a federal court should not determine the constitutionality of a procedure or a statute even if it involves criminal sanctions, where there is prospect of prosecution and there has been no prosecution of the plaintiff involved in the case in which the injunction is requested or where a prosecution has been had of the plaintiff but the prosecution is completed.

It is inappropriate for this Court, in my judgment, to abstain on the theory to proceed would be an interference with the state criminal process. This will not interfere with any state criminal process because there is at this moment no state criminal process that is now functioning around this statute involving these plaintiffs. There may be other prosecutions, and I have no concern about them.

The second ground for requested abstention is that the state court may interpret these statutes in some way which will be useful to this court and might avoid the constitutional issues. I deem that improbable, although I confess it is not out of the range of possibility. As I am able to review these particular statutory provisions that are under attack, they are not subject to very much judicial interpretation that is likely to remove the challenges of them. They are subject to a good deal of interpretation but not, I think, in respect to which they are here challenged, although I don't rule that out as a possibility; I only say as to most of them, at least, I think there is not much probability that an interpretation will eliminate the constitutional issues. Accordingly the motion to dismiss will be denied.

Now with respect to the matter of the preliminary injunction, I do rely upon the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals' opinion in Fennell v. Butler, decided on February 6, 1978. I don't have the federal citation but the case is numbered 77-1782 and 77-1822, in which alternative grounds for granting a preliminary injunction have been adopted by the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals. There may be either, number 1, a showing that the moving party, here the plaintiff, had a substantial probability of success at the trial and that, that party will suffer irreparable injury in the event the injunction is denied, or a showing that there are sufficiently serious questions going to the merits to make them a fair ground for litigation and a balance of hardships tipping decidedly toward the party requesting preliminary relief.

I think either of those grounds now are legitimate and I shall therefore weigh the arguments for and against preliminary injunction against both of those accepted grounds.

In any exposition about abortion we must begin with Roe v. Wade, 410 United States, 113, which insofar as it is particularly relevant in this case, held that during the first trimester, that is, the first approximately 12 weeks of pregnancy-and I quote now-"the State may impose no restrictions or regulations governing the medical judgment of the pregnant woman's attending physician with respect to the termination of the pregnancy." That is the end of the quotation.

That language was repeated in the 1976 case of Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth, 428 United States, 52, and it is in that context that the statutes under it particularly must be viewed; because these statutes deal with the first 12 weeks of pregnancy, as well as other periods, but it is those first ones that are particularly crucial insofar as any attempt by the state to intrude upon the judgment of the physician and the pregnant woman in deciding whether there should be an abortion. Beyond the 12 weeks it is quite another matter but those early weeks are particularly sensitive insofar as state intrusion is concerned.

I comment about Section 28-326 of the statute, not because I think it is likely to be held unconstitutional because all it does is define terms, but because it is incorporated into several other statutory provisions which carry criminal sanctions for violations, and insofar as these definitions, therefore, are within those statutes they become important and need to be analyzed. Two of them are singled out or identified for attack. One is Subsection 1, which defines abortion. The particular problem of the definition, insofar as constitutionality is concerned, is that it includes an act committed with intent, or without intent but producing a particular result. Subsection 8 of the same

Section is also challenged because it defines Accepted Medical Procedures.

It seems to be that the particular problem with that subsection is that it leaves anyone dealing with a possible criminal act uncertain as to what he or she can do legally. The definition there is indeed an acceptable definition I think-I don't need to hold this, I merely observe-and I think it's an acceptable definition for civil purposes; but this is not a civil matter; this is a criminal matter; and an obligation arises to be very specific about what can and what cannot be done. This would leave it to expert testimony, I suppose, and ultimately to the jury to decide what physicians in the same neighborhood or in similar communities engaged in the same or similar kinds of work, would ordinarily do under the circumstances; and that is an accepted malpractice or negligence definition. It is not likely to be a regularly accepted criminal definition.

Section 28-327 requires that a physician inform an expectant mother on agencies and services that are available to assist her in carrying her child to natural term and of possible medical and mental consequences of an abortion.

In light of Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth, which approves the requirement of the consent of the mother before an abortion, the general thrust of that Nebraska statute appears to be acceptable. The difficulty arises, I agree with the plaintiffs, over the uncertainty of what is meant by "abortion." It seems to me that a physician could quite easily violate this law criminally without intending to do so because of a lack of knowledge of whether the person he was treating was pregnant, and not knowing she was pregnant, he could treat her for something else, and failing to inform her of possible consequences of an abortion or of agencies available to her, that he could be liable criminally. That is a serious matter, I think, in criminal statutes, and raises a substantial question of the constitutionality of that provision. I am not declaring it is unconstitutional. I am saying it presents a substantial issue.

That same section requires the passing of at least two days after the signing of the certificate that she has been informed by the physician of these alternatives, before an abortion can be had.

In light of the language that I read from Roe v. Wade-it says that the state may impose no restrictions or regulations governing the medical judgment of the pregnant woman's attending physician with respect to termination of the pregnancy, and in light of the fact that a prime interest acknowledged in Roe v. Wade is the interest of the pregnant woman deciding whether to have an abortion, in my judgment, that provision of 28-327 is probably unconstitutional for at least one reason, and perhaps two. One is that it appears to be a restriction or regulation which interferes with the woman's decision, as well as the decision of the physician. We can imagine instances where two days would make no difference at all, and it might be a very wholesome thing; but in other instances where two days would be critical and would be enormously difficult to overcome by someone who is pregnant. And the statute makes no distinction between situations in which it is critical and when it is not.

And the other reason for possible unconstitutionality is that it appears to require a waiting period for a particular kind of surgical procedure which apparently is, or may well be unique, insofar as Nebraska statutes are concerned. That is to say, I know of no other statute which requires a person to wait before getting a particular surgical procedure for two days. What the reason for it is, is uncertain. I suppose it might be to encourage thoughtful consideration. At this moment, at least, I can't see any likelihood that it can be shown that those two days have any particular relevancy insofar as obtaining careful consideration is concerned. I will be surprised if it develops that people who have abortions do not almost always give it much consideration.

28-329 declares that no abortion shall be performed or prescribed after the unborn child has reached viability, except when necessary to preserve the woman from imminent peril and substantially endangers her health-her life or health. This is one which does not deal with that first 12 weeks but the third trimester. The only difficulties I see with it are, one, on the definition of abortion, which is incorporated into it, which is broad because it requires no intent or knowledge; and the statute itself, 329, does not require any knowing violation, intentional violation. It requires no awareness that the person is pregnant. It merely prohibits abortion.

I confess that the likelihood of that being accidentally violated is not very strong, in view of the fact it pertains only to state of viability.

I am not persuaded that, that one is one on which the plaintiffs are likely to succeed; nonetheless, relying on the second alternative, it is a seriously serious question, and makes it a fair ground for litigation.

Now as to 28-330, it is required that every precaution in an abortion be taken whenever possible, to insure the protection of the viable unborn child and requires the use of accepted medical procedures. When read in light of 28-332, which makes violation of 330 a criminal offense, I think the definition of abortion, the definition of accepted medical procedures and the lack of any knowledge or intent or wilfulness to be present in order to institute a violation presents a substantial question of its constitutionality.

28-331. That is the difficulty in connection with a criminal statute, in that it uses the term which the statute does not define and one which would be difficult to ascertain, namely, the commonly accepted means of care. That term is not defined in the statute; and I think raises a substantial question whether such a criminal statute which contains no requirement that there be a knowing or intentional or wilful violation, is constitutional.

Section 28-333.1 prohibits the performing of an abortion of any minor child under the age of 17 without her written consent of a parent or guardian. In view of Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth, I think that is clearly unconstitutional, insofar as it relates to the consent of the parent, and insofar as it relates to the consent of the child, if it can be said that, that requirement is severable from the other under the severability clause. The difficulty centers around whether the state has a right to insist without any alternative that consent, written consent be given. My impression is, that based upon Bellotti v. Baird, 428 U. S. 132, it probably requires an alternative to be stated to take care of those persons who cannot give consent. And there is no alternative here provided; and I think that presents a substantial question of its constitutionality. Subsection 2 under 28-333 forbids any abortion on any minor child without her written consent and a written statement that she has consulted with her parents or guardian. That subsection suffers from the same disability, in that it provides no alternatives for her own written consent; and it provides no alternative to consultation with her parent or guardian.

In the spirit again of Bellotti v. Baird, I think the problem is, it provides no leeway for a minor's best interest may require that she not consult with a parent or guardian, and it leaves to no one any flexibility in that regard. Another problem is that it may arbitrarily distinguish between the consent of a person under 19 who is unmarried and one who is under 19 and married. Whether that issue can rightly be waived by these plaintiffs is an interesting one, and I want to discuss that, but it may be a problem, in view of the fact that these plaintiffs are physicians and not pregnant women.

Section 28-343 relates to records which must be kept. It is not specifically mentioned in the complaint so far as I can see; it was not specifically mentioned in plaintiff's brief. I gather from the oral argument the plaintiff doesn't want to abandon the idea that, that section may also be unconstitutional. I think there are problems with it. There is no provision for confidentiality; and in the Planned Parenthood case the Court specifically said that the fact that the statute provided for confidentiality and for keeping the records only seven years, were factors that assisted in persuading the Court that the provision was constitutional. The Nebraska statute has no such provision. Now I am aware that the statute does not require the listing of the names of the women who have had abortions, but it requires the listing of many other things which may, at least in many counties in Nebraska, identify the person very nicely; and does not prohibit the Bureau of Vital Statistics from requiring the revealing of names, so far as I can see. It says that the Bureau of Vital Statistics shall establish a form; such form shall include the following items to such other information as may be necessary to complete the forms. That doesn't mean, I acknowledge, that the names will be there. I am saying it does not prohibit; and in no sense does it provide that those records will not be public records; therefore, I have serious questions about the constitutionality of that.

Now the second part of the test, because I have relied in some instances upon the second part of the test set out in Fennell v. Butler, is whether the balance of hardship tips decidedly towards the party requesting the preliminary relief. I think they do. It seems to me that anyone faced with a prospect of criminal prosecution for performing some act, as these plaintiffs are, is in a precarious position. He must make a decision of whether to refuse to perform some act which in his or her professional judgment, is needed or warranted, on the one hand, and performing the act and facing criminal prosecution, and that is a difficult decision for anyone to make; and the result is bound to be either that a person will not receive the medical care which the physician believes should be performed or the physician will face criminal prosecution. Either is a substantial hardship.

The hardship, on the other hand, is that the state officers will not be able to prosecute criminally. And it seems to me that, that is not a very great hardship. Now whether I ought to weigh in the balance the interest that the state has, in effect, protecting family unity, in protecting the interests of the state and health of the person, and the interest that the state may have in preventing the elimination of fetuses, I am not sure. But I think that if I do weigh those in the balance, I nonetheless conclude that given the history that we have already from the Supreme Court of the United States on abortion matters, and the competing interest that are legitimately involved, by the mother, by the family, by the state, by the physician, I must say that the hardship possibilities tip decidedly toward the party requesting the preliminary relief, who are here the physicians.

The result is, that I will enter a preliminary injunction which will be in effect until the matter can be heard with full trial, prohibiting the enforcement of those sections that I have specifically named. Now there were two or three that I neglected to mention, I think, and I should do that now, because the preliminary injunction asks that they also not be enforced.

28-334 is tied to 28-333, and thus 333 cannot be enforced and neither can 334. 28-335 requires the performing of an abortion only by a licensed physician. As I understand, the plaintiffs don't much like it, but on the other hand, do like it. The only difficulty I see with it, as I think they have pointed out, is the definition of abortion. I think I shall not enjoin that one.

336 forbids the performing of an abortion by using anything other than accepted medical procedures, and that is tied to earlier statutory provisions and suffers from the problem of permitting an uncertain standard of what accepted medical procedures are in a criminal statute, and thus that one should be enjoined.

337 declares that a hospital and other such facilities shall not be required to admit any patient for the purpose of performing an abortion or permit an abortion to be performed there. I shall not prohibit that. At this point, at least, I am not persuaded that it presents the kind of constitutional issue which ought to be involved in such a proceeding.

The same, I think, is true with 338, and 339 and 340. I admit there are questions, but I will not enjoin them. Nor 341, nor 342. 344 goes with 343 and should be enjoined. 345 similarly enjoined with 343 and 344, and should be enjoined.

MR FENNELL: Your Honor, I would like a clarification on your order. I believe in my notes, you have enjoined Sections 327, 328, 329, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35 but I did not clarify the 36.

MR. BATT: Yes

THE COURT: Yes. I intended to enjoin 36.

MR. FENNELL: Fine. That is what I wanted. And the others I mentioned are correct?

THE COURT: Yes. All right. Thank you very much.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 22

Dear Senator Lewis:

This is in response to your request for our opinion concerning whether city councilmen of first class cities are presently prohibited from also serving as members of the housing authority. Pursuant to a conversation with a member of your staff, we understand that the issue involved herein may potentially be the subject of proposed legislation. Based on that understanding, we will proceed to address the question you have raised.

Section 16-101, R.R.S. 1943, defines cities of the first class as those cities having more than five thousand and not more than one hundred thousand inhabitants.

Section 19-601, R.R.S. 1943, provides that for the purpose of sections 19-601 to 19-661, R.R.S. 1943, the term, "city," includes any city having a population of one thousand or more and less than two hundred thousand. Therefore cities of the first class are included in these provisions.

Pursuant to section 19-611, R.R.S. 1943, the governing body of the city is the city council. The qualifications for serving as a member of the city council are enumerated in section 19-613, R.R.S. 1943, which provides in pertinent part:

"Members of the council shall be residents and qualified electors of the city. . . [T]hey shall not hold any other elective public office or any other office or employment of the city. . ."

The above-cited statutory provisions indicate that a resolution of the question you have posed turns on the nature of the position of a housing authority member. Pursuant to section 71-1523, R.R.S. 1943, a housing authority is created by a resolution passed by the governing body of a city, village or county. If a housing authority is created by a city, under section 71-1524, R.R.S. 1943, its members or commissioners are appointed by the mayor with the approval of the city council. If a housing authority is created by a county, under section 71-1524, R.R.S. 1943, the county board appoints the members or commissioners of the housing authority. Under section 71-1526, R.R.S. 1943, the power to remove a housing authority commissioner is granted to the person or entity which appointed said commissioner. Section 71-1524(3), R.R.S. 1943, provides that the housing authority commissioners receive no compensation, but they are entitled to expenses.

In our opinion a commissioner of a housing authority created by a city is a city officer for the purpose of section 19-613, R.R.S. 1943. Therefore city councilmen may not simultaneously serve as city housing authority commissioners.

The more difficult question involves whether city councilmen may serve as commissioners of county housing authorities. The appointment and removal power of the county board, as well as the operating area of the authority, indicate that county housing authority commissioners are not city officers. There is legal authority which indicates that it is also the nature of the duties performed which determine the characterization of the office. 62 C.J.S., Municipal Corporations, section 462, p. 893. However, in our opinion a county housing authority commissioner is not a city officer for the purpose of section 19-613, R.R.S. 1943. Therefore there appears to be no statutory prohibition against city councilmen serving as commissioners of a county housing authority.

However, the common law doctrine of incompatibility precludes dual office holding in certain situations even in the absence of a specific statutory prohibition. If the two offices are directly incompatible then one person may not hold both simultaneously. The doctrine is rather nebulous, as it is founded on notions of public policy.

Our research has revealed one case in this jurisdiction which considers the incompatibility of offices. In State v. Wait, 92 Neb. 313, 138 N.W. 159 (1912), the court stated:

“ . . . incompatibility in office exists ‘where the nature and duties of the two offices are such as to render it improper, from considerations of public policy, for an incumbent to retain both.’ ” Id. at 324.

The test for incompatibility of offices appears to be:

“ . . . whether there is an inconsistency in the functions of the two, as where one is subordinate to the other ‘and subject in some degree to its revisory power,’ or where the duties of the two offices ‘are inherently inconsistent and repugnant.’ ” Id. at 323.

Cases from other jurisdictions which have considered incompatibility of offices, involving a municipal office, reach inconsistent results. 62 Municipal Corporations, C.J.S., section 485, p. 924-925.

While there may be particular situations where a decision made is affected by the dual office holding, it is impossible to predict with any degree of certainty whether our courts would conclude that the offices of county housing authority commissioner and city councilman are incompatible.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 24
February 14, 1979

Dear Senator Hoagland:

In your letter of January 30, 1979, you raise certain questions about the immunity of Nebraska State Legislators for words spoken and actions taken in their legislative capacity. Enclosed for your use and information is a copy of a very recent decision from the United States District Court for the District of Nebraska in the case of Green v. DeCamp, et al., CV78-L-167 decided by Judge Urbom on January 29, 1979.

This litigation arose out of the activities of the select committee of the Nebraska Legislature reviewing the operations of the criminal and drug divisions of the Nebraska State Patrol. In dismissing the action against the defendants, Judge Urbom generally analyzed the law applicable in such situations.

He refers to the United States Supreme Court decision in Tenney v. Brandhove, 341 U.S. 367 (1951) where the court held that the state legislators acting in a field where legislators traditionally have power to act are immune from civil liability under the Federal Civil Rights Act. Specifically the court held:

“. . . the civil rights statutes were not intended to make legislators personally liable for damages to a witness injured by a committee excising legislative power. . . .”

Judge Urbom also relates in this opinion that the Supreme Court has decided a series of speech and debate cases and has held with reference to members of Congress that they are immune from judicial inquiry into their votes, their speeches on the Floor of Congress, their decisions to circulate information to other members of Congress, their participation in committee investigations and proceedings, and their issuance of subpoenas pursuant to a legitimate committee investigation.

On the other hand Judge Urbom relates that members of Congress are not immune from judicial inquiry into their public distribution of materials gathered by committees, or their acceptance of bribes in return for votes on pending legislative business.

With respect to the immunity of state legislators, the United States Supreme Court stated in Tenney v. Brandhove, supra:

“The claim of an unworthy purpose does not destroy the privilege. Legislators are immune from deterrents to the uninhibited discharge of their legislative duty, not for their private indulgence but for the public good. One must not expect uncommon courage even in legislators. The privilege would be of little value if they could be subjected to the cost and inconvenience and distractions of a trial upon a conclusion of the pleader, or to the hazard of a judgment against them based upon a jury’s speculation as to motives. . . .

“Investigations, whether by standing or special committees, are an established part of representative government. Legislative committees have been charged with losing sight of their duty of disinterestedness. In times of political passion, dishonest or vindictive motives are readily attributed to legislative conduct and as readily believed. Courts are not the place for such controversies. Self-discipline and the voters must be the ultimate reliance for discouraging or correcting such abuses. The courts should not go beyond the narrow confines of determining that a committee’s inquiry may fairly be deemed within its province. To find that a committee’s investigation has exceeded the bounds of legislative power it must be obvious that there was a usurpation of functions exclusively vested in the Judiciary or the Executive. . . .”

One of the main issues in the Green case was the disclosure of the information obtained through the processes of the committee to the news media. Judge Urbom points out in his opinion that legislators have been held immune where they have authorized the publication of information gathered but not where they have arranged for the publication. Judge Urbom held that in Green the fact that the committee released the report to the press was different from authorizing its publication and that something further would have had to have been alleged in order for a cause of action to arise under the theory that a legislator arranged for the publication of these materials. As Judge Urbom points out in his opinion, the case drawing the distinction between the authorization of the release and an arrangement for the publication of these materials is Gravel v. United States, 408 U.S. at 625.

Therefore as you can see, legislators are generally immune from personal liability where they are acting in their official capacity in areas where legislators traditionally have power to act and will not be held liable generally speaking for actions arising out of votes, statements made in debate or committee hearings or other official actions taken as a member of the Legislature or of a legislative committee.

You also ask whether or not this office would provide representation where actions are brought against members of the Legislature. It is our opinion that we would as we did in the Green case represent a legislator in an action brought against him as a state senator for words spoken in debate or for actions taken in his official capacity as a legislator.

We can however conceive of factual situations where the words spoken or the actions taken by a state senator could be construed as being taken by that person as an individual and not as a state senator. Only in such unlikely situations as that would we feel that our representation would be inappropriate.

After you have an opportunity to review Judge Urbom's decision in Green v. DeCamp, please let us know if we can be of any further assistance in clarifying our position on the question of legislative immunity or our representation in any such actions brought.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Enclosure

Opinion No. 25

Dear Senator Kelly:

You have submitted to us a proposed amendment to LB 263. This amendment would provide that when a construction contract exists calling for a fixed price, and the sales and use tax rate is increased during the term of the contract, the contractor may apply for a refund of the increased amount of tax paid. In order to qualify, the contractor must file the contract with the Department of Revenue within sixty days of his becoming legally bound to perform the contract.

A somewhat similar provision was contained in the original Sales Tax Act, passed in 1967. Section 77-2703(1) (i) provided for a refund of tax paid on the purchase of tangible personal property used in the performance of a construction contract for a fixed price entered into before the effective date of the act. In Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.W.2d 322 (1967), numerous attacks were made on the constitutionality of the act, but that particular provision was not discussed. We can, in any event, see no constitutional reason why the Legislature cannot make such a provision, so that persons can enter into contracts without the danger that the building will cost more, or that the contractor will have to pay unexpected taxes out of his contract price.

However, the amendment leaves some answered questions. Many contracts will take several years to complete. What will be the situation of a contractor whose contract was entered into more than sixty days before the effective date of the act? He cannot comply with the sixty day requirement, so, under the literal language of the amendment, he would not qualify for a refund if the sales tax is increased before the completion of the contract. This might raise an unreasonable classification question, in violation of Article III, Section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution, or the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

We also call attention to the fact that the sixty day clause will almost require all contractors to file all of their contracts with the Department of Revenue, whether or not a change in the tax rate has been put into effect, or is even expected, in order to protect themselves against an unexpected change. This does not raise a constitutional or legal question, but will, not doubt, be a nuisance for the Department of Revenue, who can be expected to receive thousands of such contracts.

The administration of the law will be difficult. One problem that will occur is with respect to changes in the construction contract. Almost all such contracts are modified from time to time, as the owner decides to get more expensive equipment, or enlarge or alter the plans. Should the modifications of the plans, involving increased expenditures for personal property, entitle the contractor to refunds on the increased expenditures for personal property? The bill does not say, but even if it did, we anticipate that making the necessary factual determinations would be very difficult.

In short, there may be some constitutional questions with respect to contracts executed more than sixty days before the effective date of the act, and there will be considerable difficulties in administering the law.

You say that you are considering another concept, which has not yet been drafted. Under this concept, the increased tax would be collected, but would be the responsibility of the owner, who would be required to either pay it directly to the Tax Commissioner, or to pay it to the contractor.

To require the owner to pay it directly to the Tax Commissioner would create an administrative nightmare for the Tax Commissioner and the retailer selling the personal property. Let us suppose the tax is increased from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent. The contractor may purchase personal property from dozens of suppliers. Let us assume he purchases $200 worth of such property from one retailer. He pays $6.00 tax to the retailer, and informs him the other $1.00 is to be paid by the owner. The retailer must then keep a record of the sale and the name of the owner, the contractor, etc., so he can justify having collected only $6.00 when he is audited. The Tax Commissioner must then try to collect $1.00 from the owner. This will hold true for all of the suppliers who sell personal property to be used for the contract in question. The administrative cost of collecting such tax from the owner would unquestionably far exceed the tax collected.

The other alternative, to have the contractor pay the increased tax at the time of purchase, and collect it from the owner, does not create such administrative problems, but may run into constitutional difficulties.

It would seem that the question of who should bear the burden of an increase in sales tax between the time of the execution of a construction contract and the purchase of necessary personal property is one which can, and should, be determined in the contract itself. The contract can contain a specific provision on the question, or the court can decide it, in the absence of such a provision. We fail to see how society has any interest in the question, or how any public policy is involved. In United States Brewers Association v. State, 192 Neb. 329, 220 N.W.2d 544 (1974), the court said:

“Freedom to contract and to acquire and sell property in a lawful manner are valuable constitutional rights. The power of the Legislature to regulate and restrict the exercise of these rights is limited by the Constitution of this state and of the United States.

“The exercise of the police power must be directed toward and have a rational relation to the basic interest of society rather than the mere advantage of particular individuals. . . .”

Contractors can provide in their contracts that the owner shall pay any increase in sales tax. By the same token, owners can refuse to agree to do so, and insist that the contractor pay such increase. It is a matter for negotiation, and we can perceive no public policy that is involved. We therefore question whether a statutory provision requiring reimbursement of the contractor by the owner would withstand a constitutional attack.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 26
February 15, 1979

Dear Senator Murphy:

You have requested an opinion from this office concerning the word “reasonable” as found in LB 27. You question whether or not the Legislature should incorporate into the bill some measurement of what the word “reasonable” implies in order to assist the court in its determinations. From a legal perspective we do not believe that it is legally required that you do so. However, it is on the other hand also legally permissible to incorporate into the legislation some guidance or measurement concerning the intended use of the word “reasonable”.

As we read LB 27 it has incorporated some guidance as to what the word “reasonable” should include. That language is as follows:

“ . . . A consideration of whether the depth of a domestic well is reasonable shall include but not be limited to whether the depth was such as to anticipate potential well interference from those irrigation wells in use when the domestic well was drilled.”

Whether or not the Legislature deems it necessary to further define or limit the application of the word "reasonable" is a matter of legislative prerogative. The courts of this state as well as all other jurisdictions have in one form or another interpreted the word "reasonable". The Black's Dictionary defines the word reasonable as "Just; proper. Ordinary or usual. Fit and appropriate to the end in view." From the particular application of the word "reasonable" in LB 27, it would appear that it requires a domestic well driller who drills a well subsequent to the drilling of an irrigation well to drill the domestic well to such a depth and in such a manner such as to anticipate, foresee and avoid potential well interference that might be caused by the ordinary or usual(sic) operation of the irrigation wells already in existence.

In conclusion, it is not legally necessary to incorporate into LB 27 some measurement of what the word "reasonable" implies in order to assist the courts in their determinations. Furthermore, we do not believe that LB 27 is constitutionally vague for lack of some measurement of what the word "reasonable" implies. However, it is a matter of legislative prerogative whether or not to include some further refinement or measurement or what the word "reasonable" is intended to mean as it is found in LB 27.

Very truly yours,

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Our Father in heaven, today we pray for Thy gift of contentment, that we may not waste our time desiring more, but learn to use and enjoy what we have.

We may not know everything, but we may know Thee and Thy will. We need not be rich to be generous, nor have all wisdom to be understanding. Our influence may not be great, but it can be good. Our speech may not be eloquent, but it can be truthful and sincere. We cannot all have good looks, but we can have good conscience, and having that, we shall have peace of mind and need fear no man.

May we be kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as Thou, daily doth forgive us. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 27
February 16, 1979

Dear Senator Hoagland:

You have raised a number of questions concerning the Legislature's power to obtain documents through the issuance of subpoenas and the potential liability of individual members of a committee issuing such subpoena and the potential liability of persons complying with such an order.

Your first and most basic question was whether or not the Legislature had the power to subpoena. Although there is no express statutory authority directly granting legislative committees the power to issue subpoenas requiring the appearance of witnesses and the production of documents, there are a number of statutes and cases from which this power may be implied.

Section 50-105, R.R.S. 1943, provides in part that:

“The Legislature has power and authority to punish as a contempt by fine or imprisonment, or either of them the offense . . . of disorderly or contemptuous conduct tending to disturb its proceedings; or refusing to attend or to be sworn or to be examined as a witness before the Legislature or a committee, when duly summoned. . . .”

On the basis of the language contained in this section, it may reasonably be inferred that the Legislature has the power to issue subpoenas requiring the appearance of witnesses. It should be noted, however, that section 50-105 does not contain any reference to the power of the Legislature to compel the production of documents. The inference that this section grants a legislative power of subpoena is therefore less clear when documents are at issue.

In addition, section 50-406, R.R.S. 1943, provides in pertinent part that:

“In the discharge of any duty herein imposed the [legislative] council, or any committee thereof, shall have authority to administer oaths, issue subpoenas upon approval of a majority of the council or committee, compel the attendance of witnesses, and the production of any papers, books, accounts, documents, and testimony . . . .”

Although the language of this section limits the subpoena power to the legislative council and any committee thereof (whose function is to consider legislative policies between sessions of the Legislature), it was invoked as a basis for subpoenas issued by the judiciary committee in investigating the operations of the Criminal and Drug Divisions of the Nebraska State Patrol. Whether section 50-406 was properly asserted as a basis for those subpoenas was never subsequently challenged and there was, therefore, no judicial decision on the validity of that action. Whether section 50-406 authorizes the issuance of subpoenas by the Legislature during regular session remains an open question.

A third possible basis for the issuance of subpoenas may be found in the inherent powers of the Legislature and committees thereof. It has been said that the inherent and auxiliary power reposed in legislative bodies to conduct investigations in aid of prospective legislation carries with it the power, in proper cases, to require and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers by means of legal process, and to institute contempt proceedings in order to compel the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such documentary evidence as may be legally called for in the course of such proceedings, whether conducted by the legislative body or by a branch thereof, directly or through properly constituted committees. See, e.g., Ex Parte Battelle, 207 Cal. 227, 277 P. 725 (1929). The power to issue subpoenas may thus be viewed as a necessary and essential corollary to the inherent power of the Legislature to investigate.

You have also inquired as to what documents may be subpoenaed. It has often been said that if the subject of investigation is within the range of legitimate legislative inquiry and the questions are pertinent thereto and do not call for privileged matter (the issue of attorney-client privilege will be discussed, infra), the Legislature may subpoena witnesses and documents necessary for that particular investigation. The right to compel a witness to produce documents before a legislative committee turns on whether their production is necessary to the inquiry which it is conducting. Uphaus v. Wyman, 360 U.S. 72 (1959). While the production of papers material to any inquiry may not be refused merely because they are private, when it appears that the legislative committee in issuing a subpoena is attempting to embark on a "fishing expedition," it will be declared void. In re Hague, 104 N.J.Eq. 31, 144 A. 546 (1929); In re Barnes, 204 N.Y. 108, 97 N.E. 508 (1912).

In determining whether a subpoena duces tecum issued by a legislative committee is too broad, the test is not whether the papers and documents are private personal records, but rather whether the records are within the scope of inquiry and investigation. See, e.g., ASP, Inc. v. Capiol Bank & Trust Co., 174 So.2d 809 (La. 1965). If the requested documents fall within the scope of legislative inquiry, the subpoena must describe the documents desired with reasonable certainty and sufficient definiteness to enable the witness to identify them.

In the specific factual situation from which your inquiry arises there is some question as to whether or not the document in which you are interested is covered by an attorney-client privilege. Apparently the document is part of the work product of an attorney who was involved in a particular investigation. It would appear to us from the information furnished that the document in which you are interested is covered by an attorney-client privilege.

The question then follows whether or not the attorney in whose possession this document is can waive that attorney-client privilege.

As a general rule, it is well-recognized and universally accepted that an attorney may not, without the consent of the client, divulge information covered by the attorney-client privilege. See Jahnke v. State, 68 Neb. 154, 94 N.W. 158 (1903); Spaulding v. State, 61 Neb. 289, 85, N.W. 80 (1901). Even though the attorney may be willing to turn over the document to the legislative committee, he may not do so without the permission of his client.

The only other alternative is for the client to agree to turn over the document prepared by its attorney, thereby waiving the privilege that otherwise prevents disclosure. Whether the client will be willing to do so is obviously a question that cannot be answered herein, but rather depends upon the nature, scope, and time of the request by the legislative committee.

You have further inquired if the Legislature has the power to subpoena this particular document and the client elects not to waive the attorney-client privilege, does the legislative power to subpoena override the privilege.

Whether the legislative power of subpoena overrides a claim of privileged communication will be the pivotal consideration in determining whether either the attorney or the individual members of the Legislature are to be held liable in the event a suit for damages is brought. There is authority, albeit sparse, for the proposition that the client cannot avail himself of the privilege to shield himself from a disclosure of facts which are a legitimate subject of inquiry. See, e.g., Grand Lake Drive Inn, Inc., v. Superior Court, 3 Cal. Rptr. 621 (1960) (knowledge which is not otherwise privileged does not become so merely by being communicated to an attorney). Brown v. Superior Court, 32 Cal.Rptr. 527 (1963) (individual who is aware of material facts cannot, simply by repeating them to his attorney, prevent his adversary from questioning him as to those facts before or at trial). In addition, it has been held that a statutory prohibition of a disclosure by an attorney of a confidential communication of his client is not intended to prohibit the disclosure of a communication as far as such communication is necessary to enable a public officer to act in his official capacity. People v. Farmer, 194 N.Y. 87 N.E. 457 (1909) (statutory privilege may not be invoked to cover a transaction which is in itself a crime).

Notwithstanding these two lines of cases, there is very little well-developed authority for the proposition that the legislative power to subpoena overrides such a claim of privilege.

You also then ask if the legislative power to subpoena overrides the claim of privilege can individual legislators be held liable in a subsequent action for damages brought by any party.

In answering this question, there are three recent Supreme Court cases which must be considered. In Eastland v. U.S.S.F., 421 U.S. 491 (1975), the Supreme Court held that members of Congress are immune from inquiry into their issuance of subpoenas pursuant to a legitimate committee investigation. The second and third cases, Doe v. McMillan, 412 U.S. 306 (1973) and Gravel v. U.S., 408 U.S. 606 (1972), stand for the proposition that members of Congress are not immune from judicial inquiry into their public distribution of materials gathered by committees. Read together, the three cases seem to suggest that information gathered pursuant to a properly issued subpoena will not be the subject of judicial inquiry (and presumably legislative liability) unless it is improperly distributed to the public. This approach is consistent with the view that a claim of privilege should be overridden only when necessary to the proper legislative investigation of a particular subject, and then only to the extent necessary to facilitate that investigation. See also, Tenney v. Brandhove, 341 U.S. 367 (1951), holding that "the Civil Rights statutes were not intended to make legislators personally liable for damages to a witness injured by a committee exercising legislative power. . ." Id. at 379. [cited in Green v. DeCamp, CV78-L-167 (1978)].

Assuming, therefore, that the legislative power to subpoena prevails over a claim of privilege, there thus appears to be no basis for a suit against individual legislators who issued the subpoena.

Finally you ask if the legislative power to subpoena overrides the claim of privilege can the attorney be held liable in a subsequent action for damages brought by his client. While we are not certain as to the appropriateness of our advice in this regard, there appears to be no basis for holding an attorney who acts pursuant to a legitimate exercise of legislative authority liable for damages in an action brought by his client. Whether his defense be legal necessity or otherwise if the actions of the legislative body are taken pursuant to a valid legislative power, the client's forum for challenging the action is in a suit challenging either the legislative power to subpoena the documents in the first instance or in a claim that this power does not override the protections of the attorney-client privilege.

We hope this helps answer your inquiries in this regard and we would be most willing to visit with you further about any of your specific concerns which may arise during this legislative inquiry.

Sincerely,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 28
February 20, 1979

Dear Senator Johnson:

You have asked us several questions with respect to LB 152. We will answer your questions in the order they were asked.

In your first question you ask whether a "pickle" falls within the definition of a lottery as set forth in LB 152. LB 152 contains a three-part definition of the term "lottery" in section 1(3). That is the player agrees to pay something of value for chances differentiated by numbers, one or more of which will be designated the winning number. The winning chances are to be determined by a drawing or a method based on an element of chance. The holder is to receive something of value. A "pickle" card is purchased, it contains numbers differentiating one card from another, the numbers are determined by a method based on the element of chance, that is, the specific card will be a winner if it so provides and it is drawn by chance by the person paying the money for the card. If it is a winning card, the player receives money. These acts satisfy the definition of a lottery as contained in section 1(3) of LB 152.

In your second question you ask whether churches and nonprofit organizations selling "pickles" to support their regular activities would preclude the use of pickle proceeds in the support of a church or church related school. Article III, Section 24, of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska in part provides:

"The Legislature . . . may authorize and regulate other lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises which are intended solely as business promotions or the proceeds of which are to be used solely for charitable or community betterment purposes without profit to the promoter of such lotteries, raffles, or gift enterprises. . . ."

The question to be determined is whether or not a church or church related school serves either a charitable or community betterment purpose. Some guidance exists in this area in that the Nebraska Supreme Court has held that the donation of money by will to "the Divinity School of Drake University" was a valid charitable testamentary disposition." Further, a number of cases have held that bequests to schools serve as appropriate charitable gifts. It may also be argued that schools serve a community betterment function in the training and education of children. It is clear, though, that furtherance of education, even where under public control and supported generally by taxation, is a charitable purpose. See School Dist. No. 70, Red Willow County v. Wood, 144 Neb.241, 13 N.W. 2d 153 (1944). It is clear under these and other cases in the State of Nebraska that the operation of or the donation of money to schools serves a charitable purpose. It is likewise clear that charitable gifts may be made to churches.

In In re Estate of Douglass, 94 Neb. 280, 143 N.W. 299 (1913), the decedent had devised to the First Congressional Church Society of Seward the income from bank stock and specific real estate within the city. The real estate was subject to certain conditions. The court said:

"We think it needless to multiply authorities. The gift to the church in question seems clearly to be a gift for charitable purposes. . . ."

The court in Douglass cited several cases to this effect. In essence they held that a church serves a broader purpose in the community than simply furthering its specific sectarian ideals, and thus is well within the parameters of charitable institutions to which gifts may be made.

We believe that the Nebraska Supreme if faced with the question would construe the constitutional provisions and the provisions of the current statutes, as well as the proposals of LB 152, to include churches within the organizations which are authorized to conduct raffles, lotteries, and gift enterprises.

In the second portion of your question you point to section 9 of LB 152 and Article III, Section 24, which allows lotteries to be conducted by nonprofit organizations whose "primary activities are conducted for charitable or community betterment purposes." You then ask whether this provision would prevent a church or labor union from selling "pickles" when their principal activities are the support of religion or provision of collective bargaining.

Substantially all of your questions with respect to the church activities have been answered in the preceding paragraphs. We have been unable to find any cases or statutory provisions which would expand the treatment given to churches and church related schools to labor organizations. The Supreme Court of the State of Nebraska in State v. City Betterment Corp., 197 Neb. 575, 250 N.W.2d 601 (1977), stated:

" . . . When the Legislature required that the 'primary activities' of a qualified organization are to be conducted for charitable and community betterment purposes before the organization may conduct lotteries, the logical and reasonable conclusion must be that the primary activities referred to are activities other than the operation of a lottery. The Legislature thus limited its authorization to qualified organizations actually conducting activities for charitable and community betterment purposes. It is reasonable to assume that the Legislature intended to require that an organization actually conduct charitable and community betterment activities rather than merely express an intent to conduct them in the future before that organization will be authorized to operate a lottery."

The court went on, however, to specifically state that they were not answering in that case whether or not the organization's activities had to be primarily charitable and community betterment oriented and thus the conducting of the lottery only secondary in importance. It was not presented and was not decided.

" . . . The Legislature failed to impose any specific restrictions as to the size or frequency of any lottery, and there is no reasonable or logical way of comparing or measuring the relative size of activities in such diverse and unrelated fields. . . " Id. at 582.

This same situation exists under LB 152. No guidance is given for determining what primary activities means. It would appear, however, that churches would be exempt to the extent that their religious activities under the cases in Nebraska are considered charitable and thus without any prohibition as to whether their primary activities were for support of religion or not. On the question of labor unions, it would appear that, although similar reasoning might be utilized to describe their service as more broad based and thus charitable or for community betterment purposes, it would be appropriate to specify in the legislation the exact meaning of the term "primary." As we have indicated, the court has not decided that issue. However, the court did point out the failure of the Legislature to specify any criteria that could be utilized in reaching that determination. For example, "primary" could mean greater than 50 per cent or it could mean primary as among several different activities if there were three, four, or more activities, or it could refer to specific monetary sums utilized or expended by a particular organization. Thus, we are unable to answer with specificity your question. The word "primary" as presently used in the statute and as it existed at the time of City Betterment Corp., supra, is an equivocal word having no definite standards set forth in the statutes. For that reason, we would suggest that more specific limitations might be appropriate than that now contained in LB 152.

You ask whether section 9 of LB 152 would prevent taverns and profit making enterprises from selling pickles or conducting other kinds of lotteries on behalf of a nonprofit organization. We believe not if they operate within the limitations expressed by section 9, that is, the expenses of such a raffle, lottery, or gift enterprise shall be limited to 25 per cent of the gross proceeds of such scheme and gross proceeds are defined to include such costs as printing, office expense, promotional expense, salaries of persons employed to operate the scheme, rental or lease expense, or any fee paid to any person associated with the operation of such a scheme. The Nebraska Supreme Court in City Betterment Corp., supra, stated that:

" . . . It also contends that any person or firm performing any functions for a promoting organization cannot profit or be paid for such services because of the constitutional prohibition against profit to the promoter. In essence, such a definition would mean that all services would have to be donated, including even the printing of lottery tickets. Any such interpretation would make it difficult, if not impossible, to hold a legal lottery except for a very small local lottery, and it could make dozens, or even hundreds, of helpful but unwary persons subject to criminal responsibility in the event legal boundaries were breeched. . . ." Id. at 583, 584.

It seems clear from this ruling tavern owners and other profit making enterprises could sell “pickle” tickets as long as the expense prohibition contained within section 9 was strictly complied with.

In your final question you ask whether LB 152 entirely eliminates criminal sanctions for individuals who aid, are accessories to, or advance gambling activities such as touts, financiers, accountants, lessors of gambling parlors, etc. Such individuals would be subject to the same prosecution as the principals under the sections of the statutes relating to aiding and abetting, section 28-206, R.S.Supp., 1978, conspiracy provisions of sections 28-202 and 203, R.S.Supp., 1978, and section 28-204, R.S.Supp., 1978.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:33 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Dear God, when someone asks us our religious preference, maybe we're tempted to say, "I'm a Jehovah's Bystander" - I was asked to be a Jehovah's Witness, but I just didn't want to get involved. Sometimes it's that way with us, not only in our religious preferences, but in our political preference, and our personal preference - we just don't want to get involved. And yet, that's the name of the game as far as we're concerned in this Legislature, we've been willing to get involved, by our campaigning, by our electionings, by our speeches and by our voting. Help us to understand that that's what it means to be a leader of the people, to be involved, in everything that involves the people of this State. Since we've gone this far in our involvement, help us to go all the way, dear God, that we, individually, and as committee members, and as a Legislature, may be involved with each other, with the concerns of this State, with the needs of our constituents, and with You, so that we may not only be involved, but may revolve around that which is important, and evolve the kind of legislation which You can bless. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 30
February 23, 1979

Dear Senator Wesely:

You have asked if LB 63 of the Eighty-Sixth Legislature, First Session(1979), which is scheduled for hearing Monday morning, February 26, 1979, is constitutional.

LB 63, supra, as amended, would require local school authorities to instruct all pupils in all schools in a comprehensive health education program in the absence of a written objection thereto by a parent or guardian. It would also require the Commissioner of Education to prepare such teaching aids and materials as may be necessary for an effective course in comprehensive health education. We see no constitutional problems in connection therewith. Hence in our opinion, LB 63, supra, is constitutional.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Tuesday, February 27, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:02 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Dear God, we know You have created our universe, and just now we are dazzled by the eclipse of the sun, and amazed that so vast a source of light and warmth could be blocked out by so small and cold an obstruction as the moon and yet it's often that way with our minds. If we hold a dollar bill very close to our eyes it can blot out the sun, if we hold some personal truth too closely to our vision we can miss the larger truth. Help us these days while we are seeking to gain the larger view of this Legislature, and to focus on that which is important, not to allow anything of lesser significance to come so close to our line of sight as to block our view or distort our perspective on the things we really need to see. So guide us this day in what we read, what we see, and what we focus on, not just to have the microscopic view that sees the fine print, but the telescopic view that gives the larger picture, and then the talk, to debate, and to vote according to that truth. Amen.

THIRTY-EIGHTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Wednesday, February 28, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:04 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Eternal God, as our inward thoughts in this moment reveal our souls, so also shall the words we speak on this floor, and the decisions we make as leaders of the people. May these Senators, therefore, have about them a sense of history and a knowledge of the past. May they remember how others have acted in similar times of crisis and decision, but free us from a mere worship of old decisions so that we may not be coasting in a day like this, but rather marking new trails of needed action today.

In thinking of Thee, no thought is lost; may we think on. In talking with Thee, no words are lost; may we talk on. In working for Thee, no energy is lost; may we work on, by the power of Thy Spirit. Amen.

21 funds shall be allocated for a given fiscal year to any 22 school district which has failed, after due notice, to 23 comply with this provision by January 15.

24 Sec. 5. That section 84-304, Revised Statutes

26 84-304. It shall be the duty of the Auditor of 22 or property, and any improper system or method of 23 bookkeeping or condition of accounts; and to this end the 24 Auditor of Public Accounts shall, with the approval of 25 the Legislature, appoint an expert accountant (a) whose 26 entire time shall be devoted to the service of the state

 27 as directed by the auditor, (b) who shall be an

 12 duplicate of such report, and (e) who shall qualify by

 18 on a contractual or other basis for reimbursement, to 19 assure proper accounting by all such agencies, political 20 subdivisions, and grantees for funds appropriated by the 21 Legislature and federal funds disbursed by any receiving 22 agency. The auditor shall deposit the receipts for such 23 audits and services in the cash fund maintained for the 24 making of cooperative audits.

25 Sec. 6. The Auditor of Public Accounts shall 26 establish minimum audit standards for all auditors
 27 conducting audits of any agency of state government.
 1 Such standards shall be established to achieve the goals
 2 of assuring a proper level of competency and of

6 Sec. 2. The Legislature hereby finds that the 7 general welfare of the people of Nebraska will 8 significantly benefit from the conduct of programs
9 designed and intended to enhance the effective marketing
10 of Nebraska’s many agricultural commodities.
11 The Legislature further finds that the meaningful

13 administration of programs and policies conceived, 14 desired, and formulated by and for those persons who 15 produce, process, or distribute such commodities as an 16 integral part of their livelihood. It is necessary, 17 however, that the programs conducted by and for the 18 various segments of the agricultural industry be 19 efficiently coordinated, so that the marketing efforts
20 expended on behalf of each commodity will compliment the 21 marketing programs in the state.

22 The intent of this act is to authorize the 23 Department of Agriculture to create and staff a Division

25 this act. The division may be headed by a chief and 26 staffed with such deputies and assistants as are 27 appointed by the director.

1 Sec. 10. The activities of the division shall
2 include, but not be limited to, the following:

3 (1) Coordinating the various marketing programs

26 regulations as are necessary to effectively carry out the 27 intent of this act;

1 (8) Accepting funds or fees from any source,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 32
February 22, 1979

Dear Senator Schmit:

You have requested the opinion of this office concerning whether LB 321 contains more than one subject in violation of Article III, Section 14 of the Nebraska Constitution. Further you inquired, "[i]f there are two subjects, would the problem be remedied by amending the title to include a reference to the Council members?"

Article III, Section 14 of the Nebraska Constitution provides in pertinent part:

“ . . . No bill shall contain more than one subject, and the same shall be clearly expressed in the title. . . .”

The analysis required to determine whether or not legislation violates the above quoted portion of Article III, Section 14, was articulated in Van Horn v. State, 46 Neb. 62, 64 N.W.365 (1895), wherein the court stated:

“We, therefore, look to the bill itself to ascertain whether or not it contains more than one subject, and having ascertained that it contains but one, then we look to the title to see if that subject is clearly expressed therein. If so, the constitutional provision we are here discussing is not violated.” 64 N.W. at 368.

In Midwest Popcorn Co. v. Johnson, 152 Neb. 867, 872, 43 N.W.2d 174 (1950), the court stated:

“ . . . An act, no matter how comprehensive, is valid as containing but one subject if a single main purpose is within its purview and nothing is included within it except that which is naturally connected with and incidental to that main purpose. . . .”

See also, Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.W.2d 322 (1967); Van Horn v. State, supra; 1975-76 Attorney General's Opinion, No. 76, p. 89.

The main purpose of LB 321 is environmental protection and all sections of the bill are incidental and germane to that purpose. In our opinion LB 321 contains but one subject as required by Article III, Section 14 of the Nebraska Constitution.

Having reached the conclusion that the bill involves one subject, the question arises whether that subject is clearly expressed in the title. The Nebraska Supreme Court in Duerfeldt v. State, 184 Neb. 242, 245, 166 N.W.2d 737 (1969), stated:

“ . . . ‘Where the title of an act fairly gives expression to the general subject-matter contained in the act, such act will not be held invalid as being broader than its title.’ . . . ‘The provisions of the Constitution relating to titles are to be liberally construed so as to admit of the insertion in a legislative act of all provisions which, although not specifically expressed in the title, are comprehended within the objects and purposes of the act as expressed in the title, . . .’ . . .”

In Thompson v. Commercial Credit Equipment Corp., 169 Neb. 377, 99 N.W.2d 761 (1959), the court stated that the purpose of this constitutional requirement:

“ . . . ‘is to give notice, through the title of the bill, to the members of the legislature and the public, of the subject matter of the projected law,—in other words, that the title should clearly indicate the legislation embraced in the bill.’ . . .”

See also, Blackledge v. Richards, 194 Neb. 188, 231 N.W.2d 319 (1975); 1977 Attorney General's Opinion, No. 26.

Even though the court has historically given a liberal interpretation to Article III, Section 14, it is our opinion that there is a substantial question as to the validity of LB 321. The title to LB 321 specifically enumerates the subject matter of the bill, with the exception of the provisions of Section 3. Said section eliminates the requirement that individuals appointed to the Environmental Control Council be reconfirmed by the Legislature after serving two years.

Due to the restrictive nature of the present title to LB 321, it is questionable whether this title is broad enough to encompass the contents of Section 3. It is difficult to predict with any degree of certainty whether or not the act would be upheld by our court if challenged under Article III, Section 14. However, we would advise a revision of the present title so that the contents of Section 3 are specifically mentioned therein. With this revision, in our opinion the act would comply with the requirements of Article III, Section 14 of the Nebraska Constitution.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General
Lynne Rae Fritz
Assistant Attorney General

Clerk of the Legislature

Opinion No. 33
February 23, 1979

Dear Senator Nichol:

This is in response to your request for an opinion concerning the constitutionality of the classification which would be established by LB 93. You stated that ". . . the purpose of LB 93 is to allow governing bodies of city and villages which furnish certain utilities to establish rates for services which are less than the standard rates, for elderly people. . . ."

The class which would be established by LB 93 consists of elderly persons whose income is below a certain level. Elderly persons for purposes of the act are defined as: (1) those persons who are sixty-two years of age or older and are drawing social security or railroad retirement benefits, and (2) all persons who are sixty-five years of age and older. To be a member of the class, the elderly must have an income which is less than a minimum income level determined by the governing board of the city or village to be necessary to enable such persons to pay the standard rate for utilities.

The state may prescribe reasonable rates to be charged by public service companies. 16 A C.J.S. Constitutional Law subsection 519, p. 379-382. Where there is a rational basis for the distinction, a particular patron may be exempted from charges. Id. at 381. For example, a statute providing for free or reduced transportation for certain classes of persons is not invalid as denying equal protection of the laws where there is a reasonable ground for the classification and the law affects equally all persons similarly situated under similar circumstances. Id. at 382; see, State ex rel Sorenson v. Chicago B & Q Railroad Company, 112 Neb. 248, 199 N.W. 534 (1924). While it is not required that a classification do perfect justice under all circumstances, the classification must be reasonable and it cannot arbitrarily allow different rates for different consumers. 64 Am. Jur.2d, Public Utilities, section 117, p. 643.

The issue of whether low income elderly persons constitute a reasonable classification has been considered by courts in other jurisdictions, albeit in a different context. In State ex rel Harvey v. Morgan, 30 Wis.2d 1, 139 N.W.2d 585 (1966), an income tax credit for elderly needy persons was challenged in part on equal protection grounds. The court rejected the argument that the statute was unconstitutional because it discriminated against other younger needy persons. The court stated that the fact that the legislature in the exercise of a proper police power function did not attempt to alleviate all the evils of poverty in a single legislative act did not render the classification unreasonable. The classification of needy elderly persons living on fixed incomes has also been upheld in other cases. Property Owners Association v. Township of North Bergen, 74 N.J. 327, 378 A.2d 26 (1977) (ordinance found unconstitutional on other grounds); Grubb Inc. v. Iowa Housing Finance Authority, 255 N.W.2d 89 (Iowa, 1977). See, 45 A.L.R.3rd 1153.

Assuming that the legislature may single out elderly needy persons for special treatment, the issue becomes whether the classification created by LB 93 is constitutionally permissible. A substantial constitutional question is presented because the criteria employed in LB 93 results in the establishment of an underinclusive class. There may be persons between the ages of 62 and 65 who are living on fixed minimum incomes but who are not eligible for social security or railroad benefits. Although such persons appear to be within the articulated purpose of this legislation, they are excluded from the class entitled to beneficial treatment because of the criteria employed to define the class.

In Botsch v. Reisdorff, 193 Neb. 165, 226 N.W.2d 121 (1975), the court considered the issue of whether a statutory classification was constitutionally permissible under the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. The court stated:

“The test, . . . when a state statute operates to single out a class of people for special treatment, is whether the suspect classification bears some rational relationship to the legitimate purposes of the legislation. In Dandridge v. Williams, 397 U. S. 471, 90 S.Ct. 1153, 25 L.Ed.2d 491 (1970), a very recent case, the United States Supreme Court said: ‘In the area of economics and social welfare, a State does violate the Equal Protection Clause merely because the classifications made by its laws are imperfect. If the classification has some ‘reasonable basis,’ it does not offend the Constitution simply because the classification ‘is not made with mathematical nicety or because in practice it results in some inequality. ***The problems of government are practical ones and may justify, if they do not require, rough accommodations—illogical, it may be, and unscientific. ***A statutory discrimination will not be set aside if any state of facts reasonably may be conceived to justify it. ***But the Equal Protection Clause does not require that a State must choose between attacking every aspect of a problem or not attacking the problem at all. ***It is enough that the State’s action to be rationally based and free from invidious discrimination.’ . . .” Id. at 169-170.

It is difficult to predict with any degree of certainty whether our courts would hold that the classification of low income persons between the ages of 62 and 65 who are receiving social security or railroad retirement benefits is reasonably related to the legislative purpose. There appears to be no rational justification for denying beneficial treatment to other persons of that age living on a low fixed income. However since the social security system encompasses the vast majority of retired persons, it may be a reasonable criteria. As noted above, a classification is not unconstitutional because it is imprecise or because in practice it results in some inequality.

All laws adopted by the Legislature are presumed to be constitutional. While the underinclusive classification created by LB 93 raises a difficult question, in our opinion it is probably constitutionally permissible.

Although not specifically mentioned in your request for an opinion, LB 93 also poses problems involving vagueness and ambiguity, particularly in the computation of the income standard. For example, without statutory guidelines it is unclear how the standard is affected by two or more elderly persons living together and sharing utility costs. In other words, it is unclear whether the income standard is calculated by the use of the family income or the income of the person in whose name the utilities are charged. Further, there are no statutory guidelines to determine the income standard in a family where one person is within the classification and another is excluded. Such problems would at least render the provisions difficult to administer and possibly subject to challenge as being unconstitutionally vague. See generally, Blue Flame Gas Assn. v. McCook Public Power District, 186 Neb. 735, 186 N.W.2d 498 (1971).

Opinion No. 34

Dear Senator Wesely:

You have asked us for our opinion as to whether LB 161 violates Article III, Section 14, of the Nebraska Constitution by containing more than one subject. We conclude that it does not.

The title to the bill describes it as an act relating to older Nebraskans, to adopt the Older Nebraskans Act, to create the Administrative Advisory Committee for Older Nebraskans, and to provide for its membership and duties, and to change the retirement age.

The first section of the bill sets out certain rights the Legislature deems older Nebraskans are entitled to, including adequate income, the best possible health, suitable housing, opportunity for employment without discrimination because of age, retirement in health, honor, and dignity, pursuit of meaningful activity, efficient community services, including access to low-cost transportation, and freedom and independence in planning and managing their own lives.

Not all of the matters referred to in section 1 are dealt with directly in the rest of the bill, nor, for that matter, in the title to the bill, but this, we believe, has no significance. Section 1 is merely an expression of the feelings of the Legislature, and has no legal effect.

Section 2 amends section 48-1003, R.R.R. 1943, a part of the Act Prohibiting Unjust Discrimination in Employment Because of Age, sections 48-1001 to 48-1009, R.R.S. 1943. The act now prohibits discrimination because of age of persons between the ages of 40 and 65 years. LB 161 would amend section 48-1003 to raise the upper limit to 70 years.

Section 3 of the bill would amend section 84-1317, R.R.S. 1943, a part of the State Employees Retirement Act, by removing the provision providing for mandatory retirement of state employees because of age.

Sections 4 through 8 of the bill create the Administrative Advisory Committee for Older Nebraskans, and provides for its composition. Section 5 provides that the committee shall prepare an annual comprehensive plan for aging services on a statewide basis, to be presented to the Governor no later than January 1 of each year.

We see no problems at all with the bill, so far as any conflict with the provision of Article III, Section 14, requiring a bill to contain only one subject is concerned. All of the provisions deal with problems of older citizens in this state. The Nebraska Supreme Court has been very liberal in construing what may be included in "one subject." As a matter of fact, there appears to have been no case in which the court has held an act void as containing more than one subject. The purpose of the act appears to be to alleviate problems older Nebraskans may have. One of these is in the area of employment, with which the bill deals directly. Other areas, apparently, will be dealt with by the committee in its reports to the Governor. We are confident the court would hold this to be only one subject.

Very truly yours,

O Lord, our God, in the midst of the perplexities which confuse us, doubts which torment us, and rivalries which divide us, give us a faith and a compassion which will unite us.

We are grateful for the differences represented in this Legislature, differences which alone can focus new light on our issues. May we debate with fervor and disagree with understanding, but underneath our differences wilt Thou show us anew that a house that remains divided cannot stand, let alone lead our people to unity and peace and prosperity.

With all our differences, may we still be "one people under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 35
February 28, 1979

Dear Senator Brennan:

This is in response to your request for an opinion concerning the scope of a recent Nebraska Supreme Court case, Wentz Heating & Air Conditioning Co. v. Kiene, 202 Neb. 202, N.W.2d, (1979). We understand that your request involves a legislative purpose, as the issue raised herein may potentially be the subject of proposed legislation.

Wentz, supra, held that an employee, who refuses an employment offer due to a union work list rule, is thereby barred from receiving unemployment compensation benefits. You have inquired as to the effect of this decision on "written referral procedures" which may be contained in collective bargaining agreements. In other words, you have inquired whether an employee, who refuses an employment offer because of a “written referral procedure” or a work list rule which is embodied in a collective bargaining agreement, would thereby be precluded from receiving unemployment compensation benefits.

You noted that certain language in the case, indicates that the court may have reached a contrary conclusion if the work list rule was included in the collective bargaining agreement. However, you state that the concluding remarks of the opinion are susceptible to a different interpretation.

Upon articulating the issue presented, the court in Wentz, supra, stated:

“We first examine the collective bargaining agreement and the evidence with respect to it to determine whether Wentz agreed to or took any action with respect to the work list practice of the union such as might estop or prohibit it from challenging the continued payment of benefits. . . .” Id. at 204.

The court noted that the collective bargaining agreement did not mention a work list procedure nor was there any evidence that the employer knew or acquiesced in the use of such a procedure. The court stated:

“ . . . We find nothing in either the collective bargaining agreement or in the acts and conduct of the employer and the union to justify a finding that the union’s work list rule was the hiring practice agreed to by both parties, especially with respect to an employer’s request for a specific worker. There is nothing in either the agreement or the conduct of the employer and the union which would estop or prohibit the employer from raising the question of Kiene’s right to subsequent unemployment benefits.” Id. at 205.

The court then turned to the issue of whether or not the defendant was entitled to unemployment compensation benefits, pursuant to section 48-628, R.R.S. 1943. The court concluded that the defendant was no longer entitled to benefits. The court further stated:

“We believe the trial court was in error in suggesting this situation is solely between the employer and the union because they have a collective bargaining agreement. This case involves the rights and limitations to unemployment compensation which are not a part of any agreement between the employer and the union but are created and defined by the statute. The case must be decided in that context.” Id. at 209.

In our opinion, this case does not affect the status of written referral or work list procedures included in collective bargaining agreements. The right to unemployment compensation benefits is statutory, therefore the existence of that legal right in a particular situation is determined by analyzing the statute creating and defining that right rather than a collective bargaining agreement. However the substance of the agreement may be determinative of the employer's ability to challenge the continued receipt of benefits.

An employer who enters into a collective bargaining agreement which establishes an out of work list procedure is bound thereby. If the employer offers reemployment to a prior employee in violation of the agreement, he cannot then challenge the continuation of unemployment benefits to such employee who refused the offer in reliance on the agreed upon procedure. This prohibition is premised on notions of estoppel, which in a general sense, operate to preclude or bar a person, who by his deed or conduct induces another to act in a particular manner, from adopting an inconsistent position which causes loss or injury to the other. The purpose of estoppels is to prevent inconsistency and fraud resulting in injustice, but estoppel does not make valid the thing complained of, it merely precludes the complainant from asserting it. 31 CJS Estoppel, section 1, p. 288.

In our opinion, if an employee refuses an offer of reemployment made by an employer in violation of a procedure articulated in a collective bargaining agreement, the employee is not thereby precluded from receiving unemployment compensation benefits.

Very truly yours,

Attorney General

Opinion No. 36
February 27, 1979

Dear Senator Schmit:

In your letter of February 9, 1979, you requested our opinion on the constitutionality of LB 515, legislation intended to ratify the Interstate Compact on Agricultural Grain Marketing. According to the introducer's statement of purpose, the compact set out in LB 515:

“. . . is the culmination of a number of meetings held in Topeka, Kansas over the [legislative] interim.

“The purpose of the compact is to protect, preserve and enhance the production and marketing of grain.”

In commenting upon the constitutionality of this legislation, the overriding question is whether or not the United States Congress has given its assent, or will give its assent, expressly or by implication, to this compact between two or more states.

The United States Constitution, at Article I, section 10, clause 3, forbids any state of the union, without the consent of Congress, to enter into any agreement or compact with another state. Subject to the consent of Congress, however, it is well settled that states may enter into such compacts as they see fit. 72 Am.Jur.2d, States section 5 at 410 (1974). Consequently, such compacts have been upheld against various federal and state constitutional objections. Among the class of compacts which have been recognized and upheld by the courts are agreements between states in regard to boundary lines, water rights and fishing privileges, construction and maintenance of bridges, the creation of a council of state governments, the adjustment of land grants, and the creation of interstate commissions to control river pollution. 72 Am.Jur.2d, supra at 411.

The consent of Congress to compacts between two or more states may be sufficiently indicated, when it is not necessary to be made in advance, by the adoption or approval of proceedings taken under the compact. Moreover, the approval of Congress in regard to a compact between the states need not be an express and formal statement or assent to the agreement, but rather such approval may be illustrated by satisfactory inference from a congressional act which implies such consent. Id. Consequently, the states which are parties to a compact assume, by accepting the compact and acting under it, any conditions which Congress, acting under the United States Constitution, has attached, expressly or impliedly, to the compact. Id.; Petty v. Tennessee-Missouri Bridge Commission, 359 U.S. 275, 3 L.Ed.2d 804, 79 S.Ct. 785 (1959).

In the Petty decision, the United States Supreme Court explained the legal rationale and historical basis for requiring congressional consent before such compacts become effective upon the membership states.

“Historically the consent of Congress, as a prerequisite to the validity of agreements by States, appears as the republican transformation of the needed approval by the Crown. But the Constitution plainly had two very practical objectives in view in conditioning agreement by States upon consent of Congress. For only Congress is the appropriate organ for determining what arrangements between States might fall within the prohibited class of “Treaty, Alliance, or Confederation”, and what arrangements come within the permissive class of “Agreement of Compact.” But even the permissive agreements may affect the interests of States other than those parties to the agreement: the national, and not merely a regional, interest may be involved. Therefore, Congress must exercise national supervision through its power to grant or withhold consent, or to grant it under appropriate conditions. . . .” Petty v. Tennessee-Missouri Bridge Commission, supra, 3 L.Éd.2d at 810, n. 7.

Therefore, while on its face LB 515 does not appear to raise this constitutional problem, we would caution you that the express or implied consent of Congress is necessary before the referenced compact between the states can become enforceable and binding upon the various members of the compact.

We have, however, noted a constitutional problem in respect to the provisions of Article III of LB 515 wherein the bill provides for procedures for the appointment of members to the Interstate Agricultural Grain Marketing Commission. The bill allows for one member of the Commission to be appointed by the Governor, and further provides as follows:

“ . . . one senator appointed in the manner prescribed by the senate of such state, except that two senators may be appointed from the unicameral legislature of the state of Nebraska; . . .”

The power to appoint persons to offices which are established or created by law is generally reserved to the chief executive officer of a state, the Governor. Section 10 of Article IV of the Constitution of Nebraska provides, in pertinent part, as follows:

“The Governor shall appoint with the approval of a majority of the Legislature, all persons whose offices are established by the Constitution, or which may be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise by law or herein provided for; and no such person shall be appointed or elected by the Legislature. . . .” (Emphasis added.)

In interpreting the foregoing provision, the Nebraska Supreme Court has held, for example, that the designation by the Legislature of University of Nebraska officers as members of a natural resources commission was a legislative appointment in violation of the Nebraska Constitution. Neeman v. Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, 191 Neb. 672, 217 N.W.2d 166 (1974).

In light of the above constitutional and judicial guidelines, we are of the opinion that that portion of Article III of LB 515, which provides that two senators may be appointed from the unicameral, would probably not survive a constitutional challenge in the courts of Nebraska.

We would add one other cautionary note in respect to the creation of and powers given to the Interstate Agricultural Grain Marketing Commission at Article III of LB 515. We note that the legislation provides that the Commission may require by subpoena the attendance of persons domiciled within the membership states in respect to studies or investigations conducted by the Commission. Requiring such attendance for the purpose of giving testimony, or requiring by subpoena ducus tecum the production of certain documents is effectuated by the Commission's application to a court of proper jurisdiction. We would simply point out that, in our opinion, the ability of the Commission to require testimony or documentary production, by application to a court of competent jurisdiction, is no greater than any other party's ability to implement the judicial process. In other words, a compact between various states, or between a state and the United States, cannot enlarge or diminish constitutional rights. 72 Am.Jur2d, supra, at 413. We assume, therefore, that Article III of LB 515 reserves the power of requiring testimony and documentary production to the courts, as opposed to the Commission.

We trust that the above discussion has answered the questions you raised in your correspondence of February 9, 1979.

Sincerely yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 37
March 5, 1979

Dear Senator Johnson:

In your February 14, 1979, letter you asked for an opinion on the constitutionality of LB 215, specifically as to denial of due process to payors of medical bills who are denied the right to be a party to the Workmen's Compensation Court proceeding in which the Court orders reimbursement by the employer to the payors.

The Workmen's Compensation Act provides the exclusive remedy for employees against their employers as to injuries arising out of and in the course of their employment. Section 48-111, R.R.S. 1943. The Workmen's Compensation Court has the exclusive jurisdiction to determine the rights of the parties including the reasonableness and amount of medical services to be paid on the employee's behalf. Section 48-152 and 48-120, R.R.S. 1943.

While other payors, such as Medicare, Veterans Administration, and various private insurance carriers, may first pay for some or all of the medical services which are ultimately determined by the Workmen's Compensation Court to be compensable under the act, there now appears to be no provision for the payor to intervene in the proceeding to enforce his right of subrogation. Even if the payor were a party, his interest would be to show payment of a certain amount and seek reimbursement to the extent of any payment or obligation of the employer. It does not appear that he would have any right to litigate or advocate the rights of the employee against the employer in Workmen's Compensation Court. Further, the payor would retain whatever rights he has now against the employee whose bills were paid. Those rights are not changed by LB 215.

Therefore, it appears that LB 215 provides a reasonable, expeditious method for the Court to order reimbursement to payors where the records show that payment has been made without taking away any existing rights of the payors. This is consistent with the general purpose of the Workmen's Compensation Act to provide an efficient, expeditious method to determine employee's right to compensation for job related injuries, avoiding multiplicity of litigation. In short, LB 215 does not take any rights away from the payors but rather grants to the Court an additional power consistent with its purposes. For this reason, we believe that LB 215 would not violate the due process of the payors.

Since, in our opinion, the payor is bound by the determination of the Court as to the extent of the employer's obligation, the payor cannot seek additional reimbursement from the employee as to the workmen's compensation claim. That would not preclude the payor from seeking additional reimbursement in a proper way with respect to payments from others such as negligent third persons.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 38
March 5, 1979

Dear Senator DeCamp:

This is in response to your request for an opinion, dated February 28, 1979, wherein you inquired as to the constitutionality of LB 316, as amended. You requested that we give particular attention to the provision requiring a forty-eight hour waiting period before a woman can obtain an abortion. In addition, you have inquired whether the forty-eight hour waiting period provision is severable, if the court determines that it is unconstitutional.

Initially, we note that you have requested receipt of our opinion prior to March 6, when this legislation comes up for final vote. We will hereinafter discuss the principal constitutional issues which are raised by LB 316, however, time constraints combined with the complexity of the issues preclude an exhaustive analysis of this legislation.

Informed Consent: Section 2 of LB 316, prohibits an abortion in the absence of an informed consent, unless the woman is unable to consent and in the physician's best judgment the woman's life is substantially endangered. Informed consent is defined in section 1 of LB 316 and includes a statement that the woman has been informed of: a) reasonably possible medical and mental consequences of abortion, childbirth and pregnancy; b) possible alternatives to abortion including childbirth and adoption and the existence of agencies available to assist her to carry her pregnancy to natural term; and c) the abortion procedures to be used.

In a recent Attorney General's Opinion, No. 55, March 24, 1977, we considered the constitutionality of a substantially similar provision. Essentially we concluded, based on the Supreme Court's opinion in Planned Parenthood of Central Missouri v. Danforth, 428 U.S.52, 49 L.Ed.2d 788, 96 S.Ct. 2831(1976), that the constitutionality of the provision could probably be upheld since it promotes a legitimate state interest without, in our opinion, posing an undue burden upon the decision to be made by the woman and her physician.

The rationale and conclusion reached in our prior opinion is equally applicable to the informed consent provision contained in LB 316. In addition, the Supreme Court since Danforth, supra, summarily affirmed a district court's decision upholding an informed consent provision substantially similar to that contained in LB 316. Planned Parenthood Ass'n. v. Fitzpatrick, 401 F.Supp. 554 (ED Pa 1975) aff'd sub. nom., Franklin v. Fitzpatrick, 428 U.S.901, 96 S.Ct. 3202, 49 L.Ed.2d 1205(1976).

Forty-eight Hour Waiting Period: Section 2 of LB 316 prohibits an abortion without a forty-eight hour waiting period after the woman gives her informed consent, ". . . unless, in the best medical judgment of the physician, an emergency situation exists." The term, "emergency situation" is defined in section 1 as, ". . . a condition exists that in the best medical judgment of the physician the abortion should be performed without delay so as not to adversely affect the best physical or mental health of the woman."

The forty-eight hour waiting period applies to all stages of pregnancy, including the first trimester. Thus, it is subject to constitutional challenge based on the Supreme Court's decision in Roe v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113, 35 L.Ed.2d 147, 93 S.Ct. 705(1973). Therein the court held: "For the stage prior to approximately the end of the first trimester, the abortion decision and its effectuation must be left to the medical judgment of the pregnant woman's attending physician." 410 U.S. at 164.

The analysis does not end with Roe v. Wade, supra, since in Danforth, supra, the court upheld the statutory requirements of informed consent which applied to the first trimester. This requirement was challenged on the ground that it imposed an additional layer of regulation which burdened the abortion decision. The court emphasized that the abortion decision is an important, often stressful one. The court held that the state had a legitimate interest in assuring that the woman's decision was made with full knowledge of its nature and consequences. The court upheld the provision despite the fact that apparently under Missouri law a written statement of informed consent was not required for other surgical procedures.

The issue to be addressed is whether the forty-eight hour waiting period requirement overly burdens the abortion decision or whether it permissibly effectuates a state interest. The issue is not capable of easy resolution.

The statutory exception for "emergency situations" renders the requirement less burdensome. The purpose of the requirement of a delay is to prevent hasty decisions. As such, it addresses a similar consideration as that involved in the informed consent requirement. In other words, it purports to promote a state interest in assuring that the woman's decision is made after thoughtful consideration of its nature and consequences. However, the effect of the delay is more speculative and its promotion of the state interest in assuring informed decision-making is more tenuous than the informed consent requirement.

In Wolfe v. Schroering, 541 F.2d 523 (6th Cir. 1976), a Kentucky statute which required a twenty-four hour waiting period between the woman's consent and the abortion unless an emergency situation presented imminent danger to the woman's life was attacked on constitutional grounds. The court upheld the provision on the basis of the reasoning in Danforth, supra.

In Wynn v. Scott, 448 F.Supp. 997 (ED Ill., 1978), a forty-eight hour waiting period between a minor's consent and the abortion was upheld as being not "unreasonably burdensome." Id. at 1006.

In our opinion, the forty-eight hour waiting period requirement raises a substantial constitutional question. However, we believe that it may pass constitutional muster as promoting a legitimate state interest without unduly burdening the woman's right to decide to terminate her pregnancy.

Severability: Section 13 of LB 319 provides:

"If any section in this act or any part of any section shall be declared invalid, such declaration shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions thereof."

State law is controlling on the issue of severability. Wynn v. Scott, supra, 449 F.Supp. at 1314. The principles emphasized in this jurisdiction to determine whether the remainder of a statute should be upheld if portions of the statute are held unconstitutional were articulated in Chase v. County of Douglas, 195 Neb. 838, 851 241 N.W.2d 334(1976), wherein the court, quoting from State ex rel. Meyer v. County of Lancaster, 173 Neb. 195, 209-10, 113 N.W.2d 63 (1962), stated:

"Does this invalidity void the entire act? The fact that a part of a law is invalid does not always require that the entire law be treated as void. If the part that is bad is independent of and separable from the balance of the law, or if the invalid part was not an inducement to the passage of the act, or if the remainder of the act is not so connected with the invalid portion that it cannot be upheld without doing violence to the legislative intent as a whole or result in putting into effect a law which the Legislature would not have passed had its attention been called to the invalid parts, the portion of the act that is valid may be sustained and given effect."

A severability clause contained in a legislative act is a declaration of the intent of the Legislature and the basic rule of statutory interpretation is to effectuate the legislative intent if it is a lawful one. State ex rel. Meyer v. County of Lancaster, supra, at 210.

In the context of the present inquiry, the remainder of LB 316 is in no sense dependent upon the forty-eight hour waiting period provision. Nor is there any indication that upholding the remainder of the act would violate the legislative intent, rather the opposite is true. Therefore, in our opinion, if the forty-eight hour waiting period provision is found unconstitutional, it is severable and the remainder of the act could be upheld.

Prohibition of Abortion Post-Viability: Section 3 of LB 316 prohibits an abortion, ". . . after the time at which, according to standard medical practice and sound medical judgment of the attending physician, the unborn child clearly appears to have reached viability, except when necessary to preserve the woman from an imminent peril that substantially endangers her life or health."

Viability as defined in section 1 of LB 316, is consistent with the definition articulated in Roe v. Wade, supra, 410 U.S. at 160, 163 and Danforth, supra, 428 U.S. at 63, 64. Abortion as defined in section 1 of LB 316, requires knowledge and intent, which appear to enhance the constitutionality of the sections using that term.

In our opinion, section 3 of LB 316, may possibly be subject to constitutional attack on grounds of vagueness because of the inclusion of what appears to be both an objective and subjective standard, neither of which are defined, to determine the time at which an unborn child clearly appears to have reached viability. In Danforth, supra, the court indicated that the determination of viability must be a matter for the judgment of the attending physician. 428 U.S. 64. See also, Collautti v. Franklin, ___ U.S. ___, 99 S.Ct. 675, ___ L.Ed.2d ___ (1979). We are uncertain whether a state may constitutionally include an additional objective standard as a condition of criminal liability. This concern is equally applicable to the language in section 4 of LB 316.

Parental Consultation: Section 6 of LB 316, prohibits an abortion on an unemancipated woman who is under the age of eighteen, unless, in addition to her informed consent, she signs a statement indicating that she has consulted with her parents or guardian. The requirement of parental consultation is not applicable in an emergency situation, as defined in section 1. Section 6 also contains provisions to insure the confidentiality of the informed consent and parental consultation statements.

Since this section applies to all stages of pregnancy, including the first trimester, it is also subject to attack as unconstitutional state interference under Roe v. Wade, supra.

In the previously mentioned Attorney General's Opinion, No. 55, March 24, 1977, we also considered the constitutionality of a similar provision requiring parental consultation. We concluded therein that, in our opinion, a requirement of parental consultation could be successfully defended against constitutional attack. Our prior conclusion and the rationale employed are equally applicable to this provision in LB 316. We point out, however, that this conclusion is not without uncertainty, as there is some support for the opinion that Bellotti v. Baird, 428 U.S. 132, 96 S.Ct. 2857, 49 L.Ed.2d 844 (1976), may be interpreted to require an alternative to parental consultation for a mature minor capable of giving informed consent. Wynn v. Scott, supra, 448 F.Supp. at 1005.

In contrast to the provision which we considered in our prior opinion, section 6 of LB 316 refers to an "unemancipated" woman. The term "unemancipated" is not statutorily defined. The statement of consultation form found in section 6 refers to "a minor". A minor is defined in section 38-101, R.R.S. 1943, as an unmarried person under the age of nineteen. Since section 7 provides for criminal penalties if an abortion is performed without the written statement required by section 6, in our opinion the discrepancy in terms may render the section subject to a constitutional challenge on the ground of vagueness.

Recordkeeping: Section 9 of LB 316 enumerates certain specific information which must be reported to the Department of Health when an abortion is performed. The reporting form, which may not include the patient's name, must be kept confidential except upon court order. Section 10 requires the Department of Health to prepare compilations from the reporting forms. The compilations may not identify the attending physician or the facility where the abortion was performed. The compilation is a matter of public record.

Although recordkeeping provisions apply to abortions performed during the first trimester of pregnancy, the Supreme Court in Danforth, supra, upheld such a provision in the Missouri statute. In so holding, the court in Danforth, supra, stated:

“Recordkeeping and reporting requirements that are reasonably directed to the preservation of maternal health and that properly respect a patient's confidentiality and privacy are permissible.” 428 U.S. at 80.

The court indicated that the requirements of confidentiality and retention for a seven year period, assisted in persuading it that the Missouri statute was constitutional.

Sections 9 and 10 of LB 316 do not specify a period of time for maintaining the required records. However, these provisions appear to satisfy the general standards articulated in Danforth, supra. In our opinion, the recordkeeping provisions in LB 316 are constitutionally defensible.

To summarize, in our opinion, the informed consent provision of section 2 of LB 316 would likely be upheld if challenged on constitutional grounds; the forty-eight hour waiting period provision of section 2 is constitutionally defensible, but if it is struck as unconstitutional, it is severable; the prohibitions in section 3 and section 4 of LB 316 may raise a constitutional question as to vagueness due to the use of an additional, undefined objective standard of determining viability; the parental consultation provision of section 6 is constitutionally defensible, except for a substantial vagueness question raised by the discrepancy in the use of the undefined terms, minor and unemancipated; and the recordkeeping provisions of section 9 of LB 316 are constitutionally sound.

Opinion No. 40
March 2, 1979

Dear Senator Schmit:

In your letter of February 14, 1979, you requested our opinion on the constitutionality of LB 399. We have examined the provisions of this legislation and have concluded that LB 399 violates the Commerce Clause, Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution of the United States.

LB 399 basically requires the labeling and identification of any meat imported from outside the United States. Section 2 of LB 399 provides that:

“ . . . any person, persons, association, firm, or corporation, who knowingly sells or offers for sale any meat imported from without the boundaries of the United States, or any meat product containing imported meat, without labeling such meat or meat product, stating that it is imported or contains imported meat, naming the country of its origin, in letters not less than one quarter of an inch in height, and date of exportation regardless of the place of packaging . . . shall be guilty of a Class III misdemeanor.”

It additionally provides that restaurants or other business establishments serving foods for consumption on the premises must give notice to customers if any meat products contain imported meat.

LB 399 authorizes the Bureau of Dairies, Food and Drugs and the weights and measures division of the Department of Agriculture to aid in the enforcement of the act. The Director of Agriculture is authorized to adopt such regulations as are necessary to enforce the provisions of the act. Violations of LB 399 are punishable as Class III misdemeanors.

LB 399 requires that any meat imported from outside the United States be labeled and identified as such. The primary constitutional question raised is whether this requirement violates the Commerce Clause, Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution of the United States. This issue has been previously addressed by the United States District Court for the District of Nebraska, in a case involving legislation nearly identical to that of LB 399. Armour & Co. v. State of Nebraska, 270 F.Supp. 941 (D.C.Neb. 1967). Also see, Thurlow Co. v. Moss, 252 F.Supp. 641 (D.C.M.D.Tenn. 1966); Ness Produce Co. v. Short, 263 F.Supp. 586 (D.C.Ore. 1966); International Packers, 271 F.Supp. 430 (D.C.S.D.Ia. 1967).

In Armour, the three-judge district court held that a Nebraska statute requiring labels, upon any products in which any imported meats were used, to state that imported meat was contained therein, the name of the country of its origin, and the date when it was exported, violated the Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States and was unenforceable. The district court stated:

“As appears from the portion of LB 169 which has been previously quoted herein, the Nebraska statute subjects the sale of imported meat to an even greater burden in labeling than that imposed by the statutes of the three States which have just been discussed. It requires the label upon a product in which any such meat is used not only to state that imported meat is contained therein and to name the country of its origin, but also to set out the date when the meat involved was exported.

“A labeling requirement that imported meat be identified ‘as a foreign product and naming the country of its origin’—which the court held as to the Tennessee statute was ‘exceedingly burdensome’ and constituted as to the commingling thereof into food products a ‘practical impossibility’— would have its onerousness materially increased by the further need under the Nebraska statute of keeping track of and carrying forward the exportation date of the meat, from the commencement of its foreign-commerce course, through its continuance into the commingling channel, and until the reaching of its marketing and distributional goal.

“But even beyond this, such exportation-date labeling could hardly in fact represent anything but an artificial and discriminatory requirement in the situation. With admittedly no question being involved as to the condition of the meat, all that the exportation date could be contended to relevantly convey would be some indication of the extent of the meat’s refrigeration and storage. If, however, extent of refrigeration and storage could represent a legitimate state interest in relation to commerce as a matter of consumer information, then the State could hardly any less have concern that the consumer also be provided with information making some corresponding indication as to domestic meat from other states or meat slaughtered within the state, which similarly was the subject of product use and as to which there similarly could be varying refrigeration and storage involved.

“What the court said in the Oregon case was the manifest purpose of that statute—to strike at the importation of meat by burdening and making difficult its sale—is equally true and apparent as to the Nebraska statute on its provisions as discussed above and from its legislative history.

 “While the desire of the Nebraska Legislature to serve the interest of the cattle industry of the State is both proper and commendable, it could not, of course, in its attempt to strike at imported meat resort to means which were designed or had the effect to unreasonably burden or prevent commerce in such meat, when weighed in relation to legitimate state police-power interest. A State cannot, as said in the Ness Produce case, supra, 263 F.Supp. at 589 and the cases there cited, act wholly ‘to insulate its citizens from outside competition’. Whatever insulative result it may achieve can only be incidental to some reasonable exercise of its police power in legitimate welfare protection.

“Here, while the discussion on the legislative floor could leave no possible doubt as to what the real object of LB 169 was, some interjections of of purported justification were made as to a housewife having the right to know the nature of the product she was buying. Assuming that there can be a legitimate state interest in having a purchaser informed by some reasonable indication of the fact that the products here involved contained in part imported meat, the difficulty with LB 169 is that it goes far beyond such means and burdens as would be necessary to provide this information for consumer choice.’” Id. at 944-45.

Based on the rationale of the Armour decision, it is our opinion that LB 399 would violate the Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States.

 PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Opinion No. 41
March 2, 1979

Dear Senator Keyes:

You have asked our opinion as to whether LB 339 violates either Article XI, Section 1, or Article XIII, Section 3, of the Nebraska Constitution. It is our opinion that it does not.

The bill would amend section 21-1316.01, R.R.S. 1943, by adding counties to the list of political subdivisions authorized to deposit public funds in cooperative credit associations. We point out at the outset that the prohibitions of both constitutional provisions you have referred to apply to cities, towns, villages, townships, and school districts just as much as they do counties. Yet the above itemized political subdivisions are now authorized by section 21-1316.01 to make such deposits. If we were to say that there were constitutional deficiencies in LB 339, we would almost necessarily be saying that section 21-1316.01 in its present form had the same deficiencies. We do not think it does. Article XI, Section 1, of the Constitution provides:

“No city, county, town, precinct, municipality, or other subdivision of this state, shall ever become a subscriber to the capital stock, or owner of such stock, or any portion or interest therein of any railroad, or private corporation, or association.”

Our Supreme Court recently held that this provision prevented a political subdivision from depositing money in a savings and loan association. The court discussed the effect of a deposit in a savings and loan association, pointing out that such a deposit gives the depositor a right to share in the control of the association and in the profits or losses upon its liquidation. The court therefore held that a deposit in such association constituted the acquisition of an ownership interest in the association, and therefore was prohibited to political subdivisions by Article XI, Section 1. See Nebraska League of Savings & Loan Associations v. Mathes, 201 Neb. 122, 266 N.W.2d 720 (1978).

Ordinarily, a deposit in a cooperative credit association creates the same type of ownership interest in the depositor as the court described in Mathes, since section 21-1311(8) provides that a deposit shall not be received from any person until a qualifying share has been fully paid for and issued to such person. However, section 21-1316.01 provides that the political subdivisions mentioned therein shall not be required to purchase shares in the cooperative credit association or become members thereof. This, we believe, eliminates the objections based on Article XI, Section 1, which the court found decisive in Mathes.

We believe there is no problem with Article XIII, Section 3, which provides that the credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation. A deposit by a political subdivision pursuant to section 21-1316.01 is substantially indistinguishable from a deposit by the same subdivision in a bank. A cooperative credit association is required to perform all of the conditions precedent required of state and federal banks to qualify them to receive deposits of public funds.

Chapter 77, article 23, of the Nebraska statutes has for many years authorized the state and political subdivisions to deposit funds in state and national banks. The Nebraska Supreme Court has frequently interpreted sections so providing, and has never hinted that any conflict with Article XIII, Section 3, is involved. We can see no basis for drawing a distinction between a cooperative credit association and a bank in this respect, in view of the provisions of section 21-1316.01. We therefore conclude that neither LB 339 nor section 21-1316.01 as it now reads violates that constitutional provision.

March 5, 1979

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Mr. President and Senators:

I hereby return LB 10 without my signature and with my objections. LB 10 would require the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission to give refunds for deer, antelope and turkey permits if the holder died before the hunting season started.

While I am not wholly unsympathetic with the aim of the bill, it would, in my opinion, be bad public policy.

If we start down this road, we would soon have to consider partial refunds for drivers' licenses, real estate licenses, electrician licenses, and on and on. We would soon have an administrative nightmare where the expense of making and collecting the refunds might well exceed the size of the refund itself.

I respectfully request that the Legislature sustain my veto of LB 10.

Charles Thone

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 22.

Introduced by Newell, 13th District.

Whereas the deregulation of the trucking industry is a matter of great concern to the people of the State of Nebraska; and

Whereas the deregulation of trucking may have significant negative impact on rural states such as Nebraska; and

Whereas thorough study and consideration should be given as to the impact deregulation of trucking would have on the various states; and

Now therefore be it resolved by the members of the eighty-sixth Legislature, first session, that,

Our Father God, again at the dawn of a new day we turn unfilled to Thee. Take Thou the dimness of our souls away. Facing fresh duties, we would first search our own souls. May Thy holy powers of renewal be felt in every heart, and may all that has been withered in us be spiritually restored. May weights of despair be changed to wings of hope. May disappointments be changed into radiant expectations. May any bitterness of selfishness lurking in our hearts be transformed into a love that thinketh no evil and seeketh not its own. Scorning expediency and false compromise, may we be true to all truth the world denies, not tongue-tied by any lies, or persuaded by the wrong pressures, but faithful to the light which Thou has placed within us. ## ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 43March 1, 1979

Dear Senator Pirsch:

You have forwarded to us a copy of Legislative Bill 421 which deals generally with an amendment to section 32-210.01, and changes the compensation paid to certain election officials from an exact amount to an amount based upon the federal minimum wage.

You indicate in your letter of referral that you have some concern as to whether or not such would be constitutional. We share this concern with you and are of the opinion that such an attempt to base a wage of an election official upon a future act of the United States Congress is most likely unconstitutional.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has held that a state statute containing, as a condition precedent, future acts of the United States Congress is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority. Smithberger, et al, v. Banning, 129 Neb. 651, 262 N.W. 492 (1935).

The Nebraska Supreme Court in 1967 in the case of Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.W.2d 322, had occasion to review an act of the legislature passed in 1967, known generally as the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967, which made future laws of the United States relating to the federal income tax automatically applicable to the Nebraska income tax. In Anderson, supra, the Supreme Court set forth the principles outlined above from Smithberger, supra, and suggested that such was the state of the law in this jurisdiction and was controlling absent specific constitutional authorization.

Prior to the enactment of the Nebraska Revenue Act, the Nebraska voters in 1966 had adopted an amendment to article VIII of the Nebraska Constitution which provided: "When an income tax is adopted by the Legislature, the Legislature may adopt an income tax based upon the laws of the United States." The question in Anderson, supra, was whether or not this constitutional language included future acts of the United States Congress as well as those already in existence. The Supreme Court held that the intent of the Legislature was to include future acts of Congress and that, therefore, provision for such being found specifically within our Constitution such a contingency as that contained within the Nebraska Revenue Act was constitutional.

In the matter about which you inquire, we find no specific constitutional authority for such a delegation and conclude that such would be unconstitutional. In 1975, we had occasion to consider a similar question concerning a legislative act which would have been contingent upon changes in the federal consumer price index. There we were of the opinion that such would be an impermissible delegation of the legislative authority. See opinion no. 71, dated April 23, 1975, found in the Reports of the Attorney General for 1975-76 on page 82. A copy of this opinion is included for your reference and use.

Therefore, in conclusion we believe that it would be constitutionally improper for the Legislature to base the wages paid these election officials upon the federal minimum wage given the fact that Congress is free to adjust this either upward or downward from its present level and therefore, by enacting such a statute, the Legislature, in effect, is delegating to the United States Congress the authority to set the wages of these officials. It is this kind of delegation in which we believe the Nebraska Legislature may not constitutionally engage.

If we can be of further assistance to you on this matter, please let us know.

Very truly yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Opinion No. 46

Re: Possible Role of HSAs in Certificate of Need Program

Dear Senator Cullan:

You have asked who is making the decision if the decision of a health service agency (HSA) can be overtuned by the Department of Health only if it is arbitrary and capricious or not supported by the evidence. The HSA is. The department is being limited to judicial review of the decision of the HSA. See Scott v. State of Nebraska ex rel. Board of Nursing, 196 Neb. 681, 244 N.W.2d 683 (1976), for the scope of judicial review in licensing cases.

You have asked whether the Legislature can authorize a private nonprofit corporation such as the HSA to make such decisions. We have concluded that it cannot.

A certificate of need program is an exercise of the police power. The power is an attribute of sovereignty. It may be exercised by the Legislature directly or it may be exercised indirectly by conferring the power upon agencies created by the Legislature. See Chicago v.

O'Connell, 278 Ill. 591, 116 N.E. 210 (1917). (In Fisher v. Board of Regents, 108 Neb. 666, 673, 189 N.W. 161 (1922), the power was given to an agency created by the Constitution, but whose duties are prescribed by law.)

The health service agencies in Nebraska are not agencies created by the Legislature or by the Constitution. They are private nonprofit corporations under the direction of their boards of directors. See sec. 21-1916, R.R.S. 1943. Also one of the terms of their designation as HSAs by the federal government is that they are not a subsidiary of, or otherwise controlled by, any other private or public corporation or other legal entity. See 42 USC section 300/-1.(b) (1) (A).

This autonomy would not be violated if the Department of Health were authorized to contract with HSAs. The HSAs could then decide whether to enter the contract tendered.

The department could be authorized to contract with the HSAs to make preliminary findings of fact and advisory recommendations as they do now under the federal program. This fact plus the expertise of any agency limited by 42 USC section 300/-1. (b) (1) (A) to health planning and development functions should save such authorization from unconstitutionality as special legislation favoring HSAs over other nonprofit corporations. See City of Scottsbluff v. Tiemann, 185 Neb. 256, 266, 175 N.W.2d 74 (1970).

The department could not be authorized to delegate the making of the final decision to HSAs. The Legislature would then be doing indirectly what it could not do directly. Also courts in other jurisdictions have held that the duty of finding facts cannot be delegated (Burk Bros. v. National Labor Relations Board, 117 F.2d 686 (3rd Cir. 1941)), that the duty to determine a case on all the evidence cannot be delegated (Dillon v. Schapp Beef Co., 5254 App.Div. 790, 4 N.Y.S.2d 85 (1938)), and that the agency given the power to make a decision cannot impose a prior restraint on its decision by contract (Johnson et al. v. Board of Commissioners, 192 N.C. 561, 135 S.E. 618 (1926), and Gaddis v. Cherokee County Road Commissioner, 195 N.C. 107, 141 S.E. 358 (1928).)

In Thiles v. County Board of Sarpy County, 189 Neb. 1, 200 N.W.2d 13 (1972), the Nebraska court discussed the limitation on the power of a county board to contract with individuals for services:

“ . . . [C]ounty boards may not hire a person to perform (1) unauthorized acts, (2) official discretionary duties of the board, or (3) statutory official duties of the board or another county or state official . . .” Supra at 6.

The court would probably reach a similar decision in regard to administrative agencies such as the Department of Health.

Sincerely yours,

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Our Father, in the midst of the complicated situations of life in the unsolved problems of our State, deliver Thy servants from any sense of futility. Let them feel the support and the prayers of the many citizens of this State who are sincerely interested in the best interests of all, and above all, the uplift of the everlasting arms.

Cause them to understand that God's power has never been obstructed by difficulties, nor His love limited by the confusion of human plans. May the very failures of man's best resources lead us to seek the resources of God.

Cleanse our hearts of selfishness. Grant that all questions immediately before us may be made so plain that we shall have no forebodings as we make our decisions nor vain regrets after they are made. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 47

March 6, 1979

Dear Senator Carsten:

You have asked certain questions in regard to LB 285, 86th Legislature, First Session 1979. You state that you are attempting to take action on this bill which would delete provisions (1)(a) and (1)(b) of LB 1, 85th Legislature, First Special Session 1978.

In your first question you asked: "As used in LB 1, 1978 Special Session, what is an ad valorem tax?" As you correctly point out, LB 1 places a seven percent limitation upon that portion of the budget funded by ad valorem taxation of political subdivisions. Section 1 (3) in part defines the portion of the budget limited in the following terms:

"For the purposes of this section, the term budget funded by ad valorem taxes shall include all funds the source of which is an ad valorem tax regardless of the purpose of such funds. . . ."

While the Nebraska Supreme Court has never engaged in an extended discussion of the meaning of the term ad valorem taxation, they have in State ex rel. Meyer v. Story, 173 Neb. 741, 114 N.W.2d 769 (1962), stated:

"The phrase 'ad valorem' means literally 'according to the value,' and is used in taxation to designate an assessment of taxes against property at a certain rate upon its value. . . ."

They cite cases from Arizona and Texas for this quote. In Powell v. Gleason, 50 Ariz. 542, 74 P.2d 47, (1937), the Supreme Court of Arizona in part said:

". . . Taxes fall into many different classes, and the tests as to their validity frequently differ in accordance with their nature. The three principal forms now in use are ad valorem property, excise, and income taxes. The 'ad valorem' means, literally, 'according to the value,' and is used in taxation to designate an assessment of taxes against property at a certain rate upon its value. Webster's New International Dictionary. An ad valorem property tax is invariably based upon ownership of property, and is payable regardless of whether it be used or not, although of course the value may vary in accordance with such factor. It is neither intended nor expected that it be passed on, though under some circumstances, as with rental property, this may be done. . . . An excise tax, on the other hand, is a direct tax laid on merchandise or commodities, which is generally meant to be passed on to the consumer. It may or may not have an ad valorem factor therein. . . . Income taxes are precisely what the name signifies; taxes based on income in money, gross or net. . . .”

With this basis it can be said that an ad valorem tax is one imposed according to value, what is commonly referred to in Nebraska as a property tax. A tax imposed upon real or personal property based on the value of that property.

In your second question you ask “are receipts from the following sources to be considered as receipts from an ad valorem tax?” You thereafter list seven separate items from which tax receipts flow to political subdivisions.

The first tax to which you refer is that imposed upon real property. Real property tax is a tax imposed upon the valuation of the property made for the purposes of imposing a tax. The valuation made is to be actual value. Tax on real property is ad valorem tax.

The second tax you identify is the personal property tax. Under the statutes, personal property returns are filed by taxpayers which state the value of the property subject to taxation. The tax is then imposed based upon those values. The property may be of any sort, income producing, nonincome producing, or of some other nature. Irrespective of the nature of the property the tax is based upon the value of the property. The tax that is imposed according to the value of the property.

Your next cite, taxes imposed upon motor vehicles. Section 77-1238, et. seq., R.R.S. 1943, as amended, set out the method by which taxes are imposed upon motor vehicles. In section 77-1238(4) it is stated:

“Motor vehicle tax shall mean a tax imposed upon motor vehicles in lieu of an ad valorem tax;”

Subsequently in section 77-1239, R.S.Supp., 1978, the following language appears:

“(1) The Tax Commissioner shall prepare a schedule of actual values upon the several types of motor vehicles already manufactured or being manufactured, . . . in accordance with section 77-201.”

Under the scheme provided these values are reported to the county treasurer who then applies the appropriate mill levy to each of the motor vehicles. In section 77-1240.01, R.R.S. 1943, in part it is provided:

“. . . , which motor vehicle tax shall be in lieu of all ad valorem taxes to which such motor vehicles would otherwise be subject. . . .”

Thus we have an anomaly, the tax is to be in lieu of ad valorem taxes, yet is a tax imposed according to value. The method used is to establish the actual value of a class of motor vehicles and return that value to the counties. The counties then apply that value to all motor vehicles of the same class regardless of the actual value of any particular vehicle. The tax is according to the average value of the class. It may be that the method selected is simply a variation upon the ad valorem system or a different system. The individual vehicle may have a value greater or lesser than the value upon which the tax is imposed. Thus to an extent the tax is not on the basis of value. It is probably safer to assume that the motor vehicle tax is an ad valorem tax, since it does not easily fit into other categories. Although the Legislature has stated the tax is in lieu of an ad valorem tax, the legislative statement of the nature of a tax will not control over the actual nature of the tax. State ex rel., McGuire v. MacFarland, 104 Neb. 42, 175 N.W. 663.

The next tax to which you refer is the Local Option (city) sales tax. The authorities generally agree that a sales tax is not an ad valorem or property tax, but rather is an excise tax. An excise tax can generally be said to be one that is layed upon the manufacture, sale or consumption of commodities, on licenses or occupations, or occupations or corporate privileges. The sales tax is not an ad valorem tax.

Finally, you identify three funds made up of state revenues which are intended to reimburse local subdivisions for revenue lost because of exemptions provided by the Legislature or as an aid in support of local subdivisions. These are: Personal Property Tax Relief Fund, the Homestead Exemption Replacement Fund, and State Aid to Schools. Each of the replacement funds are raised through the general revenues of the state. No part of the revenues is derived from an ad valorem tax. Payments are made to governmental subdivisions on the basis of the amount of revenue forgone or other factors. See section 77-202.22, R.R.S. 1943, and section 77-202.30, R.S.Supp. (1978). For purposes of state aid to schools, see section 79-1330 et. seq., R.R.S. 1943.

As it relates to LB 1, it is important to determine whether these three classes of income to local subdivisions are in the nature of an ad valorem taxation. If they are in the nature of ad valorem taxation, they would be subject to the limitation provided under LB 1, exclusive of sections 1(a) and (b), and if not, they would be subject to that limitation.

The personal property and homestead exemption payments made to counties are based upon the amount of revenue the county would have received had the property exempted by the legislative action been subject to property taxation. The money is raised through the general sales and income tax as well as all other income that goes to make up the general fund of the State of Nebraska. No property tax is levied to raise the money the state returns to the subdivisions. The only purpose of determining the valuation of the property upon which the tax would have been placed is to set up a system for proration of the payments among the subdivisions. For this reason, we feel it cannot be said that an ad valorem basis exists for this taxation. Thus, these funds would not be subject to the limitations provided for in LB 1.

With respect to the school aid sections, a somewhat more complicated system exists. However, the nature of the money from which the payments are made, is based upon primarily sales and income tax revenues and not other revenues. Although the distribution formula takes into account property valuations of the school districts, those valuations are relevant only for purposes of the division of the funds appropriated by the Legislature. The actual source of the revenue is not ad valorem, thus they are outside of the limitations provided by LB 1.

Opinion No. 48
March 6, 1979

Dear Senator Carsten:

You have asked that we review LB 285, Eighty-Sixth Legislature, First Session. LB 285 seeks to amend LB 1, Eighty-Fifth Legislature, First Special Session, 1978. In your first question you ask "Does the limitation on the budgets of political subdivisions imposed by LB 1 (1978 Special Session), apply to that portion of the total adopted budget funded only by ad valorem taxes?" The provision of LB 1 dealing with this subject is section 1 and it provides:

"Every political subdivision authorized to levy a tax or cause a tax to be levied may adjust that portion of its budget funded by ad valorem taxes for the upcoming fiscal year so as not to exceed an increase of more than seven per cent of the current year's budget funded by ad valorem taxes. . ." (Emphasis added.)

The phrase “that portion of its budget funded by ad valorem taxes” coupled with the phrase “current year’s budget funded by ad valorem taxes” can only mean that the portion of the total budget which is funded by ad valorem taxes is limited by LB 1. Thus meaning less than the entire budget.

Most local subdivisions receive revenue from a variety of sources. For instance, a county will receive money from real and personal property taxation, from federal grants, from state payments from inheritance taxation, from license fees and a variety of other activities. All of these income sources to some extent support the budget. The limitation adopted under LB 1 applies only to that portion of the budget which is funded by ad valorem taxation. That portion of the budget supported by non ad valorem taxes or income other than from tax sources, is not limited by LB 1.

In your second question you ask “Does the limitation imposed by LB 1 apply to the budget as a whole, regardless of the source of the tax receipts which, when lumped together, make up the entire budget?”

At first glance your second question may seem to be identical to your first question. However, it is important to distinguish between having an effect on the whole budget and applying to the whole budget. Were the seven percent limitation applicable to the entire budget of a local subdivision, the use of the term “current year’s budget funded by ad valorem taxation” would be superfluous. It is necessary in construing statutes to give effect and meaning to the entire statute and to not reach a conclusion which would make ineffective any portion of the statute. Thus, it must be concluded that the limitation is solely as to the portion of the budget funded by ad valorem taxation.

That is not to say, however, that the seven percent limitation does not affect the entire budget. The effect of the seven percent limitation arises by virtue of the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of section (1). Subsection (a) allows the budget limit to be exceeded where there are reduced receipts from state sources. Subsection (b) requires that the budget limitation be reduced where there are increased receipts from state general fund sources.

To the extent that the state authorizes any increase in state support the effective limit will be seven percent minus the increase in state general fund support. For example, assume a subdivision receives 50 percent of its revenues from state general fund sources and 50 percent from property tax revenue. If the Legislature increases state funding support by 7 percent, the subdivision would not be able to increase their ad valorem tax funded portion of the budget at all for that year. Effectively they would have a 3.5 percent budget limit. Other examples could be cited which would show that there is an effect on the total budget of any subdivision by the imposition of a limit on a portion of the budget. However, an effect should not be confused with a limit.

Re: LB 119

Dear Senator Lamb:

This is in reply to your inquiry concerning your proposed amendment to LB 119, which would require a "cancellation permit" from the Nebraska Power Review Board before a supplier of electricity could cancel the construction of any electric generation facility previously approved by the board.

You first asked if the proposed amendment would have the effect of depriving the elected board of directors of the utility of their authority to make decisions which would be in the best interests of the rate payers and thus, unconstitutional. In this regard we call to your attention the provisions of section 70-626, R.R.S. 1943, which, among other things, grants to a public power district the authority (subject to the approval of the Power Review Board per section 70-1012) to construct generation facilities. To the same effect is section 70-704 with regard to electric cooperative corporations.

In our opinion, the power and authority to construct a generation facility carries with it the power and authority to not construct such a facility. To that extent, your proposed amendment is in direct conflict with the existing law and does not explicitly repeal it.

Although we do not find any constitutional prohibition against what you are attempting to accomplish by your proposed amendment, we might suggest that failure to reconcile the differences between the authority which we believe the power districts have under the present statutes, with the authority which your proposed amendment would confer upon the Power Review Board might cause some serious legal problems.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Lord, show us the headlines and help us to understand them. Transcend geography, span distance, O Lord. Bring the city near to the farm. Bring the west into the east, the white to the black. Transcend the gaps of race and culture and generation. Make the stranger like a brother, the widow like a mother, the convict like a son, and the hero like a neighbor. Show us the headlines. Take us into the world, in the laws we pass, in the rumors we stop, in the risks we take, in the convictions we show, in the issues we face, in the lives we redeem, in the sins we confess, and in the beliefs which we express through our votes. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 50

March 8, 1979

Dear Senator Carsten:

In your letter of March 6, 1979, you ask whether the amendment to Article VIII, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution adopted at the 1978 general election is self-executing. We conclude that it is.

The amendment provides that when a political subdivision authorized to levy a tax or cause a tax to be levied lies in two or more counties, and one or more of such counties have not completed a general reappraisal of all land and improvements within two years of one another, the State Board of Equalization and Assessment shall fix separate and distinct tax levies so that the county which has most recently completed a general reappraisal of all lands and improvements shall provide the same percentage of the political subdivision's budget as it provided prior to such reappraisal. The amendment further provides that for all tax years commencing on or after January 1, 1981, the state board shall not be empowered to fix separate and distinct levies, but shall annually review and equalize assessments of property among counties.

LB 242 is, for all intents and purposes, in the exact language of the constitutional provision. Your question is whether the passage of LB 242 is necessary to make the constitutional provision operative. We conclude that it is not.

Our court has, from time to time, held various constitutional provisions to be either self-executing or not self-executing. In Maher v. State, 144 Neb. 463, 133 N.W.2d 641 (1944), the court held that the constitutional provision for a speedy trial was self-executing, and that the interpretation of that provision was for the court, but that since the time fixed by the Legislature was not unreasonable the court would adopt it as its own.

On the other hand, in Gentry v. State, 174 Neb. 515, 118 N.W.2d 643 (1962), the court held that a constitutional provision that the state may sue and be sued, and the Legislature should provide by law in what manner and in what courts suit shall be brought was not self-executing. As you will note, the constitutional provision in that case specifically provided for legislative action. No such action is mentioned in the constitutional provision we are concerned with, and, as a matter of fact, in view of the specific directions given in the constitutional provision, we do not see how any leeway is left for legislative alterations. This is pointed up by the fact that the statute to implement the constitutional provision is in the exact words of that provision. We do not therefore believe that LB 242 would in any way affect the duties of the state board, as outlined in the constitutional amendment.

Very truly yours,

Re: Rule 1 of the Board of Examiners in Embalming

Dear Senator Duis:

You have asked for clarification of our opinion dated February 6, 1979, on the above subject.

Notwithstanding our reservations about your committee acting to determine the validity of any administrative rule, we answered your question about whether the Board of Examiners in Embalming had the authority to adopt Rule 1(3)(a). We said it did not have express authority to do so. We also pointed out that an agency which did have such authority had adopted the same rule. Since you are still concerned about whether the board had authority to adopt Rule 1(3)(a), we assume you want to know if it had any authority other than express authority to adopt such a rule. We have concluded that it did not.

Section 71-1333(2)(1), R.R.S. 1943, makes violation of "any regulation of the department or other body having regulatory powers, relating to the handling, custody, care or transportation of dead human bodies" grounds for denying, revoking or suspending the license of a funeral director or funeral establishment. However, that section is not a grant of rule-making power. It can be carried into effect without the board itself making such rules and regulations. So can the remaining provisions of secs. 71-1325 to 71-1328. Thus the board has no implied power under section 71-1326, R.R.S. 1943, to make such rules and regulations in order to carry into effect those sections.

This lack of statutory authority was not raised as an objection by our office either when Rule 1 was approved on June 14, 1973, or when it was approved for re-filing without any changes in August 1975. Any reluctance by the board to withdraw Rule 1(3)(a) is no doubt in reliance on our approval of it.

Sincerely yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Re: LB 26, Eighty-Sixth Legislature, First Session, 1979.

Dear Senator Kremer:

You ask whether or not section 77-1355, R.S.Supp., 1978, as amended by LB 1, section 1, Eighty-Fifth Legislature, First Special Session, 1978, would take precedence over LB 26. We believe that there is not an inherent conflict between the existing statute, section 77-1355 as amended and the proposed Legislative Bill 26.

Section 77-1355, provides, in essence, that a political subdivision authorized to levy an ad valorem tax when determining the budget to be funded by an ad valorem tax may increase that portion of the budget for the upcoming fiscal year not to exceed more than 7% of the current year's budget or the average increase by percentage of the three preceding budgets, which ever is greater. It should be pointed out that what section 77-1355 as amended limits is a budget increase not to exceed 7% or the average increase by percentage of the previous three budgets. Section 77-1355 does not limit the rate of the ad valorem tax. However, the Ground Water Management Act which is found at section 46-656 et seq., does, at this time, contain a one quarter of a mill ad valorem tax maximum limit which may be imposed by a natural resource district for the administration of a control area. Section 5 of LB 26 proposes to increase this levying authority of the district to one full mill maximum. Such an increase is not inherently conflicting with section 77-1355.

As an example let us suppose that a natural resource district currently is expending the totality of the receipts from the one quarter of a mill ad valorem tax which may be imposed by a natural resource district under section 46-673. Under section 5 of LB 26 the natural resource district would be allowed to increase its mill levy to one full mill. However, that portion of the natural resource district budget which was supported by ad valorem taxes may not be increased by more than 7% of the previous year's budget or the average increase by percentage for the three preceding budgets. Thus, while LB 26 may authorize an increase in the mill levy to one full mill, the 7% or average increase by percentage for the three previous years' limitation would mandate that less than the full one mill ad valorem tax be levied in order to fund that portion of the budget derived from a mill levy. In other words, where the Legislature may, by the passage of LB 26 authorize a natural resource district to levy a one full mill ad valorem tax, the provisions of section 77-1355 would in all likelihood preclude the natural resource district from levying that one full mill levy the first year it attempted to increase its budget.

If in fact the intent of LB 26 is to allow a natural resource district to not only levy a one full mill ad valorem tax but also to expend an increase in its budget by whatever figure results because of the three quarter mill increase, then specific language would have to be included in LB 26 authorizing a district to exceed the budget limitations provided for in section 77-1355.

Special note should also be made of section 77-1356, R.S.Supp., 1978, as amended by LB 1, section 2, Eighty-Fifth Legislature, First Special Session, 1978. Section 77-1356 as amended provides that a governing body of a political subdivision may, if it determines that a budget funded from an ad valorem tax higher than is permitted by section 77-1355 is needed, by resolution call for a special election to determine whether the budget increase above the limit permitted by section 77-1355 may be adopted. Therefore, even without further amendments to LB 26, it is possible under the existing statutes to increase a portion of the budget funded by ad valorem taxes beyond the limitations provided for in section 77-1355. However, if it is the intent of the Legislature to allow for an increase in that portion of a natural resource district's budget, which is funded by ad valorem taxes without calling for the special election, then the amendment to LB 26 as mentioned above, would be required.

In conclusion, it is our opinion that section 77-1355, as amended, and LB 26 as currently proposed are not necessarily in conflict.

However, if it is the desire of the Legislature to allow a natural resource district to increase that portion of its budget funded by ad valorem taxes beyond the limitations placed upon that subdivision by section 77-1355 without a special election, then further amendments to LB 26 must be made to provide that a natural resource district could exceed the budget limitations found in section 77-1355.

Gracious God, we admit that the pressures of life sometimes come close to getting the best of us. One group tries to squeeze us into its mold; another group tries to squeeze us into a contradictory mold. Person after person wants something from us. Help us to give a hearing to the groups and individuals that clamor for our attention. But also deliver us from letting them call our moves. ### ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

March 9, 1979

Re: LB 207

Dear Senator Beutler:

This is in reply to your inquiry concerning the proposed amendment to LB 207, which would require that disputes between suppliers and purchasers of electrical services be subject to compulsory arbitration, and that appeals of the decision of the Arbitration Board be denovo on the record direct to the Supreme Court. Your principal concern seems to be whether or not the method of selection of the Arbitration Board, of the rules of evidence to be followed by the board, and the method of appeal, satisfy the due process and equal protection requirements of the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution.

At least, insofar as the method of appeal is concerned, we call to your attention that part of Article V, section 2 of the Constitution which provides:

“ . . . The Supreme Court shall have . . . such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law. . . . ”

In our opinion, this provision of the Constitution gives the Legislature sufficient latitude to authorize the decision of the Arbitration Board to be appealed directly to the Supreme Court.

With regard to the matter of the Arbitration Board, and its proposed operation, we have been unable to find any authority which would suggest that the proposed creation and jurisdiction of the Arbitration Board would not satisfy the due process and equal protection provisions of the Constitution.

Very truly yours,
 PAUL L. DOUGLAS
 Attorney General

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Lord, what would we do without words? What would we do without speeches and reports and journals? Our language is our life. You have given to all of us so much to say, and the means to say it. We have the gift of speech. We can change our minds, also our plans, change our words, and hold to our convictions. Our language is our life. It is our way to open our minds, reveal our wills, show our feelings. Words keep us healthy and are the way we make love, invite friends, vote our convictions, and pray. O God, live in our language. Live in our words, phrases, cliches, in our stories, favorite phrases, our votes, and on our lips. Your Word is holy, O Lord, make our words holy also. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 54

March 8, 1979

Dear Senator Reutzel:

In your February 26, 1979, letter you asked:

“If the statutes pertaining to the Nebraska Workmen’s Compensation Court are amended to change the name to the Nebraska Workers’ Compensation Court, is it necessary to have a constitutional amendment to change the name as it appears in Article V, section 28?”

Article V, section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution does not specifically create the Nebraska Workmen’s Compensation Court but authorizes the legislature to create courts inferior to the Supreme Court. Section 48-152, R.R.S. 1943, created the Nebraska Workmen’s Compensation Court pursuant to said Article V, section 1.

Since the Nebraska Workmen’s Compensation Court was created by statute, its name may be changed in the same manner. Amendment of the various statutory references to the court will serve to change its name.

The only constitutional reference to the Nebraska Workmen’s Compensation Court is in Article V, section 28, which provides that one member of the Commission on Judicial Qualifications shall be one of the judges of the Nebraska Workmen’s Compensation Court. This constitutional provision does not create the court but requires that the Legislature provide for the Commission on Judicial Qualifications and that certain courts shall be represented as members. It does not appear there would be any confusion concerning the intent of the constitutional reference and, in our opinion, amendment of the various statutory references to the Nebraska Workmen’s Compensation Court, including section 24-715, R.R.S. 1943, will be sufficient to effectively change the name of the court and no constitutional amendment would be required.

Very truly yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Wednesday, March 14, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:02 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Eternal God, most of us can stand up to the major challenges that come our way. But what often gets the best of us is the trivia we have to endure. We attend meetings and meetings and meetings which seem to accomplish little, if anything. We have to soothe the hurt feelings of others upon whom we depend. We are required to follow established procedures which seem to stand in the way of getting the job done. Give us for Thy mercy's sake patience to put up with that insect swarm of life's daily irritations by keeping our eyes on that which is truly important, for "What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 55
March 13, 1979

Dear Senator Maresh:

You have requested the opinion of this office concerning whether LB 369, which authorizes a type of agency shop, is constitutional pursuant to the provisions of Article XV, section 13 of the Constitution of Nebraska. As you stated, “. . .the LB 369 version of an agency shop is somewhat different from the traditional concept whereby non-union members pay an amount equal to union dues. LB 369 authorizes a service fee to be paid by all employees in the bargaining unit.”

Article XV, section 13 of the Constitution of Nebraska, commonly referred to as the “right to work” law, provides:

“No person shall be denied employment because of membership in or affiliation with, or resignation or expulsion from a labor organization or because of refusal to join or affiliate with a labor organization; nor shall any individual or corporation or association of any kind enter into any contract, written or oral, to exclude persons from employment because of membership in or nonmembership in a labor organization.” (Emphasis ours.)

As you noted, this office considered the issue of whether the inclusion of an agency shop provision in a collective bargaining agreement would violate Article XV, section 13 in an opinion, dated March 2, 1960. Therein it was stated:

“. . .The ‘agency shop’ is simply an agreement between employer and union that employees who are not union members shall, as a condition of continued employment, contribute an amount equal to the fees and dues paid by union members. . . .”
Report of the Attorney General, 1959-60, No. 173, at 295.

The opinion focused on the above emphasized language of Article XV, section 13, particularly the term “affiliate”. Essentially, the conclusion reached in our prior opinion was that the term, “affiliate with” employed alternatively with the term, “to join”, indicated that the provision prohibited requiring union membership or, in lieu thereof, the payment of an amount equal to dues, as a condition of employment. Hence our opinion was that an agency shop provision violates Article XV, section 13.

Since our prior opinion was issued, several courts in other jurisdictions have considered the issue of whether their “right to work” laws prohibit an agency shop clause, see e.g., Schermerhorn v. Retail Clerks International Assoc., 141 So. 2d 269 (Fla. 1962); Higgins v. Cardinal Manufacturing Co., 188 Kan. 11, 360 P.2d 456 (1961); Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric R & Motor Coach Employees v. Las Vegas - Tonopah - Reno State Coach Line, Inc., 202 F.Supp. 726 (D.C. Nev. 1962); Ficek v. International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shop Builders, Blacksmiths, Forgers and Helpers, Local #647, 219 N.W.2d 860 (N.Da., 1974); also see, 92 ALR 2d 598, 619-620. The above referenced cases held that the agency shop was prohibited by the “right to work” law of that jurisdiction.

LB 369 authorizes an agreement between the employer and the labor organization which is certified as the exclusive bargaining agent, to require all employees in the unit to pay to the labor organization a service fee, which is the equivalent to the employee's proportionate share of the organization's costs of representing the employees. We understand that LB 369 has been amended in committee to more precisely limit the required service fee to the equivalent of the employee's proportionate share of the organization's costs of "negotiating and administering a collective bargaining contract and processing grievances under a collective bargaining agreement." Thus the required service fee which would be authorized by LB 369 differs in substance from the typical agency shop provision and it could be more precisely labeled a type of "fair share" agreement.

The provisions of LB 369 draw into sharper focus the counter-veiling arguments raised in the discussions of union security agreements. The argument is advanced that a worker should not be a "free rider" who takes advantage of benefits secured by a union without contributing his share to its support. The contrary argument advanced is that a worker should not be required to support an organization to which he may be opposed and that he should be free to choose which organizations he wants to support. However these perplexing policy arguments are not at issue here, since in our opinion, that decision has already been made through the enactment of Article XV, section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution.

Article XV, section 13 was enacted in 1946 as the result of a referendum petition, thus there is no applicable legislative history. In 1947, LB 344, which contained substantially similar language, was enacted by the Legislature. The legislative history indicates that the principle concern was prohibiting closed shop provisions, although mention was made of prohibiting other forms of union security. In our opinion, the legislative history is not dispositive of the issue presented herein, since, as we noted in our prior opinion, agency shop provisions were not in common usage until after the enactment of "right to work" provisions. Report of the Attorney General, 1959-60, No. 173, at 295-96.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has stated:

" . . . 'This court has also recognized the principle of constitutional interpretation that each and every clause in a constitution has been inserted for some useful purpose. Constitutional provisions should receive even broader and more liberal construction than statutes, and constitutions are not subject to rules of strict construction. . . .'" School District of Seward Education Association v. School District of Seward, 188 Neb. 772, 777-778, 199 N.W.2d 752 (1972), quoting from Anderson v. Tremann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.W.2d 322 (1967).

The court in Seward, supra, also stated:

“ . . . ‘In construing constitutional amendments, consideration should be given to the circumstances leading to their adoption and the purpose sought to be accomplished.’”
 Id. at 776; quoting from Engelmeyer v. Murphy, 180 Neb. 295, 142 N.W.2d 342 (1966).

In our opinion, employing the above quoted principles of construction and the analysis of the language of Article XV, section 13 as enunciated in our prior opinion, our court may hold that the provisions of LB 369 violate Article XV, section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution. It appears to us that the purpose to be accomplished by the enactment of Article XV, section 13 was to prohibit compulsory unionism and to allow an individual employee to choose whether “to join or affiliate” with a labor organization. It appears to us that the required payment of a service fee, as defined in LB 369, while it is a less restrictive form of compulsory unionism, nevertheless, forces an employee to affiliate with a labor organization. While the issue is far from clear, it is our opinion that the provisions of LB 369 are constitutionally suspect under Article XV, section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution.

Our research has revealed only one case which considers the precise question involved herein. In Florida Education Association v. Public Employees Relations Commission, 81 LC par. 55,037 (1977), a Florida district court of appeals considered the constitutionality of a “fair share rule” under the state’s “right to work” provision. The “fair share rule” at issue required employees to pay the labor organization a fee not to exceed an employee’s proportionate share of the organization’s costs incurred in negotiations and administration of grievance procedures. The court held that the rule was constitutionally invalid as it was repugnant to the “right to work” provision of the Florida Constitution.

Re: LB 572

Dear Senator Nichol:

This is in reply to your inquiry concerning LB 572 which would amend sections 24-345 and 24-348 to require that certain monies held by the clerk of the district court be paid to the State Treasurer for eventual deposit in the permanent school fund rather than to the county treasurer for deposit in the county general fund.

As a result of the enclosed opinion of this office dated October 1, 1975, the Unclaimed Property Act was amended in 1977 to provide that various funds be deposited in the permanent school fund rather than in the state general fund.

When the Unclaimed Property Act was enacted in 1969 it is my recollection that it was intended that all unclaimed property in the hands of various governmental agencies be delivered to the State Treasurer. In this regard note the disposition of similar funds referred to in our opinion under section 24-563. It would therefore appear that LB 572 is intended to bring unclaimed funds in the hands of the clerk of the district court in conformity with similar funds in the hands of other agencies.

Very truly yours,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 57
March 15, 1979

Dear Senators Hoagland, Johnson, Koch, and Wesely:

This is in response to your correspondence dated March 13, 1979, wherein you requested a "comprehensive constitutional review" of LB 316 in its present form in time for you to review the opinion prior to Final Reading of the bill on March 15 or 16. The time constraints imposed by your request are simply inconsistent with a comprehensive constitutional review of these complex issues.

You further requested that our opinion make reference to the following: (1) Judge Urbom's December 28, 1979, bench remarks in Woman's Services P.C., et al. v. J. James Exon, et al., CV 78-L-289 in the United States District Court for the District of Nebraska; (2) Senator Chamber's memorandum read on the floor of the Legislature on March 13, 1979; and (3) a footnote contained in Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth, 428 U.S. 52 (1971).

Regarding your first request, Judge Urbom's bench remarks were made pursuant to the entry of a temporary injunction. Our office represents the defendants in this litigation which is presently pending before Judge Urbom. Under these circumstances it would be highly improper and possibly a violation of DR 7-107(G) of the Code of Professional Responsibility for our office to render an opinion on the court's comments. Our opinions regarding the court's comments should be restricted to briefs and arguments addressed to the court.

As to your second request, Senator Chamber's memorandum was read on the floor of the Legislature and entered into the record. His memorandum appears to be most properly characterized as a legislative argument. Our comments on the Senator's memorandum would result in an improper intrusion by this office into the arena of legislative debate. It is the practice of this office to avoid entanglement in legislative debates and to respectfully defer to the judgment of the Legislature in resolving issues of public policy.

Thirdly, you have requested the opinion of this office on the informed consent provision of LB 316, in light of the specific language found in Danforth, supra, 428 U.S. at 67, footnote 8, which provides: “The appellants’ vagueness argument centers on the word ‘informed.’ One might well wonder, offhand, just what ‘informed consent’ of a patient is. The three Missouri federal judges who composed the three-judge District Court, however, were not concerned, and we are content to accept, as the meaning, the giving of information to the patient as to just what would be done and as to its consequences. To ascribe more meaning than this might well confine the attending physician in an undesired and uncomfortable straitjacket in the practice of his profession.” (Emphasis ours.)

The above-quoted dicta indicates that there are perimeters to the type of information which a state may constitutionally require a physician to give to a patient who desires an abortion. In our opinion, the above-quoted footnote raises the question, but does not resolve it.

As we set forth in our prior opinions, (No. 55, March 24, 1977, and No. 38, March 5, 1979), the issue is whether the informed consent provision promotes the legitimate state interest in insuring that a woman reaches her decision to abort with full awareness of its significance and with full knowledge of its nature and consequences, without unduly burdening or restricting the decision to be made by the patient or her doctor. We pointed out in our prior opinions that the provisions at issue therein are more expansive than that in Danforth, supra, and thus the constitutionality of these provisions is certainly not clear. However, applying the above standard, it is our opinion that the informed consent provisions of LB 316 could withstand constitutional challenge.

We also base our opinion on the decision in Planned Parenthood v. Fitzpatrick, 401 F.Supp. 554 (E.D.Pa., 1975), which was affirmed by the Supreme Court. 428 U.S. 901 (1976). In a 2-1 decision, the district court upheld the constitutionality of the informed consent provision of the Pennsylvania abortion statute which provided:

“ ‘Informed consent’ means a written statement, voluntarily entered into by the person upon whom an abortion is to be performed, whereby she specifically consents thereto. Such consent shall be deemed to be an informed consent only if it affirmatively appears in the written statement signed by the person upon whom the abortion is to be performed that she has been advised (i) that there may be detrimental physical and psychological effects which are not foreseeable, (ii) of possible alternatives to abortion, including childbirth and adoption, and (iii) of the medical procedures to be used. . . .” 401 F.Supp. at 583.

In analyzing the Pennsylvania statute, the court noted that the physician while informing the patient of the information required by this act is free, in the exercise of his judgment, to tailor that information to the facts of an individual case by, for example, reassuring the patient or comparing the risks of other options. Id. at 587-88.

The provisions of LB 316, while similar to the Pennsylvania statute, are not identical, in that LB 316 requires information concerning the reasonable consequences resulting from pregnancy and adoption, as well as abortion. Further, LB 316 requires information concerning the availability of agencies and services to assist a woman in carrying her pregnancy to a natural term. While the issue is uncertain, it is our opinion that the additional information required by LB 316 may be upheld as also furthering the state's interest in insuring the woman's decision to abort is made with full awareness of its significance.

In addition, we note a possible ambiguity arising from recent amendments to section 6 of LB 316. In our recent opinion, No. 38, March 5, 1979, we described a potential vagueness problem in section 6 due to the use of two terms, "unemancipated woman under the age of eighteen" and "minor," neither of which are defined in the act. We noted that section 38-101, R.R.S. 1943, provides: "All persons under nineteen years of age are declared to be minors; but in case any person marries under the age of nineteen his minority ends." As amended, section 6 now requires a statement of parental consultation for a "minor under the age of eighteen." The term "minor" remains undefined in the act. The term "minor under the age of eighteen" could be construed to mean a subclass of "minors," as defined in section 38-101, or it could be construed to be inconsistent with section 38-101 due to the inconsistency of age and thus void for vagueness as not being statutorily defined.

If you desire further assistance from this office regarding specific legal questions on this legislation, please advise.

Sincerely
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General
Lynne Rae Fritz
Assistant Attorney General

FIRST SESSION*FORTY-NINTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Monday, March 19, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:31 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by Rev. Wallace E. Easter, Associate Pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

God our heavenly Father: You have promised peace to every believing heart. Give us that peace, we pray. Events in the world, and in our own lives, take away our hope and shatter our peace, and we need to be reassured that peace is possible when we are ready to pay the price for it.

You have given us a plan for peace for all mankind. Make it plain to us, and help us to see it clearly, so that we may find a formula for our common life together that will work with Your blessing.

May we not spend our days, but invest them; may we in all decisions and responsibilities wait upon You. For they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength. They shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint.

Grant us these mercies today, O God. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Messrs. Kahle, Kelly, Merz, Vickers, and Warner who were excused; and Mr. Newell who was excused until he arrives.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 61
March 15, 1979

Re: Legislative Bills Related to Gasohol Production.

Dear Mr. Warner:

In your letter of March 9, 1979, you requested our opinion in respect to a number of legislative bills dealing with the granting of funds to Nebraska cities, counties and villages for the construction of grain alcohol production plants and facilities. Generally, you have posed the question of whether this legislation transgresses the constitutional limitations found at Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution.

The primary legislation noted in your letter is LB 424, enacted by the 1978 Legislature, which is known as the Nebraska Gasohol and Energy Development Act as codified at section 66-801, et seq., R.S.Supp. 1978. At section 66-808, this act provides that any Nebraska city, county or village may apply for certain grants for the purpose of constructing a grain alcohol plant or production facility.

LB 121, also questioned by your letter, provides for an appropriation of two million five hundred thousand dollars from the general fund to finance this matching grant program.

Also addressed in your correspondence is LB 558, which provides at section 51 that the Agricultural Products Industrial Utilization Committee is authorized to award grants to implement gasohol plants in support of the intended goals of LB 424.

Finally, you ask us to review LB 571 which authorizes the Nebraska Department of Economic Development to enter into agreements with municipalities or counties to build and develop grain alcohol plants and production facilities. LB 571 further provides for amendments to section 39-2215, R.R.S. 1943, which generally increase motor fuel taxes in order to finance a grain alcohol plant fund.

Your question to us in light of the legislation discussed above is set forth as follows:

“ . . . Whether LB 424 (1978), LB 121, LB 558, . . . and LB 571 are constitutional in light of Article XIII, Section 3, of the State Constitution. . . ”

Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution provides, in pertinent part, as follows:

“The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation, . . . ”

Essentially, this constitutional provision has been interpreted to prohibit the credit of the state to be extended to any private party. The prohibition against the loaning of the state's credit applies to the state as well as all political subdivisions of the state. State ex rel. Beck v. City of York, 164 Neb. 223, 82 N.W.2d 269 (1957).

As you know, LB 424, the Nebraska Gasohol and Energy Development Act, has been enacted into law as set out at section 66-801, et seq., R.S.Supp. 1978. Around the time of its enactment, the same question raised in your letter was presented to our office by Governor J. James Exon. On April 19, 1978, we advised the Governor that, while LB 424 may raise questions of constitutionality in its application by the various state bodies and municipalities involved, we believed the legislation to be constitutional on its face in light of the limitations of Article XIII, section 3. We have enclosed herewith our correspondence with the Governor on that question. (Consistent with our policy of obtaining the Governor's consent prior to the public release of such an opinion, we have been advised by Senator Exon's office that the Senator has no objections to our release of this opinion.)

LB 121 merely provides an appropriation for the purpose of financing the grain alcohol plant construction fund. To the extent that we believe that the substantive legislation, LB 424, could survive a constitutional challenge, we also believe that LB 121 does not exceed the limitations of Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution. We would note, parenthetically, that a separate appropriation bill such as LB 121 was necessary to fund the existing legislative program, as noted by our opinion to the Agricultural Products Industrial Utilization Committee on May 8, 1978. (See 1978 Report of the Attorney General, No. 241, a copy of which is enclosed herewith.)

Section 51 of LB 558 simply authorizes the Agricultural Products Industrial Utilization Committee to award grants and implement the provisions of LB 424. Again, our opinion on the constitutionality of this provision is directly related to our previously cited views in regard to LB 424.

Finally, you question the provisions of LB 571 which authorize the Department of Economic Development to enter into agreements with counties and municipalities to develop grain alcohol plants and production facilities. As we noted in our opinion on LB 424, the legislation, on its face, does not appear to lend the credit of the state to private individuals, associations or corporations contrary to the constitutional provisions of Article XIII, section 3. However, we again caution that simply because a bill appears constitutional on its face does not mean that the legislation would be constitutional in all of its possible applications. As we noted in our earlier opinion:

“. . . Serious constitutional questions under Article XIII, section 3, would arise, for instance, if the grant would be made to a city, county, or village so that it could construct a plant. . . whereby the benefit of the grant would directly benefit a private corporation leasing or purchasing the plant from the city, county or village. In such a case, it could be argued the state is indirectly lending its credit to the private corporation.”

Similarly, while the state may be empowered to cooperate or contract with cities and counties in carrying out legitimate public purposes, such as provided by section 72-1401, et seq., R.S. Supp. 1976, the state and its political subdivisions must exercise great caution in avoiding the extension of the public credit or funding to any private individuals, associations or corporations.

In summary, it is our opinion that the legislation referenced above does not, on its face, violate the provisions of Article XIII, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution. However, we trust that our additional comments in qualification of this opinion will serve to alert the state, county and municipal officials entrusted to implement this legislation that great precaution must be taken to avoid any extension of the public credit or funding to the aid of private parties.

Sincerely yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Opinion No. 62
March 15, 1979

Dear Senator Labeledz:

In your letter of March 12, 1979, you call our attention to LB 144, which would amend section 77-2704, R.S.Supp., 1978, by exempting from the sales and use tax, sales of electricity, coal, natural gas, fuel oil, diesel fuel, tractor fuel, propane, gasoline, coke, nuclear fuel, and butane, regardless of the use to which it was to be put. Such items are now exempt from the tax only when purchased for use in processing, manufacturing, mining, refining, irrigation, farming, building construction, telegraph, telephone and radio communication, street, and railroad transportation services and all business, commercial, and industrial uses.

Your question is not about the validity of LB 144, but about whether the passage of LB 144 is necessary, because you wonder whether the present statute is unconstitutional in excluding residential users. You are, therefore, asking about the constitutionality of an existing statute. Normally we would not render such an opinion, because of the policy of this office set out in our letter to the Clerk of the Legislature dated December 28, 1972, found on Page 36 of Volume I of the 1973 Legislative Journal. However, because the question does have a bearing on pending litigation, we will, in this instance, answer your question.

We perceive no constitutional problems with the present statute. We point out that neither the uniformity provision of Article VIII, section

1, nor the prohibition against exemptions of Article VIII, section 2, is applicable. These constitutional provisions deal with property taxation, not with excise taxes such as the sales and use tax.

The only basis upon which such a provision could be attacked is unreasonable classification, in violation of Article III, section 18 of the Nebraska Constitution, or the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. We do not believe a court would find a violation of either.

In 68 Am. Jur. 2d, 41, Sales and Use Taxes, section 27, we find:

“Taxation presents a practical problem and exact equality in sales taxes is utterly impossible. Classification for taxation is permissible if the differences are reasonably related to the purpose of the law, and in determining such classifications, the legislature has great latitude, specifically in establishing the class to which the tax shall apply or the class to be excluded from the tax. The legislature may classify objects of taxation without violating constitutional limitations relating to class legislation or equal protection of the laws when there is reasonable ground for the classification and the law operates equally upon all within the class; and the taxation laws of the states are not violative of the equal protection provision of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Federal Constitution unless they are palpably arbitrary or grossly unequal in application to the persons concerned.”

One of the cases cited in support of the propositions stated above was Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393, 155 N.S.2d 322, (1967). There the court said:

“The power of a state to make reasonable and natural classifications for purposes of taxation is clear and unquestioned. ‘That a statute may discriminate in favor of a certain class does not render it arbitrary if the discrimination is founded upon a reasonable distinction, or difference in state policy. *** Similarly, it has long been settled that a classification, though discriminatory, is not arbitrary nor violative of the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment if any state of facts reasonably can be conceived that would sustain it.’ Allied Stores of Ohio, Inc. v. Bowers, 358 U.S. 522, 79 S.Ct. 437, 3 L.Ed. 2d 480.”

We do not know the precise motives of the Legislature in limiting the exemption, but we can conceive legitimate reasons. The sales and use tax is basically a tax on the ultimate consumer. The Legislature has attempted to avoid taxing the sale of any item of personal property more than once, on the theory that the tax would be passed on, and the ultimate consumer would be paying the sales tax several times when he purchased the final product.

There may have been some similar thinking with respect to the present exemption. Some, although not all, of the exempted uses involve the production of products which will ultimately be subject to the sales tax. Any sales tax collected on the production of the exempted items would be passed on to the ultimate purchaser. The Legislature may have wished to avoid this.

Where this argument is not applicable, other economic philosophies may have played a part. The simple desire not to add to the cost of any business, because it would result in a higher cost of that business' products or services, would probably be sufficient to sustain the statute against constitutional attack on grounds of unreasonable classification. We therefore believe the present statute is constitutionally valid.

You have also asked about the validity of collecting sales tax on a sewer use fee, and suggest that this a tax on a tax. We do not believe that it is, and that the city is required to collect the sales tax on the sewer use fee.

Section 14-365.03, R.R.S. 1943, provides for a service charge for use of the sewerage system in cities of the metropolitan class. It is not a tax, although, if not paid, the charge may be collected in the same manner as taxes. Similar provisions apply in cities of other classes. See section 16-694 and section 17-925.01. We do not think, therefore, that this can be called a tax on a tax.

Section 77-2702(4)(b)(iii), includes in the definition of gross receipts for sales and use tax purposes the furnishing of sewer services. Section 77-2705(2), requires every person furnishing public utility service as defined in subdivision (4)(b) of section 77-2702, to register with the Tax Commissioner. It is clear, therefore, that the statute requires sales and use taxes to be collected on the sewer use fee charged.

We know of no constitutional prohibition against the imposition of an excise on such services, and this is what the sale and use tax is. It is a matter purely within the discretion of the Legislature.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 63
March 15, 1979

Dear Senator Kelly:

You have referred to us for our examination LB 221 and directed our specific attention to section 23 wherein it is proposed that the term "minor" defined in section 53-103, R.R.S. 1943, be amended to refer to persons under twenty-one years of age, rather than the present nineteen years of age and to provide for the following exception:

“. . . , except that any person who was nineteen years of age or older on the effective date of this act shall not be deemed to be a minor.”

You specifically asked whether in our opinion this exception violates any constitutional provisions. In our opinion it does not.

The question is basically one of the validity of the creation of a separate classification of persons, i.e., those persons nineteen years of age on a day certain as opposed to those who will turn nineteen on all subsequent days.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has historically held that while it is competent for the Legislature to classify, the classification to be valid must rest upon some reason of public policy or some substantial difference of situation or circumstances that would naturally suggest the justice or expediency of diverse legislation with respect to the objects classified. See in this regard generally, Althaus v. State, 94 Neb. 780, 114 N.W. 799 (1913).

More recently, the Nebraska court has held that legislative classifications such as are proposed here, must rest upon real differences of situation and circumstances surrounding the members of the class relative to the subject of legislation which render appropriate its enactment. United States Cold Storage Corporation v. Stolinski, 168 Neb. 513, 96 N.W.2d 408 (1959).

While we take no position on the question of the appropriateness or the desirability of such classification, we believe the circumstances exist and arguments can be made which could serve to form a valid basis for such classification. The question before any court on review would not be the propriety of such an act, but whether or not there were circumstances and distinctions which could serve as the basis for classifying these two groups of persons differently.

Therefore in conclusion, while we express no opinion on the desirability of such an amendment creating such an excepted class, we believe that such a distinction can be constitutionally drawn by the Legislature. If we can be of further assistance to you in this regard, please let us know.

Sincerely yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

Opinion No. 64
March 16, 1979

Dear Senator DeCamp:

You have called to our attention Legislative Bill 221 which as presently constituted would have the effect of raising the lawful drinking age from 19 to 21 years of age.

You raise a question as to this measure's constitutionality in light of the fact that persons 19 and 20 years of age are by statute afforded other inherent rights of majority but would not under the provisions of this act be permitted to purchase alcoholic liquors.

We are of the opinion that the fact that Legislative Bill 221 would cause persons 19 and 20 years of age to be treated as adults in some instances and as minors with respect to alcoholic liquor would not render this measure unconstitutional. A three judge panel of federal district court judges had occasion to consider this precise question in 1973 in the case of Republican College Council of Pennsylvania, et al., v. Winner, 357 F.Supp. 739. This was an action challenging the constitutionality of a Pennsylvania statute which denied to persons under 21 years of age access to alcoholic beverages.

The court therefound that no person regardless of his age has a fundamental right to access to alcohol. The court went on to find that since this statute did not affect a fundamental right and since age alone was not a suspect classification, distinctions drawn with respect to age and access to alcohol were not unconstitutional simply because they applied to different classes of persons differently.

The court there concluded that the act would be constitutional if it were an exercise of the state's legitimate police power and promoted some legitimate state purpose so as to not amount to invidious discrimination. The court without taking a position upon the propriety of such a finding found that there could be a rational basis of denying access to alcohol to persons under 21 years of age. Therefore the court in this case concluded that the Pennsylvania statute was constitutional in all respects.

We are confident that Legislative Bill 221, if it becomes law, would be reviewed in a similar light by a court of competent jurisdiction in Nebraska. If we can be of further assistance to you in this regard, please let us know.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS

FIRST SESSION*FIFTIETH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Tuesday, March 20, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:02 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by Rev. Wallace E. Easter, Associate Pastor, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

In this, the day that You have made and given to us Lord God, help us to appreciate its beauty and to make the most of its opportunities.

Keep us, we pray, from the tyranny of trifles. May we give our best thought and attention to what is important, that we achieve something worthwhile for You and for the people You have given us to represent. Teach us how to listen to the guidance of Your Spirit, so that we are saved from wasting our time on all that only adds to our confusion, subtracts from our peace, divides our efficiency, and multiplies our troubles.

We offer to You this day the work of our hands and the praise of our lives. Amen.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 65
March 19, 1979

Re: Rule-making Power of the Department of Health under Proposed Amendments to the Emergency Medical Technician-Paramedic Act (LB 298 as amended).

Dear Senator Cullan:

You have asked whether the Department of Health will have authority to make the four sets of rules it will be directed to make by the Emergency Medical Technician-Paramedic Act if it is amended by LB 298 as amended by your committee. Those rules would prescribe the qualifications for certification and recertification; prescribe procedures for certification, recertification and decertification; set standards for approved training programs; and set standards for approved service programs. We have concluded the department will have no authority to set the qualifications, but it will have authority to make some rules in each of the other areas.

The Legislature as an exercise of the police power may require licensing in those occupations or professions where the practitioner must have skill and technical knowledge not possessed by the general public if the public is to be protected. See City of Louisville v. Coulter, 177 Ky. 242, 197 S.W. 819 (1917). The measures it adopts in the exercise of that power must have some reasonable relationship to the protection of the public. See Lincoln Dairy Co. v. Finigan, 170 Neb. 777, 104 N.W.2d 227 (1975). It may also require new proof of competency before a license is renewed. See Seignious v. Rice, 273 N.Y. 44, 6 N.E.2d 91 (1936). However, it may not delegate legislative powers to an administrative agency. See State v. Cutright, 193 Neb. 303, 226 N.W.2d 771 (1975). Thus the Legislature may not delegate to the department the authority to determine what age, training, experience and personal qualities are necessary to protect the public when advanced emergency medical technicians are practicing medicine under the supervision of a physician or his surrogate.

On the other hand, the Legislature may delegate to an administrative agency the power to ascertain the facts upon which the laws are to be applied and enforced or to do specific acts necessary to the furtherance of the purposes of the act. See Lennox v. Housing Authority of the City of Omaha, 137 Neb. 582, 591, 290 N.W. 451 (1940). The power granted to the agency must be limited to the expressed legislative purpose and administered in accordance with standards prescribed in the legislative act. See Terry Carpenter, Inc. v. Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, 175 Neb. 26, 120 N.W.2d 374 (1963).

There are guidelines in the proposed act for the department to use in prescribing the requirements for approved training programs and for approved service programs. They include the purpose of the act, the definitions of the various categories of advanced emergency medical technicians, the scope of practice for each category, and the aspects of the program to be regulated.

There are guidelines for the department to use in prescribing procedures for certification. They include graduation from an approved program and a finding that the applicant has not violated any of the grounds for denying certification.

There are guidelines for the department to use in prescribing procedures for recertification. They include the lapse of two years since certification and compliance with the act and the rules and regulations made under it. The Legislature has also specified that to be recertified a person must have completed an ongoing educational program approved and developed by the Board of Advanced Emergency Medical Care with the approval of the department. However, it has set no guidelines for that program such as the type, amount and purpose of such training. If continuing education is to be a condition for recertification, the Legislature should set such guidelines.

Sincerely yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Wednesday, March 21, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:02 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by Rev. Wallace E. Easter, Associate Pastor, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

God our Father, help us to believe that the words now spoken and the inner desires of each heart here assembled before You, are heard and understood in Your presence.

We, the members and officers and servants of this Legislature unite our petitions for Your blessing, Your guidance and Your help, that we faithfully may do what is best for the people and what is right in Your sight. Give to the representatives of the people in different parts of the State the will to work together for the welfare of all. Give them courage to withstand the pressure of the selfish, and give to the people the vision to see that sacrifice must be shared by all, that there is no substitute for hard work, and that there is no joy in unmerited reward. Truly may we fear nothing except that, knowing what is right, we fail to do it. So help us, God. Amen.

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE

FIFTY-SECOND DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Thursday, March 22, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., Mrs. Marsh presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by Rev. Wallace E. Easter, Associate Pastor, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lincoln, Nebraska.

God, our heavenly Father, give to us, Your servants, we pray, a true appreciation of our heritage, of great men and women and great deeds in the past; but never let us be intimidated by feelings of our own inadequacy for this the time of our responsibility. Remind us often that the God they worshipped and by whose help they laid a strong foundation for our Nation is still our God today; is still with us when we call upon Him; is still able to help us maintain what they handed down to us and to give it new meaning. Remind us that we are not being called to fill the places of those who have gone on before, but to fill our own places; to do the work You have given us to do; to do the right as You have given us to see the right; always to do the very best we can; and to leave the rest to You. Hear us, and bless us. Amen.

FIFTY-THIRD DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Monday, March 26, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:31 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Gracious God, we have entered this legislative chamber, not only with a public agenda, but with our own private agendas. We who face the problems of this State also face our own problems. Moments of sadness are no stranger to us. Today some of our loved ones are facing illness and perplexity. And we who have shared moments of victory also know what it is to share moments of defeat. Merciful God, speak to each of us that renewing and transforming word, which is not merely the echo of our voices, but the Word which comes from Thee. Help each of us to meet this day in Thy strength. Amen.

BILL ON FIRST READING

The following bill was read for the first by title:

LEGISLATIVE BILL 559A. By Warner, 25th District.

A BILL FOR AN ACT to appropriate funds to aid in carrying out the provisions of Legislative Bill 559, Eighty-sixth Legislature, First Session, 1979; and to declare an emergency.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 66
March 21, 1979

Dear Senator Simon:

You have asked for our opinion as to the constitutional validity of LB 188. In our opinion the bill is constitutionally suspect in several respects. Section 1(1) of the bill provides:

“The maximum amount of any ad valorem tax on real property shall not exceed one and one half per cent of the actual value of such property. The tax shall be collected by the counties and apportioned according to law to the political subdivisions within the counties.”

Standing alone, the first sentence is vague and uncertain in referring to “any tax.” Does this mean that the sum of all taxes levied on the property in any given year may not exceed one and one-half percent of the actual value of the property, or does it mean that no one tax may exceed that figure? The literal language would dictate the latter interpretation. However, the second sentence would support the first interpretation, since there would be no apportionment if only one political subdivision was involved, as the act would simply lower the permissible mill levy of the subdivision whose budget would require a higher mill levy. We will therefore interpret the act to place a maximum levy on the total taxes which may be levied on the property.

The act does not specify how the tax is to be apportioned, but we assume that if the total mill levy went over one and one-half percent of the value, the taxes actually collected would be one and one-half percent of the value, and the share of each taxing subdivision would be reduced by the same percentage.

We believe this may violate the uniformity clause of Article VIII, Section 1, and may constitute unreasonable classification, in violation of Article III, Section 18 of the Nebraska Constitution, and perhaps the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

If all taxpayers in a county paid taxes to the same taxing entities, and to none outside the county, perhaps these problems would not exist. But let us take an example to show the problems. Two properties lie across the road from each other. One is within the limits of a city, and the other is not. Both, however, are in the same school district and other taxing districts, except the city. The combined county, school district, and miscellaneous levies bring the taxes on the property not in the city to just one and one-half times the value of the property.

The property in the city is subject to the same levies as the other property, and in addition is subject to the city levy, which takes it over the limit. Let us suppose that the city tax would bring the total up to two percent. Nevertheless, all that could be collected would be one and one-half percent. Therefore, the taxes payable to the county, school district, and other subdivisions from this property would be reduced by one-fourth. The property outside the city would be paying more for the support of the county, school districts, etc. than the property in the city. We believe that this would be in violation of the constitutional provisions referred to above.

In State v. Osborn, 60 Neb. 415, 83 N.W. 357 (1900), the court said that the rule of uniformity is satisfied if observed by each jurisdiction imposing the tax. In State v. Savage, 65 Neb. 714, 91 N.W. 716 (1902), a syllabus by the court says:

“The constitution requires that in the assessment of taxes for municipal purposes, such taxes shall be uniform with respect to persons and property within the jurisdiction of the body imposing the same.”

As we have shown, the application of LB 188 would sometimes make uniformity within each taxing district impossible. We also call attention to the fact that the bill refers only to real property. No such limitation can be put on the taxation of real property that is not also applicable to taxable personal property, without violation of Article VIII, Section 1.

Section 2 of the bill provides:

“The actual value may reflect from year to year the inflationary rate not to exceed two per cent for any given year or reduction as shown in the consumer price index or comparable data for the area under taxing jurisdiction.”

This language is very unclear, and we are not sure what is intended. Property is required to be assessed at actual value, and, presumably, that value reflects inflationary or deflationary trends. If this section means that actual value for assessment purposes is increased only two percent per year, it is in clear violation of Article VIII, Section 1, which requires taxes to be raised by evaluation uniformly. An arbitrary limit on value cannot be uniform, as the value of different properties fluctuates at different rates.

Or, if the section means that the property shall be assessed at actual value, but that two percent may be added each year for purposes of the limitations of LB 188, we have problems of both clarity and uniformity. How this would be applied, if at all, to new property is not specified. If it means that existing property shall be assessed at actual value, and that two percent per year can be added to that value for purposes of computing the maximum tax, what would be done as to new construction? If the two percent is not also applied to new construction, an obvious violation of uniformity results.

Section 3 of the bill would require a two-thirds vote of the Legislature to enact changes in state laws increasing state taxes. This provision is clearly ineffective. Article III, Section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution provides that bills shall be passed by the majority of all members elected. Future Legislatures cannot be bound by a statute, which the Legislature could, after all, repeal. The provision of Section 3 could have no greater force that the subsequent bill increasing taxes. We therefore believe that Section 3 is in violation of Article III, Section 13 of the Constitution.

Section 4 of the bill provides:

“Any political subdivision with taxing authority, by a two-thirds vote of the qualified electors of such subdivision, may impose special taxes on such subdivision, except ad valorem taxes on real property within such political subdivision.”

It is difficult for us to say whether or not this is constitutional. It would, apparently, authorize any political subdivision to impose any type of tax the mind of man can conceive, except additional property taxes, including sales and income taxes, cigarette taxes, gasoline taxes, and the many other taxes imposed by this or other states. LB 188 lays down no limitations or guidelines whatever for these taxes.

Were this a delegation of authority to an administrative agency, there is no question but what it would amount to an unlawful delegation of legislative authority, since no standards are laid down for the exercise of the authority. However, it is not so clear when a political subdivision is involved. In Nickel v. School Board of Axtell, 157 Neb. 813, 61 N.W.2d 566 (1953), the court discussed delegation of legislative powers to local authorities, but implied that standards were necessary, saying:

“We find the Legislature had authority to delegate to the county committee the authority given it and that the Act provides reasonable limitations and standards for its proper guidance in carrying them out.”

While we are in some doubt as to the validity of such a broad delegation of taxing authority to political subdivisions, we are not prepared to say categorically that it is invalid. There are a number of cases holding invalid delegation of legislative authority to administrative bodies because of lack of standards set out in the statute, but we have found none holding such delegation to a political subdivision void. It is therefore possible that the court would uphold Section 4 of the act, in spite of its complete lack of guidelines or limitations, except as to property taxes.

Very truly yours,
PAUL L. DOUGLAS
Attorney General

Mr. Johnson asked unanimous consent to print the following amendments to LB 143 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

2 1. In the Standing Committee amendments on page
3 2, line 1 and page 5, line 1 after "in" insert "sections
4 1 to 14 of"; on page 3, line 26 and page 4, line 11 after 5 "to" insert "sections 1 to 14 of"; and on page 7, line 1
6 strike "This" and insert "Sections 1 to 14 of this".

7 2. Insert the following new sections:

8 "Sec. 15. (1) Whenever an owner, agent, lessor,
9 or manager of a residential dwelling is billed directly
10 by a public or municipal electric, gas, telepone, or 11 water utility for utility service furnished to such 12 building not occupied exclusively by such owner, agent,
13 lessor, or manager, and such public or municipal utility
14 has actual or constructive knowledge that the occupants
15 of such dwelling are not the persons to whom the utility
16 usually sends its bills, such utility shall not terminate
17 such service for nonpayment of a delinquent account owed
18 to such utility by such owner, agent, lessor, or manager
19 unless: (a) Such public or municipal utility makes a 20 good faith effort to notify the occupants of such 21 building of the proposed termination by the means most 22 practicable under the circumstances and best designed to 23 provide actual notice; and (b) such public or municipal 24 utility provides an opportunity, when practicable, for 25 such occupants to receive service in their own names
1 without any liability for the amount due while service
2 was billed directly to the lessor, owner, agent, or 3 manager and without the necessity for a security deposit,
4 except that if it is not practicable for such occupants
5 to receive service in their own names, the public or 6 municipal utility shall not terminate service to such 7 residential dwelling but may pursue the remedy provided
8 in section 17 of this act.

9 (2) Whenever a public or municipal utility has 10 terminated service to a residential dwelling whose 11 occupants are not the persons to whom it usually sends 12 its bills, such public or municipal utility shall, upon

13 obtaining knowledge of such occupancy, immediately
14 reinstate service and thereafter not effect termination
15 unless it first complies with subsection (1) of this 16 section.

17 Sec. 16. (1) Any payments made by the occupants 18 of any residential dwelling pursuant to subsection (1) of 19 section 15 of this act shall be deemed to be in lieu of 20 an equal amount of rent or payment for use and occupancy
21 and each occupant shall be permitted to deduct such 22 amounts from any sum of rent or payment for use and 23 occupancy due and owing or to become due and owing to the 24 owner, agent, lessor, or manager.

25 (2) Whenever a public or municipal utility 26 provides service pursuant to subdivision (1) (b) of 27 section 15 of this act, the public or municipal utility
1 shall notify each occupant of such building in writing
2 that service will be provided in the occupant's own name.
3 Such writing shall contain a conspicuous notice in 4 boldface type stating:

5 NOTICE TO OCCUPANT. YOU MAY DEDUCT THE FULL
6 AMOUNT YOU PAY (name of public or municipal 7 utility) FOR (type of service) FROM THE
8 MONEY YOU PAY YOUR LANDLORD OR HIS OR HER
9 AGENT.

10 (3) The owner, agent, lessor, or manager shall 11 not increase the amount paid by such occupant for rent or 12 for use and occupancy in order to collect all or part of 13 that amount lawfully deducted by the occupant pursuant to 14 subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

15 (4) Nothing in sections 15 and 16 of this act
16 shall be construed to prevent the public or municipal 17 utility from pursuing any other action or remedy at law
18 or equity that it may have against the owner, agent,
19 lessor, or manager.

20 Sec. 17. Upon default of the owner, agent, 21 lessor, or manager of a residential dwelling who is 22 billed directly by an electric, gas, telephone, or water
23 public or municipal utility for utility service furnished
24 to such building, such public or municipal utility may 25 petition the district court or a judge thereof, if the 26 court is not in session, for appointment of a receiver of 27 the rents or payments for use and occupancy for any
1 dwelling for which the owner, agent, lessor, or manager
2 is in default. The court or judge shall forthwith issue
3 an order to show cause why a receiver should not be 4 appointed, which shall be served upon the owner, agent,
5 lessor, or manager or his or her agent in a manner most 6 reasonably calculated to give notice to such owner,
7 agent, lessor, or manager as determined by such court or 8 judge, including, but not limited to, a posting of such

8 order on the premises in question. A hearing shall be 9 had on such order not later than seventy-two hours after 10 its issuance or the first court day thereafter. The sole 11 purpose of such a hearing shall be to determine whether 12 there is a sum due and owing between the owner, agent,
13 lessor, or manager and the public or municipal utility.
14 The receiver appointed by the court shall collect all 15 rents or payments for use and occupancy forthcoming from 16 the occupants of the building in question in place of the 17 owner, agent, lessor, or manager. The receiver shall pay 18 the petitioner, from such rents or payments for use and 19 occupancy, for electric, gas, telephone, or water
20 supplied on and after the date of his or her appointment.
21 The owner, agent, lessor, or manager shall be liable for 22 such reasonable fees and costs determined by the court to 23 be due the receiver, which fees and costs may be 24 recovered from the rents or payments for use and 25 occupancy under the control of the receiver, however no
26 such fees or costs shall be recovered until after payment
27 for current electric, gas, telephone, and water service
1 has been made. The owner, agent, lessor, or manager
2 shall be liable to the petitioner for reasonable
3 attorney's fees and costs incurred by the petitioner,
4 however no such fees or costs shall be recovered until 5 after payment for current electric, gas, telephone, and 6 water service has been made and after payments of 7 reasonable fees and costs to the receiver. Any money
8 from rental payments or payments for use and occupancy
9 remaining after payment (1) for current electric, gas,
10 telephone, and water service, (2) for reasonable costs
11 and fees to the receiver, and (3) to petitioner for 12 reasonable attorney's fees and costs, shall be applied to 13 any arrearage found by the court to be due and owing the 14 public or municipal utility from the owner, agent,
15 lessor, or manager for service provided such building.
16 Any money remaining shall be turned over to the owner, 17 agent, lessor, or manager. The court may order an 18 accounting to be made at such times as it determines to 19 be just, reasonable, and necessary.

20 Sec. 18. (1) Any receivership established
21 pursuant to section 17 of this act shall be terminated by 22 the court upon its finding that the arrearage which was 23 the subject of the original petition has been satisfied, 24 that all occupants have agreed to assume liability in 25 their own names for prospective service supplied by the 26 petitioner, or that the building has been sold and the 27 new owner has assumed liability for prospective service
1 supplied by the petitioner.

2 (2) Nothing in sections 17 and 18 of this act
3 shall be construed to prevent the petitioner from 4 pursuing any other action or remedy at law or equity that 5 it may have against the owner, agent, lessor, or manager.

 6 (3) Any owner, agent, lessor, or manager who 7 collects or attempts to collect any rent or payment for 8 use and occupancy from any occupant of a building subject
 9 to an order appointing a receiver shall be found, after 10 due notice and hearing, to be in contempt of court.
 11 Sec. 19. Any owner, agent, lessor, or manager
 12 or any public or municipal utility which willfully or 13 maliciously violates sections 15 to 18 of this act shall 14 be guilty of a Class III misdemeanor.
 15 Sec. 20. Nothing in this act shall be construed
 16 to prevent the occupant of such building from pursuing 17 any other action or remedy at law or equity that it may 18 have against the owner, agent, lessor, manager, or public
 19 or municipal utility.

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Tuesday, March 27, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:02 a.m., President Luedtke presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Lord God, restore those of us who feel caught in the routine, in the structure, in the system. Release the ones oppressed by the advice of others, by the rules, the guidelines, the by-laws, the schedules, the time clocks, and the deadlines. Refresh us. We are exhausted by the pressure; we are dazed by the loose ends; we are bewildered by the procedures; we are confused by the temptations; we are distraught by the deceptions enchaind by our responsibilities. Return the lost. Refresh the weary. Release the enslaved. Restore the caught. Renew the bored. Come, and our boredom will leave us. Show us the people, Lord, and our hearts will be glad. Amen.

 12 any person who has a mental disorder and who, because of 13 the mental disorder, has been determined to be disposed 14 to repeated commission of sexual offenses which are 15 likely to cause substantial injury to the health of 16 others.

17 Sec. 2. After a person is convicted of a sexual 18 offense, the court, prior to sentencing, shall order a

19 presentence investigation which shall include an 20 evaluation to determine whether the defendant is a 21 mentally disordered sex offender.

22 Sec. 3. To conduct the evaluation the court
23 shall appoint a panel of two physicians, licensed to 24 practice medicine and surgery who have had at least three 25 years special training in treatment of mental disorders
1 or one such physician and one clinical psychologist who

5 state, based on the information and conclusions in the 6 presentence investigation, the court shall sentence the 7 defendant as provided by law on the offense of which he 8 or she has been convicted.

9 Sec. 5. If the court determines that: (1) The 10 defendant is a mentally disordered sex offender based on 11 the information and conclusions in the presentence
12 investigation; (2) the disorder is treatable; and (3)
13 such treatment is available in the state, the court shall 14 sentence the defendant to one of the regional centers
15 until such time that it is determined the defendant is no
16 longer mentally disordered or until the defendant has 17 received the maximum benefit of treatment as determined

18 by the committee established by section 6 of this act.
19 The court's decision that the defendant is a 20 mentally disordered sex offender and the decision to 21 commit the defendant for treatment may be appealed. On 22 appeal the presentence investigation shall be made part
23 of the record of the court.

24 Sec. 6. The Governor shall appoint a Sentencing

13 reimbursed for their expenses as provided in section
14 84-306.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1978, for state
15 employees.

16 Sec. 8. (1) The Sentencing Review Committee
17 shall annually or upon motion of the defendant review all 18 records of mentally disordered sex offenders.

19 (2) Prior to any review the regional center shall 20 prepare and provide to the committee all data, including 21 test results, which are relevant to the issues of whether 22 the defendant still has a mental disorder or whether the 23 defendant has received the maximum benefit of treatment.
24 The committee, before making a final determination, may 25 request from the appropriate regional center any 26 additional information it deems necessary.

1 (3) The committee shall file a written report
2 with the sentencing court on the results of their review.
3 Such reports shall include reasons for the conclusions.

4 Sec. 9. If the committee determines that the 5 defendant no longer has a mental disorder or that the
6 defendant has received the maximum benefit of treatment,
7 the defendant shall be returned to the sentencing court
8 for further disposition. The defendant shall then be 9 sentenced under the original offense and credit shall be 10 given for the time spent in treatment.

11 Sec. 12. Since an emergency exists, this act
12 shall be in full force and take effect, from and after 13 its passage and approval, according to law."

14 2. Renumber original sections 1 and 2 as 15 sections 10 and 11 respectively.

FIFTY-FIFTH DAY

Legislative Chamber, Lincoln, Nebraska
Wednesday, March 28, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment, the Legislature met at 9:00 a.m., Speaker Marvel presiding.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Eternal God, while working with bills and procedure of an objective nature, may we try to be objectively honest with ourselves and with others. We pray for strength to harness our unruly tongues; to carry our responsibilities; to have the same criteria for judging ourselves that we apply to others. Forgive us for often wearing a friendly mask which hides a sullen heart, and using fine words which conceal shabby thoughts. May we strive to develop an identity between our outward and our inner person, that we may see ourselves as persons of integrity. In our Lord's name. Amen.

ROLL CALL

The roll was called and all members were present except Mr. Beutler who was excused; and Messrs. Lewis, Newell, Sieck, and Wesely who were excused until they arrive.
