icated, they have a decision to make, whether they shall interfere or leave them alone. They have this decision to make when they approach anybody but when somebody is operating strangely or acting strangely they have a decision to make whether they will approach the person or not.

SENATOR NEWELL: Let me ask you another question. Now public property, we are talking about public property here. What kinds of things are included in public property?

SENATOR NICHOL: Public parks, schools. We are not talking about public bars or this sort of thing. Anything that is tax supported I suppose you would say (interrupted).

SENATOR NEWELL: How about the main street of town?

SENATOR NICHOL: Pardon me.

SENATOR NEWELL: How about the main street of town?

SENATOR NICHOL: Yes, sir.

SENATOR NEWELL: That would be public property?

SENATOR NEWELL: Yes, sir.

SENATOR NEWELL: Sidewalks would be public property?

SENATOR NICHOL: Yes, sir.

SENATOR NEWELL: Senator Nichol, one other question, do you feel that this ought to be determined....can't do it, thank you.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator Hefner. Okay, Senator Lamb, do you wish to talk on the committee amendments?

SENATOR LAMB: Yes, Mr. Chairman. A question of Senator Cullan please. I am wondering, Senator Cullan....

SPEAKER MARVEL: Excuse me, Senator Cullan. Senator Cullan, the question is being directed to you.

SENATOR CULLAN: Yes, Senator Lamb.

SENATOR LAMB: I am wondering if twelve hours is enough. If someone was taken into this protective custody say at five o'clock in the afternoon and then by five o'clock the next morning they would have to deal with him and I am wondering
