LB 99

existing members shall be determined on the date the new members are appointed, but existing members may be reappointed I'm not, I just think that this is absolutely ridiculous. In fact the longer I deal with this, I think that this whole amendment is absolutely ridiculous. We certainly do not need this section. Now for Senator Reutzel's comments I would like to explain that we are talking about two different sections. There is another section here that talks about the operative date so Senator Reutzel was incorrect when he talks about the operative date and so forth. I would like to talk about that next. I would like to have this excess verbage talked about now. Thank you.
