reluctantly support the amendment because I don't think it goes far enough. I have a county in my district, three thousand people are paying $90,000 to the voc-tech schools. This amounts to $11,428 per student. I think this is way, way too much. I think the voc-tech thing has gotten completely out of hand. It has got to be cut down and I don't think it goes far enough but I will support the amendment. Thank you, Mr. President.

SENATOR CLARK: The question before the House is the adoption of the Dworak-Cullan amendment. Do you want to close on it, Senator Cullan? Do you want to close on it, Senator Dworak? Do you want to close? All right, the question before the House is the adoption of the amendment. All those in favor vote aye, all those opposed vote nay. Voting aye, Mr. Clerk.

CLERK: Senator Clark voting aye.

SENATOR CLARK: Record the vote.

CLERK: 30 ayes, 0 nays on adoption of the Cullan-Dworak amendment, Mr. President.

SENATOR CLARK: The motion passed. The amendment is adopted. The next amendment.

CLERK: Mr. President, Senator Cullan has other amendments. I understand he wishes to withdraw...

SENATOR CULLAN: I wish to withdraw all my amendments.

SENATOR CLARK: They are withdrawn. Any other amendments?

CLERK: Senator Murphy now has an amendment, Mr. President. Senator Murphy moves to amend and the amendment is on page 1550 of the Journal and it reads as follows: Read.

SENATOR CLARK: Senator Murphy.

SENATOR MURPHY: I'm having a problem.

SENATOR CLARK: Are you spellbound?

SENATOR MURPHY: Well, it's just a small problem. He's about four feet...well, I'm not sure how tall he is but basically I am opposed to extending an agreement that was initially made on how these colleges would be funded. We somehow seem to make agreements and the only half that is lived up to is the state's half and the other parties involved somehow seem to find a need for something that
