

Patience wears thin but all of us have nerves. All of us have patience and all of us watch what occurs and were this not a bill where there are as many people sitting out at that window watching people and telling them they are going to determine their ultimate political destiny, we wouldn't be going through what we are going through right now on it. There are matters that relate much more directly to the welfare of the people as a whole. So I am opposed to what Senator DeCamp is suggesting and if he wants a ruling on germaneness I think he should make his offering for a ruling on each amendment as it comes up. They were not offered as a package in the form of an indivisible question so I think each amendment as it comes up would have to undergo that and the precedent for it, Mr. Speaker, was already provided by a ruling of the Chair on 741 when there was a series of amendments and the Chair said I am not going to rule one time on everything. We are going to go to each one of these things as it comes up and if we are going to go through the charade I think we should at least go through it in a systematic fashion, each amendment as it comes up and the challenge be made.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator DeCamp, I am waiting for the dictionary over there to interpret it...

SENATOR DeCAMP: Fine. While you are waiting can I comment on Senator Chambers comments? No, okay.

SPEAKER MARVEL: The Chair has the floor. Senator Koch, for what purpose do you arise?

SENATOR KOCH: Mr. Speaker, I spent considerable time at those dictionaries looking up the word germane. It means pertinent to, relevant to and that is the best definition you can find in that expensive set of dictionaries. The question then is, is the amendment pertinent to the subject and to the chapter or relevant to?

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator DeCamp, the Chair is tempted to get into a philosophical discussion of the term germaneness but resist that temptation and overrules indicates that you... does not agree with you. The motion is to overrule the Chair. Do you want to speak to the issue? Okay. Senator Keyes, for what purpose do you arise?

SENATOR KEYES: Just to say a little something, Senator Marvel. I've had my light on and Johnny DeCamp has talked and now he is back talking again, going to get to talk again. If Senator DeCamp has two lights up there just let me know and I will expect the third time, before he speaks a third time,
