the introducer wants to take it up immediately, then that is the choice of the introducer. So it protects the introducer and also gives the body a chance to think over a question of indefinite postponement. And finally the thirteenth rule change is one from Senator Warner which basically cleans up the fiscal note A bill rules in there and says that an A bill is going to be needed for any bill that needs an appropriation, and fiscal notes will be updated at any point that a change in the fiscal impact is made. Now in form what these changes will do is I think improve the process in the work of the Legislature. I think it will tighten up some of the procedures and I think deal with some problems we have had. It's a cloture rule and I may support it but it sure shouldn't be tied up with those other ones. So I would divide out number seven. Number eight is even hotter. It is a suspension of the rules change, a dramatic change. It means a minority of the Legislature are going to be able to control. I would move that...I would ask that that be voted on separately. Number nine, a complete change of how the committee procedure goes here in the middle of the session. When we are
