accidentally letting their telephone bump up against a button or something. But you have got to understand that the rules really are directed at individual members and once you understand that you can play the game perfectly here.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Okay, Senator Haberman.

SENATOR HABERMAN: I have a...may I speak again or does somebody else want to speak?

SPEAKER MARVEL: No, you are...we are...(interruption).

SENATOR HABERMAN: Senator Wesely, if I have to go to the bathroom and I have got to go real bad, do I have to stop and tell the girl, please excuse me, and go to the bathroom so in case they have a vote and I miss it and I can't come back and say, this is how I would have voted? I think you are carrying this way too far, really way too far, especially for the ladies that sometimes they have to go clear down the hall, I mean, they may not have time. So I would ask the body to vote no on number five to give everybody time to do what Mother Nature wants them to do. Thank you, Mr. President.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator Wesely. We are going to have to keep moving. Senator Wesely.

SENATOR WESELY: Pardon me. Yes, I will just move the rule change. I still think it is legitimate despite Senator Haberman's concerns. I think it can be worked out.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Okay, the motion before the House is the adoption of item number five. All those in favor of the motion vote aye, opposed vote no. Have you all voted? Have you all voted? Senator Wesely, for what purpose do you arise?

SENATOR WESELY: Can I ask how many are excused?

SPEAKER MARVEL: No one is excused.

SENATOR WESELY: Well, I guess I'll have a Call of the House, Mr. Speaker. If there is anybody in the restroom, get down here.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Okay, the House is under...clear the board. The question is, shall the House go under Call? All those in favor vote aye, opposed vote no. Have you all voted? Shall the House go under Call? Have you all voted? Okay, Clerk, record the vote.
