

January 18, 1982

LR 199

SENATOR HIGGINS: Thank you, Senator. Senator Howard Peterson, would you yield to the same question? Or do you want to take fifth? You did. Thank you, Senator.

PRESIDENT: All right, thank you, Senator.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Senator Lamb, would you yield to the same question? You don't have to as Senator DeCamp pointed out. Did you support President Reagan?

PRESIDENT: Senator Lamb, do you want to respond or not?

SENATOR LAMB: I guess I didn't hear the question.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Did you vote for President Reagan? You don't have to answer as Senator DeCamp said.

SENATOR LAMB: Yes, I did.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Thank you, Senator. Senator Warner, are you here?

PRESIDENT: You will have to wait for Senator Warner. He is not here.

SENATOR HIGGINS: I just wanted to find out how many Senators supported the President when he ran for office and how many do not support his economic policy now. Thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes Senator Vard Johnson.

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: Mr. Speaker, members of the body.

PRESIDENT: You are not on.

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: Am I now?

PRESIDENT: We will see that you are. Just a minute. You are on, I think.

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: All right, thank you very much. Mr. Speaker and members of the body, the Polish people and the Polish nation are at a crossroads in their life and in our time, and the crossroads very simply is whether they will continue as a totally collectivist society in which the economic well-being of all people is sought to be enhanced through collective action at the price of individual freedom, or whether the fires that burn deep