

suppose there could be an argument made that there would be a bona fide reason for them wanting to change again. That leads to more instability to the whole situation, and I do not believe it should be allowed. So I would ask that this amendment be adopted. We might also note that in some of the information that has been circulated, this is a real problem from the administrators that they don't know exactly how many students will be there in any particular year, and in some cases, students have applied to more than one school, three schools, and then they make the decision at the last minute, and that has caused some problems. But that situation has been alleviated somewhat by the previous amendment which makes them make that decision somewhat ahead of time. So I would ask that this amendment, which requires them to stay there for the four years, be adopted.

PRESIDENT: Thank you. Senator Schimek, please, followed by Senator Hall. Senator Hall. Senator Moore.

SENATOR MOORE: Yes, Mr. President, members of the body, I am glad that we have finally got to one of Senator Lamb's amendments. I think it, at least, has some degree of merit, and if Senator Lamb would answer a few questions, I would appreciate it, please.

PRESIDENT: Senator Lamb, please.

SENATOR LAMB: Yes.

SENATOR MOORE: The way this amendment reads, four years, how about in a sophomore year, if I decided to transfer, would this amendment prohibit me from doing that?

SENATOR LAMB: No.

SENATOR MOORE: No.

SENATOR LAMB: My interpretation is that, you know, you would finish out your high school but you wouldn't be prohibited if you had less than four years left.

SENATOR MOORE: Okay, I had some concern about the actual language because it says four years, and if you only have two years, maybe you need to reword it so it is until graduation or something like that, so maybe we could work on it.
