

people from time to time read portions of the debate on LB 773 and 775. And people will go back to those bills when they refer to them and say they didn't know what the bills did. Everybody knows what this bill does, everybody knows the interests that are being served and the people who are being cut out. And I'm merely going to rise because, again, my conscience dictates that I feel that there are alternatives to this bill that better address the concerns that I think are attempting to be answered by this legislation. You know the real question with this bill
