going to tell you to do it for counseling and for some stress management. A lot of these people are very proud. They don't want to admit that they have some of those stresses and problems but, quite frankly, it will probably be the best money we ever spent in this area. Thank you.

PRESIDENT: Thank you. Senator Langford, please.

SENATOR LANGFORD: I would like to call the question.

PRESIDENT: The question has been called. Do I see five hands? I do. The question is, shall debate cease on the first part of the amendment? All those in favor vote aye, opposed nay. We are voting on ceasing debate. Record, Mr. Clerk, please.

CLERK: 26 ayes, 0 nays to cease debate, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT: Debate has ceased. Senator Schmit, would you like to...Senator Kristensen, on the first half.

SENATOR KRISTENSEN: Thank you. I would urge the adoption of this first part. I believe that it is very well spent money, and will not take any other time but would yield the rest of my time to Senator Scofield.

PRESIDENT: Senator Scofield, please.

SENATOR SCOFIELD: Mr. President, I don't really need any time. I just leaned over and made a point to Senator Kristensen that I wasn't sure that that was enough money to provide stress counseling and I was curious if all the senators involved in this issue were eligible for stress counseling, too, and he thought maybe we were but he wasn't sure of it. I am going to support the amendment, and let's move ahead.

PRESIDENT: Thank you. The question is the adoption of the first part of the amendment. All those in favor vote aye, opposed nay. Have you all voted that care to? Senator Kristensen.

SENATOR KRISTENSEN: I really hate to do this, but I ask for a call of the house.

PRESIDENT: Okay. The question is, shall the house go under call? All those in favor vote aye, opposed nay. Record,
