

out that she lied, right here in the State of Nebraska. There was no black man, there was no abduction but that was the attitude in the State of Nebraska. So let him have been arrested, let him go to trial and let him go before a court of appeals out there in the place where he's suffered from the racism in the first place. And he is going to be exonerated? Those judges who were subject to that same kind of pressure and might even share in it are going to make the final judgment on him? That's what the Supreme Court is supposed to be exempt from to some extent by being removed from any particular community. And that is being taken away, and the Supreme Court wants it taken away, and Senator Kristensen and other supporters of this bill want that taken away.

SPEAKER BARRETT: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: But I'm not saying that they want it taken away in order that these inequities that I'm discussing can occur. What I'm saying is that these inequities can and will occur if that right is taken away. It's unfortunate that I have to be the one so many times to bring these issues forth on the floor of the Legislature but this is the very reason every group represented in this society should have an opportunity to place a representative in any legislative body that enacts laws that will govern them or impact on them. Where is the Native American to speak for the Native Americans when a bill is offered that says they, in effect, are liars and will not do what they have promised as a tribe and on their honor to do? Where is their spokesperson here to counteract that? Not present. Where are the Latinos? Where is their representative? Not present. And were I not here, this issue would not have even been discussed in this manner because I am the one who saw the problems that needed to be discussed and not only on this but other issues. And sometimes...

SPEAKER BARRETT: Time.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...we need to go beneath the surface and see what it is we're really dealing with.

SPEAKER BARRETT: On the Chambers amendment, Senator Kristensen.

SENATOR KRISTENSEN: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Senator Chambers, I can't condone that activity or that behavior of those people either, but the Supreme Court is not going to turn loose every
