

during that 80 days before she got her soul, she is not a human being at all? If a fetus is a human being, if a human being exists from the instant of conception, which by religious people is improperly stated to occur when the egg is fertilized by the sperm, what is this female during the first 80 days? She is nothing. And what are females in a lot of these churches? They can't hold positions of leadership because they are not good enough, yet the one they worship had a mother, and from everything I heard in the Bible or read in the Bible when she was referred to, the pronoun "she" was used. So how can that which is produced be greater than that which produced it? Is there an unconscious or subconscious hatred for women because a woman was the mother of those...of the one who most people in this body worship? Is that what it is? Is that why male dominated legislative bodies and some women who have been coopted by that male attitude will push for the Legislatures to enact laws that cut against the interests and most intimate rights of females? Women have babies because women are strong enough. Men are too weak. They are sniveling cowards. You think a man could carry a fetus for nine months and give birth to a child, when if he goes to work and the boss makes an ugly face at him and threatens his job, he comes running home whining and crying to his wife, honey, I am going to lose my job. How about that sickening commercial where this sucker wakes up in the middle of the night and hunches his wife, Mona, Mona, I can't sleep. I have got a cough and my nose is running. She should have had a club and gone upside his head with it. That is the kind of anesthesia that they used during the cave days. The anesthetist came in with a club and put you to sleep, and that is what she should have done with him. But long-suffering, patient, she rolls over and gets whatever this concoction is, doesn't put strychnine or arsenic in it, as she might feel like doing, and ministers to this overgrown sniveling baby. Then this guy is going to say, I have got ring-around-the collar, so his wife goes to work and finds all of these chemicals to get the dirt off his collar when she ought to say, wash your dirty neck. Just wash your neck, that will take care of it. Instead of using Fab, and Oxydol, and all these bleaches,...

PRESIDENT: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...get a bar of Ivory soap, or Lifebuoy, or if you need industrial strength cleanser, get some Lava soap, but stop talking to me about having ring-around-the-collar. I would hate to look at some of your other garments. So in this
