

much more can be said about the case without fictionalizing it? What light could a docudrama shed on the deaths of Carol Stewart, the baby she was carrying and Charles Stewart?" So the World-Herald finally admitted, and I don't know who introduced the bill changing it from an unborn child to a fetus, but the World-Herald now is calling what that woman was carrying was a baby and I thought that should be brought up. Senator Chambers, you bring in things other than LB 769. I'm keeping track of some of the things that he has said from time to time in the years I have been here about the Catholic religion and about God and so forth, and I have always objected to that. But one day he said, God help us. He admitted there was a God. Oh, my God, I hope not, he again admitted there was a God. The other day when I asked him to say a teenie weenie prayer for my daughter-in-law, Candy, he said, God would not listen to me. And I said, at least you admit there is a God. Thank you, Senator Chambers.

PRESIDENT: Senator Chambers, you missed. Your light is on. You used somebody else's time, didn't you, when you spoke before?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes.

PRESIDENT: Okay.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. Chairman and members of the Legislature, I just have a very brief comment to make in response to Senator Labeledz's reading from the World-Herald. I followed that Stewart case in Boston because it was the one where a white man killed his pregnant wife and the child, which was born after she was shot, died 17 days later. The child was born and lived 17 days after that. So I just think the record ought to be correct. So even if we're going to get into semantics, we should be accurate in the matter that we describe. And to show...oh, I've got to say something else. Senator Crosby was talking earlier this morning and mentioned how she and I met in the hall and what I had asked her was, was she ready to do battle? And she said she doesn't think it's a battle, it's a discussion of our various points of view, and so forth. And I told her, after we chatted amiably, that maybe she is going to persuade me to be kinder and gentler during this discussion. And, as an example of that, I'm going to offer my nemesis whatever time she needs to complete whatever it is she wants to say. I didn't call a name. I said nemesis. I make hats. If your size comes up and it fits, put
