

world. I think that we have abandoned, absolutely abandoned the underprivileged, the underprotected, those people who have most need of our protection, those poor developing embryos in that uterus. They have no one to speak for them and we will stand here and pontificate and tell everybody how great we are and we're going to go ahead and allow these fetuses to become aborted. What a great bunch of statesmen we are. Isn't that great? We have so many things to be proud of and we stand up here and tell everybody how great we're going to be and we go to decisions that the Supreme Court has made that is based on a lie and we go to the Attorney General and ask for opinions, that they can't give any way but based on a lie. Madeline Murray O'Hare did the same thing. She got prayer thrown out of schools based on a lie. She went to the Supreme Court and she told them she had a vast organization out here that was behind her and was going to back this thing and she had a handful of people and they made the decision that we would no longer have prayer in our schools based on a lie. Isn't that great? Where are the statesmen, folks? I think it's atrocious. Ernie, would you tell me when a baby is born, if you go back through that baby's life prior to its birth, at what point during that gestation is there not life? Can you give me a good answer for that?

SPEAKER BARRETT: Senator Chambers, would you respond.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Dierks, what I said earlier in the day is that as soon as an egg is fertilized by the sperm there is living tissue, and unless something terminates that, then it's alive. I've never denied that. But what I say is there is a potential of a human being there, but that zygote is not a human being. That's my position. I said the tissue or whatever we want to call it, and I used the term zygote to designate it as...

SPEAKER BARRETT: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...well, I'll let that be my answer so I won't take all of your time.

SENATOR DIERKS: Thank you. Ernie, I want to ask you another question, but you don't have to answer this except maybe say yes or no.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Oh, well...
