

April 3, 1990

think the entire priority bill system is a farce when I look at some of the bills that are deemed to be priorities. Certainly many of you would consider my priority bill to be a total waste of time, to me it is not. To me I believe that the protection of the unborn ought to be a priority of this Legislature. Those of you who believe differently than I do obviously disagree. But I can place no higher priority than on protecting those who cannot protect themselves. And I would hope that there would be enough who agree with me that the bill would come to a vote. It may not happen. If it does not happen, I cannot prevent it. But at least I can express my position and my point of view. I have a couple of little bills, have to do with water resources,...

PRESIDENT: One minute.

SENATOR SCHMIT: ...and I would like to talk about those also. But, obviously, they are not nearly as important to me as is the other bill. Couldn't help but notice this morning's newspaper, water is being transferred from Nebraska to Julesburg. When I suggested that Nebraska might...ought to take a look at establishing a procedure whereby Nebraskans might sell water, I was roundly and soundly condemned from the Missouri to the Colorado line. Well, as of today water will move to Colorado from Nebraska, you know what, unimpeded, without compensation.

PRESIDENT: Time.

SENATOR SCHMIT: Thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT: Thank you. May I introduce some guests, please, of Senator Abboud in the south balcony. We have 45 fourth graders from Mockingbird School in Omaha with their teachers. Would you students and teachers please stand so we may recognize you. Thank you, we appreciate your visiting us this morning. Senator Morrissey, please, followed by Senator Hefner and Senator Dierks.

SENATOR MORRISSEY: Thank you, Mr. President and members. Tough call here. Sitting in the lounge yesterday and saw on the camera was focused on two of our colleagues with their heads together for quite a long time. And I sat there and I thought, curiosity got the best of me, and I thought, I wonder what they're doing, I wonder what they're talking about. I didn't realize they were talking about something that probably would