

should be done. I think we have to get our priorities in order here. If they want to do it, they can do it, but we should not lean the heavy hand of government in that direction. As the situation stands now, then you have the farmers out there that ordinarily form an organization and bid and bid on this right-of-way, and then they divide it up, and then they can farm right across there. Now we are tipping the scale with state involvement over to the other group, instead of giving them even-steven chance on it, the trails people and the people, who want to farm across those tracks. I say we should not do that. That is not fair. We should take the funding out of this bill, let those people make their own decisions, raise their own money, do what should be done, but don't give us an uneven playing field for these two groups that compete for this land. I ask that this amendment be adopted.
