

cliffhanger, brothers and sisters. The eligibility was not restored until the day that the team was to play, but it was restored. The other player had left the team, so he was not a part of that. Now what is going on. Just what is this man's role, what is his function? Is he going to be condemned more for causing two players from Nebraska to lose eligibility, or is he going to be condemned more for violating the trust reposed in him as the head of this waste compact? I am curious to find out why, an the irritation of some of the senators, when this is discussed, is what I can't understand. However, to touch on what Senator Morrissey is attempting to do, Senator Morrissey, let me ask you a question. Can you state very briefly just what it is your amendment does, because I may not have heard correctly the first time, and there may be something sinister lurking there that got past me. What does your amendment do?

SENATOR MORRISSEY: Federal regulations call for a social cultural study to be done. It was done by US Ecology, studying how the building...or how the people affect the building, it was supposed to be done how the building affects the people. It wasn't done.

SPEAKER BAACK: One minute.

SENATOR MORRISSEY: I'm trying to clear up and not delay the process.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: You said, social cultural study.

SENATOR MORRISSEY: Sociocultural.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Socio, there's the problem, somebody probably thought you said socialism. Let me ask you a question, are you talking about socialism here, Senator Morrissey?

SENATOR MORRISSEY: No, the only socialism I'm aware of in the state is the power dis...the public power.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: (Laugh.) Thank you. Members of the Legislature, we have to listen a little more carefully. We're not talking about socialism but socio. That study has to be undertaken, and it was not undertaken. Why don't we adopt Senator Morrissey's motion, bring ourselves into compliance with the federal regulations as we've done on so many other occasions, despite the fact that US Ecology says, you "bet" not
