SENATOR NELSON: Senator Wesely, I've been made aware in Grand Island, the provisions, I think it's 12 or so on...in our homes, in the fire marshal in the home, that is the exists and so on. I do find a small change in this and this would still be local regulations, I would think.

SENATOR WESELY: Yes, uh, huh, right.

SENATOR NELSON: All right, now I do find a small change and just help me out, is it more stringent or less stringent, the standards, the physical well-being standards of the Department of Health has been taken out and put into Social Services. Is there any change there? In other words, does Social Services demand more fire protection or less or the Health, help me out a second.

SENATOR WESELY: That change I understand was brought to us by the Health Department. They wanted to make that adjustment so we...

SENATOR NELSON: They wanted out of it and give it to the Social Services then, is that it?

SENATOR WESELY: Mmmm, hmmm.

SENATOR NELSON: And you don't know whether the standards are the same or vice versa?

SENATOR WESELY: I don't think they're...(interruption)

SENATOR NELSON: It probably would be the same because it's still pursuant to...well, it's a different section now. All right, thank you. I somewhat wondered. Fine, thanks, Don.

SENATOR WESELY: You bet, thank you.

PRESIDENT MOUL: Thank you, Senator Nelson. Senator Pirsch.

SENATOR PIRSCH: Thank you, I also would like to ask a few questions of Senator Wesely if he would yield. Senator Wesely?

SENATOR WESELY: Yes, uh, huh.

SENATOR PIRSCH: Okay, this of course is all federal money and
