

SPEAKER BAACK: Thank you, Senator Hartnett. Senator Morrissey.

SENATOR MORRISSEY: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and members. I, too, rise reluctantly to oppose Senator Schmit's amendment, not the concept necessarily. I really think maybe something like Senator Landis talked about can accomplish the same thing. Senator Schmit's offering a very unique concept. Instead of setting the guns on the table, you throw yours out the window. Unfortunately, the way this...I understand this, they can...their option is to throw theirs out the window or possibly pick it up and plug us with it. And I wouldn't be real comfortable with that. I think maybe something along this line set up a little different where we let them know we still have our gun but it's in the holster, we do not want to use, it might be better. I hate, Senator Schmit has brought it out time and time again, we can go on forever and the thing is they do have a much bigger gun than we do and the chances of victory would definitely be on their side if staying power were the final determination. But I do hate to leave ourselves unarmed. I like to see a situation where we can tell them, convince them, yes, we want this settled, but then again if we go out there with no weapons, they're liable to plug us and we'll be in big trouble. So, reluctantly, I oppose Senator Schmit's amendment. Possibly we can look at another way to fashion it. Thank you.

SPEAKER BAACK: Senator Robinson, you're next.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Call the question.

SPEAKER BAACK: The question has been called. Do I see five hands? I do. We will now vote on ceasing debate. All those in favor vote aye, opposed vote no. We are voting on ceasing debate. Have you all voted? We are voting on ceasing debate. Have you all voted? Senator Robinson.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Call the house. We'll take call-in votes.

SPEAKER BAACK: We have a request for the house to go under call. All those in favor vote aye, opposed vote no. Record, Mr. Clerk.

CLERK: 12 ayes, 0 nays to go under call, Mr. President.

SPEAKER BAACK: The house is under call. Call-in votes have been authorized. The house is under call. We're voting on
