

salvation and all those others who had no need, that One who is under all of that pressure and agony and turmoil is by the law of the State of Nebraska to be forced to bear an additional burden that the people in this body would not think of imposing on themselves in another set of circumstances, and that is love, that is love. I have never experienced that love in my life, don't ever want to experience it and am not holy enough to inflict that kind of love on any of my brothers or sisters. Far be it from me to be cursed by such holy love, and I believe that's what this holy love is and I believe it's holy because it was the religious holy people who caused the One you all worship to be crucified. That's how religion operates. It was not the devils out here such as myself saying, crucify your Jesus, it was the religious people who said crucify your Jesus. The devils probably liked him because he spent so much time with them. He turned water into wine and I bet it was better than Ripple, better than Beaujolais, the best vintage that you could have. Jesus looked at that water, Senator Cudaback, at the wedding because everybody was getting a little testy, He put his finger in that water and it turned into the best wine they had ever tasted and they said, you know what...

PRESIDENT MOUL: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Most places we go, by the time you get a little liquored up, they start cutting the wine with water but you've kept the good wine flowing and not only that, you saved the best for last. So He spent time with this prostitute and religious people condemned Him for that. So let us for once not follow the tender mercies of religion. Follow the low standard of the devil people such as myself and show some mercy to these people who have received perhaps not a drop of mercy in their entire life. Senator Landis has a rational, reasonable amendment and I hope that we will vote to support it and I hope you will listen to the tone of voice of those who are expressing such love for these young women and ask yourself, is that the voice you'd want whispering in your ear some cold night sitting by the fireplace while you're trying to be romantic.

PRESIDENT MOUL: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Rasmussen followed by Senator Labeledz and Schellpeper.

SENATOR RASMUSSEN: Madam President, members of the body, Senator Labeledz, could I ask you a question?
