

to Senator Chambers. Thank you.

PRESIDENT MOUL: Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Madam President, how much time remains?

PRESIDENT MOUL: A minute and a half.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: That won't be long, and my light is on, but I would echo what Senator Smith has said, and, Senator Smith, thanks for giving me this opportunity to at least rev up my engine. I just want to state that from the very beginning, I had supported what these people are trying to do. When they had their first meeting at the school across from the Capitol, I was there, and I told them that they are going to waste their time talking to the Governor, to the Attorney General, and these other people, and they needed to demonstrate around the Capitol and say that they had been wronged, and while the iron was hot and the public was aware of what had happened, try to get their money and there was some Lincoln senators who said, don't do that. They are honorable people you are dealing with, and I was hooted down. I had indicated at that time that what the Attorney General did may have justified his impeachment. I was mocked and laughed at again. I have been abused by those people from Commonwealth, not all of them,...

PRESIDENT MOUL: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...phone calls to my office, scurrilous letters. One old geezer said he came to my office and I threw him out, and I have never thrown anybody out of my office. So this kind of attitude has made it difficult for me to support them, but trying to look at the broader picture, I have done it. The last time Senator Schmit had an amendment, I told Senator Wesely this is the last time I can support them. In fact, the one before that, but then I backed off, I supported them again. Then here comes this one, enough is enough as far as I am concerned. I will not support this, and if they are ungrateful and say that they are being used to make the lottery proposal go, they didn't listen to the discussion over here where the Omaha...the Lincoln senators were begging the Legislature to allow them to add this to the constitutional amendment.

PRESIDENT MOUL: Time.
