

present time. And you know I think about...I abhor smoke. (Cough, cough, cough). I'm just trying to get Senator Elmer's attention. I was noticing my good friend, Senator Conway, he was standing down there puffing. And he hadn't more than puffed a couple of times and that smoke was back here. I mean I shouldn't even say that, Senator Conway. I'm not very nice today. But, anyway folks, but I am honest, that's right. And I guess we ought to say we don't set a very good example ourselves, do we, in here. And I like everyone that smokes in here. But really we don't set a very good example, really. We really don't set a very good example. We shouldn't be allowed to smoke in here. I know everyone is going to hate me for saying that, but I like every one of you, I really do. But we do not set a very good example, folks. And we talk about role models, we're not very good role models. But then again I still think there's two sides to the story. I'm...I don't think you can completely obliterate an industry, like the vending machine business. I'm not...I think it should be constricted. And I don't think that Senator Moore's amendment does that. Just...it was this summer I was...went into a grocery store and I stood there and I couldn't believe, there's a little kid, he could just barely get his head over the counter, he flips out some food stamps and he has a carton of cigarettes. And the...can you guess what the man that runs the store said? He said, you can't buy...you can't buy cigarettes with food stamps. He never did say, well you're too young to buy cigarettes. Another question, I have a question for Senator Schimek. What record do we have of...of outlets that sell cigarettes over the counter, as far as arrests of 18 and under are concerned?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: As far as arrests are concerned?

SENATOR ROBINSON: Yeah, you know it's illegal to sell them to people under 18 in Quick-Picks and so forth.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Senator, I don't think we have any record at all, other than the few times when there has been a demonstration project, for public consumption, if you will, that the TV cameras follow around and people are found to be selling to minors. Then there is usually a little bit of publicity, and there are...

SENATOR ROBINSON: Yeah.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: ...arrests or citations. But other than that,
