

railroads would not have, perhaps, been quite as successful as they have been. And so, certainly, as we proceed with the litigation that will eventually follow here, and hopefully at some point rural people will get some backbone and take some of these issues to court themselves rather than to continue to pay, and pay, and pay. But I do not take this lightly. I don't think that Senator Moore, nor Senator Warner, or anyone else take it lightly. I know there will be costs there, it will not come in as a deficit appropriation. It's always interesting to me that the Attorney General can come in with a deficit appropriation, something which didn't used to happen. But the cost will be substantial, will be far in excess, and I think Senator Moore, of the very modest $1 million which he has discussed here. And so before we proceed we ought to know if there's going to be another negative impact on the General Fund, and it's going to come from the Attorney General's office in the form of a deficit appropriation.

SPEAKER BAACK: Thank you, Senator Schmit. Senator Warner, did you wish to speak further on this?

SENATOR WARNER: I had a question, information, Senator Moore, if you'd yield.

SPEAKER BAACK: Senator Moore.

SENATOR MOORE: Yes.

SENATOR WARNER: Senator Moore, you were asking, yesterday, whether or not I knew the administrative costs on 1063, and what might be submitted, and as I indicated, as we both agree, that the process is that as amendments are adopted then agencies will...by the Legislature, submit updated estimates of cost. And the fiscal office, at that time, does their work. I'm wondering, is the Attorney General, has he ever filed a fiscal impact on 1063, or any of the other bills that are pending before the body that he would have anticipated increased costs for the operation of that office?

SENATOR MOORE: To my knowledge no, and your knowledge is probably greater than mine on that, but to my knowledge no.

SENATOR WARNER: So, this is not being generated from the agency. Do you know if normal process then, I would assume we should make sure, and perhaps you could direct the fiscal office
