

gentlemen, I just don't want you to think I don't know any better. I don't like it, but I want you to know that I know what you're doing. If the role is called up yonder, I wonder how many of us do know. Now, as a last insult, amendment...LB 6 is moving along.

SPEAKER BAACK: One minute.

SENATOR SCHMIT: It's got an important amendment on it. As a last insult, if I were Senator Hall, and a bunch of them will, and those gentlemen who have been saying, don't give me LR 1, I'd flip my vote on LR 1 and walk away with the whole ball of cheese. And the rural people are going to go home with an empty bucket, and we've done it to ourselves. So, ladies and gentlemen, I've outlined it, I hope it doesn't happen, going to cross my fingers. Governor Nelson said it one time, that he's going to revise this tax system, and he was going to blow holes in it so big you could fly the corporate jet through it. Well, Governor Nelson, you better start your engines, because you have got the holes, and the jet is going to fly right through it. Thank you.

SPEAKER BAACK: Thank you, Senator Schmit. I'll continue down the list to see if you wish to speak to the Beutler amendment. Senator Hartnett, to the Beutler amendment. Senator Morrissey.

SENATOR MORRISSEY: Thank you, Mr. President and members. I think I'm going to support Senator Beutler's amendment, because that little bit of oversight might help, if you got a good Governor in there, I guess. But our arguments here are very circular. We've got Senator Hall, and Senator Lamb and Senator Schmit backing away from the CA so far that they're now standing back to back. Senator Hall is worried there will be too many exemptions, Senator Schmit is worried there won't be the correct ones, and we're all concerned. We've all stood up and said that the powerful lobby will come in and demand what they want. And Senator Schmit mentioned that Sid and Marty came down, or whoever, today and talked to us all, but they didn't talk to me. And I maintain that this body is not the same body that bowed to ConAgra way back when, when I was a youngster. And I might add I didn't vote for those bills, I didn't vote for those exemptions. This isn't the same body. We aren't trusting each other, we are not trusting each other. You look up on that board and you can find 25 people that, at least I'd hope, that are here to do the right thing. It doesn't always seem that
