

September 30, 1992 LB 9

have to ask yourself honestly, I think, and I would abide by your thoughts on this because I think you generally agree with me, the 1990s are not going to be an easier time. Things are not going to get all that much better in the mid-1990s, when you are going to be paying this $3 million in interest back. So why not turn this package from a very good package into really a very thoughtful package. Get rid of one of what I think are two flaws left in the package and pull ourselves together and discipline ourselves for one year...

SPEAKER BAACK: Time.

SENATOR BEUTLER: ...one year delay and preserve $3 million. Thank you.

SPEAKER BAACK: Thank you, Senator Eutler. Senator Warner.

SENATOR WARNER: Well, Mr. President, members of the Legislature, I pushed my button late. I assumed there would be other buttons but I am inclined to be supportive of Senator Beutler's proposal for the simple fact of the savings. I can see some things that some people may be concerned, the delay of a year, a project may get changed. Actually, if the process remains as it traditionally has been, these projects will all be in a reaffirmation bill, I assume that is the way it's drafted a year from now. And if that is the case, it takes 25 votes to take them out, which is not likely to occur. So those who have a concern that the adoption of Senator Beutler's suggestion of trying to save $3 million in interest somehow or other may lead to projects not being done, I would guess that that is highly unlikely, simple because it's a reaffirmation bill. So I don't think that's a problem. The other thing I want to comment on because when I saw this proposal came out, I was reminded, all of you know we've heard a lot about Texas saving 2.4 billion in their budget process and how Nebraska could do that also. One of the things they did down there to save $2.4 billion is they issued 394 million, that's part of the 2.4 billion, in bonds, and the long range plan, as I understand it, is to issue 750 million in order...over X period of time, I don't remember the period of time, and in that process, they issued bonds for things that they were paying cash for, construction, and they call that a savings. Facts are once they reach the 750 million, then they are to draw on their General Fund for debt services when they exceed what they have available now. So it was a short-term solution that they loosened up what appeared...was
