of us, the rest of us know what is happening. And in case we really didn't understand what Senator Hall was talking about, I want us to clearly understand what we're doing here, because we're going to have a new session in January and we're going to have all the high flying statements about doing what's right and serving the people and looking out for the little guy and the little woman. But we know where the power is. When Goliath speaks the Legislature trembles and obeys. I'm sorry that Senator Hall feels the need to apologize. When he said all that was needed to be said, anybody who didn't understand could have asked a question. And I'm sorry that he's going to back away from the righteous thing that he did. Senator Hall, you persuaded me and I'm going to stick by the...

PRESIDENT MOUL: Time.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...principle that you laid before us because it's right.

PRESIDENT MOUL: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Nelson, followed by Senator Lamb.

SENATOR NELSON: Madam Speaker, Senator Hefner said that he was going to speak and shouldn't, well, I suppose...or, and should, well, I suppose I'm going to speak and shouldn't. So he did confuse me. I thought he should be voting against reconsideration but what bothers me is a figure or an item like this being brought before us and I think that we have an expertise in staff and Great Western or ConAgra or whatever company, Chief Indus...whatever company it may be, it doesn't make a bit of difference, they know exactly what their power bills are or they know exactly. And it concerns me that here we are, we're again asked to make maybe some major decisions and I think most all of our heart is in protecting the small business person or that person that is there to survive and is sometimes not represented. But why can't we get more accurate information at this point? We're just asked again to blindly vote on something and I'm certainly not blaming Senator Hall. It amazes me at all of the knowledge and interest that he does have. But at this point, being asked to consider something that we're just simply outright guessing and I don't think that's good legislation. But, again, as I said, Senator Hefner said he wanted to speak and should and I probably spoke and shouldn't, but that's the way I feel about it.
