The Committee on Committees shall conduct said hearing in accordance with its own rules.

(d) Enrollment and Review.

(i) The Chairperson of Enrollment and Review shall report bills which have been engrossed for Final Reading and passage. In the absence of the Chairperson, the Vice Chairperson of the Judiciary Committee shall assume the duties of the Chairperson of the Enrollment and Review Committee.

(ii) The bill drafting service shall have supervision of and provide legal services for Enrollment and Review Committee.

(iii) The Chairperson of Enrollment and Review shall have authority, without being required to include the same specifically in his or her reports and recommendations to the Legislature, in accord with accepted usage:

(A) To correct the spelling of words, to correct erroneous division and hyphenation of words, to capitalize or decapitalize words, to convert masculine or feminine referents to neutral gender when appropriate, and to change numbers from words to figures or from figures to words, in new and independent acts, in the new matter of amendatory acts, in standing committee reports, and in General File, Select File, and specific amendments.

(B) To underscore or remove underscoring, as the case requires, in standing committee reports and in General File, Select File, and specific amendments.

(C) When an amendment to add the emergency clause, the severability clause, or provide an operative date is adopted on Select File which does not spell out the standard clause or section and make the necessary change in the title, the Chairperson of Enrollment and Review shall also have the authority to add to the engrossed bill the standard clause or section, assigning to it the appropriate section number, and make the necessary change in the title as a matter of course without including such action in his or her reports and recommendations to the Legislature or making any special record thereof.

(D) To add and/or delete names of introducers to reflect action on the bill while the bill remains in the possession of the Legislature at any stage of consideration.

(E) To reflect votes on Final Reading as they may occur pursuant to Rule 6, Section 10 and Rule 6, Section 15.

(e) Reference Committee.

(i) The Executive Board shall constitute the Reference Committee. The Reference Committee shall review each bill and resolution and either refer the matter to the appropriate committee or to General File. The appropriate committee is that committee which has subject-matter jurisdiction over the issue or which has traditionally handled the issue.

(ii) All nominations made to the Legislature by the Governor, requiring confirmation by the Legislature shall be referred to the appropriate standing committee and the same procedure shall be followed as governs the handling of other matters before standing committees, unless the Legislature shall otherwise direct by unanimous vote.

(iii) The Clerk of the Legislature's office shall be responsible for the collection of pertinent information on gubernatorial appointments. That information will be distributed to the appropriate standing committee prior to the time of the confirmation hearing. The Clerk's office shall be the "depository" for background information on the individual, a statement of financial interests if applicable, and other biographical information that the committee chair feels is appropriate for the committee to have before it during the confirmation process.

(iv) The committees to which a gubernatorial appointee has been referred for confirmation shall conduct a confirmation hearing. Each appointee shall be required to appear in person before the committee conducting the confirmation hearing. The appearance of the appointee may be waived for good cause shown by a majority vote of the members assigned to the committee conducting the hearing.

The committee shall prepare a report either approving or rejecting the appointment. Said report shall be filed with the Clerk of the Legislature. The Legislature shall then have the opportunity to accept or reject the report of the committee.

(v) Any appointment letter received by the Clerk of the Legislature during the last eight calendar days of any regular legislative session shall not be acted upon. Acknowledgement of receipt of the appointment shall be deferred until the next regular or special session of the Legislature.

(f) Rules Committee.

All proposed rules changes shall be set for public hearing within five legislative days after their referral to the committee. The hearing shall take place within fifteen legislative days after the referral, and the committee shall take final action on the proposal within ten legislative days after the hearing.

(g) Investigating Committees.

The Committee on Committees may appoint other select committees when authorized by the Legislature. No investigating committee of the Legislature shall be created except by resolution which shall set forth, with supporting statements, the reasons for and the purposes of the investigation, and no committee thus established shall function except during the interim between legislative sessions.

Sec. 5. Special Committees. (a) Special committees shall include all authorized committees other than standing and select committees. Unless otherwise specifically provided, special committees shall not have jurisdiction over legislative bills, but shall be subject to the same procedural rules as standing committees, insofar as they are applicable.

(b) The special committees authorized by statute as of January 1, 1980 are as follows:

Building Maintenance. RRS 81-185	6 members
Education Commission of the States. RRS 79-2504	3 members
Executive Board of the Legislative Council. RRS 50-401.01	9 members
Intergovernmental Cooperation. RRS 81-816	5 members
Legislative Program Evaluation. RRS 50-1204	5 members

(c) The following special provisions shall be in force with regard to the following special committees:

(i) Intergovernmental Cooperation Committee.

In addition to the members of the Intergovernmental Cooperation Committee chosen in accordance with Section 81-816, the Executive Board may appoint temporary members to serve on such assignments as the chairperson shall direct.

Sec. 6. Meeting Times. (a) After consultation with the Speaker, the Committee on Committees shall publish a schedule of standing committee meetings, in such manner as to avoid, as far as possible, conflicts in the assignment of members to committees. Standing committees shall meet at 1:30 p.m. on weekdays, unless otherwise approved by the Legislature, except for the Nebraska Retirement Systems Committee, which shall meet as called by the chairperson.

(b) A standing committee deciding not to hold meetings on the appointed day must receive permission from the Reference Committee.

(c) Any legislative committee shall be subject to the call of its chairperson or to the call of a majority of its members, in accordance with the notice and procedural requirements set forth in its committee rules.

Sec. 7. Chairperson, Vice Chairperson. (a) The chairperson of each standing and select committee shall be selected by secret ballot on the floor of the Legislature.

(b) The chairperson of a special committee shall be selected in the manner provided by the act authorizing the committee, or if not specified, by the Executive Board.

(c) Each committee shall elect from its membership a vice chairperson to serve in the absence of the chairperson.

Sec. 8. Committee Quorum. A majority of the members of a committee shall constitute a quorum. A quorum must be present for the transaction of any committee business except a public hearing.

Sec. 9. Quorum at Committee Hearings. A quorum of committee members should be maintained throughout all committee hearings.

Sec. 10. Conduct During Committee Hearing. No member, staff, media representative, or individual shall smoke or otherwise consume tobacco products during a committee hearing or while the committee conducts an executive session within the hearing room assigned to that committee for such purpose, unless the committee by a vote of the majority, with all the members present, taken at least once a session, decides otherwise.

Sec. 11. Temporary Appointments. (a) When a member is unable to serve, the chairperson of the committee, after a majority vote of the remaining members, shall request that such vacancy be filled by the Committee on Committees unless such vacancy is on the Appropriations Committee in which case the vacancy shall be filled by the Executive Board pursuant to Rule 3, Section 2(c).

(b) A temporary appointment may be made by the Chairperson of the Committee on Committees, or in the case of the Appropriations Committee, the Executive Board, for only one day when requested by a chairperson of a standing committee which lacks a quorum. When a member is appointed from an eight-member committee, the consent of the member to be appointed shall first be obtained. The temporary appointee shall have the right to vote only on the bill or bills that actually have been heard by the appointee and provided that the vote is taken on such bills on the day the bill or bills are heard. When such appointment is made in case of an incapacitated member, such appointee shall cease to be a member of such committee upon the return of the incapacitated member for whom he or she was appointed.

Sec. 12. Consideration and Correlation of Bills and Resolutions. (a) Committees shall consider and report without unnecessary delay all bills and resolutions referred to them. Committees shall be authorized to combine and to correlate the provisions of different bills and resolutions referred to them and related to the same subject under the number of one of the correlated bills or resolutions, and when reported out under one bill or resolution number, the remaining bills or resolutions will be reported out as indefinitely postponed. Committees may, before taking final action on any bill or resolution, adopt amendments thereto, for the consideration of the Legislature.

(b) The chairperson of each committee shall set for hearing all bills and resolutions referred to the committee.

Sec. 13. Public Hearing, Notice. Before taking final action on a bill, resolution, or gubernatorial appointment, a committee shall hold a public hearing thereon and shall give at least seven calendar days' notice, after the bill or pronouncement of the appointee shall have been printed, by publication in the Legislative Journal. No bill or resolution having been set for public hearing shall be withdrawn nor the hearing cancelled within seven calendar days of the date set for said public hearing.

Sec. 14. State Officials Appearing Before Committees. State officials and department heads or their designees and state employees are encouraged to appear before any legislative committee to comment upon bills having an impact on the operations of the administrative agency or department for which they work.

Sec. 15. Executive Sessions and Closed Meetings. (a) Executive session shall mean any meeting or portion of a meeting which is closed to the general public, and the proceedings of which are not electronically recorded and transcribed, unless the committee so provides, but the records of which shall be available for public inspection. Executive sessions shall be open to members of the news media who may report on action taken and on all discussions in executive session.

(b) All other meetings of a committee shall be public unless the committee, by a majority vote of all of its members, determines that a meeting should not be open to the public, including members of the news media, in a particular instance, due to rare and extraordinary circumstances. The meeting shall be reconvened in open session before any formal action may be taken.

RULE 3

Sec. 16. Report of Bill to Legislature. (a) In reporting a bill to the Legislature, whether with or without amendments, a committee shall by vote of a majority of its members, recommend that the bill be placed on General File or that the bill be indefinitely postponed. Such action shall be taken at regularly scheduled meetings only.

(b) A report on a bill or resolution must be made to the Legislature within eight calendar days after the committee has taken final action upon the particular measure. Final action shall mean an affirmative vote of a majority of the committee members to advance a bill to General File with or without committee amendments or an affirmative vote of a majority of the committee members to indefinitely postpone the bill. A committee may reconsider any final action prior to the committee making a report on the bill or resolution to the Legislature, provided the reconsideration takes place within eight calendar days of the final action.

(c) No bill shall be reported by the committee to be placed on General File unless the amendments, if any, are approved as to form and draftsmanship by the Bill Drafter.

Sec. 17. Indefinitely Postponed Bills. If the committee action on a bill be to postpone indefinitely, the bill shall stand indefinitely postponed; except that such bill may be placed on General File or referred back to the committee by a three-fifths vote of the elected members upon motion made within three legislative days after the committee makes its report to the Legislature, or by a two-thirds vote of the elected members upon motion made more than three legislative days after such committee report. Not more than one bill shall be raised from committee on any one motion. A motion to raise cannot be amended to include any other bill or subject matter. A motion to raise must be disposed of by the Legislature within five legislative days after the motion is available for consideration or it shall be deemed defeated.

Sec. 18. Committee Statement. (a) The chairperson of each committee with the assistance of the legislative staff shall, when reporting a bill, submit with such bill a committee statement which shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) the one-line title and number of the bill;
(2) a roll call vote of final committee action taken on the bill;
(3) the date of the public hearing on the bill;
(4) a list of all individuals testifying for and against the bill and any organization they represent;
(5) a summary of the bill's purpose and a description of all major provisions for change in the bill as written and as amended by the committee;

(6) if committee amendments are to be introduced, a copy of the amendments and an explanation thereof.

(b) A copy of the proposed statement shall be distributed to each committee member within five days after final action on the bill has been taken by the committee. A minority or concurring statement bearing the signature or signatures of its proponents and setting forth objections to the bill, to proposed amendments, or to the majority statement may be filed by its author(s) with the Clerk of the Legislature at any time prior to the first hearing of the bill on General File.

(c) A copy of the committee statement and any minority statements submitted shall be distributed to each senator after filing with the Clerk of the Legislature. Copies of such statements shall be made available to the public.

Sec. 19. Request From Committee, Bills Held. (a) Except for the general appropriation bills necessary for the support of the state government for the biennium, the Legislature may, by vote of a majority of the elected members, request a status report from any committee at any time after said committee shall have been in possession of a bill or resolution for twenty legislative days.

(b) Any senator may move that a bill be placed on General File twenty calendar days or more after the committee hearing, if the committee has not taken final action on the bill, and by a vote of a majority of the elected members, said bill shall be placed on General File. If, at the expiration of eight calendar days from the date final action was taken, the chairperson has not reported the bill, any senator may file with the Speaker a motion that the chairperson be compelled to submit a report. After determining that final action on the bill has been taken at least eight calendar days prior to the date the motion was submitted, the Speaker shall accept the motion and compel the chairperson to file the committee's report on the matter.

(c) Any time any member attempts to take a bill from committee to be placed on General File, the bill shall stand indefinitely postponed and shall not be subject to reconsideration if the motion fails to receive a majority vote of the members elected to the Legislature. The introducer of the bill must concur with any motion offered under this rule.

Sec. 20. Subpoena Procedure. It is within the inherent power of any legislative committee to gather information pursuant to its regular functions, and to conduct investigations of matters within its subject-matter jurisdiction.

A committee's power of subpoena should not be exercised unless the committee has determined that no other method of securing the desired information would be successful or practicable, and that the matter is of primary importance to the welfare of the State of Nebraska.

A committee of the Legislature conducting an investigation and gathering information, whether pursuant to legislative direction or pursuant to its regular functions of oversight and bill preparation, shall observe the following procedures in addition to regular committee procedures whenever subpoenas are issued:

(A) Issuance of Subpoenas.

(i) A committee may, by a majority vote of all of its members taken at a meeting properly called, issue a subpoena requiring a person to appear before the committee and be examined in reference to any matter within the scope of the inquiry or investigation being conducted by the committee, but only when the committee has received prior approval by a majority vote of the Executive Board to issue subpoenas in connection with the specific inquiry or investigation in question.

(ii) The committee may, in the same manner, issue a subpoena or subpoena duces tecum requiring any person to appear before the committee and bring with him or her any books, papers, or other documents pertinent thereto.

(iii) While the Legislature is in session, a committee deciding to issue subpoenas must promptly report each issuance to the Legislature. A record shall be made in the Journal reflecting the date the subpoena was issued, to whom it was issued, for what purpose it was issued, and the date on which testimony or production of documents is to take place. Under extraordinary circumstances, the identity of the person subpoenaed may be withheld from publication if necessary to protect the safety of an individual or the confidentiality of the matters to be heard.

(iv) A person subpoenaed to attend a hearing of a committee shall receive the same fees and allowances as a person subpoenaed to give testimony in an action pending in a court of record.

(B) Notice to Witnesses.

(i) Service of a subpoena requiring the attendance of a person at a hearing of a committee shall be made in the manner provided by law for the service of subpoenas in civil actions at least seven days prior to the date of the hearing unless a shorter period of time is authorized by a majority vote of all of the members of the committee in a particular instance when, in their opinion, the giving of seven days' notice is not practicable; but if a shorter period of time is authorized, the person subpoenaed shall be given reasonable notice of the hearing, consistent with the particular circumstances involved.

(ii) Any person who is served with a subpoena to attend a hearing of a committee shall also be served with a copy of the act defining the purpose of the committee, a copy of the rules under which the committee functions, a general statement informing him or her of the subject matter of the committee's investigation or inquiry, and a notice that he or she may be accompanied at the hearing by counsel of his or her own choosing.

(C) Conduct of the Hearing.

(i) No committee which has issued a subpoena directing a witness to appear at a hearing shall question the witness unless a quorum is present throughout the questioning.

(ii) The hearing shall be public unless the committee, by a majority vote of all of its members, determines that a hearing should not be open to the public in a particular instance, due to rare and extraordinary circumstances consistent with Legislative Rule 3, Section 15(b) regarding closed meetings.

(iii) The chairperson of the committee shall preside at all hearings and shall conduct the examination of witnesses himself or herself or supervise the examination by other members of the committee. The committee may, by a majority vote of all its members, authorize the questioning of a witness by the committee's counsel or by special counsel.

(D) Right to Counsel and Submission of Questions.

(i) Every witness at the hearing may be accompanied by counsel of his or her own choosing, who may advise the witness of his or her rights, subject to reasonable limitations which the committee may prescribe to prevent obstruction of or interference with the orderly conduct of the hearing.

(ii) Any witness at the hearing, or a witness' counsel, may submit to the committee proposed questions to be asked of the witness or any other witness relevant to the matters upon which there has been any questioning or submission of evidence, and the committee shall ask such of the questions as it deems appropriate and relevant to the subject matter of the hearing.

(E) Testimony.

(i) The committee shall cause a verbatim record to be made of all proceedings in which testimony or other evidence is demanded or offered, which record shall include rulings of the chair, questions of the committee and its counsel, the testimony or responses of witnesses, sworn written statements submitted to the committee and read into the record, and such other matters as the committee or its chair may direct.

(ii) All testimony given or offered at the hearing shall be under oath or affirmation if the witness has been subpoenaed, and in other cases if a majority of the committee members present at the hearing so decide.

(iii) The presiding member at the hearing may direct a witness to answer any relevant question or furnish any relevant book, paper, or other document, the production of which has been required by subpoena duces tecum. Unless the direction is overruled by a majority vote of the committee members present, disobedience shall constitute a contempt.

(iv) A witness at the hearing or his or her counsel, with the consent of a majority of the committee's members present at the hearing, may file with the committee for incorporation into the record of the hearing sworn written statements relevant to the purpose, subject matter, and scope of the committee's investigation or inquiry.

(v) Testimony and other evidence given or offered at a hearing closed to the public shall not be made public unless authorized by a majority vote of all of the members of the committee, which authorization shall also specify the form and manner in which the testimony or other evidence may be released.

(vi) A witness at a closed hearing, upon request and at his or her own expense, shall be furnished a transcript of his or her testimony at the hearing.

(F) Interested Persons.

(i) Any person whose name is mentioned or who is otherwise identified during the hearing and who, in the opinion of the committee, may be adversely affected thereby, may, upon his or her request or upon the request of any member of the committee, appear personally before the committee and testify in his or her own behalf, or, with the committee's consent, may file a sworn written statement of facts or other documentary evidence for incorporation into the record thereof.

(ii) Upon the consent of a majority of its members, a committee may invite any other person to appear at a hearing or submit a sworn written statement of facts or other documentary evidence for incorporation into the record thereof. No invitation to appear, and no request to appear, appearance, or submission of evidence shall limit in any way the committee's power of subpoena.

(iii) Any person who appears before a committee pursuant to this section shall have all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of a witness provided to all other witnesses.

(G) Contempt.

A person shall be in contempt if he or she:

(i) Fails or refuses to appear in compliance with a subpoena or, having appeared, fails or refuses to testify under oath or affirmation;

(ii) Fails or refuses to answer any relevant question or fails or refuses to furnish any relevant book, paper, or other document subpoenaed by or on behalf of a committee; or

(iii) Commits any other act or offense against a committee which, if committed against the Legislature, would constitute a contempt.

The chairperson of a committee may apply to the Legislature or, during the interim, to the district court of any county to compel obedience by proceedings for contempt.

(H) Penalties.

(i) A person guilty of contempt under the provision of these rules shall be subject to punishment pursuant to RRS 50-105 and 50-106 during the session, or to RRS 50-407 when the Legislature is not in session.

(ii) If a committee fails in any material respect to comply with the requirements of these rules, any person subject to a subpoena or a subpoena duces tecum who is injured by such failure shall be relieved of any requirement to attend the hearing for which the subpoena was issued or, if present, to testify or produce evidence therein; and such failure shall be a complete defense in any proceeding against such person for contempt or other punishment.

(iii) Any member or employee of the Legislature, other than the witness concerned or his or her counsel who knowingly violates subsections of these rules concerning the publication of testimony taken at a closed hearing, shall be in contempt of the Legislature or, if a member of the Legislature, shall be subject to sanction or suspension according to the statutes governing the Legislature. The Speaker on his or her own motion or on the application of any person claiming to have been injured or prejudiced by an unauthorized disclosure may institute proceedings for the determination of the issue and for the imposition of penalties provided herein. Nothing in this subsection shall limit any power which the Legislature may have to discipline a member or employee or to impose a penalty in the absence of action by a prosecuting officer or court.

(l) Limitation of Rules.

Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to limit or prohibit the acquisition of evidence or information by any committee by any lawful means not provided for herein.

RULE 4--RESOLUTIONS

Section 1. Identification. A resolution shall be designated as Legislative Resolution _____. All resolutions shall be numbered consecutively for each Legislature. All resolutions shall be introduced and read by the Clerk upon introduction and shall be printed in the Legislative Journal.

73-74 Attorney General Opinion No. 13--Resolutions must be printed and read before a vote is taken.

Sec. 2. When Considered as a Bill. Resolutions which propose amendments to the state constitution, propose the ratification or rejection of amendments to the federal Constitution, or memorialize the Congress with regard to amendments to the U.S. Constitution, shall be considered and adopted in the same manner as bills.

Const. Art. III, Secs. 13, 14; Art. IV, Sec. 15; Art. XVI, Sec. 1. Cannot appropriate funds by resolution. Const. Art. III, Sec. 25.

Sec. 3. Study Resolutions: Introduction; Referral; Standing Committees; Select Committees; Results. (a) Any senator or committee may introduce resolutions proposing interim studies. The resolutions shall be submitted to the Clerk of the Legislature on a form prescribed by the Clerk, printed in the Journal, and referred to the Executive Board.

(b) Study resolutions may be introduced up to and including the 80th legislative day in odd number years and the 50th legislative day in even number years. However, each standing committee may introduce one additional study resolution prior to adjournment sine die. The Executive Board shall refer the study resolutions to the appropriate standing committees or to select interim committees created by it to conduct such studies.

(c) Study resolutions shall be prioritized by the chairperson of the committee to which they are referred, and a report on those priorities shall be filed with the Clerk, on a form prescribed by the Clerk, prior to adjournment sine die. Also, the chairperson of each committee shall file with the Clerk, on a form prescribed by the Clerk, his or her committee's study plan for the highest prioritized interim studies referenced to such committee. This study plan shall be filed no later than thirty days after adjournment sine die. Unless otherwise agreed to, staff to interim studies conducted by standing committees shall be headed by the respective committee counsels. Legislative aides whose senators serve on such standing committees and legislative aides of other interested senators may be invited by the respective committee counsels to participate as staff in the conduct of the interim studies. The provisions of this section shall in no way limit the standing committees in their traditional prerogatives to conduct hearings and oversee matters and agencies that are within their subject matter jurisdiction.

(d) The Executive Board may, on its own behalf, conduct interim studies or create select interim committees to do so. Before creating a select interim committee, the Board shall consider whether the subject matter proposed for study by such a committee lies within the jurisdiction of one or more standing committee. To the extent possible, the jurisdiction of a select interim committee created by the Board shall be limited to subject matters that do not lie wholly within the jurisdiction of one or another standing committee. Membership on a select interim committee shall, to the extent possible, include senators who are both interested in serving on such a committee and are from the standing committees that have the most direct concern with the subject matter proposed for study. Select interim committees shall meet no later than five legislative days prior to adjournment sine die to organize and to review study plans. Staff to select interim committees shall be drawn from the Legislature's division staffs (e.g., fiscal, research, bill drafting), be based upon a joint plan submitted to the Executive Board by the division directors, may include other interested legislative staff, and shall be coordinated by the Legislative Research Division, and the chairpersons of the standing committees involved with the select interim committee.

(e) The Executive Board shall retain its traditional prerogatives to consider and refer study proposals arising from extraordinary circumstances after the deadlines established in this section.

(f) The chief sponsor of a study resolution, if not otherwise a member of the committee to which the resolution is referred, shall be an ex officio member of the committee during and only for the conduct of the study.

(g) On or before December 1 of each year, each standing and select interim committee shall file a report, on a form prescribed by the Clerk, with the Executive Board on the disposition of the study resolutions referred to them. These reports shall be printed in the Journal at the beginning of the next session of the Legislature.

(h) The results or final reports of studies conducted by standing committees may be prepared in a format of their choosing. Seven copies of each completed standing committee report shall be filed with the Legislative Reference Library. The results or final reports of studies conducted by select interim committees shall be prepared and published in a format prescribed by the Legislative Research Division, and copies of such studies will be indexed and filed with the Legislative Reference Library.

All resolutions shall be adopted by an affirmative vote of a majority of the members present and voting except for those specified in Section 2; Provided, upon the request by any members prior to the commencement of the vote, a resolution shall require an affirmative vote of a majority of the elected members. Resolutions specified in Section 2 shall be considered and adopted in the same manner as bills.

Sec. 6. Resolutions, Lay Over Requirement. Resolutions shall lay over for consideration at least one legislative day after introduction.

Sec. 7. Engrossed Resolutions. Only those resolutions specified in Sections 2 and 3 of this rule shall be engrossed unless otherwise ordered by the Legislature or unless the Clerk determines the nature of the resolution is such that upon its adoption it must be engrossed to properly achieve the purpose for which it was presented. All resolutions which are engrossed shall be enrolled and signed by the Lieutenant Governor or Speaker and certified to by the Clerk as to the date of final passage.

Const. Art. III, Sec. 14.

Sec. 8. Reference to Committee. Resolutions other than those covered by Sections 2 and 3 of this rule shall upon the recommendation of the Speaker of the Legislature be referred to the Reference Committee for referencing to the appropriate committee.

Sec. 9. Reviving Resolution Killed by Committee. If the standing committee report on a resolution be to postpone indefinitely, the resolution shall stand indefinitely postponed; Provided, that such resolution may be considered by the members of the Legislature if a majority vote of the elected members so direct, provided the motion is made within three legislative days after the committee makes its report to the Legislature. A motion to raise cannot be amended to include any other resolution or subject matter. The provisions of this section shall not apply to resolutions considered as bills pursuant to Rule 4, Section 2.

Sec. 10. Committee Statement. A committee, when reporting out a resolution, shall attach thereto a statement setting forth what is sought to be accomplished and the committee vote. The statement shall be set out in full in the Journal.

RULE 4

Emergency seat of government; Resolution proving for, must be signed by Governor. RRS 23-2103.

RULE 5--BILLS--GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 1. Drafting of Bills. The Bill Drafter shall prepare all bills and amendments in proper form when requested by members of the Legislature, newly elected members of the Legislature, or heads of executive departments. No bills or major amendments shall be introduced or considered unless the same has been approved as to form and draftsmanship by the Bill Drafter. In order to shorten the length of sections, the Bill Drafter shall, in the drafting of new sections, make each paragraph a separate section except when to do so would be contrary to sound bill drafting practice. The Bill Drafter shall make available a continuing compilation of sections to which amendments are proposed so as to reduce unnecessary duplication of bills. This section index of bills drafted shall be available to all senators, newly elected senators, and other persons entitled to have bills drafted. After January 1 of each year no bill shall be drafted by the Bill Drafter unless requested or authorized by a member of the Legislature.

Sec. 2. Content and Form of Bills. (a) A bill shall be designated as Legislative Bill _____.

Style of bill. Const. Art. III, Sec. 13.

(b) No bill shall contain more than one subject and the same shall be clearly expressed in the title. No law shall be amended, unless the new act contains the section or sections as amended, and the section or sections so amended shall be repealed.

Const. Art. III, Sec. 13.

(c) An amendatory bill or constitutional provision shall be so prepared and printed as to show the new matter proposed, old matter to be retained, and old matter to be omitted from the statutes or constitution.

(d) Appropriations bills and "A" bills shall contain the following elements:

(1) the phrase "there is hereby appropriated";

(2) a specific fund type shall be identified and the fund shall be appropriated;

(3) the amount to be appropriated from such fund shall be identified;

(4) a specific budget program or a specific statement reflecting the purpose for expending such funds shall be identified; and

(5) the time period during which such funds shall be expended shall be identified.

RRS 49-804.

Sec. 3. Revisor Correctional Bills, Preprinting. (a) Preceding each legislative session, the Chairperson or any member of the Executive Board of the Legislative Council, or if the Executive Board so requests, the senator who, in the preceding session served as Chairperson of the Judiciary Committee, shall sign as introducer the Revisor of Statutes' correctional bills. The Clerk of the Legislature shall number these bills consecutively beginning with number 1 and shall show the committee reference to be General File. The Clerk of the Legislature shall have these bills printed before the convening of the next regular session.

(b) In addition to causing to be printed the revisor bills, the Clerk shall number and cause to be printed all bills delivered to him or her by the Executive Board, provided said Board has referred said bills to a standing committee. No bill so printed shall be withdrawn until after the Legislature convenes.

Sec. 4. Introducers Signing Bills. (a) Members shall introduce only such bills as they are willing to endorse and support personally. The last name and district shall be used, unless an initial or name is necessary to identify the introducer. Any member may request to have his or her name added as co-introducer of a bill but only if the principal introducer has concurred, in writing, to that request.

(b) A standing committee or special committee may introduce a bill for any purpose, including at the request of another senator, provided said bill receives the endorsement of a majority of the committee members whose names shall be on the bill.

(c) No bill shall be introduced after the tenth legislative day of any session, except:

1. "A" bills, appropriation bills, and bills introduced at the request of the Governor may be introduced at any time;

2. A standing committee or special committee may request that the Legislature consider introduction of a bill. A vote of three-fifths of the elected members of the Legislature shall be required for such bill to be introduced, and a copy of the statement of intent for such bill must be placed on each member's desk before introduction of the bill is voted upon.

(d) Individual members shall not be limited as to bill introduction. Each committee shall be limited to 8 bills each session. Bills introduced as a result of an interim study of the Legislative Council shall be included within the limitations prescribed by this section. Special committees created as a result of an interim study resolution and as authorized by the Executive Board shall be considered as separate committees for purposes of the limitations prescribed by this section. Bills introduced under Rule 5, Section 3(a) and bills introduced at the request of the Governor will not be included in the limitation.

(e) The introducers of all bills must submit a statement of intent for each bill to the appropriate committee chairperson at least 24 hours prior to the bill's hearing. The statement of intent should discuss clearly and completely the purposes and effects of the bill.

Sec. 5. Scheduling of Bills, Priority Bills. (a) Each senator may designate one bill as a priority bill. Such priority bill need not be the designator's bill, but the principal introducer must concur with the designation as a priority bill and with the withdrawal of the designation once made.

(b) Each chairperson of those committees which are authorized to hold public hearings on bills may designate as priority bills two of the bills referenced to that committee and on which the committee has held a public hearing.

(c) The Speaker may designate up to 25 additional priority bills.

(d) Priority bill designations may be made at any time prior to the annual designation deadline which shall be set each year by the Speaker. The designation deadline shall be prior to the 45th legislative day in the ninety day session and prior to the 30th legislative day in the sixty day session.

(e) A senator or committee may withdraw a priority designation at any time, but will not be allowed to designate another bill as a priority bill in its place. The Speaker may withdraw a priority designation made by the Speaker.

(f) All committees shall schedule priority bills for public hearing ahead of all unscheduled, nonpriority bills unless the person or committee making the priority designation shall otherwise agree.

(g) All bills not designated as priority bills shall be heard on General File in the order in which they are reported to the floor by the committees, unless the introducer of the bill and the Speaker agree to delay the hearing of a particular bill. This provision shall not be construed to prevent the Speaker from placing bills reported out of committee with two or less dissenting votes on a consent calendar. Any bill placed on consent calendar shall be removed at the written request of three or more senators.

(h) Priority bills shall generally be considered ahead of all other bills at each stage of debate, except that priority bills requiring the expenditure of appropriated funds shall be held on Final Reading until such time as the annual appropriations bills have been passed. A priority bill which fails to advance after two votes on General File, or after one vote on Select File, shall return to nonpriority status.

(i) No priority bill designated under this rule shall have priority over appropriations bills.

Sec. 6. Fiscal Analyst. (a) A copy of every bill introduced shall be transmitted by the Clerk to the Legislative Fiscal Analyst. The Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall review each bill and make an estimate of the anticipated change in state, county, or municipal expenditures or revenue under the provisions of the bill. The Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall prepare a statement to be known as a fiscal note to be attached to each bill prior to its public hearing by a committee, or its first consideration on General File if the bill is referred directly to General File. The fiscal note shall set forth the fiscal impact of the bill and the governmental subdivision affected by the fiscal impact as determined by the Legislative Fiscal Analyst. No bill which has a fiscal impact shall be heard by a committee or considered on General File unless the fiscal note is attached.

(b) In determining the fiscal impact of any bill, the Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall request the appropriate department or other entity of state government or subdivision thereof, or appropriate association which will be affected by the bill, to prepare the fiscal note within five calendar days.

(c) The Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall review the fiscal note so prepared and shall also request a review of such fiscal note by the Budget Division of the Department of Administrative Services. The statement by the Budget Division of the Department of Administrative Services shall be attached to and become a part of the fiscal note. The Legislative Fiscal Analyst shall include in the fiscal note any exceptions to the conclusions of the department or other entity and of the Budget Division of the Department of Administrative Services.

(d) The fiscal note shall be delivered by the Legislative Fiscal Analyst to the Clerk at least twenty-four hours prior to the public hearing on the bill or, in the event the bill is referred directly to General File, twenty-four hours prior to the first consideration of the bill on General File. The Clerk shall present the fiscal note to the principal introducer. If extenuating circumstances prevent the Legislative Fiscal Analyst from meeting this deadline, he or she shall present to the principal introducer an unofficial summary of all available fiscal information on the bill by this deadline and deliver to the Clerk the fiscal note when it is available. The Clerk shall attach the fiscal note to the bill and to all copies prepared for members.

(e) When amendments to a bill are adopted by the Legislature and such amendments would change the fiscal impact of the bill, the appropriate changes shall be made in the fiscal note each time the bill is advanced to Enrollment and Review or upon the written request of a member of the Legislature.

(f) When any bill proposes adoption of a new program or change of an existing program either of which would require an appropriation to implement in the ensuing fiscal year, an appropriation bill for the purposes of funding the provisions of such bill shall be prepared from the information contained in the fiscal note. Such appropriation bill shall be prepared at the direction of the Chairperson of the Appropriations Committee. Such bill shall be placed on General File and considered as introduced by the introducer of the original bill or by the committee which offered the amendments creating the expenditure, and shall bear the number of the original bill with the letter "A" added, and shall accompany the original bill through all stages of the legislative process. All bills for which an "A" bill is prepared shall be bracketed on Final Reading until the "A" bill is advanced to Final Reading.

(g) The authorization bill shall first be considered and if it should be passed on Final Reading then the "A" bill shall be read and voted on for final passage.

(h) The fiscal note shall be factual in nature, as brief and concise as may be, and shall, if possible, provide a reliable estimate in dollars and, in addition, it shall include both the immediate effect and, if determinable or reasonably foreseeable, the long range effect of the measure. If, after investigation, it is determined that no dollar estimate is possible, the fiscal note shall contain a statement to that effect, setting forth the reasons why no dollar estimate can be given.

(i) No comment or opinion shall be included in the fiscal note with regard to the merits of the measure for which the note is prepared, however, technical or mechanical defects may be noted.

(j) The subject matter of bills submitted to boards, commissions, departments, agencies, or other entities of the state by the Fiscal Analyst shall be kept in strict confidence by said agencies and by the office of Fiscal Analyst together with the content of the fiscal note itself and no information relating thereto shall be divulged by any official or employee prior to its introduction in the Legislature.

(k) To implement the provisions of and assure compliance with Art. III, Sec. 22 of the Nebraska Constitution (deficiency appropriations), and Art. IV, Sec. 7 of the Nebraska Constitution (appropriations in excess of Governor's request), the Appropriations Committee shall advise the Legislature of the number of votes required to assure passage of the same.

The introducer's amendments, if any, shall next be considered, after which he or she may move to advance and explain the bill. Other amendments and motions permitted by these rules may then be offered and shall be considered after the introducer has explained the bill in the order in which they are filed with the Clerk, subject to the provisions of Rule 7, Section 3.

(e) At any stage of consideration of a bill, a motion to bracket or to bracket to a day certain or to unbracket shall, if made by the primary introducer of the bill, require a majority of those voting. If made by other than the primary introducer, there shall then be required a majority vote of the elected membership. In any event, such motions shall alternatively be passed by unanimous consent of the body.

(f) In the event a motion to indefinitely postpone a bill is made before the bill is read on General File, such motion shall require the affirmative vote of a majority of the elected members.

(g) In the event a bill has become substantially a new and different bill by reason of amendments having been adopted, the Speaker may refer said bill to the Reference Committee who must refer the said bill to a proper committee for a public hearing; Provided, that a majority of the elected members may overrule the decision of the Speaker.

(h) If, in the opinion of the Speaker, the bill is in such form that it should properly be referred back to committee for further action, he or she may by order direct the same; Provided, that a majority of the elected members may overrule the decision of the Speaker. Any motion to amend a bill shall require a majority vote of the elected members and any amendment to an amendment shall require a majority vote of the members voting. (B) Voting Machine

Sec. 2. Voting, Electric Roll Call. (a) All votes shall be taken viva voca unless otherwise provided for herein. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit: "Those who are in favor of the question say 'aye'; those who are opposed to the question say 'nay.' "

(b) If a machine vote is called for or if the presiding officer is in doubt, he or she shall cause the result to be obtained by means of the electric roll call system, and in such event shall accept only machine tallied votes except that voice votes shall be accepted on a motion before the house while the house is under call. The presiding officer may vote by voice. Only the totals shall be printed in the Journal. Once having voted aye or nay, senators may call in a change to not voting prior to the locking of the voting board.

(c) Upon the final passage of a bill, or of a resolution if the same required the same consideration as a bill, the vote shall be by yeas and nays, and the electric roll call system shall be used. Voice votes shall be accepted on Final Reading.

(d) Whenever the "ayes" and "nays" are taken by machine vote, no member shall be permitted to vote after the decision is announced by the presiding officer or the Clerk. Votes not registered on the electric roll call system shall not be counted for or against a proposition. In announcing such vote, the Clerk shall announce the ayes, the nays, those present and not voting, those absent and not voting, and those excused and not voting, and on any action to advance or amend bills, these totals shall be set forth in the Journal. Voice votes shall be accepted on roll call or record votes.

(e) Only senators physically in the legislative chamber may vote.

(C) Motions

Sec. 3. Motion, in Writing, Withdrawal. (a) A motion shall be either stated by the presiding officer or read by the Clerk before a vote is taken. All motions shall be submitted in writing if requested by the presiding officer or any senator.

Once motions are stated they may be withdrawn or modified by the mover before a decision, amendment, or ordering of a vote has been made. A motion to reconsider may be withdrawn only with unanimous consent or a majority vote of the elected members.

When a question is under debate, no motion shall be considered except one of the following, which motions shall take precedence in the order stated.

a. To adjourn
b. For the previous question
c. To postpone to a time certain
d. To recommit to a committee
e. To amend
f. To postpone indefinitely

Such motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged, except that motions to postpone indefinitely and amend do not yield to each other.

When any of the following motions shall be made, any action on such motion shall be delayed at least one legislative day and the motion shall be printed in the Legislative Journal:

a. Motion to postpone indefinitely on General File or Select File, unless the introducer(s) of the bill, or the committee chairperson in the case of committee bills, request(s) that the motion to postpone indefinitely be considered immediately without the one day delay.
b. Motion to place on General File pursuant to Rule 3, Section 19(b).
c. Motion to place bills on General File, notwithstanding the action of a standing committee.

(c) Amendments to the title shall be made by the Enrollment and Review Committee.

(d) No motion, proposition, or subject, different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment. Any amendment that is not germane is out of order. Germane amendments relate only to details of the specific subject of the bill and must be in a natural and logical sequence to the subject matter of the original proposal. A nongermane amendment includes one that relates to a substantially different subject.

(e) Any member may call for the division of a question, which shall be divided if it comprehends propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the Legislature. Once a division is ordered by the presiding officer, each component shall be treated as a separate and distinct proposition. Once a vote or change has occurred on any of the divisible questions, the remaining divided sections may not be withdrawn without a majority of those voting or without unanimous consent. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost, shall not preclude an amendment or a motion to strike out or insert. Such call for division shall not be allowed when considering motions under Rule 6, Section 6.

(f) When motions are made for reference of the same subject to a select committee and to a standing committee, the question on reference to the standing committee shall be considered first.

Sec. 4. Shall the Debate Cease. The previous question shall be in this form, "Shall the debate now close?"

The previous question shall be made only in the normal course of speaking order and shall be in order when demanded by five or more members, and must be sustained by the vote of a majority of the elected members, and until decided shall, except as provided in this section of this rule, preclude further debate and all amendments and motions, except one motion to adjourn. The presiding officer may rule the previous question out of order if in the presiding officer's opinion a full and fair debate has not been afforded, due to the complexity of the subject matter. The ruling of the presiding officer shall be subject to overrule in accordance with Rule 1, Section 12 of these rules.

On a previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for a previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

When the previous question shall have been ordered on a proposition under debate, the mover, proponent, or introducer of such proposition shall be given the right to close the debate thereon.

After a motion to indefinitely postpone a bill has been offered, and the introducer of the motion has made his or her opening remarks on the motion, the principal introducer of the bill shall immediately be permitted to speak for five minutes on such motion.

Sec. 5. Call of the House. A call of the house may be made by any member in the manner following: "I move for a call of the house." The presiding officer shall direct that the board be cleared and the members shall then vote on placing themselves under call. If a majority of the senators present and voting, vote in favor of such a motion, then the Legislature shall be deemed to be under call. Each member present shall indicate his or her presence upon the electric roll call system and shall remain in his or her seat during the call. After the Clerk shall note the names of the absentees, proceedings under the call may be suspended at any time by a majority vote of the members then present, and when so suspended shall not again be ordered on the proposition pending, except by a majority vote of the members elected.

Lieutenant Governor votes only when Legislature equally divided. Rule 1, Section 14.
Voice vote while house under call. Rule 7, Section 2b.

Sec. 6. Postpone to Time Certain. No motion to postpone to a time certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

Sec. 7. Reconsideration. (a) When a question has been decided, it shall be in order for any member voting with the prevailing side, or not voting, to move for a reconsideration thereof. A motion to reconsider must be made on the same day the original question was decided or on the next legislative day, except when it be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading. In such case, it must be made on the same day the original question was decided or on one of the next three legislative days. A motion to reconsider must be disposed of by the Legislature within five legislative days after making the same or it shall be deemed defeated. If the Legislature shall refuse to reconsider, or upon reconsideration shall affirm its first decision, no further motion to reconsider shall be in order unless by unanimous consent.

Motion to reconsider cannot be withdrawn without leave. Rule 7, Section 3.

(b) Every motion to reconsider shall take preference over all other questions, except a motion to adjourn.

(c) For its adoption, a motion to reconsider shall require the vote of a majority of the elected members, except:

i Where such motion be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading, then a three-fifths vote shall be required for adoption.

ii Where such motion be to reconsider the vote on a bill which lacked the constitutional majority on a Final Reading with the emergency clause attached, but which received the constitutional majority with the emergency clause stricken and the purpose of the motion is to again add the emergency clause, then a two-thirds vote of the elected members shall be required for adoption.

iii Where such motion be to reconsider the vote on a motion to pass a bill notwithstanding the objections of the Governor or for override of a line-item veto, then a three-fifths vote shall be required for adoption.

iv Where such motion be to reconsider the vote on a motion to suspend the rules, then a three-fifths vote shall be required for adoption.

(d) For a bill on General File, no motion to reconsider shall be in order until the bill has failed to advance three times; for a bill on Select File, no motion to reconsider shall be in order until the bill has failed to advance two times; for a bill passed on Final Reading, no motion to reconsider shall be in order except by the introducer of the bill, for technical or clarifying amendments.

(e) Whenever a bill is returned from the Governor for further action pursuant to the Legislature's request for such return, motions for reconsideration necessarily incident to opening a bill for further action shall be admitted regardless of the time limitation otherwise imposed by this rule.

Sec. 8. Strike the Enacting Clause. A motion to strike the enacting clause, if adopted, is equivalent to rejection of the bill. It shall not have precedence over a motion to amend nor a motion to indefinitely postpone.

Sec. 9. Motion to Adjourn. A motion to adjourn shall be in order, except:

a. While a member is speaking.
b. When a motion to adjourn has just been defeated.
c. After the Final Reading of a bill and during roll call thereon.

A motion to adjourn to a time certain shall have precedence over a motion to adjourn. A motion to recess shall take precedence over either of such motions.

When a motion to adjourn or recess has been made, the Speaker shall be privileged to speak to the motion prior to any vote on such motion. A motion to adjourn or recess is not debatable.

A motion to adjourn or recess shall be adopted if approved by a majority of members voting.

Sec. 10. Cloture. At any stage of consideration the principal introducer of the bill under consideration, a co-introducer with the consent of the principal introducer, or the chairperson of the committee, if the bill is introduced by that committee, may move for a cloture to the presiding officer after eight hours of debate on the bill at that stage of consideration, except that the appropriation bills introduced by the Appropriations Committee shall be subject to a cloture motion after twelve hours of debate at that stage of consideration. The presiding officer shall immediately recognize such introducer or chairperson and shall then order debate on the pending amendment or motion to cease. A vote on such pending amendment or motion shall be taken immediately. Following the vote on such pending matter, a vote on the cloture motion shall be taken. A two-thirds majority of the elected members shall be required for the cloture motion to be successful. A motion for cloture shall be in order except while a member is speaking, and a motion for cloture is not debatable. If the motion for cloture is successful, a vote on the advancement of the bill shall be taken, without debate, immediately following the vote on cloture.

A motion for cloture shall have precedence over other motions except a motion to adjourn.

An unsuccessful motion for cloture shall result in the debate on the bill ending for the day. When the Speaker chooses to resume debate on the bill, successive motions for cloture shall not be in order until two additional hours of debate on the bill has occurred.

RULE 8--APPROPRIATIONS PROCESS

Section 1. Purpose. The purpose of this rule is to provide a procedure for the Legislature to develop appropriations for all state agencies, boards, and commissions. Such procedure shall consider the need to (1) continue the services and financial assistance provided by state agencies and programs, (2) restrict the growth in state appropriations, and (3) provide for the efficient and effective use of state revenue by utilizing standing committee subject matter expertise in the review of agency, board, and commission budget requests.

Sec. 2. Appropriations Committee Report. The Legislature's Appropriations Committee, by majority vote of its members, shall annually prepare a report summarizing the recommended total General Fund appropriation for each year of the following biennium. Such report shall include information based upon the committee's initial review of (1) state agency, board, and commission budget requests, (2) the Governor's budget, (3) the estimated revenue receipts for each year of the following biennium, (4) General Fund reserve requirements, (5) express obligations, and (6) economic conditions affecting the State of Nebraska.

Sec. 3. Report, When Required. The report required in Section 2 of this rule shall be printed in the Legislative Journal and presented to each member of the Legislature by the Chairperson of the Appropriations Committee between twenty and thirty legislative days after the Governor presents his or her budget during sessions in odd-numbered years and between fifteen and twenty legislative days after the Governor's budget presentation during session in even-numbered years.

Sec. 4. Standing Committee Appropriations Review. (a) Each standing committee may hold a budget request review hearing on the agency, board, and commission budgets reasonably encompassed in its subject matter jurisdiction. Any such review hearing shall not be held until the Appropriations Committee has held its public hearing on that agency, board, or commission. The chairperson of the standing committee shall coordinate the scheduling of such hearings with the Chairperson of the Appropriations Committee. The standing committee shall obtain a determination from the Executive Board that the budget to be reviewed is within its subject matter jurisdiction. The standing committee may recommend to the Legislature amendments to proposed appropriations.

(b) Standing committee amendments, if any, must be filed by the sixth legislative day following the placement of appropriations bills on General File. Standing committee amendments shall be printed in the Journal and shall be considered by the Legislature no sooner than the eighth legislative day following the placement of the appropriations bills on General File. Standing committee amendments shall be considered by the Legislature after Appropriations Committee amendments but before all other amendments. Standing committee amendments shall be considered in the order of filing.

(c) The Appropriations Committee shall make available to the appropriate standing committee all currently available information at its disposal.

Sec. 5. Bills, Held on Final Reading. The report of the Appropriations Committee shall include a recommended dollar amount of the General Fund biennium appropriation which shall be allocated for the funding of "A" bills, bills that result in the net reduction of revenue to the General Fund, tax expenditure bills, and amendments to the appropriations bills as reported to General File by the Appropriations Committee. During a 90 day session, all "A" bills which, when considered with their companion bill, appropriate general funds resulting in a net loss; all bills resulting in the reduction of revenue to the General Fund; and all tax expenditure bills shall not be read on Final Reading until the appropriations bills are passed by the Legislature. Provided the Appropriations Committee shall place appropriations bills on General File no later than the 70th legislative day in a 90 day session and the 40th legislative day in a 60 day session. If this deadline is not met, the Legislature shall consider the appropriations bills as introduced by the Governor. During a 60 day session, all "A" bills which, when considered with their companion bill, appropriate general funds resulting in a net loss; all bills resulting in the reduction of revenue to the General Fund; all tax expenditure bills; and all appropriations bills shall not be read on Final Reading prior to the 45th legislative day. The appropriations bills shall be passed no later than the 80th legislative day in a 90 day session and the 50th legislative day in a 60 day session. The appropriations provided for in an "A" bill shall be for not less than two fiscal years.

Sec. 6. Bill, Setting Tax Rates. The Legislature's tax rate bill shall be passed no later than the 85th legislative day in a 90 day session and the 55th legislative day in a 60 day session.

RULE 9--SPECIAL SESSIONS

Section 1. Purpose. The purpose of this rule is to establish special procedures for the Legislature to utilize during a special session. This rule recognizes the necessity of the Legislature to address the business for which it is called together in an expeditious and fair fashion and provides that certain legislative procedures established for regular sessions shall not unduly burden the activities of the Legislature during a special session.

Sec. 2. Convening of the Legislature. Pursuant to the directive contained in the proclamation issued by the Governor, either upon the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the Legislature according to the procedure established by section 50-125 or upon the call of the Governor under the authority of Article IV, section 8, of the Nebraska Constitution, the Legislature shall convene in special session. The first item of business shall be the introduction of bills and resolutions, both of which shall be numbered consecutively beginning with the number one. Bills and resolutions offered by the Speaker at the request of the Governor or offered pursuant to the statement filed with the Secretary of State and agreed to by two-thirds of the members of the Legislature shall be introduced ahead of all other proposals. After introduction, all bills and resolutions shall be handled in the manner provided in this rule. Bills shall be introduced only during the first three days of the session. Resolutions which are not considered and adopted in the same manner as bills may be introduced at any time during the session.

Sec. 3. Resolution Considered as a Bill. Resolutions which propose amendments to the state constitution, propose the ratification or rejection of amendments to the federal Constitution, or memorialize the Congress with regard to amendments to the U.S. Constitution, shall be considered and adopted in the same manner as bills.

Sec. 4. Committee Hearings. Within one legislative day following the introduction of bills and resolutions, or pronouncement of a gubernatorial appointment, the Reference Committee shall review each bill, resolution, and gubernatorial appointment and refer the matter to the appropriate standing committee. The committee to which the bill, resolution, or gubernatorial appointment is referred shall provide as much public notice of the time and place of the hearing on the matter as is reasonable under the circumstances by publication in the Legislative Journal, but in no case shall the hearing be more than five calendar days after the date the bill, resolution, or gubernatorial appointment has been referred to the committee.

Sec. 5. Report of Bill or Resolution to Legislature. The committee to which a bill or resolution has been referred shall make a report on the bill or resolution to the Legislature within twenty-four hours after the committee has taken final action on the matter. If, at the expiration of twenty-four hours from the time final action was taken, the chairperson has not reported the bill or resolution, any senator may file with the Speaker a motion that the chairperson be compelled to submit a report. After determining that final action on the bill or resolution has been taken at least twenty-four hours prior to the time the motion was submitted, the Speaker shall accept the motion and compel the chairperson to file the committee's report on the matter.

Sec. 6. Indefinitely Postponed Bills and Resolutions. If the committee action on a bill or resolution is to postpone indefinitely, the bill shall stand indefinitely postponed, except that such bill or resolution may be placed on General File or referred back to the committee by a majority vote of the elected members. Not more than one bill or resolution shall be raised from committee on any one motion. A motion to raise shall not be amended to include any other bill, resolution, or subject matter. A motion to raise shall take precedence in order over all other motions, except a motion to adjourn.

Sec. 7. Bills and Resolutions Held by Committee. If the committee has not taken final action on a bill or resolution within two days after the committee hearing, any senator may move that the bill or resolution be placed on General File. If a majority of the elected members vote in favor of the motion, the bill shall be placed on General File.

Sec. 8. Pending Proposals Indefinitely Postponed. At the conclusion of a special session, all bills and resolutions which have not been enacted shall stand indefinitely postponed and shall not carry over to the next legislative session.

Sec. 9. Rules Controlling When Conflict Exists. When a conflict exists between the provisions of this rule and other provisions of the Rules of the Nebraska Legislature, the provisions of this rule shall apply.

NOTICE OF ELECTION CONTEST

IN THE LEGISLATURE FOR THE STATE OF NEBRASKA

LYNDA THORPE, IN RE ELECTION TO THE NEBRASKA LEGISLATURE FROM THE THIRD LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA,) NOTICE OF ELECTION CONTEST

TO: MICHAEL T. AVERY and PATRICK J. O'DONNELL, CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE FOR THE STATE OF NEBRASKA

NOTICE

1. Pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 32-1001.06, you are hereby notified that Lynda Thorpe contests the election of Michael T. Avery who was proclaimed the duly elected Legislator from the Third Legislative District.

GROUNDS UPON WHICH THE ELECTION IS CONTESTED

2. At the time of the election, Michael T. Avery was not "eligible" to be elected to the Nebraska Legislature since, at the time of the election, he held a "lucrative office" with the State of Nebraska.

3. The Neb. Const. art. III § 9 provides:

No person holding office under the authority of the United States, or any lucrative office under the authority of this State, shall be eligible to, or have a seat in the Legislature.

4. The term "eligible" as employed in the Constitution, means capable of being elected or chosen. A candidate is required by the Constitution to possess all of the qualifications of a Legislator at the time of the election.

5. At the time of election, Michael T. Avery was a full-time employee of the State of Nebraska. Mr. Avery's job title was that of "Games and Parks, Fish and Wildlife Biologist II". His job description included the following: 1) the compilation and review of data regarding fish; 2) responsibility for field studies; 3) responsibility for habitat improvement; 4) the marking, banding and tracking of fish and wildlife, etc.; 5) the responsibility for public relation; 6) the responsibility to assist in the management of the Games and Parks Commission, including participating in the budget process.

6. "Office" has been defined as: "A public station or employment, conferred by the appointment of Government; and embraces the ideas of tenure, duration, emolument and duties." State ex rel. O'Connor v. Tusa, 130 Neb. 528, 535, 536, 126 N.W.2d 524, 525 (1936).

7. Since Avery held a position of public employment, conferred by the Government and embracing the ideas of tenure, duration, emolument and duties at the time of his election to the Legislature, he held a "lucrative office under the authority of this State" and was, consequently, constitutionally ineligible to run for the office of a Legislator of the Nebraska State Legislature.

8. In addition to Avery's constitutional ineligibility, Avery was prohibited by statute from participating as a candidate in an election while serving as an employee of the State Games and Parks Commission. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-809 provides in pertinent part that agents and employees of the State Games and Parks Commission may not use their official office or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election or affecting the results thereof. This Legislative Body has, therefore, determined that employees of the Games and Parks Commission should refrain from active political pursuits while an employee of the Games and Parks Commission.

NOTICE OF THE TIME AND PLACE OF DEPOSITIONS

9. Pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 32-1001.06, the Contestant does hereby notify Avery that the Contestant shall commence taking the depositions of Rex Amack, Director of the Games and Parks Commission; Jamie Stirkel, Personnel Administrator for the Games and Parks Commission; Michael T. Avery, the person proclaimed duly elected to the Legislature from the Third Legislative District; Joyce J. Schramm, Election Commissioner of Sarpy County, Nebraska and other potential witnesses to be designated by the Contestant; commencing at 10:00 A.M., December 16, 1992 at the offices of Cline, Williams, Wright, Johnson & Oldfather, 1900 FirsTier Bank Building, Lincoln, Nebraska. Such depositions shall commence at the date and time above stated and shall be continued from time to time until completed.

REQUEST THAT AVERY NOT BE SEATED

10. Pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 50-102, the Contestant respectfully requests that the Legislature examine and report upon the credentials of Avery and judge those credentials and the allegations set forth in this Notice of Contest of Election prior to permitting Avery to be certified as a member of the Legislature.

CONTESTED VOTES

The votes contested in this election, are those votes or ballots marked as votes cast for Jerry Schmitt or any other candidate not eligible to be elected under Article III, Section 7, Section 9 and Section 16 of the Nebraska Constitution.

GROUNDS OF CONTEST

1. Article III, Section 10 of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska which states:

> ". . . A majority of the members elected to the Legislature shall constitute a quorum; the Legislature shall determine the rules of its proceedings and be the judge of the election, returns, and qualifications of its members,. . ."

2. That illegal votes were received and counted and that those votes totaled a number sufficient to changes the result of the election.

3. That there was error on the part of the respective county boards of canvassers and the State Canvassing Board in counting and recounting the votes of candidates not eligible to run for the office of Legislature and that said votes were sufficient to change the result of the election.

4. Article III, Section 16, of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska which states:

> "No member of the Legislature or any state officer shall have a conflict of interest, as defined by the Legislature, directly in any contract, with the state or any county or municipality thereof, authorized by any law enacted during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed, or within one year after the expiration of such term.

Said provision creating a prima facie conflict with the Legislator duties imposed by Neb. Rev. Stat. §§81-2014 et sec.

5. That Article III, Section 9 of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska, which states:

"No person holding office under the authority of the United States, or any lucrative office under the authority of this state, shall be eligible to, or have a seat in the legislature."

Said provision having been violated by various election officials in their counting and recounting of votes cast in the 41st District, Nebraska Legislature and the Constitution thereby usurped and violated by counting , recounting and canvassing of in the Legislature rule, 41st District following the general election held November 3, 1992, ballots cast.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 92123

DATE: December 7, 1992

SUBJECT: The Constitutionality of LB 396, the "Hate Crimes Bill"

REQUESTED BY: Senator Brad Ashford, District #6

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Steve Grasz, Deputy Attorney General

On June 4, 1992, this office issued Attorney General Opinion No. 92078 in response to your request for an opinion regarding the constitutionality of LB 396, the Hate Crimes bill you originally introduced in 1991, and which you apparently plan to introduce again in the next legislative session. Subsequent to our opinion, the United States Supreme Court issued a decision in R.A.V. v. City of St. Paul, Minnesota, 505 U.S. ___, 112 S.Ct. 2538 (1992). You have now requested a "revised" opinion that incorporates consideration of the impact of the R.A.V. decision.

Only Section 2 of LB 396 appears to be impacted by the R.A.V. decision. Therefore, with respect to Section 1 of LB 396, we refer you to our original opinion.

Section 2 of LB 396 creates the crime of "ethnic intimidation".

(1) A person commits the crime of ethnic intimidation if, by reason of the actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin, or sexual orientation of another individual or group of individuals, he or she commits assault as defined in sections 28-308 to 28-310, criminal mischief as defined in section 28-519, criminal trespass as defined in section 28-520, or disturbing the peace as defined in section 28-1322.

(2) Ethnic intimidation shall be classified one offense higher than the underlying offense on which the crime is based.

I. Standard of Review

In Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92078, we stated,

Although a duly enacted statute normally carries with it a presumption of constitutionality, State ex rel. Wright v. Pepperl, 221 Neb. 664, 671, 380 N.W.2d 259 (1986), when a statute allegedly infringes on the exercise of First Amendment rights, the presumption is to the contrary and the burden of proof is shifted. The statute's proponent bears the burden of establishing by competent evidence the statute's constitutionality. ACORN v. City of Frontenac, 714 F.2d 813, 817 (8th Cir. 1983). See also Goward v. City of Minneapolis, 456 N.W.2d 460, 464 (Minn. 1990) ("The ordinary presumption of constitutionality afforded legislative enactments does not apply to laws restricting first amendment rights.") (citing Meyer v. Grant, 486 U.S. 414, 426 (1988)). However, in State v. Mitchell, 473 N.W.2d 1, 3 (Wis.App. 1991), review granted, 475 N.W.2d 164, the court acknowledged this rule, yet imposed the burden of proof on the defendant rather than the state, and found Wisconsin's hate crime statute was not vague or overbroad.

Subsequent to our opinion, the Wisconsin Supreme Court reversed the Wisconsin Court of Appeals decision in Mitchell. State v. Mitchell, 485 N.W.2d 807 (Wis. 1992). Unlike the Wisconsin Court of Appeals, the Wisconsin Supreme Court held the burden of proof was on the proponent of the challenged hate crimes statute (the State). "Because the hate crime statute punishes the defendant's biased thought . . . and thus encroaches upon First Amendment rights, the burden is upon the State to prove its constitutionality." Id. at 811. Thus, if LB 396 were to be challenged on First Amendment grounds, the State of Nebraska rather than the challenger would likely bear the burden of establishing the statute's constitutionality.

II. Constitutional Analysis

Section 2 of LB 396 provides increased penalties for assault, criminal mischief, criminal trespass and disturbing the peace where such crimes are motivated by reason of the actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin or sexual orientation of another individual or group of individuals. We will again review the constitutionality of this section.

In our original opinion, we generally concluded LB 396 was constitutional, and that "cross burning in the context of ethnic intimidation, as defined by LB 396, may not enjoy First Amendment protection." Id. at 5. This conclusion was based, in part, on the following analysis:

> The United States Supreme Court in Texas v. Johnson found that the burning of an American flag under the circumstances of that case did not constitute fighting words, Texas v. Johnson, 109 S.Ct. at 2542, because "no reasonable onlooker would have regarded Johnson's generalized expression of dissatisfaction with the Federal Government as a direct personal insult or invitation to exchange fisticuffs." Id. In contrast, LB 396 deals with cross burnings only in the context of crimes against individuals or a group of individuals. This is an important distinction. LB 396 is not as broad in its application as the hate crimes ordinance currently before the U.S. Supreme Court. In Matter of Welfare of R.A.V., 464 N.W.2d 507 (Minn. 1991), the Court has granted certiorari to decide whether a St. Paul, Minnesota city ordinance is unconstitutionally overbroad. That ordinance provides:
> > {w}hoever places on public or private property a symbol, object, appellation, characterization or graffiti, including but not limited to, a burning cross or Nazi swastika, which one knows arouses anger, alarm, or resentment in others on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, or gender commits disorderly conduct and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Id. at 6-7. We will now revisit this analysis in light of the U.S. Supreme Court's R.A.V. decision.

1. R.A.V. v. St. Paul

In R.A.V. v. City of St. Paul, Minnesota, 112 S.Ct. 2538 (1992), the U.S. Supreme Court reversed the Minnesota Supreme Court and held the St. Paul ordinance (quoted above) was facially invalid under the First Amendment.

Despite the Supreme Court's invalidation of the St. Paul ordinance, we conclude the R.A.V. decision is not dispositive of the issue of the constitutionality of LB 396. In our original opinion, we contrasted the provisions of LB 396 with the flag burning statute held unconstitutional in Texas v. Johnson and the ordinance challenged in R.A.V., based on the fact LB 396 covers only conduct constituting crimes against individuals. In holding the St. Paul ordinance unconstitutional in R.A.V., the U.S. Supreme Court specifically stated, "What we have here, it must be emphasized, is not a prohibition of fighting words that are directed at certain persons or groups . . . but rather, a prohibition of fighting words that contain . . . messages of 'bias-motivated' hatred. . . ." Id. at 2548. The Court further stated, > St. Paul has not singled out an especially offensive mode of expression--it has not, for example, selected for prohibition only those fighting words that communicate ideas in a threatening (as opposed to a merely obnoxious) manner. Rather, it has proscribed fighting words of whatever manner that communicate messages of racial, gender, or religious intolerance. Selectivity of this sort creates the possibility that the city is seeking to handicap the expression of particular ideas.

Id. at 2549.

Finally, we would note the Court's comment that "since words can in some circumstances violate laws directed not against speech but against conduct . . . a particular content-based subcategory of a prescribable class of speech can be swept up incidentally within the reach of a statute directed at conduct rather than speech." Id. at 2546. Thus, based on the Supreme Court's own limitations on the applicability of its R.A.V. decision, we conclude the R.A.V. decision does not invalidate LB 396 since LB 396 is a statute aimed at criminal conduct against individuals and not merely hateful speech.

2. State v. Mitchell and State v. Wyant

In our original opinion, we stated "a statute similar to LB 396 was upheld in State v. Mitchell, 473 N.W.2d 1 (Wis. App. 1991), when challenged as vague and overbroad." Subsequent to our opinion, the Wisconsin Supreme Court reversed this decision. State v. Mitchell, 485 N.W.2d 807 (Wis. 1992). This case, and an Ohio case decided two months later, State v. Wyant, 597 N.E.2d 450 (Ohio 1992), are much greater a threat to the constitutionality of LB 396 than R.A.V. On November 5, 1992, the State of Nebraska joined as an amicus curiae in support of the States of Wisconsin and Ohio. We have asked the U.S. Supreme Court to hear an appeal of the Mitchell and Wyant decisions and to reverse both decisions.[1] Obviously, we are of the opinion these cases were wrongly decided.

The statutes at issue in Mitchell and Wyant are very similar to LB 396. Both create the crime of "ethnic intimidation."

In State v. Wyant, the court found "the effect of {the Ohio hate crimes statute} is to create a 'thought crime.' " Wyant, 597 N.E.2d at 459. "If the thought or motive behind a crime can be separately punished, the legislative majority can punish virtually any viewpoint which it deems politically undesirable. . . ." Id. at 457.

In State v. Mitchell, the court stated, "Because all of the crimes under {the Wisconsin hate crimes statute} are already punishable, all that remains is an additional punishment for the defendant's motive in selecting the victim. The punishment of the defendant's bigoted motive by the hate crimes statute directly implicates and encroaches upon First Amendment rights." Mitchell, 485 N.W.2d at 812.

In their opinions, both the Ohio and Wisconsin Supreme Courts create a chilling scene of legislatively created "thought crimes." If that is what LB 396 did, it would and should be promptly declared unconstitutional. However, the frightening scenarios described in Mitchell and Wyant are the product of faulty reasoning.

LB 396, and similar statutes, do not punish constitutionally protected speech. Biased (i.e. racist) "thought" is not subject to prosecution under LB 396; neither is other biased First Amendment "speech." What is proscribed is certain criminal conduct directed at individual victims committed by reason of race, gender, etc. This is no different than many antidiscrimination statutes currently in use (i.e. statutes making it illegal to refuse to rent to a person because of the person's race). The biased motive is only punishable when manifested as conduct aimed at an individual.

The Ohio and Wisconsin courts lost sight of the fact that "ethnic intimidation" statutes do not punish speech protected by the First Amendment.[2] For example, a racist thought is protected by the First Amendment as silent First Amendment "speech." However, when a racist thought manifests itself in a manner likely to incite an immediate breach of the peace (i.e. conduct directed at an individual) it constitutes a "fighting word" which is a class of "speech" not protected by the First Amendment. Thus, we conclude a state may constitutionally proscribe "ethnic intimidation" consisting of criminal conduct committed against an individual by reason of race, gender, etc. as set forth in LB 396.[3] In such circumstances, the thought is not being punished, but rather conduct aimed at an individual victim. Our conclusion is consistent with at least one court decision, Dobbins v. Florida, 605 So.2d 922 (Fla. App. 5 Dist., Sept. 24, 1992) (not yet published). You should be advised, however, that only review of the Mitchell and Wyant decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court will produce a definitive answer to the question of the constitutionality of LB 396.

[1] As of the date of this opinion, the Court has not decided whether to grant the Petition for a Writ of Certiorari.

[2] Nor does LB 396 criminalize a sub-class of "fighting words" based on their content. See R.A.V., 112 S.Ct. at 2547. Rather, only "fighting words" directed at individuals in the context of criminal activity is proscribed. "{A} particular content-based subcategory of a proscribable class of speech can be swept up incidentally within the reach of a statute directed at conduct rather than speech." Id. at 2546.

[3] See Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92078 for our discussion of other overbreadth concerns. As with our original opinion, this opinion is in no way intended to endorse the concept of making "sexual orientation" a protected class of the same status as gender, race or religion. This continues to be a policy matter for the Legislature to address.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

You have requested our opinion as to the application of the statutory provisions imposing budget limitations on political subdivisions (other that school districts) contained in Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441 (Cum. Supp. 1992) to the statutory provisions governing tax levies by cities or villages for the financing of sewage disposal systems contained in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 18-501(4) (1991). You indicate that, should the budget limitations imposed on political subdivisions be deemed applicable to the levy provision contained in § 18-501(4), you may introduce amendatory legislation on this subject.

Section 77-3438 provides, in pertinent part: "(1) Except as provided in sections 77-3438.01, 77-3439, and 77-3440, no governing body shall adopt a budget statement pursuant to section 13-506. . . in which the anticipated aggregate receipts from property taxes for any fiscal year exceed the anticipated aggregate receipts from property taxes for the prior fiscal year. . . ." Section 77-3437(3) provides the definition of "{g}overning body" shall be that found in § 13-503, with the exception of school boards or boards of education of school districts. Pursuant to § 13-503, the term "governing body" includes the council of a city or the board of trustees of a village. "Adopted budget statement" is defined in §77-3437(1) to have the same meaning as in § 13-503, in which the term is defined to mean "a proposed budget statement which has been adopted or amended and adopted as provided in section 13-506."

Section 77-3439 permits a governing body to "increase the anticipated aggregate receipts from property taxes by up to five percent more than the amount permitted by section 77-3438 upon an affirmative vote of at least seventy-five percent of the governing body." Section 77-3440 provides that, if an increase greater than that allowed under § 77-3439 is to be permitted, such must be approved at a special election called by the governing body" for the purpose of placing the question of such increase before the voters."

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 18-501 (1991) authorizes "{a}ny city or village in this state. . . to own, construct, equip, and operate,. . . a sewerage system. . . ." Subsection (3) of § 18-501 provides that a city or village may "make a special levy of not to exceed three and five-tenths cents on each one hundred dollars upon the actual value of all the taxable property within any such municipality, except intangible property,. . .", for "the purpose of owning, operating, constructing, maintaining, and equipping such sewage disposal plant and sewerage system,. . . ." In addition, subsection (4) of § 18-501 provides:

> In the event the present or proposed sewage disposal system of any city or village does not comply with the provisions of any other law relating to sewer systems, sewage disposal, or water pollution, such city or village shall levy each year a tax of seven cents on each one hundred dollars of actual valuation for such purpose until sufficient funds are available for the financing of a system in compliance with law. Such levy shall not be subject to the maximum tax levy limit. In the event any city or village is otherwise raising funds for such purpose, equivalent to such a levy, it shall not be required, in addition thereto, to make such levy. (Emphasis added).

Recently, in Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92105 (August 25, 1992), we addressed the applicability of the limits on political subdivision budgets imposed under §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441 to tax levy provisions for county or city ambulance service and for payment of insurance premiums or the cost of membership in a risk management pool by public agencies. The question addressed was whether language in these tax levy provisions providing that the levy of taxes authorized was permissible even if "in excess of any tax limitation imposed by statute" or "in addition to restrictions on the levy of taxes provided by statute" operated to "exempt" taxes levied for these purposes from the budget limitations imposed under §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441.

In this opinion, we discussed at length several prior opinions in which this office addressed the relationship between statutory provisions granting authority to political subdivisions or other statutorily created entities to levy taxes up to a specified mill amount, or providing that the levying or taxing authority of a political subdivision was in addition to restrictions on the levy of taxes provided by statute, and the provisions of the Political Subdivision Budget Limit Act of 1979, Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 77-3412 to 77-3430 (repealed, 1985 Neb. Laws, L.B. 6, § 7). Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92105 at 3-4 (citing 1979-80 Rep. Att'y Gen. 236-37; 327-29; and 490-91). We summarized the conclusions reached in our prior opinions as follows:

> {T}his office has previously adopted the view that, in situations where statutes authorized political subdivisions to levy taxes "in addition to other taxes" or "in addition to restrictions on the levy of taxes provided by statute," or to levy taxes up to a specified mill amount for a particular purpose, such provisions do not override or exempt such levies from the operation of a limitation on political subdivision budgets. The limits of both the former Political Subdivision Budget Limit Act, as well as the current lid imposed pursuant to §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441, apply to budgets, not tax levies. . . . Removal of statutory restrictions relating to the levy of taxes does not, based on our prior opinions, "exempt" such levies from the effect of statutorily imposed budget limitations.

With respect to the specific questions pertaining to the applicability of the budget limitations imposed under §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441 to the tax levy provisions for county or city ambulance services or payment of insurance premiums or the cost of membership in a risk management pool by public agencies, we concluded:

> While statutory provisions such as §§ 13-303 and 44-4317 indeed authorize the levy of taxes for the purposes specified, even if "in excess of any tax limitation imposed by statute" (§ 44-4317), or which are "in addition to restrictions on the levy of taxes imposed by statute" (§ 13-303), this does not constitute an exception to the budget limitations imposed under §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441, as such limit relates to the amount which may be spent based on revenues raised by property taxation, i.e. no budget statement may be adopted in which anticipated aggregate receipts from property taxes for a fiscal year exceed anticipated aggregate receipts for the prior year, unless an increase is approved by the governing body under § 77-3438, or by the voters of the political subdivision under § 77-3439. (Emphasis in original).

Based on for foregoing, it is our opinion that, while § 18-501(4) provides that the levy authorized "shall not be subject to the maximum tax levy limit", such language does not constitute an exception to the budget limitations imposed on governing bodies of cities or villages pursuant to §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441. As we stated in a prior opinion addressing the Political Subdivision Limit Act of 1979:

> The limitations of {the Political Subdivision Budget Limit Act of 1979} applies {sic} to budgets not to tax levies. Any tax authorized may be levied. The limit arises in the amount that may be spent, i.e. no budget exceeding seven percent may be adopted. As long as the subdivision remains within a limit the tax may be levied.

1979-80 Rep. Att'y Gen. 328-29.

We are mindful of the fact that § 18-511 provides that "{t}he provisions of Chapter 18, article 5, shall be independent of and in addition to any other provisions of the laws of the State of Nebraska with reference to sewage disposal plants and sewerage systems in cities and villages. . ., and that this section further provides that "{t}he provisions of this article shall not be considered amendatory of or limited by any other provision of the laws of the State of Nebraska." While an argument could be made that this latter language indicates a legislative intent to remove the provisions of article 5 from the effect of any other legislative act, we do not believe this language can be so broadly construed, at least to the extent that it cannot be viewed to create an exception to §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441. The budget limitations established pursuant to these provisions are not inconsistent with article 5, and, absent a clear conflict, must be given effect. Thus, we conclude that, to the extent that you wish to establish a clear exception to the budget limitations imposed under §§ 77-3437 to 77-3441 in these circumstances, amendatory legislation would be necessary.

Very truly yours,

SUBJECT: Proposed Legislation: One-Call Notification System Act

REQUESTED BY: Senator John C. Lindsay
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Jan E. Rempe, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion regarding potential constitutional problems with the proposed One-Call Notification System Act. This legislation was drafted in response to federal requirements Nebraska must meet in order to maintain a Department of Transportation pipeline safety grant. Specifically, you are concerned that the proposed act may constitute special legislation under article XII, section 1, and article III, section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution, and that penalties imposed in the proposed legislation may violate article VII, section 5, of the Nebraska Constitution. We will first address your specific concerns; we will then discuss other constitutional issues raised by your legislation.

I. The Proposed One-Call Notification System Act

The legislation at issue establishes a "one-call notification center," which will be operated by a nonprofit corporation and will receive and provide notice of excavation occurring in various areas. The proposed act requires excavators to notify the center of any proposed excavation, and the center then notifies all operators of underground facilities in the area of the proposed excavation. The operators which will be notified of excavation activity include operators of water, sewage, oil, and gas equipment; electronic, telephonic, and telegraphic communications; fiber optics; cable television; and electric energy. Under the proposed legislation, these operators must advise excavators of the approximate location of their underground facilities by marking the facilities' locations. The center is also responsible for informing excavators of operators having underground facilities in the relevant excavation area.

The proposed act requires every operator in the state to become a member of the center, receive its services, and share the costs of the center's operation. The center, operated by what appears to be a private nonprofit corporation, will be governed by a 20-member board of directors consisting of representatives from telecommunications, cable television, natural gas distribution, and transmission pipeline companies; municipalities; public power districts and rural electric utilities; the Department of Roads; governmental utility providers; and the excavation industry. The board of directors is initially appointed by the Governor, but the directors' successors will be elected pursuant to the center's bylaws.

The legislation states that the board of directors shall:

> establish the operating procedures and technology needed for a one-call notification center, establish a notification process, establish a competitive bidding procedure to select a vendor to provide the notification service, and establish a procedure by which members of the center share the costs of the center on a fair, reasonable, and nondiscriminatory basis.

> The board shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to carry out the One-Call Notification System Act. The initial rules and regulations shall be promulgated by March 1, 1994.

Proposed One-Call Notification System Act § 17.

The proposed act also provides penalties for damaging underground facilities and for violating the act in any respect. An excavator who fails to give notice of an excavation and who damages an underground facility is strictly liable to the damaged facility's operator for the cost of repairs. Similarly, an excavator who gives such notice and damages a facility is liable for the cost of repairs, unless the damage was due to the underground facility operator's failure to mark its facilities. Anyone who violates the act is also subject to a civil penalty. If the violation relates to natural gas and hazardous liquid pipelines, the penalty is an amount not to exceed $10,000 for each violation for each day the violation continues, up to a maximum of $500,000. If the violation relates to any other type of underground facility, the penalty may not exceed $500 per day, up to a maximum of $5,000.

The legislation is unclear regarding whether the state or the nonprofit corporation imposes and receives the penalties; the standards for imposition of the penalties; who enforces the penalties or brings action to collect the penalties; and what procedural protections are available when one violates the act and is assessed a penalty.

Although the proposed act is also unclear in this regard, the act appears to assign specific functions to, and impose various deadlines upon, one private, nonprofit entity. While the act makes the first board of directors somewhat accountable to the state via the board's appointment by the Governor, all subsequent board members will be privately selected pursuant to the corporation's bylaws.

Other states have enacted similar legislation, but many of these acts' key provisions differ from those contained in Nebraska's proposed legislation. See Colo. Rev. Stat. Ann. §§ 9-1.5-101 to 9-1.5-105 (West 1990) (underground facility operators may form a notification association; civil penalties to be imposed by court in favor of state; penalties collected credited to general fund); Iowa Code Ann. §§ 480.1 to 480.3 (West 1991) and 1992 Iowa Legis. Serv. ch. 1103 (West) (statewide notification center organized as nonprofit corporation; all underground facility operators must participate and share cost; penalties are collected in legal proceedings, remitted to state treasurer, and credited to general fund); Minn. Stat. Ann. §§ 216D.01 to 216D.09 (West 1992) and 1992 Minn. Sess. Law Serv. ch. 493 (West) (notification center administered through state commissioner of public safety and operated by nonprofit corporation approved by commissioner; underground facility operators must participate and share costs; civil penalties deposited in state treasury and credited to pipeline safety account; commissioner adopts rules establishing guidelines for imposing penalties; violations addressed through injunction proceeding where notice and opportunity for hearing are given); Mo. Ann. Stat. §§

319.010 to 319.045 (Vernon Cum. Supp. 1992) (nonprofit organization operates notification center; membership to center optional unless required by federal law; center funded by participants; liability to state for violations; state initiates legal action to collect civil penalties); Pa. Stat. Ann. tit. 73, §§ 176 to 182.4 (Supp. 1992) (mandatory membership in one-call system; operators share costs; board of directors chosen by operators; Auditor General may inspect information concerning system and system must submit annual report to General Assembly; state enforces penalties).[1]

II. Article XII, Section 1

Article XII, section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution provides in relevant part:

> The Legislature shall provide by general law for the organization, regulation, supervision and general control of all corporations . . . . No corporations shall be created by special law . . . except those corporations organized for charitable, educational, penal or reformatory purposes, which are to be and remain under the patronage and control of the state.

While the plain meaning of this constitutional provision may seem to prohibit creation of a specific nonprofit corporation to perform the functions described in the proposed legislation,[2] the Nebraska Supreme Court has interpreted "special law" within the meaning of article XII, section 1, as follows:

> An act is general, and not special or local, if it operates alike on all persons or localities of a class, or who are brought within the relations and circumstances provided for, if the classification so adopted by the legislature has a basis in reason, and is not purely arbitrary. . . . If a law affects equally all persons who come within its operation, it cannot be local or special within the meaning of the Constitution. . . . A law is not local or special in a constitutional sense that operates in the same manner upon all persons in like circumstances. General laws are those which relate to or bind all within the jurisdiction of the lawmaking power, and if a law is general and operates uniformly and equally upon all brought within the relation and circumstance for which it provides it is not a local or special law in the constitutional sense.

State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445, 454-55, 283 N.W.2d 12, 19-20 (1979).

The proposed One-Call Notification System Act operates uniformly and equally upon all persons who come within the act's operation: all underground facility operators meeting the statutory definition of "operator" must financially support the center and perform various other duties, and all people performing "excavation" within the meaning of the act must meet the act's requirements. While the act grants only one nonprofit corporation the privilege of operating the notification center, the analysis of article XII, section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution used by the Nebraska Supreme Court in Douglas seems to focus upon whom comes within the act's operation and how equally the act operates on those affected by the act. Here, the proper analysis should presumably focus upon the excavators and operators who must perform various statutory duties and the uniformity with which the act operates on them.

The classifications within the proposed act seem based in reason and not arbitrary because the Nebraska Legislature has classified as being bound by the Act persons performing excavations which pose the greatest risk to underground equipment and operators who manage and control that underground equipment. These classifications were evidently made in the interest of protecting both public and private equipment and promoting public safety, arguably making these classifications rational.

Therefore, the proposed act seems to create by general law, and not in violation of article XII, section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution, a nonprofit corporation to operate a one-call notification center.

III. Article III, Section 18

Article III, section 18, of the Nebraska Constitution prohibits the Legislature from passing "local or special laws . . . {g}ranting to any corporation . . . any special or exclusive privileges, immunity, or franchise whatever . . . ." A legislative act can violate the special laws provision by (1) creating a totally arbitrary and unreasonable method of classification, or (2) by creating a permanently closed class. Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. 699, 467 N.W.2d 836 (1991); Mapco v. State Bd. of Equalization, 238 Neb. 565, 471 N.W.2d 734 (1991).

To be valid under the first prong above, legislative "{c}lassifications must be based on some substantial difference of situation or circumstances that would naturally suggest the justice or expediency of diverse legislation with respect to the objects to be classified." Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. at 713, 467 N.W.2d at 847 (emphasis in original). "'{T}he test for statutes challenged under the special-laws prohibitions . . . is that they must bear "a reasonable and substantial relation to the objects sought to be accomplished by the legislation."'" Id. (quoting Benderson Devel. Co. v. Sciortino, 236 Va. 136, 372 S.E.2d 751 (1988)).

As discussed in section II of this opinion, the proposed act does not create a totally arbitrary and unreasonable method of classifying which operators and excavators are covered by the act. If the objects sought to be accomplished by this legislation are to protect public and private equipment and to promote public safety, requiring notification of excavation which may potentially damage expensive or hazardous equipment arguably bears a reasonable and substantial relation to those objects. Therefore, the legislation would probably be held not to violate the special-laws prohibition as creating totally arbitrary classifications.

With regard to the closed class concern, "a classification which limits the application of the law to a present condition, and leaves no room for opportunity for an increase in the numbers of the class by future growth or development, is special." Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. at 716, 467 N.W.2d at 848. Clearly, the proposed act allows an increase in the number of class members because the act applies to all excavators and underground facility operators. Anyone who becomes an excavator or operator in the future will thus be bound by the act and will increase the existing class.

Because the proposed act's classifications are not unreasonable and class membership may increase, the act would probably not violate Neb. Const. art. III, § 18, as special legislation.

IV. Article VII, Section 5

Under Article VII, section 5, of the Nebraska Constitution, all fines, penalties, and license money arising under the general laws of the state must be appropriated exclusively to the use and support of the common schools.

"Penalty," within the meaning of this constitutional language, means a pecuniary punishment imposed by, and for violations of, laws, ordinances, or police regulations. School Dist. of McCook v. City of McCook, 163 Neb. 817, 81 N.W.2d 224 (1957). If money exacted is punitive in character, and not remedial or compensatory, that money is a penalty within the meaning of article VII, section 5, of the Nebraska Constitution. Id. See also Decamp v. City of Lincoln, 202 Neb. 727, 277 N.W.2d 83 (1979); School Dist. of Omaha v. Adams, 147 Neb. 1060, 26 N.W.2d 24 (1947). A statute that imposes liability for actual damages and additional liability for the same act provides a penalty. Abel v. Conover, 170 Neb. 926, 104 N.W.2d 684 (1960).

As described in section I of this opinion, the proposed act does impose liability for the cost of repairing damaged underground facilities. This liability is not a "penalty" within the meaning of article VII, section 5, because it is remedial and compensatory toward actual damages. However, the legislation also imposes large civil penalties for any violation of the act, whether or not damage occurs. Such penalties are obviously punitive and are in addition to liability for actual damages. Therefore, the civil penalties collected under section 22 of the proposed act must be appropriated exclusively to the use and support of the common schools.

Because the proposed act does not expressly direct that these civil penalties be diverted from school funds, the proposed act, in theory, does not appear to violate the Nebraska Constitution. However, if, in practice, these penalties will be diverted from the use and support of the common schools, it will probably be deemed a violation of article VII, section 5.

V. Other Constitutional Issues

A. Delegation of Legislative Authority

Although the proposed act does not appear to violate the constitutional provisions discussed above, we are concerned that the legislation unconstitutionally delegates legislative power to a private nonprofit corporation.

The Legislature may not delegate legislative authority, power, or functions to an administrative or executive authority or to private individuals. Bosselman, Inc. v. State, 230 Neb. 471, 432 N.W.2d 226 (1988); Anderson v. Carlson, 171 Neb. 741, 107 N.W.2d 535 (1961); Neb. Const. art. III, § 1 (the legislative authority of the state shall be vested in the Legislature). However, the Legislature may authorize an administrative or executive department to make rules and regulations to carry out an express legislative purpose, or to completely operate and enforce a law within designated limitations. Bosselman, Inc. v. State, 230 Neb. 471, 432 N.W.2d 226 (1988). These designated limitations and the standards by which the powers granted are to be administered must be clearly and definitely stated in the authorizing act. Id. These standards must be reasonably adequate, sufficient, and definite to guide the agency in exercising the power conferred upon it and must enable those affected to know their rights and obligations. Id. If the Legislature provides reasonable limitations and standards for carrying out delegated duties, there is not an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority. Id.

With respect to the proposed legislation at issue, the question is whether its provisions contain adequate, sufficient, and definite standards within which the nonprofit corporation is to exercise its discretion. As described in section I of this opinion, section 17 of the proposed act requires the board of directors to establish notification center procedures, technology, and processes with absolutely no guidelines or standards by which to complete its assigned tasks. Instead of the Legislature performing its function of formulating policies, rights, duties, and rules of conduct and granting to the nonprofit corporation the authority to operate, enforce, or carry out legislatively formulated purposes within designated limits, the Legislature has extended the corporation complete discretion to decide what technology is needed to create the center and the standards to be used in selecting this technology; who shall actually provide the notification service and the standards by which the vendor will be selected; and how much and when center members must pay to operate the center. The proposed act also fails to state a legislative purpose to be carried out by the nonprofit corporation.

Because the proposed act fails to set reasonably adequate, sufficient, and definite standards to guide the nonprofit corporation in exercising powers conferred upon it, we believe the act contains an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority.

B. Rules and Regulations

You should also note that the rules and regulations to be adopted by the board of directors pursuant to section 17 of the proposed act may not have the force of law, as do regulations properly promulgated under the Administrative Procedure Act ("APA"), Neb. Rev. Stat. §§

84-901 to 84-920 (1987). Nucor Steel v. Leuenberger, 233 Neb. 863, 448 N.W.2d 909 (1989).

As stated above, the Legislature may delegate to an administrative or executive agency or department the power to make rules and regulations to implement statutory policy. Bosselman, Inc. v. State, 230 Neb. 471, 432 N.W.2d 226 (1988); State ex rel. Spire v. Stodola, 228 Neb. 107, 421 N.W.2d 436 (1988). Here, it is highly questionable whether the nonprofit corporation that will operate the center is an administrative or executive agency or department; therefore, it is also questionable whether the Legislature may delegate to the nonprofit corporation the responsibility to adopt rules and regulations. Further, since the APA applies to "agencies," which are defined as units of state government, Neb. Rev. Stat. § 84-901 (1987), rules and regulations adopted by a private nonprofit corporation would not be properly promulgated under the APA and would therefore have no legal effect.

C. Potential Due Process Concerns

Even if the above constitutional problems are remedied, it is conceivable that a due process argument could be made regarding the act's provisions that force all underground facility operators to financially support the notification center and receive its services, and that impose large civil penalties without outlining applicable procedural safeguards. Neb. Const. art I, § 3.

VI. Conclusion

We conclude that the proposed act probably does not violate the provisions of the Nebraska Constitution contained in article XII, section 1; article III, section 18; and article VII, section 5. However, the legislation appears to unconstitutionally delegate legislative power to a nonprofit corporation in violation of article III, section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution; to provide for the adoption of rules and regulations which will have no legal effect; and to be vulnerable to due process attacks.

It may be possible to cure these constitutional infirmities by providing a legislative purpose and sufficient standards by which the corporation is to carry out legislative policy. Further, if the act were administered by a unit of state government, see Minn. Stat. Ann. §§ 216D.01 to 216D.09 (West 1992), rules and regulations adopted by that unit under the APA would be legally effective; other procedural safeguards afforded by the APA would be available; and the governing board of the center would have a much higher degree of political and public accountability.

[1]We were unable to locate any case law or attorney general opinions involving similar acts in other states.

[2]In Frye v. Hass, 182 Neb. 73, 152 N.W.2d 121 (1967), the Nebraska Supreme Court stated that "the plain meaning of this constitutional provision is that you cannot create a corporation by special law." Id. at 82, 152 N.W.2d at 127 (emphasis in original). Members of the Nebraska Constitutional Convention of 1919-1920 commented on this general law provision in the course of amending general corporations provisions:

> MR. PETERSON: I think the Convention ought to bear in mind the original purpose of Section 1 in this article of our present Constitution. . . . The first sentence, "the legislature shall provide by general law for the organization of all corporations hereafter to be created" was intended as a limitation on the power of the legislature to incorporate corporations controlled by special acts. That was the old system where a corporation would go to the legislature and get a special act passed for the incorporation of that particular corporation. They found it was hampering . . . . The second provision has merely implied no corporations shall be created by special law, and it is merely stating it the other way around . . . . Why shall you say that the regulations of those corporations shall be by general law unless you intend that it shall be general as to all corporations?
>
> MR. McDONALD . . . If you limit the Legislature to the power to regulate and control the corporations by general law, I think you are prohibiting the Legislature the power to control a corporation by a special law applicable to a particular body, to a particular corporation.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 11CA. Introduced by Beutler, 28.

A resolution to propose amending the Constitution of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-THIRD LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1994 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska to amend Article IV, section 20, Article V, section 5, and Article VII, sections 3, 10, and 14, add a new section 5A to Article III, and repeal Article III, section 5:

III-5A "The Legislature shall redistrict the state after each federal decennial census. The primary basis for such redistricting shall be the population, excluding aliens, as shown by the next preceding federal decennial census. In no case shall the population of a legislative district, at the time redistricting is done, deviate by more than two percent from the population figure obtained by dividing the population of the state by the number of legislative districts. One member of the Legislature shall be elected from each district. Districts shall be composed of contiguous territory, shall be reasonably compact in form, and may recognize existing communities of common economic interest. District boundaries should respect county and municipal lines but may deviate from such boundaries in recognition of the other standards set forth in this section. No district shall be drawn for the purpose of favoring or disfavoring a political party, an incumbent, or another person or group."

IV-20 "There shall be a Public Service Commission, consisting of not less than three nor more than seven members, as the Legislature shall prescribe, whose ~~term~~ terms of office shall be six years; and whose compensation shall be fixed by the Legislature. Commissioners shall be elected by districts of substantially equal population as the Legislature shall provide, but in no case shall the population of a Public Service Commission district, at the time redistricting is done, deviate by more than two percent from the population figure obtained by dividing the population of the state by the number of Public Service Commission districts. The Legislature shall redistrict the state after each federal decennial census. The primary basis for such redistricting shall be the population, excluding aliens, as shown by the next preceding federal decennial census. Districts shall be composed of contiguous territory, shall be reasonably compact in form, and may recognize existing communities of common economic interest. District boundaries should respect county and municipal lines but may deviate from such boundaries in recognition of the other standards set forth in this section. No district shall be drawn for the purpose of favoring or disfavoring a political party, an incumbent, or another person or group. The powers and duties of such commission shall include the regulation of rates, service and general control of common carriers as the Legislature may provide by law. ~~But, in~~ In the absence of specific legislation, the commission shall exercise the powers and perform the duties enumerated in this provision."

V-5 "The Legislature shall divide the state into six ~~contiguous and compact~~ districts of approximately equal population; which shall be numbered from one to six; and which shall be known as the Supreme Court judicial districts. The Legislature shall redistrict the state after each federal decennial census. ~~In any such redistricting, county lines shall be followed whenever practicable, but other established lines may be followed at the discretion of the Legislature.~~ The primary basis for such redistricting shall be the population, excluding aliens, as shown by the next preceding federal decennial census. In no case shall the population of any Supreme Court judicial district, at the time redistricting is done, deviate by more than two percent from the population figure obtained by dividing the population of the state by the number of Supreme Court judicial districts. Districts shall be composed of contiguous territory, shall be reasonably compact in form, and may recognize existing communities of common economic interest. District boundaries should respect county and municipal lines but may deviate from such boundaries in recognition of the other standards set forth in this section. No district shall be drawn for the purpose of favoring or disfavoring a political party, an incumbent, or another person or group. Such districts shall not be changed except upon the concurrence of a majority of the members of the Legislature. Whenever the Supreme Court is redistricted, the judges serving prior to the redistricting shall continue in office; and the law providing for such redistricting shall ~~where~~ when necessary specify the newly established districts which they shall represent for the balance of their terms."

VII-3 "The State Board of Education shall be composed of eight members; who shall be elected from eight districts of substantially equal population as provided by the Legislature. The Legislature shall redistrict the state after each federal decennial census. The primary basis for such redistricting shall be the population, excluding aliens, as shown by the next preceding federal decennial census. In no case shall the population of any State Board of Education district, at the time such redistricting is done, deviate by more than two percent from the population figure obtained by dividing the population of the state by the number of State Board of Education districts. Districts shall be composed of contiguous territory, shall be reasonably compact in form, and may recognize existing communities of common economic interest. District boundaries should respect county and municipal lines but may deviate from such boundaries in recognition of the other standards set forth in this section. No district shall be drawn for the purpose of favoring or disfavoring a political party, an incumbent, or another person or group. ~~Their term~~

Terms of office of the members shall be ~~for~~ four years each. ~~Their duties~~ Duties and powers of the members shall be prescribed by the Legislature, and they shall receive no compensation; but shall be reimbursed their actual expense incurred in the performance of their duties. VII-10 "The general government of the University of Nebraska shall, under the direction of the Legislature, be vested in a board of not less than six nor more than eight regents, to be designated the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska, who shall be elected from and by districts as ~~herein~~ provided in this section, and three students of the University of Nebraska who shall serve as nonvoting members. Such nonvoting student members shall consist of the student body president of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, the student body president of the University of Nebraska at Omaha, and the student body president of the University of Nebraska Medical Center. The terms of office of elected members shall be for six years each. The terms of office of student members shall be for the period of service as student body president. ~~Their duties~~ Duties and powers of the members shall be prescribed by law, ; and they shall receive no compensation; but may be reimbursed their actual expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties.

The Legislature shall divide the state~~, along county lines,~~ into ~~as many compact regent~~ Board of Regents districts~~, as there are regents provided by the Legislature,~~ of approximately equal population, which shall be numbered consecutively.

The Legislature shall redistrict the state after each federal decennial census. The primary basis for such redistricting shall be the population, excluding aliens, as shown by the next preceding federal decennial census. In no case shall the population of any Board of Regents district, at the time redistricting is done, deviate by more than two percent from the population figure obtained by dividing the population of the state by the number of Board of Regents districts. Districts shall be composed of contiguous territory, shall be reasonably compact in form, and may recognize existing communities of common economic interest. District boundaries should respect county and municipal lines but may deviate from such boundaries in recognition of the other standards set forth in this section. No district shall be drawn for the purpose of favoring or disfavoring a political party, an incumbent, or another person or group. Such districts shall not be changed except upon the concurrence of a majority of the members of the Legislature. ~~In any such redistricting, county lines shall be followed whenever practicable, but other established lines may be followed at the discretion of the Legislature.~~ Whenever the state is so redistricted, the members elected prior to the redistricting shall continue in office; and the law providing for such redistricting shall ~~where~~ when necessary specify the newly established district which they shall represent for the balance of their term."

VII-14 "On January 1, 1992, there shall be established the Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education which shall, under the direction of the Legislature, be vested with the authority for the coordination of public postsecondary educational institutions. Public postsecondary educational institutions shall include each postsecondary educational campus or institution which is governed by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska, the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges, any board or boards established for the community colleges, or any other governing board for any other public postsecondary educational institution which may be established by the Legislature.

Coordination shall mean:

(1) Authority to adopt, and revise as needed, a comprehensive statewide plan for postsecondary education which shall include (a) definitions of the role and mission of each public postsecondary educational institution within any general assignments of role and mission as may be prescribed by the Legislature and (b) plans for facilities which utilize tax funds designated by the Legislature;

(2) Authority to review, monitor, and approve or disapprove each public postsecondary educational institution's programs and capital construction projects which utilize tax funds designated by the Legislature in order to provide compliance and consistency with the comprehensive plan and to prevent unnecessary duplication; and

(3) Authority to review and modify, if needed to promote compliance and consistency with the comprehensive statewide plan and prevent unnecessary duplication, the budget requests of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska, the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges, any board or boards established for the community colleges, or any other governing board for any other public postsecondary educational institution which may be established by the Legislature.

The Legislature may provide the commission with additional powers and duties related to postsecondary education as long as such powers and duties do not invade the governance and management authority of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska and the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges as provided in the Constitution of Nebraska, Article VII, sections 10 and 13. The Legislature may provide that coordination of the community colleges by the commission pursuant to this section may be conducted through a board or association representing all the community colleges.

Nothing in this section providing for statewide coordination shall limit or require the use of property tax revenue by and for community colleges.

The commission shall consist of eleven members, residents of the state or the districts for which appointed, who shall be appointed by the Governor with the approval of a majority of the Legislature. Six of the members shall be chosen from ~~six~~ districts of approximately equal population as provided by the Legislature and five shall be chosen on a statewide basis.

The Legislature shall redistrict the state after each federal decennial census. The primary basis for such redistricting shall be the population, excluding aliens, as shown by the next preceding federal decennial census, and in no case shall the population of any Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education district, at the time redistricting is done, deviate by more than two percent from the population figure obtained by dividing the population of the state by the number of Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education districts. Districts shall be composed of contiguous territory, shall be reasonably compact in form, and may recognize existing communities of common economic interest. District boundaries should respect county and municipal lines but may deviate from such lines in recognition of the other standards set forth in this section. No district shall be drawn for the purpose of favoring or disfavoring a political party, an incumbent, or another person or group.

The terms of the members of the commission shall be six years or until a successor is qualified and takes office, except that of the members initially appointed, four members shall serve for terms of two years and four members shall serve for terms of four years. The members of the commission shall receive no compensation for the performance of their duties but may be reimbursed their actual and necessary expenses."

III-5 "Article III, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska is repealed.".

Sec. 2. That the proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

"A constitutional amendment to change and provide standards for redistricting legislative, Public Service Commission, State Board of Education, Board of Regents, and Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education districts and Supreme Court judicial districts.

STATE OF THE STATE/BUDGET ADDRESS

1992 marked the one-hundred-twenty-fifth year of statehood for Nebraska -- our Quasquicentennial.

It has been a time of celebration.

A time to remember and honor those who came before;

A time to recognize and celebrate our diverse cultural heritage;

A time to express pride and renew appreciation for our land, our people -- the strength that is Nebraska.

Just as those who occupied this corner of the world for centuries before us, we are obliged to continue on the path, building the framework of the future for our children and grandchildren.

We will continue our quest for excellence in 1993, and we start from a solid foundation.

Nebraska's economy remains sound, weathering well the storm of national recession. We boast one of the lowest unemployment rates in the nation.

For the first time in nearly a decade, more people are moving into Nebraska than are moving out.

Through the cooperation and hard work of my administration and the Legislature, we have restored stability to the property tax system, and we have laid the groundwork for reasoned discussion of the next budget.

As we approach the turn of the millennium, the decisions we face are framed in a new context.

We are entering a challenging era in history.

One in which change is rapid and constant;

One which presents a myriad of problems, and opportunities;

One in which a new style of leadership will be required.

With change comes discomfort. We long to preserve the familiar, and we are right to hold onto that which endures.

But some change is inevitable. The key is to know the difference between that which is transient, and that which is timeless...

Leadership in the 1990's and beyond involves the capacity to understand, to respond, and even to shape change. To do so, a leader must act in partnership, not in isolation.

The greatest form of leadership is empowering others to become leaders themselves -- to invite others to stand shoulder-to-shoulder, not to demand that they fall in line behind.

Leadership involves creating an environment that inspires people to make things happen. And things are happening in Nebraska.

Our accomplishments have been achieved together, as One Nebraska. Together, we have made real progress in spite of tough budget times. Together, we have delivered.

Focusing on the "Three E's" -- Economic Development, Environment, and Education -- we are seizing control of Nebraska's destiny.

Together, we are making real progress on our economic agenda.

Our development policy is supporting businesses, communities, and their leaders in the pursuit of sustained economic growth.

Trade missions to the Middle East and the Pacific Rim are paying dividends for agriculture and other Nebraska businesses.

The Governor's Rural Development Commission -- and the Office of Urban Affairs -- are both focusing their efforts on community-based success.

 Whether in Omaha or Cambridge, Scottsbluff or Falls City: success is community-based, and enterprise-focused. State government is the junior partner -- but we can be, and we will be, an active partner.

Together, we are making real progress on our environmental agenda.

We have handed Nebraskans a new tool for lasting contributions to our quality of life through the Environmental Trust Fund.

The Solid Waste Management Act passed last year has led 91 of our 93 counties, and nearly 90 percent of our communities, to outline environmentally-sound waste management plans that meet both local and regional needs.

An invigorated state recycling program has placed Nebraska second in the nation in the use of recycled paper -- and we're pushing hard to be first.

Together, we have developed an action plan for energy conservation, implementing ideas from converting state vehicles to alternate fuels, to enhancing the Dollar and Energy Saving Loan Program.

Together, after a decade with no solution, we have delivered to the Feds a Nebraska solution for the relicensing of Kingsley Dam.

We are moving ahead with the lawsuit against Wyoming on flows in the North Platte River. Our case is strong; it is being presented in front of the United States Supreme Court this morning. Water wars with neighboring states are unpleasant, but we will protect our water.

Together, we have delivered to Boyd County voters a voice in their own destiny. Community consent does not exist, and the Attorney General will file a lawsuit today in Federal District Court to force removal of Boyd County from consideration as the dump site.

In the meantime, I am asking the Legislature to strike language that requires the state to take title to any waste stored in the low-level dump -- if and when it is built. This action is based upon a U.S.

Supreme Court ruling in a New York case, and it will help protect the state from liability. Safety will continue to be our top priority.

Together, we are making real progress on our education agenda.

The Education Innovation Fund opens a host of opportunities for new ideas in education.

Fourteen communities are now part of our Nebraska 2000 initiative, and dozens more are developing improvement plans for High Performance Learning.

My experience as Chair of the National Education Goals Panel has shown me that we still have work to do. But I have also learned that Nebraskans are responding through their commitment to broad-based, grass-roots school transformation. Business leaders, parents, administrators, teachers and students are all involved in our drive to reach world-class standards.

Pilot projects throughout Nebraska are linking schools together with interactive video.

The Rural Health Education Network is expanding access to continuing education programs for health professionals across the state.

Higher education continues to be one of Nebraska's primary assets. I am pleased with our progress in bringing business and higher education together to fashion a research agenda. Our goal is a program that combines academic freedom with responsiveness to the needs of industry.

The Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education is making its presence felt. Over the long term, the Commission must have a positive impact on higher education in Nebraska.

We are doing things right. Our agenda has been packed, and much more could be said about Nebraska's accomplishments in areas like children and families or the role volunteers play in stretching the value of our resources.

Our agenda has been ambitious. And together, we are making progress.

But our agenda is not finished. There is work yet to be done.

Tough choices must be made in order to maintain the stability we have worked so hard to establish. We have to finish the job we began last fall. The budget I am presenting today is spartan -- it is a hold-the-line budget -- it is austere. We must balance the budget.

Keeping state spending in line helps to stabilize our economy -- promoting investment and creating jobs. We take pride in our low unemployment rate. But we must continue to work toward the creation of more high-skilled, high-paying jobs where working means earning a living.

The Applied Information Management initiative is a creative approach toward this objective. We will continue to work closely with the AIM Institute to match the skill requirements of Nebraska business with appropriate education and training programs.

Enterprise Zone legislation is needed to provide incentives for job creation in economically-distressed areas throughout Nebraska. Our goal is to improve -- significantly -- the neighborhoods and the standard of living for the residents of enterprise zones.

The turnaround in net migration is encouraging But population continues to decline in rural Nebraska. We need to maintain and build on the momentum created by our Rural Development Commission -- and the projects it has initiated -- by giving it a permanent home in the Department of Economic Development.

The Commission has been recognized under the President's Initiative on Rural America Act, and federal funds have been secured. Their resourcefulness means that no new state dollars will be required to continue Commission activities.

Transportation is essential for Nebraska's economy, and for our people. Our highway system is rapidly improving, with a record $282 million construction program last year.

Mass transit systems are a critical piece of Nebraska's transportation infrastructure. Transit systems exist in almost every area of the state, but they are not connected with each other, or with interstate transportation.

Accordingly, I have proposed the creation of the Intercity Bus System that connects existing local systems into a statewide network. Our goal is an urban/rural link that improves access for all Nebraskans to regional health care services, interstate transportation, and other essential services.

Nebraska's contribution to fueling America's transportation needs is growing rapidly. Ethanol is on the move. In addition to new construction underway during 1992, we welcomed Cargill's announcement that it would build a large corn processing plant near Blair.

This facility has the potential to process hundreds of thousands of bushels of corn daily by the end of the decade. Ethanol holds promise both for the environment, and for Nebraska agriculture through the creation of new markets.

 Production agriculture is fundamental to Nebraska. With that in mind, I intend to support four specific initiatives that will benefit Nebraska agriculture.

First, Nebraska should take on the management of the federal pesticide program known as FIFRA. State government is in the best position to administer this program, and to do so in a way that protects both the needs of agriculture and the environment.

Second, I will continue to promote Nebraska agriculture aggressively, both at home and abroad. The Department of Agriculture is making internal reallocations to direct additional resources toward ag promotion activities.

Third, I am supporting legislation to streamline the process for obtaining overweight farm truck permits. Timing is everything in getting crops out of the field and hauled to market. I want to minimize the time required to apply for and receive an overweight permit. This should be a user-friendly program.

Fourth, Nebraska agriculture must have a voice in allocating resources from the Environmental Trust Fund. The lottery bill adds the Director of Agriculture to the Environmental Trust Board, along with three additional members of the general public to maintain balance. The legislation also makes it clear that any land acquisitions made with Trust funds are strictly on a willing buyer/willing seller basis.

With these changes to the Environmental Trust Fund, and some minor changes to the Education Innovation Fund and program administration, lottery legislation should be re-enacted in the same form as the original bill.

 The Education Innovation Fund is an important in directing resources toward new ideas in education. But it is not intended -- nor can it be -- an ongoing source of programmatic funding. The most important step toward enhanced state funding for basic education has been taken through LB 1059.

The 1059 state aid formula has unquestionably moved Nebraska toward greater equity in educational opportunity. Adjustments may be warranted, and I will carefully review proposals to do so.

Teacher salary enhancements should be made part of the state aid package. I have a high regard for Nebraska's teachers, and they deserve to see the state's contribution to salaries continued.

State aid to education will increase by $44.2 million over the next biennium. There is ample room to include the salary enhancement package for teachers as part of that increase.

Our income tax system needs to be fixed. I am proposing tax cut for 400,000 Nebraska families -- about 80% of our taxpayers. Middle-income Nebraskans deserve this change. I urge the Legislature's support for LB 240.

Another tax equity question is posed by Nebraska's current business incentive program. The Employment Investment and Growth Act has had a positive impact on Nebraska's economy. There is, however, an element of this program that continues to leave a sour taste in the mouths of many Nebraskans -- the corporate jet exemption. I remain convinced that this element of our tax incentive package must be changed.

I have proposed legislation that empowers communities to implement this exemption at their choice. Other communities will not be saddled with this approach by a statewide mandate.

Adjustments in tax policy are important to the bottom line for Nebraska's families and businesses. But there is another issue which -- if not properly addressed in the next few years -- will more than offset the benefits of tax changes.

Health care continues to be a major concern across the country. Costs are escalating beyond the rate of inflation; access to services is difficult for many, both for geographic and financial reasons; the business community -- as well as government -- sees a growing drain on resources caused by health insurance and workers' compensation costs.

Last year, I formed a Blue Ribbon Coalition and an Interagency Task Force to assess health care options for Nebraska. I have just received preliminary reports from both groups, and we have a strong beginning from which to build. I have asked these two groups to work together through 1993, analyzing these proposals in detail, while keeping a sharp eye on national developments.

One bright spot in Nebraska health care is the Rural Health Opportunities Program, a cooperative venture between the University of Nebraska Medical Center, Chadron and Wayne State Colleges. Twenty-six students currently enrolled at the state colleges -- and who are committed to remaining in rural Nebraska to practice -- will begin their health professional training at UNMC this year.

They -- and those who follow them -- will receive financial assistance through the creation of a new loan program. State dollars will be matched by UNMC, and rural communities will be asked to pay back the loans in return for practice commitments from these students.

For state government, Medicaid is clearly at the top of the health care agenda. Medicaid costs grew by more than 48% over the past two years. They will account for over $72 million of all new expenditures in the coming biennium.

With the help of the Legislature, we have taken steps to begin controlling the cost of public assistance. While tax dollars to some programs have been curtailed, in many cases the services are now being provided by volunteers -- in the true Nebraska spirit.

The Department of Social Services is moving aggressively to streamline administration, and to implement a managed care program. This will also help control costs.

These steps alone are not sufficient to plug the gap. Like many other states, we need to look seriously at other sources of funding for Medicaid.

We are working with the health care industry on several alternatives, including a provider fee. This is not the option I prefer, and I am hopeful that an alternate solution can be achieved. However, my budget assumes that action will be taken in this area.

Another high-cost aspect of the state budget -- one with the potential to skyrocket -- is our prison system. We are currently operating at over 153% of capacity.

Make no mistake -- convicted criminals who pose any substantial risk should not be released prior to completing their terms. Prisons are needed to protect the public. They are also costly to build and operate. There are opportunities to reduce the cost of criminal justice while protecting the public, and I intend to explore those options.

Our law enforcement community is doing outstanding work. The Nebraska State Patrol has increased DWI arrests to an all-time high. Drug seizures by the Patrol are up markedly, and overall drug arrests are up 66%.

A large percentage of our prison population suffers from substance abuse problems. Therefore, I am recommending nearly $3.8 million over the next biennium to maintain operation of the Lincoln Air Park facility for treatment programs.

Nebraskans are reasonable people. We understand that public services cost money, which requires the collection of taxes. In return, we expect to be taxed fairly, and we expect our tax dollars to be spent wisely.

It is politically popular to call for cuts in spending, elimination of waste, and improved efficiency in government. Talking about it is one thing. Making it happen is quite another -- and we are making real progress.

Step one has been to put the brakes on state spending. My recommended budget for fiscal year 1994 is $4.3 million less that the 1993 budget. But Washington's heavy foot is still on the gas pedal.

Almost 90% of increases in the next budget will be due to mandates and entitlement programs. Medicaid is but one example; the list is much longer: public assistance, special education, homestead exemptions, school choice transportation, wards of the court -- funding for these programs is currently a matter of entitlement, not a matter of choice for policy makers. It's a blank check.

The margin upon which we can have an impact on the budget -- discretionary spending -- is steadily becoming smaller. We have less and less to invest in new initiatives because these worthwhile -- but expensive - - programs grow larger. This trend will continue unless entitlements and federal mandates are restrained.

We have an opportunity to work with the new administration in Washington to address federal mandates. As a former Governor, President-Elect Clinton is all-too-familiar with the impact of mandates on the states.

Changes of this magnitude will take time, and they will be difficult.

State entitlements -- such as Special Education -- should also be carefully examined. Again, change will be difficult and time-consuming.

The Legislature took a strong step toward stability last year by cutting $97 million from the budget. Their action was essential in framing the budget discussion for the 1993 session. But there is more to be done.

We have limited options to balance the budget while maintaining necessary services.

 We can choose to make deeper cuts in discretionary spending, and I have made selected recommendations to do so.

 We can choose to improve the efficiency of government operations, and there are several initiatives underway.

 We can choose to increase any number of user fees -- costs for services paid directly by those who use them. After careful consideration, I have made selected recommendations in this area as well.

 And, yes, we can choose to raise sales and income tax rates. But this is an option I have rejected in my budget, and I urge you to reject it as well.

State and local governments are being required to do more with less. Improvements in productivity are essential. New ways of doing business are necessary. A new paradigm of government is in order.

Government should be guided by sound business principles: driven by a clear mission; oriented toward, and accountable for, results; viewing expenditures as investments upon which a return is expected; guided by an understanding of markets; getting employees involved in decisions.

This new era is beginning to take shape in Nebraska. Improvements throughout state government are increasing efficiency and improving quality.

 Total Quality Management -- T.Q.M. -- is being implemented in a number of state agencies: the Military, Public Institutions, Administrative Services, Economic Development, Education, Social Services, and many more.

 An Interagency Coordination Initiative is underway, sparked by employees in the Department of Labor and several other agencies.

 Coordination among agencies is also being improved through director exchanges, in which department heads change places for a short time to improve their understanding of each others' missions and operations.

Efficiency in government also requires a selective review of return on investment. Rather than appoint a large, general efficiency commission, I intend to work with the Legislature and State Auditor to utilize small, short-term problem-solving teams, targeted to specific areas.

For example, I am forming a team to head up an assessment of our information technology strategy. This team will include leaders from the private sector that have experience with large-scale technology investments. They will be asked to assist in reviewing the current management structure for information technology, and to make suggestions for improvements that may be needed.

Efficiency measures will help us live within our means. But they will not help to slow the growth of government.

I intend to move aggressively to halt government expansion. I have already asked the directors of agencies under my direct supervision to devise a strategy for controlling growth.

Our goal is a lean and efficient state government, which is what Nebraskans want and expect. State employees clearly recognize that fact, as shown by their willingness to bite the bullet on salaries.

Major bargaining units have agreed to a package that is considerably less than I and they would have preferred. But it is a package that fits within the current budget context.

I want to thank the negotiating teams for their good faith efforts. And, I want to thank our valued state employees for their understanding.

During the special session on the budget, we agreed that cuts in most state aid programs for local governments were ill-timed. We served notice, however, that state aid would be on the table in 1993.

State government has taken a strong dose of castor oil -- managers with smaller budgets to administer, employees with smaller pay increases and larger workloads.

State operating budgets have taken cuts of two percent, one percent, and one-and-a-half percent over the past two years. And, I am proposing no increase for the next two years.

In order to balance the budget, local governments will be faced with the same difficult task – spending less and becoming more efficient. I am proposing the following state aid cuts:

A one percent reduction in aid to natural resources districts;

Restoration of the special session cuts made in the Municipal Infrastructure Redevelopment Fund, offset by an equal and permanent reduction in aid to municipalities;

No direct cut in state aid to counties, on the condition that increased fees be used for continuing implementation of the County Automation Project through the Department of Motor Vehicles, and for automation at the State Patrol;

No direct cut in state aid to education, offset by including teachers' salary enhancements as a part of LB 1059.

This is unpleasant medicine. But it is part of the prescription for a balanced budget.

The choices are difficult. But they are necessary to plug the budget gap without a sales or income tax increase.

The challenge is formidable. But Nebraskans expect us to get the job done.

And together, we will.

These are times that call for unprecedented leadership.

Leadership that stands shoulder-to-shoulder to build our economy.

Leadership that works together solving problems like Medicaid.

Leadership with the courage to make tough choices on the budget.

Leadership that makes things happen.

It is a privilege for me to be a part of Nebraska's leadership.

The Committee escorted Governor Ben Nelson from the Chamber.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 14CA. Introduced by Horgan, 4.

A resolution to propose amending the Constitution of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-THIRD LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1994 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska to amend Article III, sections 5 and 7, Article IV, section 20, Article V, section 5, Article VII, sections 3 and 10, and add a new section 24 to Article XV:

XV-24 "(1) In January of each year following the federal decennial census and after the newly elected officers are sworn in, a Nebraska Redistricting Commission shall be established to provide for the redistricting of congressional, legislative, Public Service Commission, State Board of Education, and Board of Regents districts and Supreme Court judicial districts.

(2) The Nebraska Redistricting Commission shall consist of nine members as prescribed in this section. Three of the members shall be appointed by the Legislature, three by the Governor, and three by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, with the approval of a majority of the Legislature. The Speaker of the Legislature, the chairperson of the Executive Board of the Legislature, and the chairperson of the committee of the Legislature to which redistricting bills are referenced shall each appoint one of the legislative appointees. The respective appointing authority shall fill any vacancy. The members of the commission shall choose a chairperson from among the membership.

(3) The appointments shall be made as provided by law so that:

(a) No more than four members are affiliated with the same political party;

(b) One member is not affiliated with the two political parties having the highest statewide membership; and

(c) There is a balance of representation from all congressional districts.

(4) To be eligible to be appointed as a member of the commission, a person shall be an elector of the State of Nebraska as provided in Article VI of this Constitution and shall not:

(a) Hold or have held public office or an office in a political party or political committee within two years prior to appointment to the commission;

(b) Be a relative or employee of a member of the Legislature, a member of the Congress of the United States, or a member of any board or commission which is to be redistricted by the Nebraska Redistricting Commission;

(c) Have lobbied the Legislature or the Congress of the United States for compensation within two years prior to appointment to the commission; and

(d) Have campaigned for elective office within two years prior to appointment to the commission.

(5) Commission members shall be ineligible to be elected or appointed to the Legislature, the Congress of the United States, the Board of Regents, the State Board of Education, or the Public Service Commission or to be appointed to serve as a member of the Supreme Court for four years after the latest effective date of any of the redistricting plans. No commission member shall lobby the Legislature or the Congress of the United States for compensation for one year after the latest effective date of any of the redistricting plans.

(6) Within ninety days after the commission has been convened or within ninety days after the necessary census data become available, whichever is sooner, the commission shall publish preliminary plans for redistricting and shall hold public hearings in several locations throughout the state as soon as practicable after the date of such publication. After completion of the hearings, the commission shall finalize and approve plans by a vote of the majority of the commission membership and present the plans to the Legislature. If any of the redistricting plans fails to be approved by a majority of the Legislature, the Legislature shall return the plan or plans to the commission with its recommendations as to why the plan or plans were not approved. The only basis for rejection by the Legislature shall be a challenge to a redistricting plan based on standards enumerated in the Constitution of Nebraska or the Constitution of the United States.

If the Legislature fails to approve a redistricting plan after three plans have been submitted by the commission to the Legislature or by September 1 of the year in which the commission convenes, whichever is earlier, the third or final plan submitted by the commission shall be submitted by the Clerk of the Legislature to the Supreme Court for a determination as to whether the plan complies with the standards enumerated in this Constitution and the Constitution of the United States. The Supreme Court shall then adopt or cause to be adopted a redistricting plan which complies with such requirements. The commission shall file a copy of each plan approved by the Legislature or the Supreme Court with the Secretary of State. Upon such filings, the commission shall be dissolved.

(7) The members of the Legislature, Public Service Commission, State Board of Education, Board of Regents, and Supreme Court in office prior to the filing of the plans shall continue in office, and the plans shall, as necessary, specify the newly established districts which they will represent for the balance of their terms."

WHEREAS, although the right of free expression is part of the foundation of the Constitution of the United States, very carefully drawn limits on expression in specific instances have long been recognized as legitimate means of maintaining public safety and defining other societal standards; and

WHEREAS, certain actions, although arguably related to a person's free expression, nevertheless raise issues concerning public decency, public peace, and the rights of other citizens; and

WHEREAS, there are symbols of our national soul, such as the Washington Monument, the United States Capitol, and memorials to our greatest leaders, which are the property of every American and are worthy of protection from desecration and dishonor; and

WHEREAS, the United States Flag is a most honorable and worthy banner of a nation which is thankful for its strengths and committed to curing its faults, a nation that remains the destination of millions of immigrants attracted by the universal power of the American ideal; and

WHEREAS, the law as interpreted by the United States Supreme Court no longer accords the Stars and Stripes the reverence, respect, and dignity befitting the banner of that most noble experiment of a nation-state; and

WHEREAS, it is only fitting that people everywhere should lend their voices to a forceful call for restoration of the Stars and Stripes to a proper station under law and decency.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-THIRD LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to propose to the states an amendment to the Constitution of the United States which specifies that Congress and the states have the power to prohibit the physical desecration of the United States Flag.

2. That the Clerk of the Legislature transmit a copy of this resolution to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and President of the Senate of the Congress of the United States, to all members of the Nebraska delegation to the Congress of the United States, and to the President of the United States with the request that it be officially entered in the Congressional Record as a memorial to the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Reference Committee.

WHEREAS, there is a body of credible evidence suggesting that live Americans or identifiable remains of Americans remain in southeast Asia; and

WHEREAS, the executive branch of the United States Government and the Congress of the United States have declared that resolution of this issue is of the "highest national priority"; and

WHEREAS, the agencies of the United States Government, including the Department of Defense and the Defense Intelligence Agency have had since the official termination of hostilities in May 1975 to resolve these issues; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Defense has created and maintained an unnecessary veil of secrecy and ignorance by classifying most of the available information concerning live sightings, status reports, and other data relating to those who are still missing, the declassification of which would not compromise resources, means, methods, and identities of intelligence operatives; and

WHEREAS, it would appear that by promulgating a classified plan referred to as a "road map for normalization of relations" between the United States, Laos, Cambodia, and Vietnam, the United States Government appears to be poised to "normalize" relations with those governments in spite of the unresolved issues concerning prisoners of war, those missing in action, and the repatriation of the remains of those Americans who made the ultimate sacrifice.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-THIRD LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature urges the President of the United States, by executive order, to declassify information, data, and intelligence pertaining to all matters relative to these issues, except for that data or information which would reveal the means, methods, and identities of intelligence operatives.

2. That the Legislature urges that the respective branches of the armed services be assigned to resolve these issues, that any and all future remains returned from southeast Asia be placed, for purposes of identification, with the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C., and that normalization of relations with those countries of southeast Asia be deferred until such time as these issues are satisfactorily and adequately addressed.

3. That the Clerk of the Legislature forward a copy of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President of the Senate, to the Speaker of the House of Representative of Congress, and to the congressional delegation representing the State of Nebraska in the Congress of the United States.

Laid over.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 28CA. Introduced by Beutler, 28.

A resolution to propose amending the Constitution of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-THIRD LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1994 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska to amend Article V, section 30:

V-30 "(1) A Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or judge of any court of this state may be reprimanded, disciplined, censured, suspended without pay for a definite period of time, not to exceed six months, or removed from office for (a) willful misconduct in office, (b) willful disregard of or failure to perform his or her duties, (c) habitual intemperance, (d) conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude, (e) disbarment as a member of the legal profession licensed to practice law in the State of Nebraska, ~~or~~ (f) inadequate level of competence to efficiently perform the duties of the office, or (g) conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice that brings the judicial office into disrepute, or he or she may be retired for physical or mental disability seriously interfering with the performance of his or her duties if such disability is determined to be permanent or reasonably likely to become permanent.

Any citizen of the State of Nebraska may request the Commission on Judicial Qualifications to consider the qualifications of any Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge, and in such event the commission shall make such investigation as the commission deems necessary and shall, upon a finding of probable cause, reprimand such Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge or order a formal open hearing to be held before it concerning the reprimand, discipline, censure, suspension, removal, or retirement of such Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge. In the alternative or in addition, the commission may request the Supreme Court to appoint one or more special masters who shall be judges of courts of record to hold a formal open hearing to take evidence in any such matter, and to report to the commission. If, after formal open hearing, or after considering the record and report of the masters, the commission finds that the charges are established by clear and convincing evidence, it shall recommend to the Supreme Court that the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge involved ~~shall~~ be reprimanded, disciplined, censured, suspended without pay for a definite period of time not to exceed six months, removed, or retired as the case may be.

The commission shall on its own motion consider the qualifications of a judge, following the procedures established in this section, when any poll conducted by the Nebraska State Bar Association indicates a serious lack of confidence on the part of practicing attorneys in the performance of such judge.

(2) The Supreme Court shall review the record of the proceedings and in its discretion may permit the introduction of additional evidence. The Supreme Court shall make such determination as it finds just and proper, and may order the reprimand, discipline, censure, suspension, removal, or retirement of such Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge, or may wholly reject the recommendation. Upon an order for retirement, the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall thereby be retired with the same rights and privileges as if he or she had retired pursuant to statute. Upon an order for removal, the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall be removed from office, his or her salary shall cease from the date of such order, and he or she shall be ineligible for judicial office. Upon an order for suspension, the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall draw no salary and shall perform no judicial functions during the period of suspension. Suspension shall not create a vacancy in the office of Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge.

(3) Upon order of the Supreme Court, a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall be disqualified from acting as a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge, without loss of salary, while there is pending (a) an indictment or information charging him or her in the United States with a crime punishable as a felony under Nebraska or federal law or (b) a recommendation to the Supreme Court by the Commission on Judicial Qualifications for his or her removal or retirement.

(4) In addition to the procedure set forth in subsections (1) and (2) of this section, on recommendation of the Commission on Judicial Qualifications or on its own motion, the Supreme Court (a) shall remove a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge from office when in any court in the United States such justice or judge pleads guilty or no contest to a crime punishable as a felony under Nebraska or federal law; and (b) may suspend a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge from office without salary when in any court in the United States such justice or judge is found guilty of a crime punishable as a felony under Nebraska or federal law or of any other crime that involves moral turpitude. If his or her conviction is reversed, suspension shall terminate and he or she shall be paid his or her salary for the period of suspension. If he or she is suspended and his or her conviction becomes final, the Supreme Court shall remove him or her from office.

(5) All papers filed with and proceedings before the ~~commission~~ Commission on Judicial Qualifications or masters appointed by the Supreme Court pursuant to this section prior to a reprimand or formal open hearing shall be confidential. The filing of papers with and the testimony given before the commission or masters or the Supreme Court shall be deemed a privileged communication.

When the ~~Commission on Judicial Qualifications~~ commission determines that a reprimand or other disciplinary action is warranted, ~~whether it be a reprimand or otherwise, the Commission on Judicial Qualifications~~ the commission shall issue one or more short announcements confirming that a complaint has been filed, ; stating the subject and nature of the complaint, the disciplinary action recommended or reprimand issued, or the date of the hearing, ; clarifying the procedural aspects, ; and reciting the right of a judge to a fair hearing.

When the ~~Commission on Judicial Qualifications~~ commission determines that disciplinary action is not warranted; and the existence of any investigation or complaint has become publicly known, the judge against whom a complaint has been filed or investigation commenced may waive the confidentiality of papers and proceedings under this subsection.

The Supreme Court shall by rule provide for procedure under this section before the commission, the masters, and the Supreme Court.

(6) No Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall participate, as a member of the commission, ~~or~~ as a master, or as a member of the Supreme Court, in any proceedings involving his or her own reprimand, discipline, censure, suspension, removal, or retirement.".

Sec. 2. That the proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

"A constitutional amendment to provide for disciplinary action against judges on the basis of an inadequate level of competence to perform the duties of the office of judge.

For

Against".

Referred to the Reference Committee.

Section 1. That at the general election in November 1994 there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska to add a new section 28 to Article I:

I-28 "(1) To preserve and protect crime victims' rights to justice and a meaningful role in the criminal justice system and to accord them due dignity and respect, any person who is a crime victim, as shall be defined by law, or such crime victim's guardian or designee shall be entitled to and have standing to enforce the following basic and fundamental rights as shall be defined by law: The right to be informed, upon request, of all criminal justice proceedings at which the defendant has the right to be present; the right to be present at all criminal justice proceedings at which the defendant has such right, subject to the rules of evidence; the right to make an oral or written statement at sentencings, dispositions, and parole hearings and, when relevant, at other criminal justice proceedings; and the right to receive prompt restitution from the person or persons convicted of the criminal conduct that caused the victim's loss or injury. This enumeration of rights for crime victims shall not be construed to impair or deny others provided by law or retained by crime victims.

(2) The Legislature shall provide by law for the enforcement of this section and, notwithstanding any other provision in this Constitution, the Legislature may provide by law for an assessment against convicted defendants to pay for crime victim's rights.

(3) Nothing in this section shall constitute a basis for error in favor of a defendant in any criminal proceeding, a basis for providing standing to participate as a party to any criminal proceeding, or a basis to contest the disposition of any charge.".

Sec. 2. That the proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

"A constitutional amendment to prescribe that crime victims be entitled to and have standing to enforce certain basic and fundamental rights. ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 93002

DATE: January 27, 1993

SUBJECT: Requirement of Consent to Interstate Simulcasting by the Group Representing the Majority of Horsepersons at a Receiving Track Under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1229(c) (1991).

REQUESTED BY: Senator Chris Abboud
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion as to the interpretation of the requirement in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1229(c) (1991) that interstate simulcasting agreements be consented to by either the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association {"HBPA"} "or other group representing the majority of horsepersons at the receiving track." Your specific question is whether such consent is required when interstate simulcasting agreements are approved on occasions where no live racing is being conducted at the receiving track. You indicate that, depending on our answer to your question, you are contemplating introducing legislation on this subject.

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1228 (1991) provides that a racetrack meeting certain criteria may apply for and receive a license to operate as an interstate simulcast facility. Section 2-1229 further provides that the State Racing Commission may approve an application under § 2-1228 if certain conditions are met. Among the conditions is that set forth in subsection (c) of § 2-1229, which requires territory, or possession of the United States, the District of Columbia, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico setting forth the division of all proceeds between the sending and receiving tracks and all other conditions under which such interstate simulcast will be conducted. Such written agreement shall have the consent of the group representing the majority of horsepersons racing at the sending track and of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association or other group representing the majority of horsepersons at the receiving track. (Emphasis added).

"In considering the meaning of a statute, courts should, if possible, discover legislative intent from the language of the act and give it effect." Peterson v. Minden Beef Co., 231 Neb. 18, 22, 434 N.W.2d 681, ___ (1989). In construing a statute, a "court must look at the statutory objective to be accomplished, the problem to be remedied, or the purpose to be served, and then place on the statute a reasonable construction which best achieves the purpose of the statute, rather than a construction defeating the statutory purpose." State v. Burnett, 227 Neb. 351, 353, 417 N.W.2d 355, 357 (1988). "{E}ffect must be given, if possible, to all the several parts of a statute. No sentence, clause, or word should be rejected as meaningless or superfluous if it can be avoided." NC + Hybrids v. Growers Seed Ass'n, 219 Neb. 296, 299, 363 N.W.2d 362, ___ (1985). "As far as practicable, {the courts} must give effect to the language of a statute and reconcile different statutory provisions so that parts of a statute are consistent, harmonious, and sensible." Rosnick v. Marks, 218 Neb. 499, 501, 357 N.W.2d 186, ___ (1984).

Applying these principles to the question presented, we believe that the language of § 2-1229(c) demonstrates a legislative intent to require approval of the HBPA or other group representing the majority of horsepersons at a receiving track prior to such racetrack being granted approval to conduct interstate simulcast racing. While it may, at first glance, seem anomalous to interpret this provision to require consent from a group representing horsepersons at a time when, because no live racing is being conducted, no such group may technically be said to be present at the racetrack, we believe this construction is consistent with the language of the statute and the purpose sought to be served by this provision. Significantly, while the last sentence of § 2-1229(c) requires the consent of the group representing the majority of horsepersons "racing" at the sending track, no similar reference to "racing" is made regarding the consent "of the group representing the majority of horsepersons at the receiving track." This consent requirement was evidently designed to grant horsepersons with a means to participate in the approval process for interstate simulcast racing, in recognition of the impact simulcasting could have on live racing in the state. The impact of simulcast racing of this nature is not limited solely to instances where live racing is also being conducted at a Nebraska racetrack in addition to interstate simulcasting. A sensible construction of this provision, which would give effect to the apparent intent of the Legislature, would be to construe the statute to require the consent of the HBPA or other group representing the majority of horsepersons at the time racing was last conducted at the proposed receiving track prior to Commission approval of interstate simulcasting at the facility.

This interpretation is supported by the legislative history surrounding the enactment of 1989 Neb. Laws, L.B. 591, the legislation authorizing interstate simulcasting. An examination of this history reveals that the final version of the bill was the result of a compromise designed to protect the viability of live horse racing in Nebraska. Initially, two bills were considered: L.B. 736, which would have limited interstate simulcasting to the period during which live racing was conducted in the state; and L.B. 591, which authorized year-round interstate simulcasting. Committee Records on L.B. 591, 91st Neb. Leg., 1st Sess. 6-7 (March 13, 1989) (statement of Senator Rod Johnson). Eventually, L.B. 591 was, after amendment, endorsed by agreement of the Nebraska racetracks and representatives of the horse racing industry. Id. at 20 (statement of Bob Skochdopole). The testimony before the Committee on General Affairs reflects the consistent view that the consent of the HBPA or other group representing the majority of horsepersons at the receiving track was required prior to the Commission's approval of interstate simulcasting to be conducted at anytime, as opposed to only when the receiving track was also conducting live racing. Id. at 11-14 (statement of Senator Loran Schmit); 23-25, 28 (statement of Bob Skochdopole); and 36-37 (statement of Mike Kelley). This point was directly addressed in testimony presented by Mr. Skochdopole on behalf of the Thoroughbred Racing Association of Nebraska, the organization representing the state's five thoroughbred racetracks, who stated that interstate simulcasting would not be permitted without > . . .the approval of the organization representing a majority of the horsemen at both the sending and receiving track. This applies whether we're racing live or not. So we really give veto power to the Racing Commission, other racetracks, and the horsemen at the receiving and sending tracks, before we can conduct simulcasting. Either live or at the end.

Id. at 25 (statement of Bob Skochdopole).

Further, it is our understanding that this interpretation of the need for consent of the HBPA or other horsepersons group prior to Commission authorization of interstate simulcasting has been applied by the Commission in the past. Although construction of a statute by a department charged with enforcing it is not controlling, it is entitled to considerable weight, particularly when the Legislature has not acted to change the agency's interpretation. McCaul v. American Sav. Co., 213 Neb. 841, 331 N.W.2d 795 (1983). While there appears to be some disagreement among the members of the Commission as to the continued acceptance of this construction, the prior Commission interpretation and application of this provision further supports our conclusion as to the construction of § 2-1229(c).

In conclusion, it is our opinion that, under § 2-1229(c), consent of the HBPA (or other group representing the majority of horsepersons at a receiving track) is necessary prior to Commission approval of an interstate simulcast agreement, even when the receiving track is not also conducting a live race meeting. As noted previously, the identity of such group should be determined by reference to the group which represented the majority of horsepersons at the last live race meeting conducted at the racetrack. We point out that, while we believe that this is the correct interpretation of this provision, the answer to this question is by no means clear. Therefore, we would suggest that, to the extent you wish to clarify the Legislature's intent in this regard, legislation on this subject would certainly be appropriate.

As a final matter, we note that, in your request, you make reference to the necessity of the "consent of the organization which represents a majority of the thoroughbred breeders in Nebraska and the organization which represents a majority of the owners and trainers at the racetrack of the licensee conducting the live race meeting" relative to the authorization of telephonic wagering under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1239 (Cum. Supp. 1992). In your request, you appear to refer to this provision in connection with recent Commission action relating to "teleracing facilities". As the statutory provision referred to above has no bearing on the question of the operation of "teleracing facilities", there is no need for us to attempt to respond to your question regarding this provision. We note that we have previously opined that authorization of "off-track betting" is contrary to Neb. Const. art. III, § 24. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 91026 (April 5, 1991).

Very truly yours,

The task force shall study and assess the successes and problems associated with the passage of Laws 1991, LB 627, and make recommendations for further

~~The study due December 1, 1992, shall include a review, conducted in conjunction with and with the assistance of the petroleum marketing industry, of the penalties included in the motor fuel laws which would be appropriate to deter violations without being unduly onerous.~~

The report shall summarize for the period from January 1, 1992, until the date of the report: (1) The activities of the task force; (2) the total expenses of state agencies associated with the implementation of Laws 1991, LB 627; and (3) the estimated increases in motor vehicle fuel and special fuel tax collection that are related to Laws 1991, LB 627, or any associated legislation.

The remaining balance of the amount reappropriated pursuant to Laws 1991, LB 627A, section 5, to support the activities of the task force shall be reappropriated for FY1993-94 and FY1994-95. ~~The remaining balance of the amount appropriated in Laws 1989, LB 813, section 30, as amended by Laws 1990, LB 1031, section 10, for the activities of the task force shall be reappropriated to support the activities of the task force for FY1991-92 and FY1992-93.~~

All state agencies shall cooperate, to the extent possible, with all national initiatives intended to enhance motor vehicle fuel and special fuel tax collection at the federal and state levels. State activity in this area should include efforts to have Nebraska designated as a leading state in these initiatives, should the opportunity be made available.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 93004

DATE: February 2, 1993

SUBJECT: Constitutionality of Proposed Change to Nebraska Waste Reduction and Recycling Act

REQUESTED BY: Senator C. N. (Bud) Robinson, Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Steve Grasz, Deputy Attorney General

You have inquired whether a change in state statutes which would allow both public and private entities or organizations to receive grants under the Nebraska Waste Reduction and Recycling Act (the "Act"), Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 81-15,159 to 81-15,165 (1992 Cum.Supp.), would be constitutional under Article XIII, § 3, of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska. Article XIII, § 3, states in relevant part, "{t}he credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association, or corporation, . . ."

The Waste Reduction and Recycling Act provides for the creation of a Waste Reduction and Recycling Incentive Fund (the "Fund") to be administered by the Department of Environmental Quality. The Fund consists of revenue from a fee imposed on each new tire sold in the state and on each tire of each new motor vehicle sold in the state and the annual waste reduction and recycling fee imposed on all businesses in the state with retail sales of tangible personal property. Currently, only political subdivisions are eligible for receipt of these funds. The proposed amendment to the Act, as set out in your letter, would open the field of potential applicants to "other entities or organizations, both public and private."

The Nebraska Supreme Court has held that to establish a bill as unconstitutional under Article XIII, § 3, three elements must be proved: (1) the credit of the state (2) was given or loaned (3) in aid of any individual, association, or corporation. Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. 699, 719, 467 N.W.2d 836 (1991).

The first determination to be made, then, is whether grants to private entities under the Act would involve the credit of the State. "There is a distinction between the loaning of state funds and the loaning of the state's credit. When a state loans funds it is in the position of creditor, whereas the state is in the position of debtor upon a loan of credit." Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. at 719-729 (emphasis added). In short, the "credit of the state" provision in article XIII, §3 was "designed to prohibit the state from acting as a surety or guarantor of the debt of another." Id. at 718; id. at 722.

In Haman, the Court found that under the legislation in question "the state would be forever liable for the losses of industrial company depositors. . . ." Id. at 720. "The stated purpose of the act is redemption of the guarantees of a private corporation to depositors by obligating present and future taxes from the state's general fund." Id. In contrast, the grants available pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-15,160(h) (Cum.Supp. 1992) are simply one-time expenditures of state funds. See Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-15,161. The State is not in the position of a debtor nor in the position of a surety or guarantor of the debt of another. Consequently, the credit of the state is not being given or loaned under the Act.

The constitutional analysis does not end here, however. "Closely related to the prohibition against the giving or lending of the state's credit . . . is the principle of law that public funds cannot be expended for private purposes." Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. 699 at 721-22. This constitutional principal involves the expenditure of state funds in contrast to the extension of credit. Id. at 722.

It is a longstanding principle of constitutional law in Nebraska that public funds cannot be expended for private purposes. Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. 699, 722 (1991); State ex rel. Douglas v. Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. 445 (1979); State ex rel. Douglas v. Thone, 204 Neb. 836 (1979); State ex rel. Beck v. City of York, 164 Neb. 223 (1957); Oxnard Beet Sugar Co. v. State, 73 Neb. 66 (1905). The Constitution of Nebraska contains no express provision against expending funds for essentially private purposes. This principal "is grounded on the 'fundamental concepts of our constitutional system.'" Douglas v. Thone, 204 Neb. at 842 (quoting Beck v. City of York, 164 Neb. 223). The Nebraska Supreme Court has said this principal "emanates" from Article XIII, §3. Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. at 722.

What constitutes a public purpose is primarily for the Legislature to determine.

> It is the province of the Legislature to determine matters of policy and appropriate the public funds. If there is reason for doubt or argument as to whether the purpose for which the appropriation is made is public or a private purpose, and reasonable men might differ in regard to it, it is essentially held that the matter is for the Legislature.

Haman, 237 Neb. at 721 (quoting Thone, 204 Neb. 843). There is no hard and fast rule for determining whether a proposed expenditure of public funds is for a public purpose. Each case must be decided according to the object sought to be accomplished and the degree and manner in which that object affects public welfare. Id.

In determining whether an expenditure serves a public purpose, "the test is in the end result, not in the means." Douglas v. Mortgage Finance Fund, 204 Neb. at 460. "A law may serve the public interest although it benefits certain individuals or classes more than others." Id.

Before a court will declare a statute invalid for lack of a public purpose, "the absence of public purpose must be so clear and plausible as to be immediately perceptible to the reasonable mind." Douglas v. Thone, 204 Neb. at 843 (quoting Chase v. County of Douglas, 195 Neb. 838 (1976)).

Since the determination of a public purpose is primarily for the Legislature, it is appropriate to look to the legislative findings or statement of purpose in analyzing a particular bill. The Act currently sets out those purposes for which the Fund may be used. The Legislature has expressly limited grants from the Fund to programs and projects which "appear{s} to benefit the general public." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-15,161(1). This provision alone, would not likely be dispositive of the issue. However, the Legislature may well conclude the proposed amendment to the Act serves a public purpose. In that event, it is our opinion the amendments to the Act would be found constitutional. Compare Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92061 (April 16, 1992).[1]

[1]Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92061 is hereby edited as follows: Page 7, Paragraph 3, Sentence 4 should read, "Although the state stands as a debtor through the extension of its credit . . . it does not do so with respect to private corporations. . . ."

Sincerely,
DON STENBERG

(a) A patient is a person who consults or is examined or interviewed by a physician for purposes of diagnosis or treatment of his or her physical, mental, or emotional condition;

(b) A physician is (i) a person authorized to practice medicine in any state or nation or who is reasonably believed by the patient so to be or (ii) a person licensed or certified as a psychologist under the laws of any state or nation who devotes all or a part of his or her time to the practice of clinical psychology; ~~and~~

(c) A client is a person who consults or is interviewed by a professional counselor for professional counseling as defined in section 71-1,266;

(2)(a) A patient has a privilege to refuse to disclose and to prevent any other person from disclosing confidential communications made for the purposes of diagnosis or treatment of his or her physical, mental, or emotional condition among himself or herself, his or her physician, or

(b) If the judge orders an examination of the physical, mental, or emotional condition of the patient, communications made in the course thereof are not privileged under this rule with respect to the particular purpose for which the examination is ordered unless the judge orders otherwise.

(c) There is no privilege under this rule as to communications relevant to an issue of the physical, mental, or emotional condition of the patient in any proceeding in which he or she relies upon the condition as an element of his or her claim or defense or, after the patient's death, in any proceeding in which any party relies upon the condition as an element of his or her claim or defense.

Sec. 2. That section 24-810, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

24-810. (1) Prior to the time for the first meeting of the judicial nominating commission prescribed in subsection (5) of this section, the Supreme Court shall, after consultations with attorneys of the district as it deems appropriate, determine and announce to the judicial nominating commission the county where the primary office for the appointed judge shall be located. In designating a primary office, the Supreme Court shall locate judges so as to provide maximum service to all areas of the judicial district. (d) Any combination of subdivisions (a), (b), and (c) of this subsection.

The commission's determination shall be based upon the analysis of caseloads weighted by category, adequate access to the courts by litigants, population, other judicial duties, travel time, and other factors determined by the commission to be necessary to assure efficiency and service. After making a determination, the commission shall make a recommendation to the Legislature. If no changes in existing law are recommended by the commission, no legislative action shall be necessary to fill any vacancy resulting from the death, retirement, resignation, or removal of a judge.

(3) The Judicial Resources Commission shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations on the procedures to be followed in making the determinations pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. The State Court Administrator shall provide adequate administrative support and information as is requested by the commission.

(5) When a final determination of the location of a district or county court judicial vacancy has been made or in the event of a judicial vacancy in any other court, the Clerk of the Supreme Court shall contact the chairperson of the judicial nominating commission relating to such vacancy and shall ascertain from him or her a time and place for the first meeting of such judicial nominating commission, at which time a public hearing will be held. He or she shall thereupon notify each commission member in writing of the time and place of the meeting and shall also cause appropriate notice to be published by various news media of the time and place of the public hearing of the judicial nominating commission and of the interest of the commission in receiving information relating to qualified candidates for the judicial vacancy. Any lawyer meeting the statutory requirements to serve as a judge who is interested in being nominated and appointed to such judgeship shall signify his or her interest by filing the appropriate application with the proper entity at least twenty-one days prior to the public hearing. At least ten days prior to the public hearing, the chairperson shall release to the public the names of all lawyers who have applied for such judgeship. Any member of the public shall be entitled to attend the public hearing to express, either orally or in writing, his or her views concerning candidates for the judicial vacancy.

(6) After the public hearing, the judicial nominating commission shall hold such additional private or confidential meetings as it determines to be necessary. Additional information may be submitted in writing to the commission at any time prior to its selection of qualified candidates to fill the vacancy. The commission shall make such independent investigation and inquiry as it considers necessary or expedient to determine the qualifications of candidates for the judicial vacancy and shall take such action as it deems necessary or expedient to encourage qualified candidates to accept judicial office or nomination for judicial office.

(7) The judicial nominating commission may, before or after the hearing provided for in subsection (5) of this section, institute a search for additional candidates. If additional candidates are obtained, the commission shall hold further public hearings in the same manner as provided in such subsection.

(8) The names of candidates shall be submitted to the Governor within ninety days after the date a final determination has been made pursuant to subsection (4) of this section of the location of a district or county court judicial vacancy or, in the event of a judicial vacancy in any other court, after a judicial vacancy occurred if one public hearing is held and within one hundred twenty days if more than one public hearing is held.

(9) The first public hearing provided for in this section shall be held within sixty days after final determination of the vacancy occurs.

Sec. 3. That original sections 24-503 and 24-810, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1992, are repealed.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 93005

DATE: February 5, 1993

SUBJECT: Condemnation of Land for Regional Landfills

REQUESTED BY: Senator Stan Schellpeper, Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Linda L. Willard, Assistant Attorney General

You have inquired whether counties and municipalities have the power to act together to condemn land for the development of a regional landfill in any county in which any municipality which is a party to the agreement to develop the landfill is located or in any county which is a party to the agreement. Your question concerns the language of LB 1257 passed during the 1992 legislative session and now codified primarily at Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 13-2001 through 13-2043 (1992 Cum.Supp.).

Section 13-2021 provides in significant part, "{a} county, municipality, or agency . . . may lease or acquire land in fee by gift, grant, purchase, or condemnation as necessary for the construction and operation of a facility or system." "Agency" is defined at § 13-2004 as "any combination of two or more municipalities or counties acting together under the Interlocal Cooperation Act {Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 13-801 through 13-827 (1991)}, a natural resources district acting alone or together with one or more counties and municipalities under the act, or any joint entity as defined in section 13-803." Therefore, a municipality and a county may act together under the Interlocal Cooperation Act to form an agency as defined by § 13-2021.

When the statutory language is plain and unambiguous, no judicial interpretation is needed to ascertain the statute's meaning, so that, absent statutory indication to the contrary, words in a statute will be given their ordinary meaning. Nebraska State Board of Agriculture v. Nebraska State Racing Commission, 239 Neb. 762, 767, 478 N.W.2d 270, 273 (1992); See also Hickenbottom v. Hickenbottom, 239 Neb. 579, 477 N.W.2d 8 (1991); State v. Schuh, 237 Neb. 667, 467 N.W.2d 409 (1991). The plain language of § 13-2021 states that counties, cities, or a combination of the two formed under the Interlocal Cooperation Act may condemn land as necessary for construction and operation of a facility for the collection, source separation, storage, transportation, transfer, processing, treatment, or disposal of solid waste to include a solid waste landfill. Therefore, it is our determination that under the current legislation municipalities and counties have the power to act together to condemn land for the development of a regional landfill in any county in which any municipality which is a party to the agreement to develop the landfill is located or in any county which is a party to the agreement. However, if you feel that there may be any misinterpretation of the statutes involved or if this is not the result which you desire, additional legislation could be introduced to further clarify the issue.

Sincerely,
DON STENBERG
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 93006

DATE: February 8, 1993

SUBJECT: Constitutionality of LB 601 - Restricting Former Senators from Lobbying Activity

REQUESTED BY: Senator Curt Bromm, Nebraska Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Steve Grasz, Deputy Attorney General

You have requested an Attorney General's Opinion concerning the constitutionality of LB 601, your bill which prohibits past state senators and certain past staff members from engaging in lobbyist activities for a period of time.

Under the terms of LB 601, as introduced,

> No state senator shall engage in lobbying activities as a registered lobbyist for four years from the date he or she ceases to be a state senator, except that any person who was a state senator within such time and was registered with the Clerk of the Legislature as a lobbyist on January 11, 1993, shall be exempt from this subsection.
> No permanent staff member of the Legislature or of a state senator shall engage in lobbying activities as a registered lobbyist for two years from the termination of the most recent employment with the Legislature or state senator. . . .

The bill also exempts those staff members who were registered lobbyists on January 11, 1993.

In Eastern R.R. Presidents Conference v. Nocra Motor Freight, 365 U.S. 127, 138 (1961), the Supreme Court recognized lobbying as a part of the right to petition. Lobbying therefore falls under the umbrella of protection provided by the First Amendment.[1] If LB 601 is subjected to a strict scrutiny test, it must be narrowly drawn and further a compelling governmental interest to pass constitutional muster.

Over twenty states have enacted legislation similar to LB 601. See Schmitz, A Survey of State Post-Employment Restrictions, in "The Revolving Door:" Ethics In Government Service 30, 58-63 (1980). The United States Congress has also restricted lobbying activities of its past members and certain members of their staff. See 18 U.S.C.A. § 207 (Supp. 1990). The compelling governmental interest usually identified to support lobbying restrictions on former legislators is the avoidance of the appearance of, and actual impropriety. Specifically, conflicts of interest are avoided by restricting for a time the use of any special influence or knowledge that a former legislator or staff member may have acquired while still in governmental service.

LB 601 is not drafted as narrowly as many similar statutes restricting lobbying activities of former legislators. LB 601 is broader in some respects, the first being that LB 601's restrictions are longer and appear to encompass a greater range of activity.

The length of time other states restrict past legislators lobbying activity range from "the months following voluntary termination" in Montana, Mo.Ann.Stat. §2-2-105(3) (Vernon Supp. 1989) to three years in Alabama, Ala.Code §36-25-13 (1990). LB 601's proposed four year restriction on former state senators is the longest such restriction of which we are aware. However, on the federal level, 18 U.S.C.A. §207 (the Ethics Act) provides for different degrees of restriction on executive branch employees depending on their level of involvement in particular matters while employed with the government. These restrictions begin with high-ranking former executive branch employees being banned for life from representing any person before an agency or department on a matter in which the employees substantially and materially participated, 18 U.S.C.A. §207(A). In contrast, the Ethics Act restricts the legislative branch from post-employment lobbying for only one year. This disparity may be due to the fact that Congress, as a bicameral system becomes more cumbersome and dilutes the influence of former members more quickly than the executive branch. For similar reasons that the Ethics Act poses greater restrictions on the executive branch than on the bicameral legislative branch, it is arguable that Nebraska's unicameral system demands the longer restriction of four years in order to achieve the same results that bicameral states can in two years.

LB 601 also appears to encompass a greater range of activity than similar laws in other states. Many other states restrict lobbying activity only in regard to matters in which the lobbyist was directly concerned and personally participated during his/her time as a legislator. See e.g., Iowa Code Ann. §68B.7. However, it is again arguable that Nebraska's unique unicameral system may require LB 601's broader scope in order to effectuate its purpose. In a unicameral system, senators are directly concerned with and personally participate in nearly all matters. Therefore, read in the context of Nebraska's unique unicameral system, LB 601 may not actually restrict any more activity than similar statutes in other states.

The final respect in which LB 601 is broader than many other post-employment restriction statutes is that LB 601 is in no way linked to the pecuniary interests of the former legislators. As a result of this, former legislators may be in violation of this bill for attempting to further a purely personal interest. This application of the bill could be found overbroad and thus a violation of the constitutional right to petition granted by the First Amendment. To remedy this problem, it is suggested that paragraph five be amended to read:

> No state senator shall engage in lobbying activities as a registered lobbyist for compensation for four years from the date he or she ceases to be a state senator. . . .

In conclusion, LB 601 promotes the compelling state interest of avoiding the appearance of, and actual, impropriety in lobbying activity. Although LB 601 is broader in its restrictions than many similar state and federal statutes, Nebraska's unique unicameral system may require broader restrictions to achieve the same ends. Therefore, if amended as suggested, we believe that LB 601 is sufficiently narrow in its scope to pass constitutional muster.

[1]Likewise, restrictions on lobbying implicate Article I, section 5 of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska which states, "Every person may freely speak, write and publish on all subjects. . . ." For purposes of this opinion, the constitutional analysis of the state and federal provisions is the same.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG
Attorney General

LEGISLATIVE BILL 239. Placed on General File as amended.
Standing Committee amendment to LB 239:
AM0263

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Sec. 38. This section and section 37 of this act shall be construed as providing a minimum standard and not as repealing any rule, regulation, order, or other action of a board that provides for additional contract rights pertaining to the same subject matter.

Sec. 39. Each board shall adopt a reduction-in-force policy covering employees subject to such statutory provisions to carry out the intent of sections 39 to 42 of this act. No such policy shall allow the reduction of a permanent or tenured employee while a probationary employee is retained to render a service which such permanent employee is qualified by reason of certification and endorsement to perform or, if certification is not applicable, by reason of college credits in the teaching area. If employee evaluation is to be included as a criterion to be used for reduction in force, specific criteria, such as frequency of evaluation, evaluation forms, and number and length of classroom observations shall be included as part of the reduction-in-force policy.

Sec. 40. Before a reduction in force occurs, the board and administration shall present competent evidence demonstrating that a change in circumstances has occurred, necessitating a reduction in force. Any alleged change in circumstances shall be specifically related to the teacher or teachers to be reduced in force, and the board, based upon evidence produced at the hearing required by section 37 of this act shall be required to specifically find that there are no other vacancies on the staff for which the employee to be reduced is qualified by endorsement or professional training to perform.

Sec. 41. Any employee whose contract is terminated because of reduction in force shall be considered to have been dismissed with honor and shall upon request be provided a letter to that effect. Such employee shall have preferred rights to reemployment for a period of twenty-four months commencing at the end of the contract year of such employee, and the employee shall be recalled on the basis of length of service to the community college area to any position for which he or she is qualified by endorsement or college preparation to teach. The employee shall, upon reappointment, retain any benefits which had accrued to such employee prior to termination, but such leave of absence shall not be considered as a year of employment by the area. An employee under contract to another educational institution may waive recall, but such waiver shall not deprive the employee of his or her right to subsequent recall.

Sec. 42. Notwithstanding sections 39 to 41 of this act, if the reduction of an employee based upon the provisions of such sections would place a community college area in noncompliance of any federal or state law or regulations requiring affirmative action employment practices, the area may vary from the provisions of such sections as necessary to comply with such laws or regulations.".

(1) A ~~,a~~ member who has completed thirty-five years of creditable service may retire at any age; or

(2) A ~~or a~~ member who has completed at least five years of creditable service and is at least sixty years of age may retire.

Sec. 3. That section 79-1522.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

79-1522.01. In lieu of the school retirement allowance provided by section 79-1522, any member who is not an employee of a Class V school district and who becomes eligible to make application for and receive a school retirement allowance under section 79-1520 may receive a formula annuity retirement allowance if it is greater than the school retirement allowance provided by section 79-1522.

Subject to the other provisions of this section, the monthly formula annuity in the normal form shall be determined by multiplying the number of years of service for which such member would otherwise receive the service annuity provided by section 79-1522 (1) by one and one-quarter percent of his or her final average compensation, (2) by one and one-half percent of his or her final average compensation, or (3) by one and ~~sixty-five~~ eighty hundredths percent of his or her

If the annuity begins on or after the sixtieth birthday of the member, ~~and the member has completed at least thirty but less than thirty-five years of creditable service,~~ the annuity at the date it begins shall be reduced by three percent for each year by which the member's age is less than the age at which the member's age plus years of creditable service would have totaled ninety. ~~years of creditable service is less than thirty-five years or for each year by which the member is less than sixty-five years of age, whichever provides the greater annuity.~~ A member shall have acquired the equivalent of one-half year of service or more as a public school employee under the retirement system following August 24, 1975, to be eligible for computation of his or her formula annuity using one and one-quarter percent of his or her final average compensation as one of the factors, shall have acquired the equivalent of one-half year of service or more as a public school employee under the retirement system following July 17, 1982, to be eligible for computation of his or her formula annuity using one and one-half percent of his or her final average compensation as one of the factors, or shall have acquired the equivalent of one-half year of service or more as a public school employee under the retirement system following July 1, ~~1984~~ 1992, to be eligible for computation of his or her formula annuity using one and ~~sixty-five~~ eighty hundredths percent of his or her final average compensation as one of the factors.

The normal form of the formula annuity shall be an annuity payable monthly during the remainder of the member's life with the provision that in the event of his or her death before sixty monthly payments have been made the monthly payments will be continued to his or her estate or to the beneficiary he or she has designated until sixty monthly payments have been made. A member may elect to receive in lieu of the normal form of annuity an actuarially equivalent annuity in any optional form provided by section 79-1530.

Final average compensation for full-time employees shall be determined by dividing the member's total compensation subject to required deposits for the three fiscal years in which such compensation was the highest by thirty-six. Final average compensation for part-time employees shall be determined by dividing total adjusted compensation subject to required deposits for the three fiscal years in which such adjusted compensation was the highest by thirty-six. If a member has such compensation for less than three such fiscal years, his or her final average compensation shall be determined by dividing his or her total compensation in all such years by twelve times the total number of years of his or her service therefor. Adjusted compensation for any year shall be equal to actual pay times the ratio of one to the actual credited service for such year. A member shall have acquired the equivalent of one-half year of service or more as a public school employee under the retirement system following August 24, 1975, to be eligible for computation of his or her formula annuity using only five fiscal years in the determination of his or her final average compensation.

All formula annuities shall be paid from the Annuity Reserve Account. Upon the granting of a formula annuity, there shall be transferred to the Annuity Reserve Account: (a) From the Service Annuity Account, the value of the service annuity which would otherwise be payable; (b) from the School Employees Savings Account, the accumulated contributions of the member; and (c) from the School Employers Deposit Account, the value of the formula annuity in excess of the amounts transferred from the Service Annuity Account and the School Employees Savings Account. The amounts transferred from the Service Annuity Account at any time after such member attains sixty years of age and prior to his or her sixty-fifth birthday or thirty-five years of creditable service shall be on an actuarially reduced basis.

A person receiving a retirement benefit may accept employment in a postsecondary school under the control and management of the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges, the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska, or any other state agency or political subdivision without having to waive retirement payments, without having to notify the retirement board, and without being subject to any withholding of future retirement payments.

Sec. 4. There is hereby created the School Employees Retirement System Reserve Fund. Member contributions into the fund shall equal the difference between eight percent of compensation and the required member contribution rate as determined in section 79-1531. The contribution shall not be less than one-tenth of one percent of compensation per year. Employer contributions into the fund shall be one hundred one percent of member contributions to the fund. The retirement board shall use the fund to provide a cost-of-living adjustment to benefits provided pursuant to the School Employees Retirement Act. The retirement board shall grant the cost-of-living adjustment when amounts accumulated in the fund are sufficient. The retirement board may make transfers to or from the fund for the purposes stated in this section from or to any other fund administered by the retirement board pursuant to the act.

Sec. 5. This act shall become operative on July 1, 1993.

Sec. 6. That original sections 79-1501.01, 79-1520, and 79-1522.01, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1992, are repealed.

Mr. Hall asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 240 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AM0402

1. Insert the following new section:

"Sec. 5. That section 77-2716, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

77-2716. (1) The following adjustments to federal adjusted gross income or, for corporations and fiduciaries, federal taxable income shall be made for interest or dividends received:

(a) There shall be subtracted interest or dividends received by the owner of obligations of the United States and its territories and possessions or of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States to the extent includable in gross income for federal income tax purposes but exempt from state income taxes under the laws of the United States;

(b) There shall be subtracted that portion of the total dividends and other income received from a regulated investment company which is attributable to obligations described in subdivision (a) of this subsection as reported to the recipient by the regulated investment company;

(c) There shall be added interest or dividends received by the owner of obligations of the District of Columbia, other states of the United States, or their political subdivisions, authorities, commissions, or instrumentalities to the extent excluded in the computation of gross income for federal income tax purposes except that such interest or dividends shall not be added if received by a corporation which is a regulated investment company;

(d) There shall be added that portion of the total dividends and other income received from a regulated investment company which is attributable to obligations described in subdivision (c) of this subsection and excluded for federal income tax purposes as reported to the recipient by the regulated investment company; and

(e)(i) Any amount subtracted under this subsection shall be reduced by any interest on indebtedness incurred to carry the obligations or securities described in this subsection or the investment in the regulated investment company and by any expenses incurred in the production of interest or dividend income described in this subsection to the extent that such expenses, including amortizable bond premiums, are deductible in determining federal taxable income.

(ii) Any amount added under this subsection shall be reduced by any expenses incurred in the production of such income to the extent disallowed in the computation of federal taxable income.

(2) There shall be allowed a net operating loss derived from or connected with Nebraska sources computed under rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the Tax Commissioner consistent, to the extent possible under the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967, with the laws of the United States. For a resident individual, the net operating loss computed on the federal income tax return shall be adjusted by the modifications contained in this section. For a nonresident individual or partial-year resident individual, the net operating loss computed on the federal return shall be adjusted by the modifications contained in this section and any carryovers or carrybacks shall be limited to the portion of the loss derived from or connected with Nebraska sources.

(3) There shall be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income for all taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1987, the amount of any state income tax refund to the extent such refund was deducted under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, was not allowed in the computation of the tax due under the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967, and is included in federal adjusted gross income.

(4) Federal adjusted gross income shall be modified to exclude the portion of the income or loss received from a small business corporation with an election in effect under subchapter S of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, that is not derived from or connected with Nebraska sources as determined in section 77-2734.01.

(5) There shall be subtracted from federal adjusted gross income or, for corporations and fiduciaries, federal taxable income dividends received or deemed to be received from corporations which are not subject to the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

(6) There shall be subtracted from federal taxable income a portion of the income earned by a corporation subject to the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, that is actually taxed by a foreign country or one of its political subdivisions at a rate in excess of the maximum federal tax rate for corporations. The taxpayer may make the computation for each foreign country or for groups of foreign countries. The portion of the taxes that may be deducted shall be computed in the following manner:

(a) The amount of federal taxable income from operations within a foreign taxing jurisdiction shall be reduced by the amount of taxes actually paid to the foreign jurisdiction that are not deductible solely because the foreign tax credit was elected on the federal income tax return;

(b) The amount of after-tax income shall be divided by one minus the maximum tax rate for corporations in the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended; and

(c) The result of the calculation in subdivision (b) of this subsection shall be subtracted from the amount of federal taxable income used in subdivision (a) of this subsection. The result of such calculation, if greater than zero, shall be subtracted from federal taxable income.

(7) Federal adjusted gross income shall be modified to exclude any amount repaid by the taxpayer for which a reduction in federal tax is allowed under section 1341(a)(5) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

(8) Federal adjusted gross income shall be modified to exclude the amount received by an individual as a qualified federal governmental pension. This modification shall be limited to the maximum excludable social security benefits, reduced by the social security benefits, as defined in section 86(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and any amount of a qualified federal governmental pension which were excluded from gross income. The exclusion shall not be applicable until the year the federal annuitant or survivor is sixty-five years of age on the first day of the calendar year.

For purposes of this subsection:

(a) Applicable maximum benefit amount shall mean (i) for an unmarried individual, including one filing as a head of household, the maximum individual social security benefit, (ii) for a married individual filing a joint return, one hundred fifty percent of the maximum individual social security benefit, or (iii) for a married individual filing a separate return, seventy-five percent of the maximum individual social security benefit;

(b) Maximum excludable social security benefit shall mean an amount which would be excluded from gross income if the applicable maximum benefit amount were treated as social security, as defined in section 86(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, received during the taxable year;

(c) Maximum individual social security benefit shall mean the maximum total amount, as certified by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, which could be paid for all months in the calendar year ending in the taxable year of old-age insurance under sections 202(a) of the federal Social Security Act, without regard to any reduction, deduction, or offset under section 202(k) or section 203 of the act, to any individual who has attained sixty-five years of age and filed application for the benefit, on the first day of the calendar year; and

(d) Qualified federal governmental pension shall mean any pension or annuity received under federal civil service or military retirement systems to the extent the pension or annuity is not attributable to service which constitutes employment for purposes of chapter 21 of the Federal Insurance Contributions Act or which is covered by an agreement made pursuant to section 218 of the federal Social Security Act.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 93008

DATE: February 17, 1993

SUBJECT: LB 355; Constitutionality of proposed government committees made up of representatives from different branches of state government which would study government efficiency.

REQUESTED BY: Senator Kate Witek
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

LB 355 contains the State Government Assessment Act. The Act would create committees at several levels of state government which would study the operations of state government, and make reports and recommendations concerning improvement of those operations to members of the Executive Branch, to the Legislature and to the public. In several instances, the bill places members of different branches of state government on the same committee, so you have requested our opinion as to whether this aspect of the legislation violates the Separation of Powers provision or other portions of the Nebraska Constitution. Our conclusions are set out below.

LB 355 contemplates the creation of a three-tiered system for the study of the efficiency of existing state government. An Executive Steering Committee, comprised of the Governor, the Auditor of Public Accounts, the Chairpersons of the Legislature's Appropriations and Revenue Committees and three additional persons appointed by the Governor in compliance with various restrictions would be at the top of the system. That committee would "set the overall direction, provide leadership on raising funds, and approve recommendations submitted by the working committee."

The Working Committee, in turn, would be comprised of nine members appointed by the Executive Steering Committee including a staff director, a deputy staff director from a different branch of government than the staff director, and seven team leaders of functional teams identified as "excellent leaders in management and innovation in an area." The Working Committee would "review the work products of the functional teams and prepare and present substantive recommendations to the executive steering committee."

The final tier of the system would be the seven Functional Teams, each made up of ten members appointed by the Working Committee. Those Functional Team members would be "knowledgeable, competent, employees from the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts, the legislative branch, the executive branch, the judicial branch, and the private sector if possible." The Functional Teams would perform various tasks including functional and organizational analysis, financial analysis, service analysis, administrative systems analysis, and analysis of alternative delivery systems. Each of the seven Functional Teams would study one of seven broad categories of state government including education, health and human services, environment and natural resources, public safety and criminal justice, transportation, general government and regulatory agencies and cross government agencies and issues. The Functional Teams would work with and under the direction of the Working Committee so as to prepare draft recommendations and implementation plans for submission to the Executive Steering Committee. Ultimately, after notice to and consultation with the state agencies involved, the Executive Steering Committee would issue reports and recommendations for improvement to all members of the Legislature and to the public. LB 355 requires the Executive Steering Committee to issue final recommendations and implementation plans no later than July 1, 1995.

Article II, Section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution provides that:

> The powers of the government of this state are divided into three distinct departments, the Legislative, Executive and Judicial, and no person or collection of persons being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others, except as hereinafter expressly directed or permitted.

Since LB 355 requires each of the various government assessment committees to be made up of representatives of different branches of government, there is some question as to whether the bill would violate Article II, Section 1. We assume that concern was partially the reason for your opinion request.

The Nebraska Supreme Court most recently dealt with Article II, Section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution in State ex rel. Spire v. Conway, 238 Neb. 766, 472 N.W.2d 403 (1991). In the Conway case, the court held that state Senator Gerald Conway could not both serve in the Legislature and also act as an assistant professor at Wayne State College. The court indicated that such dual service violated Article II, Section 1 since Senator Conway was an officer in the Legislative branch of government and also an employee within the Executive branch of government through his employment at Wayne State. In the course of the Conway opinion, the court set out the following rule which governs the application of Article II, Section 1 to the activities of government officials:

. . . article II prohibits one who exercises the power of one branch--that is, an officer in the broader sense of the word--from being a member--that is, either an officer or employee--of another branch.

Id. at 782, 472 N.W.2d at 412.

While the application of the Conway rule is clear in the factual context of that case, application of the rule in other situations can be more problematic. As a result, we have issued several opinions subsequent to Conway which deal with application of the rule to various fact situations. See Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92115 (October 1, 1992) (Supreme Court Judges could serve on Judicial Nominating Commissions); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92076 (June 3, 1992) (Members of the Judicial branch could serve on the Youth Services Planning Committee but not on the Juvenile Services Grant Committee); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92073 (May 28, 1992) (Judges could serve on the Judicial Resources Commission); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92022 (February 18, 1992) (Judicial branch employees could serve on the Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee but not on the Crime Commission). Apart from these opinions specifically dealing with the effect and application of the Conway rule, we have also written numerous other opinions, before and after the Conway decision, dealing generally with members of the Legislature serving on boards or committees of another branch of government. See Op. Att'y Gen. No. 92046 (March 19, 1992) (Members of the Legislature cannot serve on the Nebraska School Accountability Commission); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 91016 (March 13, 1991) (Members of the Legislature cannot generally serve on commissions, boards or committees housed in the Executive branch of state government); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 86038 (March 21, 1986) (Members of the Legislature could serve on an educational service unit planning committee); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69 (April 23, 1985) (The Chair of the Legislature's Revenue Committee could not serve on a Agricultural Land Valuation Advisory Board); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 37 (April 4, 1983) (Members of the Legislature could not serve along with the Governor and the Tax Commissioner on a State Tax Board which would take the place of the State Board of Equalization); 1967-68 Rep. Att'y Gen. 120 (Opinion No. 86, July 7, 1967) (State Senators could not serve as members of the Nebraska Coordinating Council for Higher Education).

It obviously is difficult to generalize the application of the Conway rule to all the various fact situations which have developed or may develop in state government. However, most often, the acceptability of a particular statutory plan which combines members of more than one branch of government on the same body seems to turn on whether the proposed body creates new state officers, as that term is legally defined, within a particular branch of government. If the members of the newly created governmental body are state officers, then there are potential problems with the Conway rule. On the other hand, if the new body does not create state officers, then, in most instances, the positions created do not involve an employment relationship, and there is no problem under Conway.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has indicated that an office is "a public station or employment, conferred by the appointment of government; and embraces the ideas of tenure, duration, emolument and duties." State ex rel. O'Connor v. Tusa, 130 Neb. 528, 535-536, 265 N.W. 524, 528 (1936). Indicia of a public office include: 1. creation by constitution or a statute, 2. a continuing position not occasional or contractual, 3. a fixed term of office and 4. the official has an independence beyond that of employees. Eason v. Majors, 111 Neb. 288, 196 N.W. 133 (1923). With respect to the authority of public officers, the Court in Conway stated, "{i}t may be said that the almost universal rule is that, in order to indicate office, the duties must partake in some degree of the sovereign powers of the state." 238 Neb. at 771, 772, 472 N.W.2d at 407. As a result, a public office is "a governmental position, the duties of which invest the incumbent with some aspect of the sovereign power." Id. In order to respond to your opinion request concerning the propriety of the proposed State Government Assessment Act, we will consider each of the committees involved in the three-tiered structure of the Act in light of the court's definitions of public office.

The top committee in the evaluation system proposed by the State Government Assessment Act is the Executive Steering Committee, to be made up of the Governor, the State Auditor, two members of the Legislature and three other individuals to be appointed by the Governor. It can be argued, as you did in your opinion request letter, that this committee is advisory only, as the Executive Steering Committee would have no authority to implement particular plans for increased government efficiency, and could only recommend changes to the Legislature and to the public. In addition, committee members would have no set term of office, and the bill requires the committee's task to be completed by July 1, 1995, so the committee is not a continuing entity. All of these considerations would seem to indicate that members of the Executive Steering Committee would not be state officers as a result of that membership.

On the other hand, the Executive Steering Committee would appoint the members of the Working Committee, and would assemble a support team to provide clerical services, fiscal analysis, drafting of legislation and other support services. Moreover, the Executive Steering Committee would also have the power to administer oaths, issue subpoenas, and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and the committee would be required to keep minutes of its meetings and records and books of its accounts. In our view, these are all attributes of an entity which exercises a portion of the sovereign power of the state.

All things considered, we believe that the members of the Executive Steering Committee would be state officers by virtue of their service on that committee, separate and apart from the other offices which they might hold. This is true, in part, because the doctrine of Separation of Powers has been strictly construed in the State of Nebraska. See State ex rel. Meyer v. State Board of Equalization and Assessment, 185 Neb. 490, 176 N.W.2d 920 (1970); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69 (April 23, 1985). Since service on the Executive Steering Committee would involve an "office," LB 355 would necessarily violate Article II, Section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution because it includes officers from more than one branch of government as officers on the same committee.[1] This is true whether the committee is considered a part of the Executive, or the Legislative branch. For example, if the Executive Steering Committee is considered a part of the Executive branch, the legislator members would be officers in two branches of state government. Alternatively, if the Executive Steering Committee is considered a part of the Legislative branch, the Governor and State Auditor would be officers in two branches of state government. For these reasons, it appears to us that the Executive Steering Committee envisioned by LB 355 would violate the Nebraska Constitution.

Quite similar considerations affect the constitutionality of the second tier of the State Government Assessment plan, the Working Committee. Again, it could be argued that the Working committee is advisory only, that there is no term of office, etc. However, like the Executive Steering Committee, members of the Working Committee would make appointments to other positions, and could issue subpoenas, compel the attendance of witnesses, and so forth. They also would keep minutes of their meetings and books and records of their accounts. While this is a closer question than the status of the Executive Steering Committee because these individuals would form the second tier of the organization, we believe that members of the Working Committee would also be state officers. Consequently, that portion of LB 355 would also be unconstitutional to the extent it requires officers or employees of one branch of government to serve as officers in a separate branch.

The final level of the State Government Assessment system involves the various Functional Teams. Those teams would actually do the analysis and study of state government operations, and make recommendations for improvement and reports in the form of implementation plans. The work product of the Functional Teams would be reviewed by the Working Committee and, ultimately, by the Executive Steering Committee. The Functional Teams would make no appointments, would not have the power to subpoena witnesses or otherwise compel testimony, and would not maintain minutes of their meetings or books of their accounts.

In our view, the Functional Teams would have significantly less authority than either the Executive Steering Committee or the Working Committee contemplated by LB 355, and their task would be more advisory in nature. As a result, we do not believe that members of the Functional Teams described in LB 355 would be state officers. Therefore, those teams could include members from several different branches of government.

In your opinion request letter, you also state:

If, in your opinion, you hold this section to be unconstitutional, allow me to also ask if the situation could be remedied in one of two ways:

(1) Removing the two Senators;

(2) Labeling this a Legislative Task Force, removing the Governor, the State Auditor, and naming the other committee members through selection of (1) the committee or (2) the Legislature's Executive Board

Removing the two state senators from the Executive Steering Committee proposed under LB 355 would solve the constitutional problems with that entity since the only remaining members would be executive branch officers or private persons, and the appointment of other committee members would be done by the governor. On the other hand, your second proposed solution could create problems under Article IV, Section 10 of the Nebraska Constitution which prohibits appointments of officers by the Legislature, since the other committee members would be appointed by the Legislature. Neither of your proposed solutions would address the constitutional problems with the Working Committee discussed above.

[1]If members of the Executive Steering Committee are officers, LB 355 would also violate Article IV, Section 10 of the Nebraska Constitution since it would involve a legislative appointment. See Neeman v. Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, 191 Neb. 672 at 676, 217 N.W.2d 166 (1974); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69 (April 23, 1985).

UNANIMOUS CONSENT - Print in Journal

Messrs. Lynch and Wesely asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 16 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AM0440

1. Strike original section 2 and all amendments thereto and insert the following new section:

"Sec. 2. That section 43-107, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

43-107. (1)(a) For adoption placements occurring or in effect prior to January 1, 1994, upon ~~Upon~~ the filing of a petition for adoption, the county judge shall, except in the adoption of children by stepparents when the requirement of an investigation is discretionary, request the Department of Social Services or any child placement agency licensed by the department to examine into the allegations set forth in the petition and to ascertain any other facts relating to such minor child and the person or persons petitioning to adopt such child as may be relevant to the propriety of such adoption, except that the county judge shall not be required to request such an examination if the judge determines that information compiled in a previous examination or study is sufficiently current and comprehensive. Upon the request being made, the Department of Social Services or other licensed agency shall conduct an investigation and report its findings to the county judge in writing at least one week prior to the date set for hearing.

(b)(i) For adoption placements occurring on or after January 1, 1994, upon the filing of a petition for adoption, a preplacement adoptive home study shall be filed with the county court, which study is completed by the department or a licensed child placement agency within one year before the date on which the adoptee is placed with the petitioner or petitioners and indicates that the placement of a child for the purpose of adoption would be appropriate.

(ii) An adoptive home study shall not be required when the petitioner is a stepparent of the adoptee unless required by the court, except that for petitions filed on or after January 1, 1994, the county judge shall order the petitioner or his or her attorney to request the Nebraska State Patrol to file a Nebraska criminal history record information check and to request the department to conduct and file a check of the central register created in section 28-718 for any history of the petitioner of behavior injurious to or which may endanger the health or morals of a child. An adoption decree shall not be issued until such records are on file with the court. The petitioner shall pay the cost of the Nebraska criminal history record information check and the check of the central register.

(iii) The placement of a child for foster care made by or facilitated by the department or a licensed child placement agency in the home of a person who later petitions the court to adopt the child shall be exempt from the requirements of a preplacement adoptive home study. The petitioner or petitioners who meet such criteria shall have a postplacement adoptive home study completed by the department or a licensed child placement agency and filed with the county court at least one week prior to the hearing for adoption.

(iv) A voluntary placement for purposes other than adoption made by a parent or guardian of a child without assistance from an attorney, physician, or other individual or agency which later results in a petition for the adoption of the child shall be exempt from the requirements of a preplacement adoptive home study. The petitioner or petitioners who meet such criteria shall have a postplacement adoptive home study completed by the department or a licensed child placement agency and filed with the county court at least one week prior to the hearing for adoption.

(v) Any adoptive home study required by this section shall be conducted by the department or a licensed child placement agency at the expense of the petitioner or petitioners unless such expenses are waived by the department or licensed child placement agency. The department or licensed agency shall determine the fee or rate for the adoptive home study.

(vi) The preplacement or postplacement adoptive home study shall be performed as prescribed in rules and regulations of the department and shall include at a minimum an examination into the facts relating to the petitioner or petitioners as may be relevant to the propriety of such adoption. Such rules and regulations shall require an adoptive home study to include a Nebraska criminal history record information check and a check of the central register created in section 28-718 for any history of the petitioner or petitioners of behavior injurious to or which may endanger the health or morals of a child.

(2) Upon the filing of a petition for adoption, the county judge shall require that a complete medical history be provided on the child, except that in the adoption of a child by a stepparent the provision of a medical history shall be discretionary. A medical history shall be provided, if available, on the biological mother and father and their biological families, including, but not limited to, siblings, parents, grandparents, aunts, and uncles, unless the child is foreign born or was abandoned. The medical history or histories shall be reported on a form provided by the Bureau of Vital Statistics and filed along with the report of adoption as provided by section 71-626. If the medical history or histories do not accompany the report of adoption, the Bureau of Vital Statistics shall inform the county court and the State Court Administrator. The medical history or histories shall be made part of the court record. After the entry of a decree of adoption, the court shall retain a copy and forward the original medical history or histories to the Bureau of Vital Statistics. This subsection shall only apply when the relinquishment or consent for an adoption is given on or after September 1, 1988.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 93009

DATE: February 19, 1993

SUBJECT: LB 255; Constitutionality of a bill which would require non-union employees in a bargaining unit covered by a collective bargaining agreement to pay fees to the labor organization representing that unit to help cover the costs of representing those non-union employees in collective bargaining.

REQUESTED BY: Senator Curt Bromm
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion as to the constitutionality of LB 255, a bill which would require non-union employees in a bargaining unit covered by a collective bargaining agreement to pay fees to the labor organization representing that unit in order to cover the costs of representing those non-union employees for purposes of collective bargaining. As is discussed below, we believe that there are constitutional difficulties with the bill under the applicable provisions of the Nebraska Constitution.

LB 255 would require certain non-union employees to pay for collective bargaining by labor organizations. Under the bill, employees who were not members of a labor organization would be required to make "fair share" payments to the organization for collective bargaining representation when the organization was established as the collective bargaining representative for the bargaining unit employing the non-union employees. The "fair share" amount would represent the proportionate share of the cost borne by the labor organization in representing the non-member employees, and could not exceed the amount of dues required by the organization of its members. If non-members refused to pay the labor organization the "fair share" amount, the organization would be authorized to bring a suit against the employees for payment of the "fair share," attorneys fees, and court costs. "Fair share" payments would be deducted monthly from the non-union employees' wages, and then paid by the employer to the labor organization.

LB 255 also provides that "payment or nonpayment of the fair share shall not be a condition of employment or continued employment," and no provision in the bill would require the employer to terminate non-union employees upon refusal by those employees to consent to "fair share" payments. However, the only avenue non-union employees would have to avoid making "fair share" payments would be to voluntarily discontinue employment.

Article XV, Section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution provides:

> No person shall be denied employment because of membership in or affiliation with, or resignation or expulsion from a labor organization or because of refusal to join or affiliate with a labor organization; nor shall any individual or corporation or association of any kind enter into any contract, written or oral, to exclude persons from employment because of membership in or nonmembership in a labor organization.

This constitutional provision is Nebraska's Right to Work law, and provides that an individual's right to enter employment or continue employment cannot lawfully be made dependent upon membership or non-membership in a labor union. Lincoln Federal Labor Union v. Northwestern Iron and Metal Co., 149 Neb. 507, 31 N.W.2d 477 (1948).

In response to Right To Work laws passed by some States, labor organizations have occasionally entered into agency shop agreements with employers. An agency shop agreement is a device designed to ensure that a labor organization, which is engaged in collective bargaining with employers, receives payments from non-members equivalent to union dues and initiation fees in return for the benefits obtained by the labor organization through collective bargaining. Under such agreements, a non-member employee's refusal to pay the amount equivalent to union dues would require the employer to terminate the employee from employment.

Agency shop agreements are permissible under the Federal National Labor Relations Act, 29 U.S.C. § 158(a)(3), yet may be pre-empted by State Right To Work provisions, 29 U.S.C. § 164(b); Retail Clerks Int'l Ass'n, Local 1625, AFL-CIO v. Schermerhorn,, 375 U.S. 96, 99-100, (1963); Int'l Union of the United Ass'n of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Indus. of the United States and Canada, Local Unions Nos. 141, 229, and 706 v. Nat'l Labor Relations Board, 675 F.2d 1257, 1259, 1261 (D.C. Cir. 1982), cert. denied 459 U.S. 1171 (1983). In some States that have enacted Right To Work provisions, agency shop agreements have been held to be violative of state law or the state constitution. For example, in Ficek v. Int'l Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders, Blacksmiths, Forgers and Helpers, Local #647, 219 N.W.2d 860 (N.D. 1974), the North Dakota Supreme Court struck down a typical agency shop arrangement as being violative of North Dakota's Right To Work laws. In that case, the court stated that an agency shop arrangement requiring employees to pay union fees as a condition to employment is the practical equivalent of an agreement requiring membership in the union as a condition of employment. The court concluded that the state had adopted a policy, via its Right To Work laws, protecting the employee in his or her "right to work free of any interference and control by either employers or labor organizations." Id. at 871. Similarly, we have previously indicated that a typical agency shop agreement violates Article XV, Section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution. 1959-1960 Rep. Att'y Gen. 295 (Opinion No. 173, dated March 2, 1960).

LB 255 is somewhat different from the traditional agency shop arrangement in that non-union employees would pay their proportionate "fair share" of the costs of union representation rather than simply paying union dues and initiation fees. However, some courts have rejected such "fair share" arrangements as well. For example, in Florida Educ. Ass'n/United v. Public Employees Relations Comm'n, 346 So.2d 551 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1977), non-member teachers challenged an agreement between the Florida Education Association and the State Public Employees Relations Commission. The agreement would have required each non-member teacher "to contribute a fair share fee for services rendered" by the bargaining representatives. The employer school districts would have been obligated to "check off" (deduct) the fees from the employees' paychecks, and transmit the payments to the labor organization. The fair share amount was to be based on a pro-rata share of "the specific expenses incurred for services rendered by the representative in relationship to negotiations and administration of grievance procedures." Id. at 552. The court ultimately determined that the fair share agreement was in substance no different than an agency shop arrangement. The court reasoned that both types of arrangements provide that "employees are free to refrain from union membership," but that in either case the "employee would have two choices, {to} accept and pay . . . the fair share assessment to the union or look for another job." Id. at 552-553. The court held that the fair share agreement violated Florida's Right To Work laws.

In 1979-80 Rep. Att'y Gen. 82 (Opinion No. 55, dated March 13, 1979), this office also determined that a fair share arrangement could well violate Nebraska's Right To Work provisions. The bill in that instance would have required all employees in the bargaining unit to pay the union a "service fee" equivalent to a member employees' proportionate share of collective bargaining and grievance processing costs. We stated that, "{i}t appears to us that the required payment of a service fee... while it is a less restrictive form of compulsory unionism, nevertheless, forces an employee to affiliate with a labor organization." Id. at 83. The opinion concluded that the "fair share" arrangement was "constitutionally suspect" under Article XV, Section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution. Id. at 83-84.

In light of the authorities cited above, we believe that the fair share provisions of LB 255 are also constitutionally suspect under Article XV, Section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution. We realize that, on its face, LB 255 purports to not condition employment or continued employment upon the making of "fair share" payments. In addition, sanctions for refusal to make those payments are enforced through judicial proceedings rather than through termination of the offending employee by the employer. Nevertheless, the practical effect of LB 255 would be the same as the typical agency shop agreement. In order to avoid making payments to a labor organization, a non-union employee would have to discontinue his or her employment. The Legislature cannot circumvent express provisions of the Nebraska Constitution by doing indirectly what it cannot do directly. Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. 699, 467 N.W.2d 836 (1991). Consequently, in our view, the fair share provisions of LB 255 violate Article XV, Section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

Such rules and regulations for accreditation shall include, but not be limited to, (a) a requirement that programs and services offered the school district by each educational service unit shall be evaluated on a regular basis, but not less than every seven years, to assure that educational service units remain responsive to school district needs and (b) guidelines for the use and management of funds, generated from the property tax levy and other sources of revenue as may be available to the educational service units, to assure that public funds are used to accomplish the purposes and goals assigned to the educational service units by section 79-2201.02. Madam President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Madam President and Senators:

Engrossed Legislative Bill 207 was received in my office on February 19, 1993.

I am signing LB 207 with the following reservations. LB 207 on the surface is a good intentioned bill which follows the standards of intergovernmental cooperation which I have endorsed throughout my administration. It allows local governments to govern which is also a concept that I endorse whole-heartedly.

The problem that could be encountered is concerning the valuation of properties which are often termed "greenbelt." There is a possibility that this bill could have a negative impact on the counties which use "greenbelt" as a means of adjusting valuation. At the heart of determining "greenbelt" valuation is zoning requirements which are greatly impacted by this legislation. Although problems could occur because of the passage of LB 207, is would be presumptuous of me to assume that counties and cities would incur those problems. I am signing LB 207 as a sign of good faith that these two entities can work together to solve any disagreements but reserve the right to address this issue in the future should problems occur.

Sincerely,
(Signed) E. Benjamin Nelson
Governor

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

February 20, 1993

Madam President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Madam President and Senators:

Engrossed Legislative Bill 178 was received in my office on February 19, 1993. The bill was signed by me on February 20, 1993, and delivered to the Secretary of State.

LB 178 is designed to allow proper discovery in the case of a class W misdemeanor. The opportunity for discovery in cases that may result in mandatory sentences is important to ensure a fair and just trial.

Concerns have been expressed that law enforcement officers may become overwhelmed with requests for depositions, thus reducing the time they can be on the streets protecting our citizens and conducting investigations. In the event every person charged requested the investigating officer to give a deposition, a substantial amount of law enforcement time would be diverted.

I understand these concerns. However, the bill contains language to protect against abuses by requiring that all depositions receive prior approval by the court. I am signing LB 178 with the belief that the courts will work to protect the system from abuse.

Sincerely,
(Signed) E. Benjamin Nelson
Governor

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 93010

DATE: February 19, 1993

SUBJECT: State-Owned Vehicles; Authority of the Transportation Services Bureau of the Department of Administrative Services to Acquire Motor Vehicles for use by State Agencies.

REQUESTED BY: Senator Rex Haberman
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Fredrick F. Neid, Assistant Attorney General

This is in response to your request for an opinion of this Office regarding the authority of the Transportation Services Bureau of the Department of Administrative Services to acquire vehicles by lease rather than purchase. You have referenced Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-1010 (Reissue 1987) which includes the term, state-owned motor vehicles, within its provisions. Your specific question is whether vehicles acquired by lease "can be considered ownership for purposes of the above-referenced statute." You have indicated that you are considering proposing legislation concerning this subject.

After review of pertinent statutes, it is our opinion that motor vehicles acquired by lease may not be considered to be "state-owned motor vehicles" as that term is used and defined in Nebraska statutes. Accordingly, the Transportation Services Bureau lacks requisite authority to lease rather than purchase motor vehicles for use by state agencies, boards and commissions.

It is the duty of the Transportation Services Bureau to acquire motor vehicles by purchase, centralize the title to state-owned passenger vehicles, and provide efficient utilization, operation and maintenance of state-owned vehicles. See Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 81-1008 to 81-1010

(1987). The term, state-owned vehicles, is defined in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-1011 (1987) which states:

> State-owned vehicles are defined for the purpose of sections 81-1008 to 81-1017 as all vehicles acquired primarily for the purpose of transporting state employees in their official capacities from one job location to another, but shall not include special-use vehicles, such as buses, laundry trucks, mail trucks, airport security vehicles, military trucks, and cars; vehicles which are considered a duty station, such as vehicles used by the Nebraska State Patrol, the Nebraska Oil and Gas Conservation Commission, or game wardens; or those vehicles which, by nature of their usage, require the installation or carrying of special equipment which precludes the use of such vehicles for multiple agency transportation usage.

While property that is leased is partially owned at least to the extent of the leasehold interest, ownership usually connotes more than mere possession and includes legal or rightful title to the property. Further, direct ownership of state-owned vehicles and holding title to the vehicles by the Transportation Services Bureau is expressly required. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-1015 (1987) states:

> Subject to the provisions of section 81-1013, the transportation services bureau shall own and hold title, in the name of the State of Nebraska, to all state owned licensable passenger vehicles. All purchases of state-owned passenger vehicles and automotive equipment shall be made or approved by the transportation services bureau. The Director of Administrative Services shall not approve any voucher for the purchase of any passenger car unless submitted by the transportation services bureau.

(Emphasis added).

Use of the word, shall, in Section 81-1015 makes ownership and holding title in the name of the State of Nebraska to the vehicles by the Transportation Service Bureau mandatory. Nebraska rules of statutory construction attach mandatory action to the word, shall, used in statutes. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 49-802(1) (1988) in relevant part states: ". . . When the word shall appears, mandatory or ministerial action is presumed." Further our Supreme Court has similarly construed the word "shall" and determined that use of the word disclosed legislative intent that mandatory action was intended. See Bank of Gering v. Glover, 192 Neb. 575, 223 N.W.2d 56 (1974); Anderson v. Carlson, 171 Neb. 741, 107 N.W.2d 535 (1961).

For these reasons, we conclude that the Transportation Services Bureau is authorized to acquire state-owned vehicles by purchase only and is not authorized to lease motor vehicles for use by state agencies, boards and commissions for the conduct of official business.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

Opinion No. 93011

DATE: February 19, 1993

SUBJECT: Constitutionality of LB 301, an Act Relating to Water

REQUESTED BY: Senator Carol Hudkins, 21st District

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Marie C. Pawol, Assistant Attorney General

You have inquired whether two specific provisions of LB 301, introduced in the first session of the Ninety-Third Legislature, violate the Takings, Due Process or Equal Protection clauses of the United States Constitution.

In our opinion, the back-dating of water priorities for instream flow appropriation for public water supplies is an unconstitutional taking of private property for public use unless provision is made for just compensation to those existing users who are deprived of water under this bill. Even if the back-dating of water priorities were not an unconstitutional taking without just compensation under the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and Article I, §21 of the Nebraska Constitution, it would violate Article XV, §6 of the Nebraska Constitution which provides that, "No inferior right to the use of the waters of this state shall be acquired by a superior right without just compensation therefor to the inferior user."

As a preliminary matter, we note that a statute is presumed constitutional, and all reasonable doubts will be resolved in favor of its constitutionality. In re Application A-16642, 236 Neb. 671, 463 N.W.2d 591 (1990). Further, the party claiming a statute to be unconstitutional has the burden of clearly establishing its unconstitutionality. Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. 699, 467 N.W.2d 836 (1991). The Nebraska Supreme Court is also obligated to endeavor to interpret a challenged statute in a manner consistent with the Constitution. In re Application U-2, 226 Neb. 594, 413 N.W.2d 290 (1987).

The first provision under question concerns an amendment to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 46-204 (1988). LB 301 proposes to add the following language:

> No reduction of any lawful diversion because of the operation of the appropriation system shall be required unless such reduction would increase the amount of water available to and required by senior appropriations.

This language appears to be an attempt to codify the Nebraska Supreme Court's holding in State ex rel. Cary v. Cochran, 138 Neb. 163, 292 N.W. 239 (1940). In that case, the relators complained that state officials, in administering and enforcing irrigation laws, had continuously permitted junior appropriators to take and use water for irrigation, storage, and other purposes without regard to priority and to the prejudice of the relators. In its opinion, the Nebraska Supreme Court acknowledged that it is "the policy of the law that junior appropriators may use available water within the limits of their own appropriations so long as the rights of senior appropriators are not injured or damaged." 138 Neb. at 172-3. The court concluded by adopting the following rule:

> It is the duty of the administrative officers of the state to recognize this right and to give force to relators' priority. This requires that junior appropriators be restrained from taking water from the stream so long as such water can be delivered in useable quantities {to senior appropriators}. If it appears that all the available water in the stream would be lost before its arrival {for use by senior appropriators}, it would, of course, be an unjustified waste of water to attempt delivery.

138 Neb. at 173. Although the wisdom of the Nebraska Supreme Court's strict interpretation of the prior appropriation doctrine has been the subject of debate, statutory codification of the foregoing rule does not implicate concerns under the Takings, Due Process or Equal Protection clauses of the United States Constitution. Prior appropriation is constitutionally protected by Neb. Const. art. XV, §§ 4, 5, and 6. Wasserburger v. Coffee, 180 Neb. 149, 141 N.W.2d 738 (1966). However, we suggest that LB 301 be revised to clarify that a senior appropriator is entitled to water as against an upstream junior appropriator as long as water in useable quantities can be delivered downstream.

Other provisions of LB 301 would grant public water suppliers, in addition to the Game and Parks Commission and each natural resources district, the opportunity to apply for an instream flow appropriation, as defined in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 46-2,108 (1988). Such appropriations would be limited to natural streams with an average annual discharge of 500 cubic feet per second. The second LB 301 provision under scrutiny pertains to an amendment to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 46-2,115 (1988) providing that:

> (3)The director {of the Department of Water Resources} shall assign as the priority date for the instream appropriation the date of the application, except that if the application is for public water supply purposes, the priority date shall be the earlier of the date of application or the date the applicant's public water supply well was constructed.

In any challenge to a statute under the Fourteenth Amendment's Equal Protection Clause, heightened scrutiny is invoked only if suspect classifications are created or if the legislation impinges upon a fundamental constitutional right. Dallas v. Stanglin, 490 U.S. 19, 23, 109 S.Ct. 1591 (1989). When a fundamental right or suspect classification is not involved in legislation, the legislative act is a valid exercise of the state's police power if the act is rationally related to a legitimate governmental purpose. Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Center, Inc., 473 U.S. 432, 440, 105 S.Ct. 3249 (1985); State ex rel Spire v. Northwestern Bell Tel. Co., 233 Neb. 262, 445 N.W.2d 284 (1989). The Nebraska Constitution has identical requirements. Neb. Const. art. III, § 18; Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. 699, 712, 467 N.W.2d 836 (1991); Robotham v. State, 241 Neb. 379, 385, 488 N.W.2d 533 (1992).

The LB 301 provision at issue implicates neither fundamental rights explicitly or implicitly protected by the Constitution nor suspect classifications. Therefore, it would be upheld in the face of an equal protection challenge unless it bears no rational relationship to a legitimate governmental interest. The introducer's statement of intent identifies the ends sought to be achieved by LB 301:

> Public water suppliers using groundwater have no recognized surface water rights under current Nebraska law even though public water suppliers serve the water needs of approximately three out of every four Nebraskans. Cities with river wellfields (particularly Platte River wellfields) depend on streamflow to recharge their wellfields and cleanse the aquifer -- even though technically, they are ground water users.
> The approach of LB 301, is to grant public water suppliers a surface water appropriative right to surface waters for ground water recharge. The ground water appropriation rights created by this bill would be administered by the Department of Water Resources through the instream appropriation system currently in place. The current instream appropriation system allows such appropriations to be obtained for the limited purposes of recreation, fish and wildlife. LB 301 would add another purpose, that of public water supply. The burden of showing what amount of water is reasonable {sic} necessary for such appropriation would be on the public water supplier.
>
> The instream appropriations system was chosen to administer such public water supply rights because consideration of induced recharge for municipal water systems is already something the Department of Water Resources is required to consider in granting instream appropriations for the other users; recreation, fish and wildlife.
>
> The priority date assigned to each public water supplier's {sic} would result in more water actually reaching the public water suppliers {sic} wellfield.

Introducer's Statement of Intent, LB 301, Before the Commission on Natural Resources, Ninety-Third Legislature, 1st Sess. (statement of Senator Chris Beutler, Chairman).

In our view, the proposed legislation is rationally connected to an important and legitimate governmental interest, that of assuring an adequate public water supply for the health, safety, comfort and overall economic benefit of the rural and urban inhabitants and communities of this state. To this end, the legislation seeks to protect the economic investments made by public water suppliers in the construction of their wellfields. Further, although public water suppliers furnish water for a variety of purposes, domestic uses are not insignificant. The public policy of this state, as evidenced in Neb. Const. art. XV, § 6, provides that "those using the water for domestic purposes shall have preference over those claiming it for any other purpose . . . ." Given this public policy, which has been reaffirmed in Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 46-204 and 46-613 (1988), it is unlikely that the proposed legislation violates equal protection principles.

The Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution, as incorporated against the states by the Fourteenth Amendment, provides in relevant part: "No person shall . . . be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation." Neb. Const. art. I, § 21 further provides: "The property of no person shall be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation therefor."

To determine whether the proposed legislation violates any of the foregoing constitutional provisions requires, first, an examination of the affected property interests at stake. In Enterprise Irrigation District v. Willis, 135 Neb. 827, 831-32, 284 N.W. 326 (1939), the Nebraska Supreme Court stated:

> That an appropriator of public water, who has complied with existing statutory requirements, obtains a vested property right has been announced by this Court on many occasions.

Nevertheless, "a vested right to the use of the waters appropriated, {is} subject to the law at the time the vested interest was acquired and such reasonable regulations subsequently adopted by virtue of the police power of the state." State v. Birdwood Irrigation District, 154 Neb. 52, 55, 46 N.W.2d 884 (1951); See also, State, ex rel. Cary v. Cochran, 138 Neb. 163, 175, 292 N.W. 239 (1940).

For those reasons previously articulated under our equal protection analysis, we do not believe that the proposed legislation would contravene substantive due process requirements:

> As related to legislation, it is generally held that due process is satisfied if the legislature had the power to act on the subject matter, if that power was not exercised in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonably discriminatory manner, and if the act, being definite, had a reasonable relationship to a proper legislative purpose.

Rein v. Johnson, 149 Neb. 67, 82, 30 N.W.2d 548 (1947), cert. denied 335 U.S. 814, 69 S.Ct. 31 (1948).

Nor, in our judgment, is the proposed legislation inimical to procedural due process guarantees. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 46-2,114 (Cum. Supp. 1992) requires that notice of any instream appropriation application be published at least once a week for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the area of the particular stream segment affected and also in a newspaper of state-wide circulation. The notice is required to state that any person having an interest may in writing object to and request a hearing on the application. Pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 46-210 (Cum. Supp. 1992), any dissatisfied party may institute proceedings to appeal any order or decision upon which a hearing has been had before the Department of Water Resources. We believe these procedures satisfy procedural due process requirements.

It must be noted, however, that while a state regulation which deprives one of a property interest, or diminishes its value, may be a valid exercise of police power, just compensation may still be required. As stated by the United States Supreme Court, in Nollan v. California Coastal Com'n, 483 U.S. 825, 836 n. 4, 107 S.Ct. 3141 (1987):

> One of the principal purposes of the Takings Clause is 'to bar Government from forcing some people alone to bear public burdens which, in all fairness and justice, should be borne by the public as a whole.' Armstrong v. United States, 364 U.S. 40, 49, 80 C.Ct. 1563, 1569 (1960).

Yet not every regulation which interferes with property interests results in a compensable taking. In Pennsylvania Coal Co. v. Mahon, 260 U.S. 393, 413, 415, 43 S.Ct. 158 (1922), the United States Supreme Court stated:

> Government hardly could go on if to some extent values incident to property could not be diminished without paying for every such change in the general law. As long recognized some values are enjoyed under an implied limitation and must yield to the police power. But obviously the implied limitation must have its limits . . . When it reaches a certain magnitude, in most if not all cases there must be an exercise of eminent domain and compensation to sustain the act. * * * The general rule at least is that while property may be regulated to a certain extent, if regulation goes too far it will be recognized as a taking.

In Penn Central Transportation Co. v. New York City, 438 U.S. 104, 98 S.Ct. 2646 (1978), the Court further characterized the inquiry as requiring an examination of many significant factors, including the extent of economic damages inflicted, the nature of the economic interests affected, the object of the regulation, and the public policy it serves.

More recently, in Lucas v. South Carolina Coastal Council, _____ U.S. _____, 112 S.Ct. 2886, 2893 (1992), the Court acknowledged the difficulties involved in determining when property has been taken:

> . . . {O}ur decision in Mahon offered little insight into when, and under what circumstances, a given regulation would be seen as going too "far" for purposes of the Fifth Amendment. In 70-odd years of succeeding "regulatory takings" jurisprudence, we have generally eschewed any " 'set formula' " for determining how far is too far, preferring to "engag{e} in . . . essentially ad hoc, factual inquiries," Penn Central Transportation Co. v. New York City, 438 U.S. 104, 124, 98 S.Ct. 2646, 2659 57 L.Ed.2d 631

(1978) (quoting Goldblatt v. Hempstead, 369 U.S. 590, 594, 82 S.Ct. 987, 990, 8 L.Ed.2d 130 (1962)).

In Lucas, the Court reviewed legislation in South Carolina which in 1988 prohibited new construction along beachfront property. Lucas' land was within the prohibited zone. When the petitioner purchased his two lots in 1986 at a cost of $975,000, the property was zoned for development as residential homesites. Lucas did not contest the validity of the legislation as a lawful exercise of the police power but maintained that because the construction ban rendered his property valueless, he was entitled to compensation. The South Carolina Supreme Court held that, because the legislation sought to prevent serious public harm, no compensation was owed regardless of the regulation's effect on property values.

The United States Supreme Court reversed the judgment of the state supreme court and remanded the case for further proceedings. The Court reiterated that there are:

> . . . at least two discrete categories of regulatory action as compensable without case-specific inquiry into the public interest advanced in support of the restraint. The first encompasses regulations that compel the property owner to suffer a physical "invasion" of his property.
>
> The second situation in which we have found categorical treatment appropriate is where regulation denies all economically beneficial or productive use of land.

112 S.Ct. at 2893.

The Minnesota Supreme Court had occasion to apply these espoused principles in Pratt v. State Department of Natural Resources, 309 N.W.2d 767 (1981). In that case, the court fashioned the following test:

> . . . where the regulation only serves an arbitration function, regulating between competing private users for the general welfare, ordinarily no taking is involved; but where the regulation is for the benefit of a governmental enterprise, where a few individuals must bear the burden for a public use, then a taking occurs.

309 N.W.2d at 773.

In the matter presently at issue, we believe that valid arguments can be advanced both to support and refute a claim that provisions of LB 301 result in a compensable taking of property for a public use. On the one hand, it may be argued that the proposed legislation is merely a reasonable administrative regulation, designed to effect an orderly supervision and allocation of a common water supply among competing interests and users. Specifically, some existing surface water users may be suffering administrative regulation, in part, because of the current unrestricted consumption of groundwater by some public water suppliers. By recognizing the hydrologic connection between groundwater and surface water, and by subjecting such users to a system of regulation that respects the time when each actually began making use of the resource, all users are protected to some extent.

The back-dating of water priorities, moreover, is not without legal and historical precedent. With the passage of the Irrigation Act of 1895, Nebraska entered the prior appropriation system of water administration. Under the Act, all rights to water which had vested prior to its passage were required to be adjudicated by the state, by quantifying the water right and by the assignment of a priority date relating back to the time the right had vested. The Nebraska Supreme Court in Enterprise Irrigation District v. Willis, 135 Neb. 827, 831, 284 N.W. 326 (1939) noted: "Such provisions have generally been sustained as part of the police power of the state."

The Enterprise case is also significant because the court addressed the issue of whether state legislation can reduce an appropriation that vested prior to enactment of that legislation. The court held:

> While vested water rights may be interfered with within reasonable limits under the police power of the state to secure a proper regulation and supervision of them for the public good, any interference that limits the quantity of water or changes the date of its priority to the material inquiry of its holder is more than regulation and supervision and extends into the field generally referred to as a deprivation of vested right.

135 Neb. at 834. Some may argue that pursuant to LB 301, existing surface water appropriations would not expressly be reduced by the legislation because appropriators would retain their specific priority dates and specified rates of low.

However, we note that as a consequence of granting back-dated priorities to public water suppliers, some existing surface water appropriators would be displaced in their priority ranking, resulting in less water available to them in times of shortage. Furthermore, the plan approved in Enterprise to back-date water rights is distinguishable from LB 301. In the former case, the state simply sought to integrate water appropriators into the prior appropriation system who had already obtained vested water rights. In contrast, the public water suppliers benefited by LB 301 have no recognizable vested interest in surface flows for purposes of groundwater recharge. We also believe that by granting only public water suppliers the opportunity to obtain a back-dated priority, the governmental enterprise function is predominant. There is no question that the use of water by a municipality or other public water supplier for human needs is a "public use." Metropolitan Utilities Dist. v. Merritt Beach Co., 179 Neb. 783, 740 N.W.2d 626 (1966).

For these reasons, and as previously stated, in our opinion, the back-dating of water priorities for instream flow appropriation for public water supplies is an unconstitutional taking of private property for public use unless provision is made for just compensation to those existing users who are deprived of water under this bill. Even if the back-dating of water priorities were not an unconstitutional taking without just compensation under the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and Article I, 21 of the Nebraska Constitution, it would violate Article XV, 6 of the Nebraska Constitution which provides that, "No inferior right to the use of the waters of this state shall be acquired by a superior right without just compensation therefor to the inferior user."

In Loop River Public Power District v. North Loop Public Power and Irrigation District, 147 Neb. 949, 25 N.W.2d 813 (1942), the defendant district contended that it had a right to take water for irrigation ahead of the plaintiff's right to use the water for power production even though the plaintiff district had an earlier appropriation date.

The Nebraska Supreme Court examined this contention in light of Article XV, 6 of the Nebraska Constitution which provides as follows:

> The right to divert unappropriated waters of every natural stream for beneficial use shall never be denied except when such denial is demanded by the public interest. Priority of appropriation shall give the better right as between those using the water for the same purpose, but when the waters of any natural stream are not sufficient for the use of all those desiring to use the same, those using the water for domestic purposes shall have preference over those claiming it for any other purpose, and those using the water for agricultural purposes shall have the preference over those using the same for manufacturing purposes. Provided, no inferior right to use the waters of this state shall be acquired by a superior right without just compensation therefor to the inferior user.

The Court interpreted this provision of the Constitution as follows:

> It was clearly the intention of the framers of our Constitution to provide that water previously appropriated for power purposes may be taken and appropriated for irrigation use upon the payment of just compensation therefor. It never was the intention of the framers of the Constitution to provide that water appropriated for power purposes could thereafter arbitrarily be appropriated for irrigation without the payment of compensation. Historically the purpose for which an appropriation was obtained had no bearing upon its priority. Until the advent of the constitutional provision and statutory law, priority of appropriation conferred superiority of right without regard to the character of the use. The maxim, "He who is first in time is first in right," thus became fundamental doctrine in determining the priorities of appropriators, irrespective of use. A right of appropriation, under our Constitution, whether for irrigation or for power purposes, is a property right which is entitled to the same protection as any other property right. The right of property therein cannot be violated with impunity anymore than that in any other type of property.

AM0588

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Sec. 2. That section 77-3438, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

77-3438. (1) Except as provided in sections 77-3438.01, 77-3439, and 77-3440, no governing body shall adopt a budget statement pursuant to section 13-506 or pursuant to the charter or ordinance of a city with a home rule charter in which the anticipated aggregate receipts from property taxes for any fiscal year exceed the anticipated aggregate receipts from property taxes for the prior fiscal year or, for a governing body which budgeted no revenue to be received from the levy of taxes on real and personal property in such year, the most recent fiscal year prior to such year for which the governing body did budget to receive property taxes.

(2) A governing body may increase property taxes by a specific dollar amount greater than that permitted by subsection (1) of this section if a final order of a court or the State Board of Equalization from which no appeal is taken requires reimbursement by the governing body of property taxes to a taxpayer. The increase shall not exceed the amount of the reimbursement.

(3) A county board may increase property taxes by a specific dollar amount greater than that permitted by subsection (1) of this section not to exceed the dollar amount of reduction in state aid to the county resulting from the changes made to section 77-27,136 by Laws 1992, LB 1063.

(4) For political subdivisions that have annexed property or have consolidated after December 15, 1989, or for a new educational service unit organized pursuant to section 79-2202.06 or an existing educational service unit, which new or existing unit has added or received a school district or portion thereof, the anticipated aggregate receipts from property taxes shall be computed based on the combined aggregate property taxes of each subdivision in the fiscal year immediately preceding consolidation, annexation, or addition. The estimated amount of property taxes for the immediately preceding fiscal year from the annexed, added, or consolidated property to be added to the property taxes of the political subdivision shall be computed by multiplying the property tax levy of the political subdivision for the immediately preceding fiscal year by the taxable valuation of the annexed, added, or consolidated property for the immediately preceding fiscal year.

Sec. 3. That section 79-3819, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

79-3819. (1) A district may exceed its applicable allowable growth rate by a specific dollar amount in the situations described in this section.

(2) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that a new program is required by state or federal law or an existing program mandated by state or federal law has been expanded as a result of changes in state or federal law. For purposes of this subsection, a final order of a court or the State Board of Equalization from which no appeal is taken which requires reimbursement by a district of property taxes to a taxpayer shall be considered a new program required by state or federal law but shall not be included as part of the general fund budget of expenditures for purposes of section 79-3814.

(3) The district projects an increase in formula students in the district over the current school year greater than twenty-five students or greater than those listed in the schedule provided in this subsection, whichever is less. Districts shall project increases in formula students on forms prescribed by the department. The state board shall approve, deny, or modify the projected increases.

Average daily membership of district	Projected increase of formula student by percentage

50.01 - 250	5
250.01 - 1,000	3
1,000.01 and over	1

The department shall compute the district's estimated allowable budget per pupil using the budgeted general fund expenditures found on the budget statement for the current school year divided by the number of formula students in the current school year and multiplied by the district's applicable allowable growth rate. The resulting allowable budget per pupil shall be multiplied by the projected formula students to arrive at the estimated budget needs for the ensuing year. The department shall allow the district to increase its general fund budget of expenditures for the ensuing school year by the amount necessary to fund the estimated budget needs of the district as computed pursuant to this subsection. On or before July 1 of each year, the department shall make needed revisions in the applicable allowable growth rate of districts which have been allowed additional growth pursuant to this subsection to reflect the actual formula students of such district and shall certify such revisions to each district.

(4) Construction, expansion, or alteration of district buildings will cause an increase in building operation and maintenance costs of at least five percent. The department shall document the projected increase in building operation and maintenance costs and may allow a district to exceed its applicable allowable growth percentage by the amount necessary to fund such increased costs. The department shall compute the actual increased costs for the school year and shall, if needed, modify the district's applicable allowable growth rate for the ensuing school year.

(5) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that as a result of an order entered into by the Commission of Industrial Relations pursuant to section 48-818 establishing rates of pay, benefits, and other terms and conditions of employment, the district will exceed its applicable allowable growth rate. The department shall compute the amount by which the increase in employee costs exceeds the district's applicable allowable growth rate and shall allow the district to increase its general fund budget of expenditures by such amount.

(6) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that it will exceed its applicable allowable growth rate as a result of a contested, but settled, contract dispute, claim, or breach or uninsured risk or as a result of any final judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction, requiring or obligating the district to pay such judgment. The department shall compute the amount by which the increased cost of the settlement or judgment exceeds the district's applicable allowable growth rate and shall allow the district to increase its general fund budget of expenditures by such amount.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 45. Introduced by Rasmussen, 20; Abboud, 12; Pirsch, 10; Withem, 14; Preister, 5; Chambers, 11; Lindsay, 9; Hall, 7; Will, 8.

WHEREAS, we acknowledge the importance of teaching our youth the needed skills to empower them with the knowledge for their future; and

WHEREAS, the Omaha Public School District has provided high school students with choices among the district's high schools for several years; and

WHEREAS, such choices have led to improved educational opportunities for students and integration of the district's high schools; and

WHEREAS, competition among the district's high schools has been a positive factor in encouraging technological and curricular innovation; and

WHEREAS, the Omaha Public School District has been recognized as "urban education's gem in the middle of the prairie" and as "the stop for most people looking around for new ideas" in a recent article in Newsweek magazine.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-THIRD LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature recognizes the Omaha Public School District for its innovation in school choice and for its development of educational opportunities for students.

2. That the Legislature congratulates and honors the Omaha Public School District for having gained national recognition in the February 15, 1993, issue of Newsweek magazine as a model for providing school choice.

3. That a copy of this resolution be sent to Norbert Schuerman, Superintendent of the Omaha Public Schools.

Laid over.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 46. Introduced by Bernard-Stevens, 42; Rasmussen, 20.

WHEREAS, it is imperative that substantive, fundamental reforms occur within the system providing services to Nebraska's children and families; and

WHEREAS, Nebraska cannot afford to absorb increases in state wards, increases in training school populations, and subsequent increases in our prison population when current interventions fail. The cost is not just financial but in lost human potential and in the well-being of our children and families; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes that Nebraska needs to develop a single, comprehensive plan for children and family services -- one providing for an integrated system of services encompassing child welfare, juvenile justice, mental health, health, education, and a system providing a focus on families and communities.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-THIRD LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature supports Governor Nelson's directives regarding coordination of the various statewide planning initiatives. All initiatives will be submitted to both the Governor's Children and Family Policy Advisor and to the Youth Services Planning Commission.

2. That the Legislature looks forward to the future development and passage of reform legislation providing a single comprehensive children and family services plan.

Laid over.

Sec. 3. For purposes of sections 2 to 5 of this act, horseracing industry participant shall mean an individual who currently holds a valid license from the State Racing Commission and who owns, trains, cares for, or rides horses stabled at a Nebraska-licensed racetrack for the purpose of horseracing at the live race meeting at such racetrack.

(4) A horseracing industry participant shall not be deemed to forfeit or waive any right to privacy without reasonable cause guaranteed by law by virtue of being licensed by the state, by entry upon licensed horseracing facilities, or by engaging in the sport of horseracing in this state.

(5) A horseracing industry participant may not be excluded from the grounds of any licensed racetrack by track management without a hearing by the stewards at such racetrack, unless there is reasonable grounds to believe such participant has committed a felony, is posing a physical danger to himself or herself, to others, or to animals in his or her care, or his or her physical presence will bring immediate harm to horseracing. Such hearing shall be held as soon as practicable and shall be given first priority and precedence by the stewards.

(6) A horseracing industry participant shall be free from unreasonable searches and seizures of his or her person without probable cause and shall be free from unreasonable searches and seizures of his or her housing, vehicle, papers, and effects.

(8) A horseracing industry participant shall not be required to waive his or her constitutional rights nor the rights granted pursuant to sections 2 to 5 of this act as a condition of pursuing a livelihood in this state or at any licensed thoroughbred horseracing facility.

Sec. 5. (1) The State Racing Commission shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations which provide for dismissal, license revocation or suspension, fines, or other suitable penalties necessary to enforce sections 2 to 4 of this act.

(2) Nothing in such sections shall affect in any way the right of any horseracing industry participant to bring any action in any appropriate forum for the violation of any law of this state or any rule of racing.

Sec. 7. Since an emergency exists, this act shall be in full force and take effect, from and after its passage

(3) Every hearing in an administrative proceeding under this section shall be public unless the hearing officer grants a request joined in by all the respondents that the hearing be conducted privately.

(4) Upon agreement by all the parties any time before or during the hearing under this section the hearing officer may compromise, mitigate, or aggravate any civil penalty. In determining the amount of the civil penalty, the hearing officer shall consider the appropriateness of the civil penalty in light of the gravity of the violation and the good faith of such violator in attempting to achieve compliance after notification of the violation.

(5) The hearing officer, within ten days after the conclusion of the hearing, shall make written findings of fact and conclusions of law to the superintendent. Such findings of fact and conclusions of law shall not be binding upon the superintendent.

(6) If a hearing is requested or ordered, the superintendent, after notice of and opportunity for hearing to all interested persons, may modify or vacate the order or extend it until final determination.

(7) No final order or order after hearing may be returned by the superintendent without (a) appropriate notice to all interested persons, (b) opportunity for hearing to all interested persons, and (c) entry of written findings of fact and conclusions of law. ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

DATE: March 4, 1993

SUBJECT: Duties of the Commission for Postsecondary Education to Review and Approve or Disapprove All Capital Construction Projects Proposed by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska and the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges Pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 85-401 to 85-411 (1987), as Amended

REQUESTED BY: Senator Kurt A. Hohenstein
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Harold I. Mosher, Senior Assistant Attorney General

Question Presented

As used in the Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education Act, do the words "tax funds" include funds which are pledged to pay the principal and interest on revenue bonds issued pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 85-401 to 85-411 (1987), as amended.

Discussion

Subject to certain conditions, the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska and the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges have statutory authority to issue revenue bonds and to repay the principal and the interest thereon solely out of sources other than funds derived from taxation. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 85-403 (Cum. Supp. 1992) specifically states, in part, as follows:

> Bonds issued under the provisions of sections 85-403 to 85-411 are not an obligation of the State of Nebraska, and no tax shall ever be levied to raise funds for the payment thereof or interest thereon. The bonds shall not constitute a debt of the board issuing the same and shall be paid solely out of money derived from their revenue and earnings as provided in sections 85-403 to 85-411. * * *.

Certain terms, as used in the Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education Act, are defined by statute. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 85-1402(7) (Supp. 1992) states: "Tax funds designated by the Legislature shall mean all state tax revenue and all property tax revenue." Thus, funds available from the operation of facilities which are financed by issuing revenue bonds are not "tax funds" as those words are used in the Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education Act but are funds which the Legislature has solemnly pledged for the payment of principal and interest on revenue bonds as provided in Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 85-403 to 85-411 (1987), as amended.

We wish to point out that the Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education has certain duties with respect to particular capital construction projects, including those funded by revenue bonds. Specifically, it has a duty to "review and approve or disapprove all capital construction projects proposed by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska and the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 85-401 to 85-411 (Cum. Supp. 1992). See Neb. Rev. Stat. § 85-1415 (Cum. Supp. 1992). Certain capital construction projects, of course, also require legislative approval.

Respectfully submitted,
DON STENBERG

MOTION - Return LB 205 to Select File

Mrs. Rasmussen moved to return LB 205 to Select File for the following specific amendment:
AM0792

(Amendments to Final Reading copy)

1 1. Insert the following new sections:

"Sec. 8. The prospective adoptive parent or parents and the birth parent or parents of a prospective adoptee may enter into an agreement regarding communication or contact after the adoption between or among the prospective adoptee and his or her birth parent or parents if the prospective adoptee is in the custody of the Department of Social Services. Any such agreement shall not be enforceable unless approved by the county court pursuant to section 9 of this act.

Sec. 9. (1) Before approving an agreement under section 8 of this act, the county court shall appoint a guardian ad litem if the prospective adoptee is not already represented by a guardian ad litem, and the guardian ad litem of the prospective adoptee shall represent the best interests of the child concerning such agreement. The county court may enter an order approving the agreement upon motion of one of the prospective adoptee's birth parents or one of the prospective adoptive parents if the terms of the agreement are approved in writing by the prospective adoptive parent or parents and the birth parent or parents and if the court finds, after consideration of the recommendations of the guardian ad litem and the Department of Social Services and other factors, that such communication with the birth parent or parents and the maintenance of birth family history would be in the best interests of the prospective adoptee.

(2) In determining if the agreement is in the best interests of the prospective adoptee, the county court shall consider the following factors as favoring communication with the birth parent or parents: Whether the prospective adoptee and birth parent or parents lived together for a substantial period of time, the prospective adoptee exhibits attachment or bonding to such birth parent or parents, and the adoption is a foster-parent adoption with the birth parent or parents having relinquished the prospective adoptee due to an inability to provide him or her with adequate parenting.

Sec. 10. Failure to comply with the terms of an order entered pursuant to section 9 of this act shall not be grounds for setting aside an adoption decree, for revocation of a written consent to adoption after the consent has been approved by the county court, or for revocation of a relinquishment of parental rights after the relinquishment has been accepted in writing by the Department of Social Services as provided in section 43-106.01.

Sec. 11. An order entered pursuant to section 9 of this act may be enforced by a civil action, and the prevailing party may be awarded, as part of the costs of the action, reasonable attorney's fees. The court shall not modify an order issued under such section unless it finds that the modification is necessary to serve the best interests of the adoptee and (1) that the modification is agreed to by the adoptive parent or parents and the birth parent or parents or (2) exceptional circumstances have arisen since the order was entered that justify modification of the order.".

2. On page 1, line 6, after the semicolon insert "to provide for communication agreements as prescribed; to provide for civil actions;".

3. Renumber the remaining section accordingly.

"Section 1. That section 77-2715, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

77-2715. (1) A tax is hereby imposed for each taxable year on the entire income of every resident individual and on the income of every nonresident individual and partial-year resident individual which is derived from sources within this state, except that any individual who ~~has no income tax liability under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and who~~ has additions to adjusted gross income pursuant to section 77-2716 of less than five thousand dollars shall not have an individual income tax liability under the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 that exceeds thirty-five percent of his or her individual income tax liability before credits under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(2) The tax for each resident individual shall be a percentage of such individual's federal adjusted gross income as modified in sections 77-2716 and 77-2716.01, plus a percentage of the federal alternative minimum tax and the federal tax on premature or lump-sum distributions from qualified retirement plans. The additional taxes shall be recomputed by (a) substituting Nebraska taxable income for federal taxable income, (b) calculating what the federal alternative minimum tax would be on Nebraska taxable income and adjusting such calculations for any items which are reflected differently in the determination of federal taxable income, and (c) applying Nebraska rates to the result. The federal credit for prior year minimum tax, after the recomputations required by the act, shall be allowed as a reduction in the income tax due.

(3) The tax for each nonresident individual and partial-year resident individual shall be the portion of the tax imposed on resident individuals which is attributable to the income derived from sources within this state. The tax which is attributable to income derived from sources within this state shall be determined by multiplying the liability to this state for a resident individual with the same total income by a fraction, the numerator of which is the nonresident individual's or partial-year resident individual's Nebraska adjusted gross income as determined by section 77-2733 or 77-2733.01 and the denominator of which is his or her total federal adjusted gross income, after first adjusting each by the amounts provided in section 77-2716. If this determination attributes more or less tax than is reasonably attributable to income derived from sources within this state, the taxpayer may petition for or the Tax Commissioner may require the employment of any other method to attribute an amount of tax which is reasonable and equitable in the circumstances.

(4) A refund shall be allowed to the extent that the income tax paid by the individual for the taxable year exceeds the income tax payable, except that no refund shall be made in any amount less than two dollars.

Sec. 2. This act shall be operative for all taxable years beginning or deemed to begin on or after January 1, 1993, under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

Sec. 3. That original section 77-2715, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, is repealed.".

(3) Lessor shall mean the mineral owner who has executed a lease and who is entitled to the payment of a royalty on production, free and clear of the costs of production;

(4) Operator shall mean a person engaged in the business of drilling and producing wells for oil and gas;

(6) Overriding royalty shall mean a share of production, free of the costs of production, carved out of the lessee's interest under an oil and gas lease;

(7) Royalty shall mean the mineral owner's share of production, free and clear of the costs of production;

Sec. 72. (1) The proceeds derived from the sale of production from any well producing oil, gas, or related hydrocarbons in the State of Nebraska shall be paid to all persons legally entitled thereto, except as hereinafter provided, commencing not later than six months after the first day of the month following the date of first sale and thereafter not later than sixty days after the end of the calendar month within which subsequent production is sold unless other periods or arrangements for the first and subsequent payments are provided for in a valid contract with the person or persons entitled to such proceeds. Payment shall be made directly to the person or persons entitled thereto by the lessee or operator or by any party who assumes such payment obligation under any legal arrangement.

Sec. 73. Any delay in determining any person legally entitled to an interest in the proceeds from production shall not affect payments to all other persons entitled to payment. In instances when payment cannot be made for any reason within the time limits specified in section 72 of this act, the lessee or operator, purchaser, or other party legally responsible for payment shall deposit all proceeds credited to the eventual interest owner to an escrow account in a federally insured bank or savings and loan institution in Nebraska, using a standard escrow document form approved by the Attorney General, which deposit shall earn interest at the highest rate being offered by that institution for the amount and term of such deposits. The escrow agent may commingle money received into escrow from any one lessee or operator, purchaser, or other party legally responsible for payment. Payment of principal and accrued interest from such accounts shall be paid by the escrow agent to all persons legally entitled thereto within thirty days from the date of receipt by the escrow agent of final legal determination of entitlement thereto. Applicable escrow fees shall be deducted from the payments.

Sec. 74. (1) Any lessee or operator, purchaser, or other party legally responsible for payment who violates the provisions of sections 71 to 75 of this act shall be liable to the person or persons legally entitled to proceeds from production for the unpaid amount of such proceeds, plus interest at the rate of eighteen percent per annum on the unpaid principal balance from the due date specified in section 72 of this act.

(2) The district court for the county in which a well producing oil, gas, or related hydrocarbons is located has jurisdiction over all proceedings brought pursuant to sections 71 to 75 of this act, and the prevailing party in any proceedings brought pursuant to such sections shall be entitled to recover all court costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

(3) Any person who fails to provide royalty information as provided in section 75 of this act shall be liable to the affected royalty, overriding royalty, or other nonworking interest owner in the amount of one hundred dollars per month that complete reporting is not provided to the interest owners.

Sec. 75. An order of the Nebraska Oil and Gas Conservation Commission may not alter or amend the terms of an oil or gas lease or other contractual agreement. An order that alters or amends the terms of an oil and gas lease or other contractual agreement shall be invalid to the extent of the alteration or amendment, and the terms of the oil and gas lease or other contractual agreement shall take precedence.

(2) Whenever payment is made for oil or gas production to an interest owner, all of the following information shall be included and labeled on the check stub or on an attachment to the form of payment unless the information is otherwise provided on a regular monthly basis:

Madam President, Mr. Speaker
and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Madam President and Senators:

Engrossed Legislative Bill 63 was received in my office on March 4, 1993. This bill was signed by me on March 8, 1993, and delivered to the Secretary of State.

The numerical coding system in this bill provides an easy method of identifying the type of plastic used in the manufacturing of plastic containers sold in this state. This will assist in recycling plastic and reducing waste to our landfills. These coding requirements are currently mandated in thirty-seven other states.

Nebraskans are recycling more and more each year. LB 63 will assist in building a more efficient recycling system in the state. We have made great strides in our efforts to recycle, and I look forward to continued improvements in the percentage of waste being diverted from our landfills.

Sincerely,
(Signed) E. Benjamin Nelson
Governor

Sec. 4. (1) A licensed organization may select one of the two methods of alternative winner selection described in this section.
