SPEAKER WITHEM: ...beckon members of the body. It appears as though, from the volume of bills that we've had brought up here today that we will not be coming back for further bill introduction after the inaugural ceremony is complete. If members, if you have bills, either on your desk or in your office that you were wanting to see introduced today, you probably should get them up here on the desk sometime in the next 10 to 15 minutes. We'll then be able to read those in, proceed with the inaugural ceremony and then be done for the day. We will be reading in the final few bills that are up here on the desk. It appears to me as though, at this time, there probably will be no more bills being introduced today. Would ask the members to begin the process of returning to the Chamber. We're not ready to begin right away, but it would be nice to have people back in and situated so when we are ready to go that we will be.

CLERK: Mr. President, new bills. (Read LB 99-104 by title for the first time. See pages 130-31 of the Legislative Journal.)

Mr. President, I have communications from the Secretary of State regarding the bonds and oaths that have been filed by the various constitutional officers and other elected officials. That will be inserted in the Legislative Journal. (See
