I said that is good enough for me because I didn't understand a thing he was telling me because I am not an engineer. I do not have that mind. But I do believe that, by bringing in an organization such as Micron, we will save this mass Exodus of our talented people. I think keeping people here is just as important as bringing new people in. We need the mix. Thank you very much.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Thank you, Senator. Senator Wickersham.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Thank you, Madam President. If Speaker Withem would yield to a couple of questions.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Senator Withem.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Senator Withem, Senator Chambers' conversation piqued my interest. I am wondering, are there continuing contacts with Micron at some level, whether the board level, or the executive level?

SPEAKER WITHEM: It is my understanding that there are. I don't know if those are between the Governor and the executives, or the Director of the Department of Economic Development, or the Omaha Chamber, or all of those. I am not privy to those. I have chosen not to get involved in that part of the process so I can only just give a general answer that, yes, there are.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Do you have any recommendations as to who we should ask more specifically whether those contacts are continuing?

SPEAKER WITHEM: I would say the Director of the Department would be the most readily accessible individual today who would probably have the best information.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: All right. What Senator Chambers piqued my curiosity about, and I think I will, I think I have seen Mrs. Moul standing out in the back, and if she would go around to the Speaker's lounge, I would appreciate it because I think I do want to ask Mrs. Moul whether or not contacts have continued with Micron. I suspect that they have. My understanding is that there is a decision to be made on the first of March. I am wondering if, however, the executives of Micron have not already formulated a recommendation for the board of directors. I am wondering if that recommendation has been shared with anyone in
