

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Thank you, Senator Schimek. Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Madam President, members of the Legislature, Senator Hall, I love this amendment. Senator Hall, now if we've got some of these old geezers and codgers and codgeresses who've been around too long anyway, and they haven't had the wisdom to save up enough money or work for a company where they'd get a pension and they were taking care of some children, and had gotten on aid and were thrown off, Senator Hall, listen to me, you can talk to Senator Bromm later, Senator Scrooge, in fact. This old geezer would go toddling up to the county and say I need some money for fuel, they don't have to give it to them, do they? Right...

SENATOR HALL: No.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...and he would go ahead and die, wouldn't he? Will the county still bury these derelicts when they die?

SENATOR HALL: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay, that's not a part of public assistance, general assistance to which they would be denied?

SENATOR HALL: That's correct.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. Now if we got, and Senator Schimek...

SENATOR HALL: That's found under the Chapter titled Dead Old Codgers, Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Right on, and the world would be better off without them. Senator Schimek asked you about a child with acute appendicitis. Suppose we had somebody with an ugly appendicitis, what would happen to them?

SENATOR HALL: Probably they would get their appendicitis prettified.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: But if the hospital, if the private hospital did not want to accept that person, they cannot be compelled to accept a person, can they?
