

program is a failure is a big lie technique. Say something over and over and over again and people will begin to believe it. My time is probably running out, so I want to read the rest of the article the next time I get to speak. But this concept of the big lie is that anything you repeat often enough and long enough, people will believe, with one exception. The thing that you can repeat over and over that people will not believe is the truth. The truth is self-evident in some instances.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Maybe I shouldn't say they don't believe it. It's difficult to accept because to accept it carries certain moral responsibilities and obligations, so we can turn away from the truth, pretend it's not there, we can escape its consequences. Senator Dierks' amendment is designed to force us to look at the consequences to be faced if we ignore a truth. And I've got my light on, I want to finish the article, then I want to make it as clear as I can, in a succulent manner, Senator Witek, I like that word now, exactly why it is that I support so strongly Senator Dierks' amendment.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: Thank you, Senator Chambers, for being so succinctly (sic) on your comments. Senator Crosby.

SENATOR CROSBY: Thank you, Senator Bernard-Stevens and members. And thank you, Senator Wesely, for explaining the little...the points there so we know we are...we are in sync here. And you said succulent, Senator Chambers? Doesn't that mean sweet? I don't think of you as very sweet sometimes. Yes, I did hand out the column. It's strange you and I are on the same paths every once in a while. And I had kept that from the last time that we debated LB 455, because Earl Dyer is a very good writer. And I thought that he just came to the point in such a good way. On the other side of it is an article by a neighbor of mine who has worked as a volunteer for years and years in Welcome Baby and raised six boys and still works with the Children's Consortium. And her points, I think, about babies and children being miracles is well taken. For me the cap amendment that Cap brought is, and I thank the Chair for saying it is germane because it certainly is for me. It's logical to me that a young woman who has a child or two and then gets pregnant, after she has signed this contract, I still think we should cover that baby. You cannot blame the child for being conceived nor born. And I have an amendment that I'm going to bring shortly that I
