remind the body that...and I know these are rigorous times during the session, staying late at night and coming early in the morning. We are reading the budget bill tomorrow, it is a fairly lengthy bill. There's a tendency for people to say, well, I'll just wait and come in when it's time to vote on it. Remind you that to read the bill tomorrow we have to pass a motion to suspend the two-day layover rule, so we will need 30 people here at eight-thirty, or as close to eight-thirty as we can get here to suspend that. Typically, people kind of sneak away a little bit because the budget bill is fairly lengthy. I know we'll all expect to see Senator Wehrbein here for every word of it, but other people occasionally sneak away at that point. So I'd ask you to try to get here as close to eight-thirty as you can for that motion. With that, I would move that we recess until 8:30 a.m., May 24th.

SENATOR HALL: Mr. Speaker, would you move that we adjourn until eight-thirty?

SPEAKER WITHEM: Okay, let's adjourn then until...good point, good point.

SENATOR HALL: Thank you. You've heard the motion. All in favor say aye. Opposed. We are adjourned.
